

THE NATIONAL MEET.

GOOD RECORDS MADE IN AMATEUR ATHLETIC SPORTS.

Chicago's Picked Men Make a Brave Struggle With Wefers for the Sprinting Championship, but Wefers Wins Both the 100 and 220-Yard Races—New Record for Throwing the Discus Made by Hanneman, of Chicago—Close Contest in Pole Vault.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Since the formation of the Amateur Athletic Association there has never been such a successful series of athletic games at a national championship meeting as that which was held this afternoon on the track and grounds of the Manhattan Club.

The greatest interest centered in the meeting of Wefers, the world's champion sprinter, with Maybury and Rush, of Chicago. Despite the fact that Maybury and Rush were considered capable of pushing Wefers to his utmost, the lanky runner from Georgetown college was a favorite at odds of 4 to 1, and although a party of three New Englanders were on the ground to back their champion, they failed to secure any important bets from friends of the Westerners.

Wefers won his in the same time with a little to spare. In the final of the 100 Wefers came away like a streak and won by two yards from Rush and Maybury, who ran a dead heat for second place. The time, 9:45 seconds, just equalled the American record.

Wefers and Maybury met again in the final heat of the 220-yard dash, which the former won by five yards in 2:25, with Maybury seven yards ahead of Ehrlich for second place. Burke, the world's champion quarter-mile runner, won the 40-yard dash, with Townsend and Rush, of Chicago, and Long, of New York, were his principal opponents, but after leading all the way the Boston man won by nearly four yards from Townsend, who ran second place from Long by dropping his head foremost over the line. This race was run in 49 seconds, and the first three were well played out after they had crossed the line.

Edward Power, of Pittsburgh, and George Stephen, of Montreal, were among the contestants for the half-mile run, but the best they could do was third and fourth respectively, as Cregan, of New York, and Manvel, the young runner from New Jersey, finished second in 1:53.

Young Fetterman, of the New Yorks, cut out the pace in the mile walk for a quarter of a mile, with Sam Liebig, of Chicago, and Long, of New York, were his principal opponents, but after leading all the way the Boston man won by nearly four yards from Townsend, who ran second place from Long by dropping his head foremost over the line. This race was run in 49 seconds, and the first three were well played out after they had crossed the line.

George Orton, a mile runner, was out-paced in that event and failed to finish in the first three. Brodie, the Canadian champion, ran splendidly for seven-eighths of a mile and looked a sure winner until Orton caught him a furlong from home and beat him out by fifteen yards. Grant, of Toronto, who made the pace for half the distance, finished fourth five yards behind the Montreal man.

In the high hurdles the Canadian expected of J. B. Richards, of Chicago. For the last four days Richards has been nursing a sprained ankle, but he insisted on going over the high hurdles, while Kraenzlein was reserved for the longer race. Richards ran well, but Thompson outstripped him and won by a yard.

In the field events Hanneman, of Chicago, won the putting of the sixteen-pound shot and established a new record for discus-throwing with a throw of 118 feet

9 inches, and finished second in the throwing of the fifty-six-pound shot, which was won by Champion James S. Mitchell.

Mitchell also beat the record of 115 feet in the discus-throwing event by 8 inches, securing second place. Flannagan, the world's champion hammer-thrower, sent the ball and wire handle 146 feet 5 inches, while Chadwick, of Yale, made a splendid throw of 141 feet 4 inches. Mitchell was third, with 135 feet 4 inches, while Ederer, of California, who represented the Knickerbocker Athletic Club, was fourth, with a throw of 124 feet 4 inches. The latter made a foul throw of 142 feet 2 inches and Flannagan made a foul throw of 132 feet 2 inches. Irving K. Baxter and two of his clubmates, Carroll and Essie, captured all the prizes in the running high jump for the New York Athletic Club.

There was a close contest for third honors in the pole vault, after Hurbutt and Smith had captured first and second places. After several trials and ties, Wilder and Franz conceded the point to Van-Winkle. Meyer Prinstein, of Syracuse, who was the favorite in the broad jump, failed to come up to expectations and could do no better than 21 feet 4 inches, which placed him in fourth position. The three finishing ahead of him were separated by only 14 inches. E. R. Hoss was by half an inch from Bennett, of Boston, who in turn was 1 inch ahead of Prissell, of Pittsburgh.

The summary of the results follows: 100-yard dash trial heats—First heat—James H. Maybury, Chicago, won; F. Jarvis, Pittsburgh, second; J. W. Ehrlich, third. Time, 10:1-5. Second heat—E. J. Wefers, world's champion, New York, won by two yards from J. H. Rush, second; W. A. Karni, third. Time, 9:45. Final—E. J. Wefers won; J. H. Maybury, Chicago, and J. H. Rush, dead heat for second place. Time, 9:45. 220-yard dash—E. J. Wefers won by two yards and just equalled the world's record.

80-yard dash—C. Cregan won, H. L. Manvel second; Ward M. Power, Pittsburgh, third. Time, 1:58 2-5. Putting 16-pound shot—Charles Hanneman, Chicago, distance 42 feet 4 inches. Prissell, Pittsburgh, third, distance 115 feet 4 inches. Hanneman and Mitchell both beat the American record, 106 feet, which was made by J. Flannagan at N. Y. A. C. grounds this year.

This time he beats the record for Yale, which is 49 1/2 seconds.

Throwing 16-pound weight—James S. Mitchell, Pittsburg, won, distance 22 feet 2 inches; Charles Hanneman, Chicago, second, distance 21 feet 2 inches; second, R. W. Pattee, Knickerbocker, distance 21 feet 1 inch, third.

WON BY THE S. A. C.

MONTEREY'S GUNS SILENCED BY A SCORE OF 30 TO 13.

Uncle Sam's Navy Champions Go Down in Glorious Defeat—Remarkable Game of Baseball at the Y. M. C. A. Park—Star Plays by Gaffney, Calhoun and Pope—J. M. Dashiell in the Box for the Monitor, Puzzles the Local Team.

One of the most remarkable ball games ever played in Seattle took place yesterday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. park between the S. A. C. and Monterey teams. It was a game to which only superlatives should be applied, and those combined with red, white and blue. The man who saw baseball in the days when "Father Chadwick" was a star and "Baby" Anon was learning the A. P. C. of the game on the sand lots of his native town, found enjoyment in the magnificent totals, and the "fan" of later days gazed with wide open eyes at the constantly occurring pyrotechnics. The small boy was there in full force and did more talking than eleven umpires could have done under the most favorable circumstances. They criticized the players, found fault with the umpire, talked about the days of Billy Lange and wondered who the tall pitcher of the Monterey's was.

When the game became a clinch for the Seattle Athletic Club, and the boy with the chalk ran the score out to S. A. C. 30, Monterey 13, the boys went home and told their mothers that the S. A. C. pick-ups and club boys had a new lease on life, and that Eddie Gaffney was to play left field on the Chicago team next year. Perhaps they were exaggerating things a trifle, but in the midst of this glittering array of base hits, world's record stops and attempted stops it is absolutely necessary to stop and relate what Eddie Gaffney did. He caught three long flies, took them on the run in regular professional style, and did not even express wonder at his own achievement.

Then there was Fred Calhoun, who played ball back in the boom days. He scooped up hot grounders and shot them to first without knocking the linings off the clouds. "Confidentially," said Calhoun, "I don't know how I did it."

Toby Pope came back to life and memory of the days when he was king at Amherst, and the stumbling block of Dartmouth, made five safe hits, purloined two bases and scored seven runs.

Jack Carter made a pretty running catch in right field, and Sam McKinstry was really up to snuff at first. As Campbell, formerly Stanford, remarked, "that fellow puts up a mighty good game." Mark Means ought to be ashamed of himself for making two assists from center field.

Eddie Suter was the martyr of the team. Manager Shafer stationed him at third base, and if ever a boy played tag with mean bounding grounders he is that boy. When he made a clean pick up and located first base he felt as if he ought to retire from the game to save his reputation.

"Burr" Campbell did not let his left wing out as he did when he stacked up against Thornton in days gone by, but he felt safe and contented himself with covering the plate.

Mort Atkinson did clever work behind the bat, despite his long vacation, but it was the eighth inning before he got his eye on the ball.

Pope and Campbell did the heavy hitting for the S. A. C.'s.

The tall pitcher of the Monterey's was none other than J. M. Dashiell, brother of Paul Dashiell, who referees all the big football games in New York city between Yale and Princeton and Harvard. J. M. Dashiell is also a famous athlete, and will now make Seattle his home. "I never tried pitching before," said Mr. Dashiell, after he had struck out three men in the third inning. It is true he is not a born pitcher, but the way he fooled some of the boys on his underhand lob was cause of genuine surprise to the batters and the crowd alike.

Morrill was the comedian of the Monterey team. He cavorted around third base like a lamb looking for trouble, and the spring bottoms of his duck trousers were a source of constant admiration to the small boy. Morrill is a typical "Chimney Padden," good natured, doesn't give a—sort of a fellow. He is a ball player, too.

Gooley, the giant center fielder, took part in a double in the first inning, and won enough laurels right there for one day.

Stewart got sadly mixed up with the error column when he went behind the bat so the reader does not want to see too critical in judging his work.

Capt. Landis is a ball player. He caught a good game, and showed conclusively that he is onto the requirements of the job.

A detailed account of how the errors were made would dwarf the story of the Fortzard's gold.

GOOD DAY OF PLAY.

LIVELY CONTESTS AT PLYMOUTH TENNIS TOURNAMENT.

Marion Street Champion Vanquished by Hill—Mrs. Kirk Wins the Finals in the Ladies' Singles—Next Week Foulkes to Meet George Hurd in the Fifth Game for the Championship.

The tennis tournament of the Marion and Plymouth Clubs will come to a semi-close tomorrow at the Plymouth courts on the old university grounds. A week from tomorrow the grand closing will take place, when the champion of the Pacific Northwest and British Columbia, J. F. Foulkes, will play one of the local men to decide whether he will have the honor of meeting George Hurd, champion of Washington, the fifth time this season. There is little chance that these two great players will not meet, and that all the tennis enthusiasts of the city will be present.

The big surprise of yesterday was the defeat of Mr. Kirk, of the Marion Street Club, by Hill. Hill showed wonderful improvement over last year's play and won a brilliant victory through excellent and well judged volleying. Mr. Kirk is recognized as the best player in the Marion Street Club, which makes Hill's victory the more notable.

The finals in the ladies' singles was won by Mrs. Kirk, who defeated Mrs. A. K. Fiskin in a match replete with long volleys. The feature was the speed shown by both players.

Miss Riley and Miss Struve beat Miss B. Fiskin and Miss E. Banks for first prize in the ladies' doubles, 6-3, 6-2. The score fails to show that many of the games went to duce and that there were many long rallies.

Following is a summary of yesterday's play.

Gentlemen's Singles. Semi-finals—J. V. Boyle beat A. K. Fiskin, 6-3, 4-6, 6-4. R. S. Hill beat G. S. Kirk, 6-4, 1-6, 6-2, 6-1, 6-2.

Ladies' Singles. Finals—Mrs. Kirk beat Mrs. Fiskin, 4-6, 6-3, 6-1.
