

Wittler, Miss Spencer, Mr. Page of Wash- ington, D. C., Mr. Rank, Mr. Wells, Mr. Hopkins, Mr. Post, Mr. Clary, Mr. Charles Wurtzel, Mr. Ernest Wurtzel, Mr. Harold Smith, Mr. George Campbell, Mr. Morris Cheal, Mr. Kellogg and Mr. Edwards.

Miss Marguerite McKinley and Miss Edna Wittler gave a card party at the elegant Wittler home, on Melrose avenue and John street, Thursday afternoon. From 3:30 till 5:30 the game of hearts was played by the young women present. After which a number of young men arrived and spent a pleasant hour. The decorations were in pink. Miss Wittler and Miss McKinley were assisted by Miss McNaught and Miss Phillips. Miss Drisko won the first prize, Miss Morgan the second and Miss Bert Williams the third. Those present were Mrs. Guy Basso Post, Miss Clark, Miss Dwyer, Banks, Miss McNaught, Miss Harward, Miss Holmes, Miss Reber, Miss Phillips, Miss Kellogg, Miss McGraw, Miss Spencer, Miss Andrews, Miss Basso, Miss Brooks, Mrs. Harry Frederick, Miss Canfield, Mrs. Hahn, Mrs. Bert Williams, Mr. Edwards, Mr. Herald, Mr. Allaine, Mr. Boyd Crockett, Mr. Clary, Mr. Inverarity, Mr. Kellogg, Mr. Williams, Mr. Williams, Mr. Wells, Mr. Harold Smith, Mr. Coll Murray, Mr. Orin Rank, Mr. Ben Salpess, Mr. Abe Ritzwiler and Mr. John Wing.

The pretty residence of Mrs. Ralph C. Gill, 197 Twenty-ninth avenue, was in decorative costume last Saturday afternoon in honor of the progressive whist party given by the Women's Guild of St. Clement's Episcopal church. Card playing was indulged in from three until five, after which Mrs. G. W. Stetson gave several selections from the writings of the late Gene Field, which were much appreciated. Present were Mrs. F. Richter, Mrs. Downey, Mrs. Davidson, Mrs. Percy F. Smith, Mrs. F. G. Simpson, Mrs. Clarence Preston, Mrs. H. L. Stetson, Mrs. Cook, Mrs. J. H. McWalters, Mrs. Augustine, Mrs. Wolford, Mrs. S. G. Yerkes, Mrs. Dewey, Mrs. H. D. Kline, Mrs. J. E. Sharp, Mrs. L. D. Stetson, Mrs. E. W. Motch, Mrs. R. F. Howe, Mrs. D. Keeler, Mrs. Geo. W. Buzzelle, Mrs. G. A. C. Rochester, Mrs. Lytell, Mrs. Farwell, Mrs. H. M. Viole, Mrs. W. J. Akers, Mrs. E. Smith, Mrs. G. W. Stetson, Mrs. R. C. Gill, Miss Minnie Malby, and Miss Myrtle Maynard.

The third annual meeting of the Reinecke Club, for the election of officers, was held at the residence of Mrs. Flaken, on Terry avenue, Tuesday, September 15. The following officers were elected for the year: President, Mrs. A. K. Flaken; vice president, Miss Fairfield; secretary and treasurer, Miss Lika. The club's work for the coming season already was planned, and a year of successful and instructive meetings is anticipated. The first concert will be held September 23, at the residence of Mrs. C. A. Hughes, on Terry avenue. This year the concert was fixed a week later than usual, to give Mrs. Hughes and Miss Prewett, who are in charge of the programme, more time to prepare for the first concert of the season.

Mrs. Samuel Ramsey gave an elegant luncheon on Thursday at her home. At the conclusion of the repast, a unique guessing game which was original with the hostess was participated in. Mrs. Hatfield was successful in winning the first prize. The second being a tie between Mrs. Stimson, Mrs. Forrest and Mrs. Kloeber, was drawn for the luck running to Mrs. Stimson, Mrs. Ramsey's guests included Mrs. Ewen Smith, Mrs. Caroline Baker Stevens, Mrs. Chas. Hopkins, Mrs. J. B. Allen, Mrs. F. J. Burns, Mrs. Wm. R. Forrest, Mrs. Wm. Redfield, Mrs. Chas. Stimson, Mrs. C. L. Hatfield, Mrs. Erastus Brainerd and Mrs. J. B. Kloeber.

A party of young people were entertained at our Friday evening by Miss Nancie and Mr. Nathaniel Paxall. Mr. William Whitley chaperoned the party, which included Miss Clara Hanna, Miss Dana Collins, Miss Harriet Allen, Miss Virginia Winstead, Miss Emily Clary, Mr. John Geary, Mr. Robert Benham, Mr. George Sohn, Mr. Burton Haines and Mr. Ned Haubury.

Mrs. L. S. J. Hunt, who has been in China for some weeks visiting her husband, is expected to return to this city this week. She will continue to make her home at Barnabee.

Mrs. Frederick Grant has been the guest of Mrs. A. B. Stewart the past week. She expects to leave for her home in Zanesville, Ohio, September 23.

Miss Purth was in the city last week, the guest of Mrs. Charles Power. She will leave this week for San Francisco, where she will visit for three weeks.

Mrs. A. E. MacCulsky left last Sunday on a pleasure trip to Alaska.

Miss May Kiley gave a small bicycle party Thursday.

ART AND LITERARY.

In considering the "Beauties and Terrors of the Ocean" Tuesday evening at the Seattle Art League it was said: "The inorganic world, no less than the organic, is full of wonders, the most marvelous of which are in the forms of water, which without assistance or combination, but wholly within itself, assumes forms and conditions so varied and beautiful that it confound the senses and bewilders the mind by its intricacies, charm of variety and transformations. What wealth of beautiful phenomena it incessantly spreads before us in clouds! Having freed the heavens with these, it changes its nature to rain and proceeds to carve the granite mountains and model the soil of the hills and valleys of the earth into forms of perfect symmetry and grace. Already we have seen it in the singing lily-brook and in the curling waves of the broad deep lake—nature's mirror, which flatters like many another. When, amidst the angry winds would see themselves the ocean, it not only reflects their expression, but becomes itself enraged. Another form assumed by water is one of dazzling purity and whiteness, which mantles and gossams the earth as a bride for the altar. Who shall say which of all these is most beautiful? Though that question may never be answered, there cannot be any doubt as to which form or condition of the element is most emblematic of unwearied, unconquerable majesty and power. Herein, as in its oceanic glory and sublimity, the ocean is peerless. The charm of it is irresistible to the artist, and the greatest have struggled with its subtleties more than with any other subject in nature, and with least success. In its more innocent, gentle and playful moods many have caught it admirably; but its moments of wrath have never been fittingly expressed, and the best efforts being but feeble suggestions, entirely conventional. No more charming subject for a picture can be found than the ocean in its more majestic and terrible moods. The most beautiful landscape or marine painting will awaken a sense of loneliness—a sadness of solitude and desolation. The stronger the emotion depicted the greater the fascination of the picture, regardless of other qualities, however artistic. But the emotion must be pleasing, not painful, or the sport of the ocean will seem malicious. The world loves a lover; therefore a pair of lovers leaning over the quarter rail would be one of the strongest possible subjects, while a broken-hearted lover, who had left his girl behind him, would destroy the unity of the composition, bespeaking a heartless painter or one who desired to show the nature mock and cruel, not sympathetic with man, a thing not artist would care to do. In all cases it has been the habit of man to fancy that nature sympathizes with his moods, when he is merry she must smile, and when he is broken-hearted she must be inconsolable and prone to die of grief. In literature and art she, being at the mercy of the poet and artist, always obliges, but in everyday life she, like most of her sex, has a mind of her own, and is less complaisant. The artist should be careful to impart an aspect of severity to the ship, otherwise the spirit of the picture would change again. If, instead of a staunch vessel, there were only an open boat with a pair of shipwrecked lovers, the sportiveness of the ocean becomes that of a tiger with a pair of canaries or turtle doves. The ship herself should be a picture of strength, buoyancy, pride and sportive exultation. The cresting waves, like plumed knights or children after a butterfly, pursue her as she flies before them. Her flight is steady, stately and more like that of a queenly maiden in the poetry of motion shown when skating on ice than of a butterfly. She seems to invite the chase as she lists gracefully to one side, then becomes erect and leans a little to the other side, then back again, while she plows through the dashing and tumultuous waves before her, carrying what sailors call a home in her stern, which is the curling wave her cut-water raises and divides with such stately, peacock with expanded tail never stooped so grandly as she with her graceful, undulating and undulating mother never caressed the child on her bosom at evening more ardently than the sea does this lovely plaything, which rises and sways upon its deep, dark, flashing phosphorescent billows, that throbs with excess of life, motion and power, expressing the mind with a magnitude, potentially and infinitely equaled by nothing else in the wide, wide world.

COMPOSITE KLONDIKE TYPE.

Here is the first picture published of a composite Klondike woman. Drawn by F. Colburn Clarke, the great portrait artist of the New York papers, after studying the portraits of the women who are going and have been to the new gold fields. The result shows grit and the ability of American womanhood to face hardship when necessary.

WEDDINGS.

A very pretty home wedding was celebrated Sunday, Sept. 5, at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Simon Davis, 229 1/2 avenue south, when Miss Rosa Davis was united in marriage to Mr. Louis S. Abrahams, Rev. J. Brooks officiating. The house was handsomely decorated with roses, carnations, smilax and evergreens, and the couple were married under a huge wedding bell. The bride was charmingly attired in a traveling suit. After the ceremony the guests partook of a sumptuous repast, during which a host of telegrams of congratulations from absent friends and relatives were received and read and a number of toasts for the future happiness and welfare of the newly married couple proposed. The presents were many, handsome and costly. The happy couple left for the south for their honeymoon amid a shower of rice and good wishes from all present.

COMING EVENTS.

A meeting of the P. E. O. Club will be held at the residence of Mrs. George Newland, 92 Twenty-first avenue, Monday afternoon.

The Century Club will hold its regular meeting on next Friday afternoon. Two papers of marked interest will be presented. One by Mrs. Homer Hill on the "Woman's Duty in View of the Suffrage Amendment," and the other by Mrs. E. J. Powell on "United States Laws Relating to Women." Discussion to follow each paper.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL NOTES.

Mr. Edgar Ames went to St. Louis last week.

Mr. Andrew F. Burtleigh has gone East on business.

Critchfield Van Wyck left last night for San Francisco.

Mrs. Bruce Viter and son have returned from a trip to Montana.

Mr. A. S. Taylor, a banker of Everett, was in the city Wednesday.

A. M. Bess has returned from Skaguay, and is registered at the York.

Miss Esther Thomas has returned to the Annie Whitcomb, Tacoma.

Mr. T. Thomas Hall, of Tacoma, spent several days in the city last week.

Mr. Mart Egan, of Oakland, Cal., who was in the city looking after Klondike news for the San Francisco Chronicle, returned home Thursday. He is one of the best known newspaper men on the Pacific coast.

Mr. W. L. Benham was in Eastern Washington several days last week.

Mrs. John Willard, of Seattle, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. A. N. Riggs.

Mrs. James Henry has returned from a pleasure trip to Eastern Washington.

Mr. George A. Brackett, ex-mayor of Minneapolis, was in the city Tuesday.

Ex-Congressman J. H. Acklen, of Nashville, Tenn., was in the city Tuesday.

Mrs. J. H. Eaton, of Tacoma, is visiting Miss C. B. Lake at 1113 Ninth avenue.

Mr. William Quist, of Dawson City, has taken apartments at the York for the winter.

Prof. and Mrs. J. M. Laybue have taken up their residence at Latona for the winter.

Mrs. J. F. McNaught and Miss McNaught spent several days in Tacoma last week.

Dr. William H. Chase, of New York, was in the city Wednesday. He is leader of Japan.

Miss M. May Adair, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Adair, is visiting friends in California.

Miss Nettie Lobb and Miss Roby Case are visiting Dr. and Mrs. French, of Montevideo.

Congressman and Mrs. James Hamilton Lewis are home from Green river hot springs.

Judge J. A. Kuhn, of Port Townsend, was among those who spent last week in the city.

Mrs. George Newland gave a card party at her home, 912 Twenty-first avenue, Friday evening.

Lieut. Worth G. Ross, of the United States revenue cutter Scout, was in the city Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Green entertained at dinner yesterday. Rev. and Mrs. L. P. D. Laidy.

Mrs. James M. Lane, formerly of Tacoma, now of San Francisco, was in the city Tuesday visiting friends.

Mrs. R. B. Alberson gave a luncheon Wednesday in honor of Mrs. Armstrong, who is visiting in the city.

Mrs. C. E. Newberry and Miss Bernia Newberry, of Coupeville, spent several days in the city last week.

Mr. George Allen leaves tomorrow for Ann Arbor to re-enter the law school of the University of Michigan.

Mr. Robert Hodgdon Clary leaves tomorrow for Boston to resume his studies at the Institute of Technology.

Mr. Carl McNaught returned last week from the British Columbia mining country, where he spent the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. George F. Meacham chaperoned a party of young folks on a trip to and from America last Friday.

Mr. H. R. Wilber left during the week for Byron Hot Springs, Contra Costa county, Cal., for the benefit of his health.

Mr. George Allen leaves tomorrow for Ann Arbor to re-enter the law school of the University of Michigan.

Congressman M. Brewster, of Lancaster, Pa., was among the distinguished people who made Seattle their home last week.

Mr. G. M. Curtis, of New York, one of the lawyers in the Fair will come to Seattle in the city last week.

The Classic Culture Club met last Monday, the constitution of the United States being the subject under discussion. The Advertisement for Chas. Austin Bates and Wolstan Dixey, featuring Gilliam and Powers. The ad promotes their footwear and includes the text: 'THE great advertising experts have laid it down as one of the fundamental principles of successful advertising that when a merchant has something definite to say to the public, and has some particularly strong line of goods to introduce, he should announce it truthfully, emphatically and prominently. Following this axiom we have taken this large space to PROMINENTLY, EMPHATICALLY AND TRUTHFULLY state that we are now showing the most complete line of Fall and Winter Footwear that we have yet shown since we have been in business in Seattle. We most PROMINENTLY wish to state that this stock has been selected with greatest care, and positively includes the very best and latest styles of Fall and Winter Footwear for men, women and children. And EMPHATICALLY we wish to call your most particular attention to the low prices which we have placed upon these goods, as we know that better values have never been given in Seattle. TRUTHFULLY we can ask your attention to these goods without resorting to any extravagant phrases to demonstrate their honest worth. Call and see the new styles at any time. We are glad to show them, whether you intend buying or not.'

San Francisco Shoe Co.

722 First Av., Cor. Columbia St. 'Our Footwear Will Outwear Footwear Bought Elsewhere'

Advertisement for City of Paris silks. The ad features the text: 'NEW SILKS! CITY OF PARIS. ALL THE NEW FALL COMBINATIONS OF CHANGEABLE TAFFETAS HAVE ARRIVED. The Silk is a Firm, Smooth Finish and Has a Fine Rustle.' It includes a small illustration of a woman in a dress.

Advertisement for Moran Bros. Company, featuring mining machinery. The ad includes the text: 'Moran Bros. Company, MANUFACTURE ALL KINDS Mining Machinery' and a small illustration of a piece of machinery.

Small text at the bottom of the page, including 'If you Love your Gou Gou Love Buy her a Gou Gou Love' and 'GRIDENT'.