

THE POST-INTELLIGENCER.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION: Delivered by City... Daily and Sunday, per month... Daily and Sunday, six months... Daily and Sunday, one year...

BY MAIL, PAYABLE IN ADVANCE. Daily and Sunday, per month... Daily and Sunday, six months... Daily and Sunday, one year...

OFFICES: Seattle, Second and Cherry streets. New York, 110 Broadway. Chicago, 217 Chamber of Commerce. Tacoma, 125 Pacific avenue.

Give postoffice address in full, including county and state. Remit by express, money order, draft or registered letter, at our risk.

A GUARANTEE. The Post-Intelligencer hereby guarantees its advertisers a bona fide paid circulation, Daily, Weekly and Sunday, double that of any other newspaper published in the state of Washington.

CITY OFFICIAL PAPER. SEATTLE, SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 19.

BIRTH OF THE REPUBLICAN PARTY. Pittsburg is celebrating the forty-first year of the state organization of the old Fremont or Republican party.

ENOIGMOUS SUPPLY OF MONEY. A year ago it was reported that the New York banks had a larger amount of cash on hand than they had held for many years.

TARDY INDIGNATION. One of the most determined cases of lynching that has occurred for some time took place recently in Ripley, Ind.

THE TWENTY-SECOND SECTION. The Mugwump newspapers, and generally all the newspapers of free trade proclivities, are still busily discussing the twenty-second section of the Dingley tariff bill.

POSTSCRIPTS. "There are wheels within wheels," says the Shan Van Voigt.

NOTABLE PEOPLE. The centenary of the birth of Samuel Joseph May, the anti-slavery advocate, will be celebrated at May Memorial church in Syracuse, September 12.

EDITORIAL SPARKLES. We observe that yellow fever in New York journalism is still raging wildly.

any or administrative policy, they would act cordially and faithfully in union to oppose the extension of slavery, and to know as Republicans until the contest was terminated.

The campaign was fought out with intense fierceness, and among the leaders of the new party were some of the grandest men the country has ever seen.

Not only has that prophecy utterly failed of realization, but already the amount going out of the banks into the various avenues of enterprise is larger than it has ever been before.

Another lesson has been well taught by the hard times, whether people heed it or not. It has been shown that individual ability avails but little as a safeguard against adversity.

After the event Gov. Mount, of Indiana, sent a message to the sheriff, in which he directed him to proceed with all his power to bring to justice "all the parties guilty of participation in the murder of the five men alleged to have been lynched."

The state convention was the forerunner of the conference of 1856 that formally founded the Republican party of the Union, and which event is now being celebrated.

John Sherman, in his recollections, says that the state convention held in Ohio on July 13, 1853, formally declared itself a convention of the Republican party.

But even before that time the word had been used to designate a faction. A strong popular movement was initiated in some of the Western states as early as 1841 in favor of a new party.

Section twenty-two is now being explained by the attorney general in order that it may be determined whether it accomplishes the object for which it was designedly framed and passed. Should objections develop as to its legal efficacy, it can safely be asserted that a separate measure, designed for precisely the same purpose and framed so as to avoid the objections which the attorney general may find to the measure as it stands, will be presented to and passed by congress in its regular session next December.

There is no excuse for lynching, but one's indignation against it is not apt to become superheated in the presence of such a dastardly outrage as that attributed to three young men in Missouri.

Those saloonkeepers who denounced the 1 o'clock ordinance do not seem so anxious to have it amended. If they are satisfied with things as they are, nobody else need complain.

If Canada will induce people to come to the western side of British Columbia and Vancouver island, they can build up a populous colony.

The great hauls of the police are attributed by narrow detractors to "luck."

The news of the capture of Seattle's burglars will be a wholesome check upon depredators who calculated that this city would be a "soft snap."

Lord Lester will learn before he leaves the United States that although Americans have no peacocks, they can without it appreciate true worth.

Treat your dog kindly; he may yet become a Klondiker and be worth a lot of money.

The city jail is now known as Cudihoe's hog-curing factory—with a cold storage attachment.

There are wheels within wheels," says the Shan Van Voigt.

Advice to the employees of the Seattle land office: "Never lose your Tremper."

The city jail is now known as Cudihoe's hog-curing factory—with a cold storage attachment.

If there is any choice, the yellow fever of Alaska is preferable to the yellow fever of New Orleans.

On the Klondike the fish lar does not brag of the size of his salmon, but of the price he paid for it.

In France a fake story is called a "canard" (duck); in the United States it will soon be "pigeon."

Paper is going up, the market reports say. This will be good news for the boys when the kite season is on.

President McKinley is going to Mass. The A. P. A. will be stirred to wrath—there is anything left of the A. P. A.

A Tacoma man who stole a can of corned beef is described as a safe-cracker. He will need a cracker to complete his dinner.

Those who contemplate going up the Skaguay pass should consider this winter of 1897 very attractive to California by the reports of newly discovered gold.

The treaty between Turkey and Greece is signed, including a slice of Thessaly. Greece is to keep the peace, and Turkey is to keep the other piece.

The ghost of Queen Anne Boleyn should be interviewed by a modern interviewer upon her views of modern London, with its changes since the time of Henry VIII.

Emperor William is to make a hurried private visit to his grandmother to explain what he did with the money in the Gueish fund. She warned him he was "kissing himself" a little too recklessly.

I'd like to meet the man who found The trail from Skaguay beach. I'd tell him things in language round Or tried to keep the peace, and Turkey is to keep the other piece.

I'd like to meet the man who sneers At those who caught the thieves. Who cracked the safe and stole the stuff And laughed up in their sleeves.

I'd like to meet the man who knows And whether Wood will save his term, And if he don't who'll care.

The governor in his message to the sheriff says: "Such lawlessness is intolerable, and all the powers of the state, if necessary, will be vigorously employed for the arrest and punishment of all the parties implicated."

A Chicago preacher talks of abandoning his calling to search for gold in the Klondike and some good people are snickered at the idea of a minister seeking to lay up treasures that moth and rust doth corrupt.

would have been no less creditable had it been expressed against the lawless gang for whose suppression all the power of the state should have been exerted.

There is no excuse for lynching, but one's indignation against it is not apt to become superheated in the presence of such a dastardly outrage as that attributed to three young men in Missouri.

Those saloonkeepers who denounced the 1 o'clock ordinance do not seem so anxious to have it amended. If they are satisfied with things as they are, nobody else need complain.

If Canada will induce people to come to the western side of British Columbia and Vancouver island, they can build up a populous colony.

The great hauls of the police are attributed by narrow detractors to "luck."

The news of the capture of Seattle's burglars will be a wholesome check upon depredators who calculated that this city would be a "soft snap."

Lord Lester will learn before he leaves the United States that although Americans have no peacocks, they can without it appreciate true worth.

Treat your dog kindly; he may yet become a Klondiker and be worth a lot of money.

The city jail is now known as Cudihoe's hog-curing factory—with a cold storage attachment.

There are wheels within wheels," says the Shan Van Voigt.

Advice to the employees of the Seattle land office: "Never lose your Tremper."

The city jail is now known as Cudihoe's hog-curing factory—with a cold storage attachment.

If there is any choice, the yellow fever of Alaska is preferable to the yellow fever of New Orleans.

On the Klondike the fish lar does not brag of the size of his salmon, but of the price he paid for it.

In France a fake story is called a "canard" (duck); in the United States it will soon be "pigeon."

Paper is going up, the market reports say. This will be good news for the boys when the kite season is on.

President McKinley is going to Mass. The A. P. A. will be stirred to wrath—there is anything left of the A. P. A.

A Tacoma man who stole a can of corned beef is described as a safe-cracker. He will need a cracker to complete his dinner.

Those who contemplate going up the Skaguay pass should consider this winter of 1897 very attractive to California by the reports of newly discovered gold.

The treaty between Turkey and Greece is signed, including a slice of Thessaly. Greece is to keep the peace, and Turkey is to keep the other piece.

The ghost of Queen Anne Boleyn should be interviewed by a modern interviewer upon her views of modern London, with its changes since the time of Henry VIII.

Emperor William is to make a hurried private visit to his grandmother to explain what he did with the money in the Gueish fund. She warned him he was "kissing himself" a little too recklessly.

I'd like to meet the man who found The trail from Skaguay beach. I'd tell him things in language round Or tried to keep the peace, and Turkey is to keep the other piece.

I'd like to meet the man who sneers At those who caught the thieves. Who cracked the safe and stole the stuff And laughed up in their sleeves.

I'd like to meet the man who knows And whether Wood will save his term, And if he don't who'll care.

The governor in his message to the sheriff says: "Such lawlessness is intolerable, and all the powers of the state, if necessary, will be vigorously employed for the arrest and punishment of all the parties implicated."

A Chicago preacher talks of abandoning his calling to search for gold in the Klondike and some good people are snickered at the idea of a minister seeking to lay up treasures that moth and rust doth corrupt.

where thieves break through and steal. Still, almost anything may come out of Chicago.—Louisville Dispatch.

Grover Cleveland says the report that he will assume the presidency of a college is nonsense, groves should keep in mind the old adage that the man who swears can catch no fish.—Denver Post.

The latest plaint of Eber Bryan hath the soul of one crying in the wilderness, who hath punctured his tire on his crown of thorns.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Now that the Bryanites have recognized the law of supply and demand, they should next recognize that the supply of their sort of statesmanship is far in excess of the demand.—Kansas City Journal.

Harrity, of Pennsylvania, is the latest to learn from the hard school of experience that Democracy spelled in modern letters means Bryanism.—Syracuse Post.

A club of women in Massachusetts has resolved that there shall be "no bachelors in politics." They should have added and "no old maids in politics."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

When we are invited to dinner we always regret that our friends, instead of putting more on the table than we can eat, didn't divide the spread and make it two meals.—Atchison Globe.

In marrying when more than 80 years old Gen. Lonestreet has shown that age has not dimmed the splendor of his courage.—Chicago Times-Herald.

Mr. Bryan has proved himself a complete success in a railway "smashup"—and all honor to him for that he accomplished it. But the country cannot afford to go there. "eternal amen" in order to furnish an opportunity to display his talents as a rescuer.—Chicago Tribune.

A newspaper in Madrid is printed on linen with an ink that can be removed by water. The advantage is, it is said, that the subscriber after he has read the news can send his paper to the washerwoman and have it come back a handkerchief.

The Madrid journals evidently do not publish Sunday editions.—Providence Journal.

When metal is intensely cold it seems to burn the hand, and a Hungarian has undertaken to cook food with sixty degrees of frost. There will be no trouble of cooking in Alaska unless the supplies give out.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

In addition to robbing them, Elder Charnley, of Chicago, used to put in a great portion of his time worrying over the morals of his neighbors.—Washington Post.

The prince will be the guest of the Burrell-Hoffmans at Lenox if their nuptial is done. In Chicago he will visit the Chatfield-Chatfield-Taylor-Chatfield combination. You have to be hyperphenated to entertain a prince.—Buffalo Enquirer.

That Chicago sausage maker took remarkable chances in a town where the district courts are so easy.—New York Journal.

"Can you truthfully say that no man ever put his arm around you?" "Well, of course, some one had to teach me to ride the bicycle."—Chicago Post.

"Is your summer novel interesting, Lydia?" "Interesting? I should say so. The heroine marries a rich man and they have five children three times a day."—Detroit Journal.

"Your honor," said a lawyer to Judge Brown, in Santa Rosa, Cal., the other day, "I move dismissal of this case on the ground that the corpus delicti has not been established."

Judge Brown rubbed his chin in a perplexed way, fixed his gaze on the ceiling for a moment, and then, clearing his throat, said: "Of course, it is an old principle of law that the probator must correspond with the allicator, and in this case I am of the belief that the corpus is all right, but I don't know about the delicti."

"Your honor, I want that to go into the record," demanded the opposing counsel. "I want the record to show that your honor said the corpus is all right, but you do not know about the delicti."

Judge Brown realized that he had blundered, and sat staring at the ceiling for a moment. Then, pulling himself together, he said: "All right, let that go into the record; but you fellows know damned well I was only joking when I said it, and that will go into the record, too."—San Francisco Post.

The centenary of the birth of Samuel Joseph May, the anti-slavery advocate, will be celebrated at May Memorial church in Syracuse, September 12.

Among the pupils at the military academy of St. Cyr, France, is a grandson of ex-Empress Eugenie, the son of Prince Louis Bonaparte, who was killed in 1879 by the Zulus. The future officer of artillery is now 19 years old and goes by the name of Walter.

While their grandmother was a Spanish woman, Senator White was not born in Florida, for his father crossed the plains in 1849 attracted to California by the reports of newly discovered gold. The senator was born in San Francisco in 1853. The Mallorys, on the other hand, remained in Florida.

Hot for the land of gold—The far-away, cold Klondike—Where women are getting dimming dust In wonderful heaps they strike. Where dawn finds men in want, At noon he's as dead as dirt. And when the day's work is done He ranks as millionaire.

And yet in that land of gold Some things do come mighty high: An old-time square meal's a sight For which man will vainly sigh. Though less in as cheap as dirt, And for it no man need yearn, He'll find it a trying task To get enough to eat.

No summer girl there displays The latest Parisian styles. Nor captivates many hearts For saucy, bewitching smiles. And as once before remarked, About that far-off Klondike, One never up on her bike, A bloomer girl on her bike.

Hot for the land of gold? Well, nix! we hereby shout, Until they have things up there We can't get along without. It's too far away, you see, And should there of cash be lack, We'd find it in our camp. A fearfully long walk back To jobs so big as these.

I'd like to meet the man who finds The trail from Skaguay beach. I'd tell him things in language round Or tried to keep the peace, and Turkey is to keep the other piece.

I'd like to meet the man who sneers At those who caught the thieves. Who cracked the safe and stole the stuff And laughed up in their sleeves.

I'd like to meet the man who knows And whether Wood will save his term, And if he don't who'll care.

The governor in his message to the sheriff says: "Such lawlessness is intolerable, and all the powers of the state, if necessary, will be vigorously employed for the arrest and punishment of all the parties implicated."

A Chicago preacher talks of abandoning his calling to search for gold in the Klondike and some good people are snickered at the idea of a minister seeking to lay up treasures that moth and rust doth corrupt.

OUR store, these days, is an ever changing panorama of interesting newness and brightness, profitable alike to you and us.

KID GLOVES FOR FALL—We show tomorrow a large line of the latest colorings and effects in Two-Clasp, Fine, Good Wool, reliable, $1.25 pair.

There's Always Something New at Ballarceon's. Just Now it is: Handsome Black and Red Best Grade Velvetina, one of the most stylish waist materials, 90c a yard.

Some beauties in Croise Covert Tailor Suiting, two-toned, 40c a yard. All of the best staple colorings in—

50-inch All-Wool French Sergé, 40c a yard. 48-inch, special line, fine finish, Royal English City Serge, navy only, 50c a yard.

38-inch new style Checks in Cheviot Cloth, these embrace all of the new color combinations and are very desirable for separate waists and skirts, 60c a yard.

We sold many All-Wool Dress Patterns in Fancy Cheviots, Mohair Mixtures and elegant Jacquard designs, in two-toned and solid colors, at $1.75, $2.65, $3.15, $3.50, $4.20 and $4.50 for a full suit length.

We have made additions to the above lines of low and medium priced goods for this week. You should see how far a little money does go at our Dress Goods Department.

Stylish Solid Colored Goods Are Saul Colts, Empress Corsets, Drap d'Eté Satin Corsets, Flat Corsets, Barritz Corsets, Drap d'Alma, Granite Cloths, Etamines, Serges, Etc., and last,

But Not Least, Is Broadcloth. We carry in stock always the best Broadcloth that is made, exactly the same goods you will find on the counters of the best retail stores.

The universal expression of all beholders is that handsome goods have never been brought to this city.

One of a kind only, imported and exclusive. $10, $11.50, $12.50, $15, $20.

Small prices, these, for what you'll get in return.

Black Dress Goods. "Now, don't think you know it all; just take Uncle's advice."

It pays to buy Black Dress Goods of known quality. Experiments are disastrous. We carry the "Priestley" and "Messin" makes of Black Goods, and several hundred pieces to choose from.

That new tariff is playing havoc with existing values. They seem all to be affected in one way, too. Some day kindly remember "WE TOLD YOU SO."

Black Beau de Sole Silk. Is one of the most popular of all Black Silks. We will show you a Beau de Sole that is cheap elsewhere at $1.25 a yard, for $1.00 a yard.

Announcement. Hundreds of pieces of Novelty Silks, embracing all that is new and good, are now on the way here. Watch the papers for the announcement of their arrival.

BLANKET SHEETS—A great bargain, 200 pairs of White or Gray Blanket Sheets, a large size, good weight, soft and heavy, 50c a pair.

WHITE BLANKETS—85 a pair—You've never bought better of the same price, a large size, extra heavy weight, soft and warm, a 80.50 Blanket, this for 85.

Assayers' and Chemists' FURNACES, BALANCES, ETC.

Diamonds, Watches, Clocks, Jewelry, Watchmakers, Jewelers, Engravers, Supplies.

Jos. Mayer & Bros. Manufacturing Jewelers, 705 SECOND AVENUE and 116 CHERRY STREET.

Miss F. Wiltzinski Graduate Optician, Office in Mayer Bros. Jewelry Store, 705 Second Avenue.

Take care of your eyes. Do not abuse them. If your eyes need glasses By all means use them. "Guard your sight." Consultation free.

H. CLAY EVERSOLE OPTICIAN. A scientific fit of glasses is a great comfort and a big saving.

Work is not a side issue as with others. Enough for us to be our own exclusive business and our own experience since 1863 is equaled by that of any optician in the United States; we have the appliances to fit the eyes that any other optician has.

H. CLAY EVERSOLE, Optical Specialist, 20 First Avenue.