Newest Costumes Give Positive Proof That the Old-Fashioned Idea Is to Rule.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—We are to have the bustle again. There is no doubt about it. All you have to do to be sure is to go to the dressmaker who best knows the styles and she will tell you that the newest costumes all have that idea in view. It seems a pity, for we got along well without it, but then the word of fashion is nothing if not a word of change, and as there is nothing new under the sun, the only thing for us to do is to keep going over and over the same ground, like history, repeating ourselves.

always racking their brains for new ideas to make things which they can sell for charitable objects, and now they have got hold of a grand one. The latest fad among the men, and girls, too, is to wear a stock instead of a collar or ribbon. It costs about 12 cents to make a stock, and the girls have been making them by the dozen, and selling them for 50 cents apiece to one another and a great many to the men. The stock itself is made of white pique or duck, and a Madras or gingham tie is attached, which forms the small bow in front. One girl has already made six, and many have made as much as from $5 to $10. At several of the golf clubs near town these stocks are left on sale, and when the men come up to play they need not leave for town again without looking trim and neat for the small sum of half a dollar. One young woman has sent over to Charvet, the well known maker of Paris, for some new patterns, and she intends selling them, when copied, for $1 each, and proceeds to help a poor family get through the winter—Harper's Bazaar.

A HOUSEKEEPING SCHOOL. Systematic Training of Girls in the Fine Art of Cooking.

Knowing how apt people are to neglect any systematic training of girls in the art of housekeeping, the Belgium authorities have established classes in both the primary and secondary schools where the whole system of housekeeping is taught, beginning with the most elementary and going on up till girls are graduated. The Pall Mall Gazette gives a very interesting summary of this process.

JOYS FOR NEW YORK'S FOUR HUNDRED.

Unless All Signs Fail the Coming Season Will Be One of Rare Gayety and Magnificence.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—New York is to surpass Paris in population and wealth, and promises soon not to be outdone by that gay city in the splendor and brilliancy of its functions in fashionable life. There are indications that the coming season will be one of unexampled gayety. In contrast with last winter everything is booming and the era of prosperity has now arrived. Added to this will be the strong desire of our social leaders to emulate, if not surpass, what can be done abroad, and thus add their quota toward making this the imperial city it is destined to be. While there will be no regular opera season in the sense that we have had in late years, owing to preparations not having been made sufficiently in advance, there will be no dearth of operatic and musical attractions.

When Mrs. William Astor, whose succession of dinner parties at Newport have been of such a brilliant character, has visited Mr. and Mrs. John Jacob Astor at their country estate on the Hudson, she will again take a leading part in the doings of New York's social elite and intends giving her customary grand ball and round of dinner parties.

Friends of the Bradley-Martins, who have been entertaining on so royal a scale during the summer at their princely estate at Balmacraan, in Scotland, have received word that they intend to return to New York early in the winter, and that they will have the gladdest of occasions in their grand entertainment of the giving of another grand entertainment, which will be in gorgeousness with their spectacular fancy dress ball at the Waldorf last winter, which was the talk of both continents.

Mr. Bradley-Martins' shooting property, by the way, is one of the best preserves in Scotland, and offers magnificent sport. The deer forest is capable of yielding fifty or sixty stags, and a similar number of hinds, while the bag of grouse is also lamps burning low and everything pointing to sentiment and flirtation. Then there will be the annual luncheons in Mrs. Astor's picture gallery, which can always be relied upon by the summer as a social treat, and as yet unannounced entertainments by Mrs. Whitney, Mrs. Elbridge T. Gerry, Mrs. Calvin S. Brice, Mrs. H. Mortimer Brooks, Mrs. Henry T. Sloane and Mrs. Townsend Burden. With all these ladies, each one of whom presides over a princely mansion, and has always been governed by the most hospitable instincts, how can New York be otherwise than gay?

A marked feature of the coming season will be the realization of the Society of Musical Arts and their grand entertainment which is to be inaugurated as soon as the splendid new Astoria hotel can be got ready. There are to be eight performances in all, two of pantomime, two of vaudeville, and two will be devoted to ballet and two to vocal and instrumental music. Each performance is to begin at 10 p. m. and continue until midnight, but what the glided youth are looking forward to with great zest and interest are the symposiums which are to succeed the entertainments proper.

Speaking of the new entertainment at the Astoria, it is to be noted that the remodelled Sherry's modern palace of pleasure, with its great ball room and parlors decorated in royal style, its superb entrance hall and its cafe modelled after the most famous resorts of the kind in Paris, will be a new rendezvous for society when the season begins. The great feature will be the grand ball room on the fourth floor, which will probably be the most magnificent and spacious in the country. It will be nearly 100 feet square and three stories high, and be approached through a superb entrance hall finished in white marble and gold.

The new Delmonico building, which will probably be completed about the time that the Astoria is ready, is expected to open the first of the four hundred and there is a hot race between Delmonico and Jack Astor to see which shall give the new housewarming.

In lieu of the regular opera season the plans of Mr. Damrosch cover a season of five weeks of French, Italian and German operas, beginning on January 17, Mrs. M. is the principal star, and two new works to be given, the first "Havre," which has been a great success in Berlin, and the other "Ilvesse" Home "Ilvesse" which was successful in Dresden, have been very great. Whether Mrs. Lehmann will return for a few performances is as yet unsettled, on account of the condition of her health. Messrs. Damrosch and Ellis say that they will give the operas as generous mounting as the traditions of the Metropolitan opera house demand.

The great horse show, which has become a great fashionable feature at the Madison Square Garden each year, promises great additional attractions to follow its opening on November 12. As in past years it will be as much, if not more, a show of beauty and fashion as of horses. Preceding this there will be horse shows of the Westchester County Association, that under the auspices of the Morrisstown Horse Club and the Orange County Horse Show Association, all of which will be attended by New York fashionables. The Madison Square show is always considered as the advent of the social season in New York, and under the portals of the garden the leaders of society who will come from all the resorts, far and near, will chat in their boxes about their different experiences of the past season, and their hopes and plans for the coming one.

The feuds and domestic quarrels in fashionable society are of such a wonderfully complex character that how they are to be settled is purely a matter of speculation. From the time of the quarrel between the two Mrs. Astors as to which had the right to be the "Mrs. Astor," until the present, quarreling seems to have been almost a rule in many of the leading society families.

Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt's divorce from her husband, and marriage to Mr. O. H. Belmont, was the principal cause of the unnumbered discussions, some taking the lady's part and some her late husband's, until Newport society seemed divided into two hostile camps. The marriage of Miss Consuelo to the Duke of Marlborough was a magnificent stroke of policy on the part of her mother, and forced a recognition of her social claims which will doubtless prove lasting. Mrs. Belmont, who is now abroad, playing the part of a fond grandmother, is expected to return before the season is far advanced, and will doubtless be again welcomed by New York society, as she was at Newport this summer.

The marriage of Mr. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., to Miss Grace Wilson, which caused so bitter an estrangement between the son and his parents, is reported to have been recognized by them, and many facts are given in support of this statement. It is to be hoped that this report will prove true even to the extent of reconciling the Wilsons, the Goletts and the Vanderbilts, all three families being so intimately connected by marriages.

There is a humorous and comic aspect to these queer family lars. What with mixed up marriages and divorces there are complications of relationship that would puzzle a dozen Philadelphia lawyers to disentangle. The young children who are com-lives' thoughts from dwelling within the "widder's."

Are Men Nearer Than Women? Godey's Magazine. A question recently asked by a certain bachelor who is a stern critic as to what regards a woman's get-up, the reply: "Women are endowed with strange vagaries, and while extremely fastidious in many ways, are very neglectful in others. Even the sweetest and girl is not as particular as to the fineness of her collar and cuffs as is the business-day man of business; to change linen at least once a day is a sort of fact that if any doubt exists on the matter they should be consigned to the laundry without demur.

"Again, a man is much more concerned as to the state of his shoes than a woman. The poor clerk on a meagre salary spends his nickel a day for a shiner without grudging; and it is imperative that the nickel be saved, he gets up earlier in the morning and wields the blacking iron himself. The woman will grow herself to Worth's or Pagnin's latest creation, forget to look at her shoes, and be unwilling to concede the loss of one or two buttons and the consequent baggy appearance of her extremities; like the peacock, she trusts to her beauty, and hopes that her admirer will cover all pedal defects.

Evening Up. Harper's Bazar. "Why, Bridget, you have too much on in the hash!" "Oh know it, ma'am." "Then why did you make it so salty?" "Because, ma'am, you said yesterday that there wasn't nearly enough in it, so I put in too much this time to make it up it up."

A Blessing to the Babies of the Poor. An Enterprise That Should Be Fostered. The prospect is very encouraging that the distribution of the "Babies of the Poor" will be a blessing to the babies of the poor in the large cities of the United States. While the benevolent people are a blessing to the babies of the poor, it is a blessing to the babies of the poor that the "Babies of the Poor" should be distributed to the babies of the poor.

Fun at a Dickens Party. Unique Method of Entertainment That May Well Be Imitated. Washington Post. A Dickens party was recently held at Mount Vernon, N. Y. If the costumes were not so elaborate the enjoyment was quite as good as at the Erudite Martin ball. The Dickens affair is well worth imitating in every town in the land.

The programme as rendered was this: After the guests had all assembled in the hospitable home of a church member, whose large and beautiful house was most appropriate for the evening performance, a grand march took place of couples who had marched "sentimentally" written on cards, and, of course, half a sentence on each other's cheeks as they stood before the company and were under the fire of description, and were so affectionate and "delightfully unfitted" that they were most cordially applauded.

Sairy Gamp and her friend, Miss Priggs, stood together and Sairy produced a large green cucumber, as requested by Miss Priggs, from her black bag and presented it to her friend, also daintily putting an-
