

DEATH OF HON. THEO. DAVIE.

BRITISH COLUMBIA CHIEF JUSTICE SUDDENLY PASSES AWAY.

Long Standing Disease of the Heart, Complicated With Kidney Trouble, Was the Cause—At One Time the Premier of the Colony.

VICTORIA, B. C., March 7.—Hon. Theodore Davie, chief justice and ex-premier of British Columbia, died this morning. He had been ill for some time, but this morning was very much better and when visited by his brother-in-law in the best of spirits and arranged to go driving. About 11 o'clock the chief justice asked his little girl, who was in the room with him, to ring the bell. One of the sisters in attendance, went with all possible speed to the room and upon her entrance the chief justice grasped her hands and asked her to assist him to the lounge across the room. He walked with the assistance given, and lay on the sofa, lapsing immediately into unconsciousness.

The sister superior and others were quickly summoned, but all unavailing, and at 11:15 o'clock Davie expired, he never having spoken since his whispered request to be assisted to the sofa.

The cause of the death was a long existing disease of the heart, complicated with kidney trouble which had medical treatment and caused the sufferer severe paroxysms of pain, in one of which he passed away.

Theodore Davie was born in England in 1822 and came to British Columbia fifteen years ago, immediately entering a law office. For fifteen years he was a struggling barrister, practicing in Victoria and the mining districts. Following the steps of his father, who was a member of the legislature, and of his brother, who was premier of the province, he entered politics in 1882, after having established a reputation as one of the best criminal lawyers in Canada. Upon the death of his brother in 1889, he was selected as attorney general, and three years later succeeded Hon. John Robson as premier of the province. He continued as premier until 1895, when he was appointed chief justice. Overwork during his political career brought on the illness that ended in his death.

EJECTED FROM A SALOON.

A Blushing Evangelist Gets Himself Roughly Handled.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE POST-INTELLIGENCER. CHEHALIS, March 7.—Rev. G. H. Worthen, an evangelist and temperance lecturer who has been holding forth here intermittently for the last three weeks, was roughly handled last evening by T. C. Rush, a saloonkeeper. Worthen is a "shimmer." He likes to know what he is talking about, and he goes to the saloons, houses of shady reputation, etc., to make personal observations.

Last night, after the close of his lecture, he went, accompanied by several of the brothers and sisters, to Rush's saloon, where he claimed gambling was going on contrary to the law. He demanded to be admitted to a private room, where a game was alleged to be in progress. Rush refused to let him in.

After some words Rush, who is about half as large as the evangelist, told him to clear out. He did not go, and Rush laid hands on him, choking him and forcibly ejecting him from the saloon.

DEAN HABBITT DEFEATED.

Loses His Suit Against All Saints' Church for Salary.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE POST-INTELLIGENCER. SPOKANE, March 7.—The fight between Dean Richmond Habbitt and All Saints' church, which a few months ago was so prolific of sensational incidents, one of which was the forcible ejection from the cathedral of Rev. John Manning, whom the dean had placed in charge to guard the edifice from the chapter taking possession, was recalled to mind today by the trial of one of the numerous law suits brought in the courts by Dean Richmond Habbitt against Bishop Wells and members of the chapter.

The case heard today was an action on the part of the dean to compel the payment of his salary for the period since he was ousted from the rectory of All Saints. The bishop and chapter won a decided victory, Judge Prather ruling that Dean Habbitt had no standing in court. The dean's action for $10,000 damages for forcible ejection was set for trial March 13.

THE CANADIAN GOVERNMENT ANNOUNCES ITS POLICY.

If the Restrictions on Wrangel Are Too Burdensome, a Railroad Will Be Built to Connect With Some Coast Port in British Columbia.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE POST-INTELLIGENCER. OTTAWA, Ont., March 7.—The passage of the Frye bill in the United States senate was the subject of a heated debate in the Canadian commons today. Attention having been called to section 13 of that bill, Sir Charles Tupper arose and asked if the government, in the face of the extraordinary proceedings at Washington, intended to proceed with the Yukon railway proposals. He then, in the strongest terms, admonished upon the action of the senate, which he characterized as unbearably aggressive. He declared that neither the Canadian parliament nor people would tolerate the dictatorial attitude assumed. There was a limit to human endurance, and here it was reached, as far as Canadians were concerned, for they would never submit to the base humiliation to which the American authorities evidently desired to subject Canada. He called upon the government to resist to the utmost the attempt of the subversion of Canada's national dignity.

The premier stated that it was not the intention of his government to yield any of the concessions demanded by the United States senate. He claimed that the treaty of Washington from navigation of the Stikine was assured to Canada, and any law passed by the American government which would render nugatory the rights under that treaty, was ultra vires, and would be so held in the United States courts. He stated that if the difficulties at Wrangel became insurmountable, the government would construct a railway from an ocean port in British Columbia to connect with the Stikine route. The trade of the Klondike belongs to Canada and the government proposed to keep and maintain it for Canadians, but if the suggestions of Tupper were adopted that trade would be given over to Pacific coast cities of the United States.

Machinery for a Steamer.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE POST-INTELLIGENCER. TACOMA, March 7.—It is announced here today that the machinery of the wrecked steamer Stella was sold at Jacksonville, Fla., and is to be at once shipped to Puget sound to be placed in a new vessel intended to ply on the Yukon river. The purchaser is B. F. Broughton, of Jacksonville, Fla., who, it is said, will accompany the machinery here, and at once prepare to build a hull. The original owners of the Stella are the members of the Donaldson Navigation Company.

Will Locate Terminal Grounds.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE POST-INTELLIGENCER. TACOMA, March 7.—Capt. J. E. Noel will tomorrow organize an engineering party, which will at once proceed to locate the terminal grounds for the Tacoma-Columbia river railroad. Capt. Noel could today furnish no information as to where the terminals of the line will be located, but said he would get to work without a moment's unnecessary delay.

Deputy Marshal Crosby Returns.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE POST-INTELLIGENCER. TACOMA, March 7.—Chief Deputy United States Marshal Frank L. Crosby returned here from the East today, after about two weeks' visit in Washington, and also in Chicago. He had business of importance to the marshal's district here, at both cities. He reports a perfect furor of subdued excitement throughout the East as to the Alaska mines. His official business, it is understood, was of a secret nature.

Another Victim of Card Sharps.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE POST-INTELLIGENCER. TACOMA, March 7.—A new victim of confidence men reported at the police station today with a tale of woe, showing he had lost $25 in a card game. He is one of the army of Klondikers now en route to Alaska, and is being generally congratulated because he escaped losing all the money he had on his person. The daily average of such cases is on the increase.

Labelled the Mackinaw.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE POST-INTELLIGENCER. TACOMA, March 7.—Four ship carpenters have begun suit against the steam collier Mackinaw in the United States court to recover the value of a copper-bottomed schooner, valued at $70. The schooner was built at Tacoma and sailed for Seattle on Feb. 11. The collier has been labelled and allowed to leave port under a bond in the sum of $100.

Farmington, Whitman county—Jacob Blyenderfer, vice Edwin E. Padlock, removed.

Presidential Nominations.

WASHINGTON, March 7.—The president today sent these nominations to the senate: B. Holland, to be naval officer of customs for the district of Philadelphia. William J. Bowers, to be collector of customs for the district of San Diego. Rev. James G. Gavitt, of Illinois, to be post chaplain. Passed Assistant Engineer Franklin J. Schell, to be chief engineer.

Dr. Butler an Examining Surgeon.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE POST-INTELLIGENCER. WASHINGTON, March 7.—Dr. E. E. Butler was today appointed a member of the board of pension examining surgeons at Anacortes, Wash.

Dependent on Reciprocity.

LONDON, March 7.—Mr. Chamberlain, secretary of state for the colonies, explaining in the house of commons today the delay in the presentation of the government's West Indian proposals, said that unless the reciprocity negotiations between the United States and Canada were concluded, the government could not tell what the position of the West Indies would be.

Picquart Refuses Challenge.

PARIS, March 7.—Col. Picquart refuses to answer Comte Esterhazy's challenge to a duel for causing growth of the Dreyfus and Zola trials.

Banked by a Fortune Teller.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE POST-INTELLIGENCER. TACOMA, March 7.—The bank Kate Davenport, Capt. Reynolds, which it was announced would make a voyage to Copper river, will remain in the coast coal trade. The vessel has been in the coast trade for several years, and it has been deemed advisable to abandon, or at least postpone, the proposed Alaskan trip. She is now loading a cargo for San Francisco.

RUSSIA'S HARSH DEMANDS.

CHINA MUST MAKE A PROMPT AND SATISFACTORY ANSWER.

English Government Professes No Information on the Subject—Lord Roberts Predicts That a Russian Attack on India Will Come.

BERLIN, March 7.—The Tageblatt today publishes a dispatch from Peking, saying that China has agreed to lease Port Arthur and Tientsin to Russia for ninety-nine years.

China Feels Uneasy.

PEKING, March 7.—Much uneasiness is felt in Chinese circles in consequence of the Russian demands. The Russian minister of finance, however, is reported to have urged these demands peremptorily, and to have complained that the Chinese loan was settled in spite of the disapproval of Russia.

Has No Official Information.

LONDON, March 7.—Replying in the house today to Sir Ellis Ashmead Bartlett, Conservative, Mr. Curzon, the parliamentary secretary for the foreign office, said the government was unable to confirm messages to the London Times from Peking, published today, saying that Russia has demanded that China surrender to her all sovereign rights over Port Arthur and Tientsin, for the same period and on the same conditions as in the case of Germany at Kiaochow bay, besides demanding important railroad concessions, giving five days within which to receive a reply and threatening to move troops into Manchuria in the event of non-compliance with her demands. Mr. Curzon also said the government had no confirmation of the report that Russia had occupied Deer Island, Korea, nor could the government confirm reports setting forth that Russia was strengthening the forts at Port Arthur.

'Bohs' Makes a Speech.

The house of lords was unusually crowded today. The press gallery was full and there were many members of the house of commons present. Lord Roberts, commander of the forces in Ireland, made his expected speech in favor of a forward policy on the Indian frontier, putting forward the Russian peril and declaring that the policy of non-interference with the frontier tribes had been a complete failure.

Russia Has Begun the Partition.

All the morning papers comment on the menacing aspect of affairs in the far East. The Daily Chronicle, in a strong editorial, says: "As a rebuff to Lord Salisbury, nothing could be meaner and more painful. Russia has simply begun the partition of China. If anybody asks what China will do, the answer is simple, there is no such a thing as China. The real question is 'What will England do, and what will Japan do?'"

"If ever Great Britain needed a strong man it is now, and the country will learn with dissatisfaction that again at a moment of acute crisis, the premier's health compels him to go abroad. Thus both the queen and the prime minister are to be absent when their presence is peculiarly needed."

A dispatch from Nagasaki to the Daily Mail says: The Korean cabinet, with the exception of the foreign minister, Ming Chong, Mouk, has resigned because Ming signed the Deer Island concession to Russia without the consent of the cabinet.

Thirty Russian Torpedo Boats.

ODESSA, March 7.—The Russian government has ordered thirty new torpedo boats to augment the Russian Pacific squadron at Vladivostok and Port Arthur.

ORIENTAL WAR INEVITABLE

The Cramps Planning a Shipyard, With Battleships and Cruisers, for a Foreign Power. PHILADELPHIA, March 7.—The North American today publishes the following: "While the attention of the public during the recent war scare has been for the present time diverted from the Cramp shipyard to League Island, yet it is safe to assert that the Kensington firm of shipbuilders is at this moment on the eve of securing a foreign contract of sensational proportions."

"Although the members of the firm maintain the utmost secrecy on the subject, yet it is a fact that during the week just passed a force of draughtsmen has been working on plans and estimates almost continuously. These plans and estimates, it is said, are being drawn up for the consideration of a foreign power, and include a first-class shipyard, such as is operated by the cramps, besides several battleships and cruisers."

"Although the name of the foreign power is kept a secret, it is generally understood by those in a position to know that the plans and estimates will eventually find their way to Russia. This is the more readily apparent in view of the fact that all signs on the European horizon point conclusively to a war between Japan and Russia in the near future."

"Japan realizes that Russia is making dangerous encroachments in China, where she should enjoy the fruits of victory. Russia, on the other hand, will not recede; hence a war with Japan seems inevitable."

Charles B. Cramp, president of the William Cramp Ship and Engine Building Company, today denied absolutely the story that his company was preparing plans for a number of war vessels and of a modern ship-building plant for a European nation, presumably Russia.

Twenty-seven Priests Killed.
