

CLOGGED KIDNEYS.

They Poison the Blood, Become Infected With Disease, Break Down the Entire System and Bring on Bright's Disease.

To Prove What the Great Kidney Remedy, Swamp-Root, Will Do for YOU, Every Reader of the "Post-Intelligencer" May Have a Sample Bottle Sent Absolutely Free by Mail.

Laboratory of Dr. Kilmer & Co., Home of Swamp-Root, the World-Famous Kidney Remedy.

You know what happens to a sewer when it becomes clogged, don't you? Do you know what happens to the human system when the kidneys become clogged? They are unable to throw out the impurities from the blood, and become infected with poisons; they decay, fall apart, and pass out in the urine; the blood, unfiltered, carries the poison all through the system, and if not checked death follows. The kidneys are the sewers of the human system.

When your kidneys are not doing their work, some of the symptoms which prove it to you are pain or dull ache in the back, excess of uric acid, gravel, rheumatic pains, sediment in the urine, scanty supply, scalding irritation in passing it, and many more. The symptoms which get up often times during the night to empty the bladder; sleeplessness, nervous irritability, dizziness, irregular heart, breathlessness, salivary, unhealthy complexion, puffy or dark circles under the eyes, sometimes the feet, limbs or body float, loss of ambition, general weakness and debility.

When you are sick or "feel badly," no matter what you think the name of your disease is, the first thing you should do is to afford aid to your kidneys by using Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy.

In taking Swamp-Root, you afford natural help to nature, for Swamp-Root is the most perfect healer and gentle aid to the kidneys that is known to medical science.

Perhaps you are in doubt about your kidneys and want to find out. Here's a simple test. Take from your urine passed when you arise in the morning, about four ounces; place it in a glass bottle and let it stand for twenty-four hours. If, upon examination, you find any settlings or sediment, if it is milky or cloudy, or if particles float about in it, disease has gotten a foothold in your kidneys and nature is calling for help.

If you have the slightest symptoms of kidney or bladder trouble, or if there is a trace of it in your family history, you would profit by taking Swamp-Root every now and then as a preventive, and thus absolutely forestall kidney and bladder trouble.

The famous new discovery, Swamp-Root, has been tested in so many ways in hospital work, in private practice, among the helpless too poor to purchase relief, and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made with the Post-Intelligencer by which all of our readers who have not already tried it may have a sample bottle sent absolutely free by mail; also a book telling all about kidney and bladder diseases, and containing some of the thousands of testimonial tributes from men and women who have recovered from kidney and bladder troubles by the means of Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy.

Swamp-Root is so remarkably successful that our readers are advised to write for a free sample bottle and to be sure and state that you read this generous offer in the Seattle Sunday Post-Intelligencer, when sending your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Birmingham, N. Y.

Those who are already convinced that Swamp-Root is what you need, you can purchase the regular 50-cent and $1 size bottles at the drug stores everywhere.

some land he lost, has been a resident of this country for the past seven years. He was always known to be a little peculiar and while never doing anyone an injury he was greatly feared by many.

At the time he lost the land referred to the case was tried in Montesano and Mason Irwin was the superior judge before whom the case was brought.

It was decided against Feiser and he made open threats that he was going to shoot the judge, and Mr. Irwin finally found it necessary for his own protection to order Feiser confined to jail, where he recently received several visits and released on his own recognizance that he would keep the peace.

He is a large, powerful man, but always claimed he was unable to perform manual labor and of late years he has been going around the country in the capacity of a book agent.

U. S. TRADE GOODS DOUBLES

SALE OF AMERICAN GOODS DOUBLES

IN TWO YEARS.

Since the raising of the flag in the Philippines, Melbourne Merchants Send More Orders Here—Waiting for American Jobbers.

Since the raising of the American flag in the Philippines, to the eye of the casual observer, the importation of American goods into Australia has more than doubled. Dr. Wallace Reife, a practicing physician of Melbourne, passed through the city yesterday en route to his home in Germany, after a tour of Canada. He has been in Melbourne for the last two years, and is on his first visit to the scenes of his past two years.

"Within the last two years," he said at the Butler, "the sale of American goods in Australia has more than doubled. Just how to account for this it would be hard to say with any degree of certainty. It is my opinion, however, that when the United States raised the Stars and Stripes in the far East, it was the first step in a policy of commercial progression.

"Australia and the other markets of the South then had their attention drawn to a mighty country. It was a master stroke, and one that caused all nations to look upon this country as they had never done before.

"The feeling between Australians and Americans has always been friendly, but was increased when you see the neighbors. As a result, orders that had formerly been placed in Germany and England, are now being placed in Australia and clothing, were sent to American houses. Since that time there has been a steady increase in orders, and if the time ever comes when the American flag is established in the business in Manila, there is a large trade awaiting them not only in Australia, but also in many other countries of the Orient and the South.

"Australia is as modern in its habits today as the United States. We use much the same products as you do, and as far as the far East is concerned, we are a part of your system of cable cars, which we claim to be the most modern in the world. Our principal business streets are thronged with the fashion of busy American cities, and there is more bustle than is to be seen in the average English city.

"Australia is prosperous at this time, and most of our merchants have cash in their pockets, and are not short of money. It is arranged after the American system of cable cars, which we claim to be the most modern in the world. Our principal business streets are thronged with the fashion of busy American cities, and there is more bustle than is to be seen in the average English city.

DEATH OF CAPT. WALTERS.

Had Been Engaged in Effort to Raise the Andeliana.

Special Dispatch to the Post-Intelligencer. ABERDEEN, March 24.—Capt. W. F. Walters of Seattle, died today at St. Joseph's hospital of chronic nephritis. He had been in the hospital about a month, but was not considered seriously ill until the past week. He was a native of Wisconsin, 58 years of age and unmarried. He had been engaged in an unsuccessful attempt to raise the sunken British ship Andeliana, which sank in the Strait of Juan de Fuca harbor January 14, 1899. Shortly after the vessel went down a local company at Montesano, Wash., but Capt. Walters, who had had a long experience as a mariner on the Great Lakes, soon after organized the Pacific Wrecking and Salvage Company at Seattle, with the object of raising her. Associated with him were Capt. Richard Williams and several other Seattle men. They spent a considerable amount of money in the purchase of apparatus for raising the ship, including a diving outfit, a barge, which was anchored over the ship, tackle, etc. By the time all this paraphernalia was assembled, winter weather came on, and it was impossible for divers to do their work successfully. Further efforts were abandoned, and the barge was anchored only a few days ago the barge anchored over the ship was towed to shore and tied up, indicating that the vessel would not be resumed for some time. Diver Baldwin lost his life while trying to make a descent to the wreck, and the body of Capt. Walters took hold of the enterprise.

Whether the Pacific Wrecking and Salvage company will be organized, further attempts to save the ship now that Capt. Walters is dead is unknown here. The body of the late captain was buried in the local cemetery, and the wreck from the owners in England, through British Consul Alexander, is said to exceed $2,000.

THE FEAR OF HUMBUG

Prevents Many People From Trying a Good Medicine.

Stomach troubles are so common and so most cases so obstinate to cure that people are apt to look with suspicion on any remedy claiming to be a radical, permanent cure for dyspepsia and indigestion. Many people pride themselves on their astuteness in never being humbugged, especially in medicines.

But the cure being humbugged can be carried too far, in fact, that many people suffer for years with weak digestion, and then risk a little time and money in faithfully testing the claims made of a preparation so reliable and universally used as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Now Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are vastly different in one important respect from ordinary proprietary medicines for the reason that they are not a secret. Their ingredients are all known to all, and contain the natural digestive ferment, Golden Seal, bile, pepsin, the digestive acids, they are not cathartics, hydratics and nux. They act powerfully on any organ, but they do not injure it. Neither do they disturb the plan of digesting the food in the common sense before it has time to ferment, sour and cause the mischief. This is the only secret of their success.

Cathartic pills never have and never can cure indigestion and stomach troubles because they act entirely on the bowels, whereas the whole trouble is in the stomach.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets taken after meals digest the food. That is all there is to it. Food not digested or half digested is the cause of indigestion, acidity, headaches, palpitation of the heart, loss of flesh and appetite and many other troubles which are often called by some other name.

They are sold by druggists everywhere at 50 cents per package.

Carroll collected nearly $2,000 for the boat to be taken to Dawson. He ran the boat at Nome for provisions, sleighs, etc., promising to pay the next day. Before leaving he collected the provisions, drugs, stoves, etc., left him, and pulled out on the trail before he left the trail and escaped.

It is thought he will make across country to the Yukon and into the Arctic region. About 2,000 people are wintering at Nome. Typhoid fever has been very bad here and several men have been shot in a considerable steaming, and a general rough camp. Among the shooting parties the cook on her last trip was shot and killed by a constable, while he was trying to escape after shooting a man in the several other shooting parties have been reported.

It is reported that the winter at Nome has been mild, the coldest temperature being 21 below zero, but that the wind blows with terrific force for six days in the week. He reports stampedes of reindeer and Cape York, but with no snow results. He says a rich strike was reported on a creek thirty miles from Nome, below Penny river, on the west side of Cape Prince of Wales. Norton sound is reported to 10 to 15 cents per barrel.

Nome is fairly well provided with provisions, he continues, "and we shall be short of only a few extra provisions, such as selling whisky at 25 cents and beer at 10 cents a drink. Wood is $5 to $10 a cord, and coal is scarce at $100 a ton. Flour, sugar, 25 cents, meat $24 a case, cream $5 and butter $10 a case. Men are working on the beach within a radius of twenty-five miles of town. The Alaska Commercial company is going to establish a station at Norton sound and at Cape York in the spring.

The captain reports most of the Alaska Commercial fleet at Cape York, except the Bella, Leah, Hannah and Margaret. They are in the bay with a cargo of flour stamped to the Koyukuk. The remainder of the Alaska Commercial fleet are at Andrews. There are numerous steamers in the canal near Nome. The steamer on the Rideout, Powers, Hamilton, Wagon, all of the Empire fleet, Seattle, Tacoma, Victoria, and the Empire three-masted, the Alaska and five barges. Others are the J. C. H. and the Empire three-masted, and Capt. Conrad's launch.

King, Hanson has gone up as far as Barling, continuing on to the Yukon. He is a coal miner, and will return by way of Andrews. He will then go to Dawson.

WANTS TO SHOOT JOE CARROLL, OF NOME, ON SIGHT.

Special Dispatch to the Post-Intelligencer. TACOMA, March 24.—The man who shot Joe Carroll, private mail carrier, who was operating from Nome, is accused of having committed numerous thefts, being collected $2,000 which was to pay for the delivery of letters and then decamping with it. It is said that riflemen went in pursuit of him with orders to shoot him on sight on the man escaped.

The report of this sensational occurrence was received in a letter from Capt. King, of the steamboat Robert King, which to Nome under date of December 24 to Charles H. Norris, of the Scandinavian-American bank of this city. Capt. King says:

"Joe Carroll collected nearly $2,000 for the boat to be taken to Dawson. He ran the boat at Nome for provisions, sleighs, etc., promising to pay the next day.
