

THEY had been three months married. The boy from the store fetched in this little note: "Dear Wife—Send me a pocket-handkerchief, J. H." She went slowly to the drawer to get the desired article, and while looking for it she came across the following note, dated two weeks after the wedding: "Sunlight of my Soul—You will have to send me a handkerchief. Your bewitching eyes so turned my head this morning that I forgot to take one with me, for which I shall kiss the sweet face of my own a thousand times when I come home. In two hours and twenty minutes it will be 12 o'clock, and then I can come to you my beautiful rose. I long to fly to you. A thousand kisses I send thee my fairy wife. Yours, tenderly, John." She sighed, gave the boy the handkerchief, and signed again.

AN OBSERVING RAT—Kennedy, the Cambridge, Mass., "fire bug," who was pardoned Wednesday, July 18, left the State Prison the following morning. After attiring himself in citizen's dress, he asked to be allowed to take with him a pet rat, which has been his companion during many years of his confinement, and his request was granted. When he went to get the rat, however, the companion of his imprisonment did not recognize him in his new dress and ran from him. An officer, who was with Kennedy, suggested to him to put on his prison jacket and see what the effect would be. Kennedy did so, and the rat quickly ran into his arms. Kennedy then secured the pet and left.

A YOUNG girl from the country, being on a visit to a Quaker, was prevailed on to accompany him to the meeting. It happened to be a silent one, none of the brethren being moved to utter a syllable. When the Quaker left the meeting-house with his young friend, he asked: "How did thee like the meeting?" To which she pettishly replied: "Like it! Why I can see no sense in it—to go and sit for whole hours together without speaking a word. It is enough to kill Satan himself!" "Yes, my dear," rejoined the Quaker, "that is just what we want."

Theresa Williams, who was recently baptized and admitted to a church in Hartford proves to be a thorough trained thief from this city. She says: "I whooped in on religion as a matter of biz."

NEW PATENT. A. C. CAMPBELL HAS A LATE IMPROVEMENT ON THE LEATHERS' ARTIFICIAL STONE!

The Improved Patent is dated U. S. Patent Office, Dec. 19, 1876—No. 185,554.

BY THIS IMPROVEMENT STONE CAN BE made much cheaper, faster, and with a better finish than by the Leathers' old patent. Any one desiring to see the Stone made by this late process, can do so by calling at my residence on Second street, Seattle, or at Dr. Bagley's, where can be seen a Vase made of this last patent. The Vase I sold him for $25, which could not be made of natural stone for $150, and then not any better. I am now ready to contract for all kinds of Stone Work. Satisfaction given, or no pay. I am also prepared to sell rights for any portion of Washington Territory. Shop Rights for $25; County Rights from $250 to $1,000, and upwards. Any person buying Rights will be instructed how to make the Stone. I am the sole owner of this improved patent for Washington Territory.
