

LOYD GEORGE UPHOLDS IRISH POLICE ACTION

British Premier Says Their Patience Gave Way Under Attacks.

DENIES CIVIL WAR IDEA

Asserts It Is Murder of Civilians to Slay Men in Uniform.

ADMITS HISTORIC WRONGS

But Declares Past Is No Justification for Present Conditions in Ireland.

am going to examine the reasons for it. All I can say is if we were to clear our consciences, we must own that our responsibility rests largely with the past government of the Government of that country, for which, as an island, we were mainly responsible.

"That must be so, and whenever you examine the deplorable conditions of that island, whenever things there irritate and exasperate you, there are things which appear to be indefensible upon the facts of the moment. We must look back and examine the record of the past thirty or forty years, and see what was done by our ancestors upon that unfortunate island.

Much Done for Ireland.

"But nothing that has been done in the past can justify altogether the conditions of the present. These things may explain, but they cannot justify. During the past thirty or forty years more has been done to redress past evils from which Ireland has suffered than for any country in the world.

"That taken into account, the United Kingdom has put forth greater efforts to restore conditions in Ireland than any other part of the King's dominion during the past thirty years. Well, my last year is the position? You have read in the newspapers during the last few days of attacks which were leveled against the police and the military administration. There have been there something called reprisals. Let us examine the facts. Policemen and soldiers do not go about burning houses and shooting men wantonly without provocation, and therefore if you are going to examine reprisals you must find out how they arise.

No Protest at Murders.

"Let me give you one or two facts which arose during the last year. There have been 23 policemen shot in Ireland—109 shot dead. Something like 100 soldiers were shot and many more fired at. About sixty-seven courthouses like this have been burned. There have been attacks upon police barracks. The police endured in a patiently enduring way and are deserving of the highest testimony for their discipline and self-restraint for two or three years.

"There is no doubt that at least their patience has given way, and there has been some severe hitting back. But take conditions while the murders were going on. We never heard or read a word of protest from the Sinn Feiners of Ireland—not a single syllable. A fisherman, communicated to the United States and the British press an interview the other day which showed great concern at the prospect of what he thought was going to be an attack upon his own life. I do not believe any attack was concerted against Arthur Griffith's life, but I never saw a word from Arthur Griffith displaying indignation at the killing of 109 policemen in Ireland. Not one word.

"The defence put forward for these murders was that there was a state of war. They say the police were garrisoned in a foreign country, and they were entitled to shoot them. It is a war on both sides.

Murder, Not War, in Ireland.

"We do not have one set of men standing up to be shot at and never firing back, and if men are shot they shoot back. No soldier ever complains. That is what he expects when he joins the army and enters a fight that is not all war. There are men in uniform. There may be reasons for discipline for this, but the main reason is that the combatant must be distinguished from the non-combatant.

"If you did not put them in uniform an army invading a country would see able bodied men and couldn't distinguish between soldier and civilian and would have to shoot both. Therefore, according to all the rules of war, men are put into uniform so as to know who is the combatant and who the civilian, so that the civilian may be passed by unharmed.

"What is the case here? A harmless looking civilian passes a policeman in the street. There is nothing to indicate he has a murderous weapon on him. There is nothing to arouse any suspicion in the mind of the policeman that he is to make any murderous attempt.

"He passes the policeman, and when he has done so pulls a revolver and shoots the policeman in the back. Scores of policemen were killed in that way. That is not war. It is murder. If it was war the soldiers and the policemen a fair chance and they will give a good account of themselves. But if every civilian who passes them on the street may be turned out at the moment they have passed to be a murderer what is the policeman to do? "Are policemen in Ireland to be shot down like dogs in the street without a chance of defending themselves?" (Cries of "No!")

BOMBS WRECK PART OF CORK'S CITY HALL

Six Explosions in Building Are Followed by Rifle Fire Into Offices.

By the Associated Press.

CORK, Oct. 9.—Part of the City Hall here was destroyed by bombs at about 4 o'clock this morning. Six explosions were heard, and were followed by considerable rifle fire. So far as known there were no casualties.

The damage was chiefly confined to the rooms in the west end of the building. One of these, which was used by the Water Department, was burned out by fire following the explosions, and department's books and records for fifty years were destroyed. The blaze was prevented from spreading by the stone partition walls.

The adjoining rooms, occupied by the Department of Public Health, were damaged by explosions, the theory being that bombs were thrown into them through the windows.

by the night watchman, who telephoned for the fire brigade when the first explosion occurred.

Although the curfew limit had expired an hour previous to the attack the fire brigade was halted by patrols. The firemen, after some delay, were permitted to proceed. They succeeded in quenching the flames and saving part of the building. It has not yet been decided whether the fire was caused by an incendiary bomb or from the ignition of gasolene.

The reports on the occurrence say that from four to six explosions occurred. Barrack street, the scene of yesterday's attack on a military lorry, was quiet throughout the night. Few of the people of Cork slept last night. Firing was heard in various parts of the city intermittently throughout the night.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—The Admiralty was notified by the Commander in Chief at Queenstown that armed and masked men Friday afternoon raided the light-house on Roanarrisk Island, on the southwest coast of County Cork. The raiders carried off all the signal rockets, lights and other apparatus.

POLISH BORDER UNSETTLED.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—The League of Nations commission now in session at Szwedki settling the Polish-Lithuanian boundary dispute will continue its hearings at Vilna next week, Lithuanian representatives were advised today in despatches from their Government. The despatches reported that the Poles had presented new demands for control of the strategic railroad running from Szwedki to Ollta and for the establishment of a new line of demarcation extending west from the River Niemen, far into Lithuanian territory.

SOVIETS FACE NEW PEASANT OUTBREAK

Insurrection Reported Spreading Rapidly in Nizhni-Novgorod District.

By the Associated Press.

WARSAW, Oct. 8. (delayed).—A new insurrection against the Russian Soviet Government has broken out in the district of Nizhni-Novgorod, 255 miles northeast of Moscow, according to information reaching the Russian colony in this city. The insurrection, which was inaugurated by the Social Revolutionary party, embraces great masses of peasants and is reported to be spreading rapidly in all directions.

The insurgents, the advices state, have proclaimed a new government, the members of which are MM. Martov, Petrovski and Czernow, and Mile. Maria Spiridonova, the latter the noted woman revolutionary leader, for years active in the movement against the imperial regime.

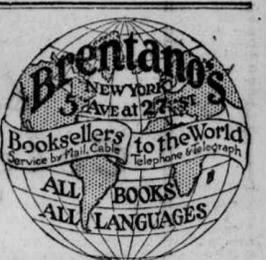

The insurgents are declared to be endangering the transport of food and fuel to Moscow from eastern Russia. The insurgents are declared to be acting independently from Gen. Wrangel or any of the other counter revolutionary movements. They are planning to set up their capital at Nizhni-Novgorod. Copenhagen reports that a rebellion has broken out in Moscow are discounted by despatches from Moscow dated October 7, received here yesterday, making no mention of trouble there.

JAPAN REINFORCES ARMY IN CHINA

Troops to Go From Corea and Gap Filled From Siberia.

Special Cable Despatch to THE HERALD. Copyright, 1920, by THE NEW YORK HERALD. LONDON, Oct. 9.—Premier Lloyd George speaking at Carnarvon, Wales, to-night backed up reprisals in Ireland. He insisted order must be maintained at all costs. He attacked bitterly Arthur Griffith and other Sinn Feiners for preserving silence while policemen were being killed, and then making a great protest when the policemen "naturally got sore."

It was a speech uncompromisingly reasserting support of the Government programme, giving little hope of conciliation. The Premier characterized as a "fraud" and a "sham" Mr. Asquith's plan to permit Ireland to have an army and navy of her own. The County Council of Carnarvon congratulated him for waging war successfully, and making a successful peace.

Apologizing to his supporters who might differ with him, the Premier plunged uncompromisingly into the Irish question. He compared the peaceful, well-governed aspect of Wales, whose people have along with their general prosperity a proper discontent and desire for improvement, with troubled and disaffected Ireland.

Responsible for Ireland.

He told his hearers he could "mount a hill and see across the water another country to which none of the epithets applicable to Wales would apply." Then he continued:

"You can see another country, a part of the same realm, under the same crown, associated for hundreds of years with us in common partnership, and none of those adjectives and epithets applied to Carnarvonshire would in the least apply to that country. That is its grace and misfortune, and for a moment I
