

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 22, Is Date Set for Revival of Big Inter-Collegiate Rowing Classic on the Hudson River

ENGLISH CREWS ARE INVITED TO HUDSON Intercollegiate Rowing Association Opens Its Regatta to the World.

BIG EVENT THREE MILES Will Be First Varsity Race at That Distance at Poughkeepsie.

By DANIEL. "We have made the annual regatta of the Intercollegiate Rowing Association, which will be revived on the Hudson at Poughkeepsie on June 22, open to the world."

The announcement not only indicated that a big effort would be made to get entries from Oxford and Cambridge in England, but also contained the news that the date for the races had been set. June 22 will come on a Wednesday, and will be the longest day of the year.

My Increase Route. The old distance was four miles. In 1917, in response to a general demand for a shorter race, the stewards reduced the distance to three miles, but along came the war and a hiatus in the history of the regatta.

Toronto Wanted, Too. There is no doubt that letters will be despatched to the rowing authorities at Oxford, Cambridge and the University of Toronto. If any of the college crews of France, Australia, Holland, Sweden and Norway care to make the trip to the Hudson the stewards will be glad to welcome them.

POLY SWIMMERS WIN. Swimmers representing Poly Prep defeated the Boys High team in the Poly tank in Brooklyn yesterday. The score was 42 to 11. The 200 yard relay, the feature event, was won handsily by the Poly swimmers.

Gov. Miller to Confer With Sporting Editors

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. ALBANY, Jan. 11.—Gov. Miller is said to-day that he intended to have a talk soon with sporting editors of this State on a comprehensive legislative sporting programme which he has in mind.

Under a plan which it is said the Governor is seriously considering, the Boxing and Racing Commissions would be abolished and a State Sports Commission would be created to regulate all sports that might come under the State's jurisdiction.

COLUMBIA REVIVES HOCKEY AS SPORT Committee on Athletics Formally Approves of Game. Intercollegiate hockey has finally been approved and instituted as a regular sport at Columbia. Agitation for the revival of the game has been strong for some time on Morum major athletics and with the development of a fast team by Coach Harrison, a former star of the Loyola (Canadian) seven, the university committee on athletics last night formally approved the game.

TIGER SEVEN LOSE AT HOCKEY. Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 11.—Before the dashing attack of the Quaker City ice hockey team Princeton was defeated here to-night by a score of 8 to 2. The combination of Eddie Hill and Henderson proved too strong for the Tigers. Princeton failed to score until the final period. The Tigers fought back gamely in this season and were rewarded with two goals, Haight and Keyes registering them.

Judge Landis Sees First Game of Season. CHICAGO, Jan. 11.—The afternoon session of the meeting of the National Amateur Athletic Union league committees which were drafting the new national agreement, was delayed through the absence of Judge Keneas W. Landis, baseball commissioner, who had been asked to give his approval to the final draft. The Judge was paged throughout the hotel, but he could not be found. One of the committee members, glancing across the boulevard into Grand Park, saw a group of small boys playing baseball in the warm sunshine. Back of first base was a tall, slim figure clad in the long black cap and black slouch hat which many Judge Landis recognize anywhere.

ANZAC GOLF STAR PLANS VISIT HERE

Kirkwood, Australian Open Champion, Would Try for American Title. By KERR N. PETRIE. In J. H. Kirkwood, its present open titleholder, Australia has a player which it seems to consider is the equal of the best. It is therefore interesting news that Kirkwood will not only be among the contestants in the next British open championship, but that before he returns to the Antipodes he hopes to be able to pay a visit to the United States.

While in his home land Kirkwood may not have encountered the opposition that he will meet both in Great Britain and the United States, there is no doubt that this young man is a star above the ordinary. He won the Australian open championship with a score of 22 for the seventy-two holes over the course of the Kensington Club of Sydney, the length of which is 6,350 yards. Not only did this set a low mark for an Australian championship, but it left the best two strokes behind D. G. Souter, a native of Carnoustie, Scotland, himself a former holder of both the Australian amateur and open championships, being second. The way he finished his round, it is said, indicates that Kirkwood has the right stuff in him.

Proposed New Rules. The committee on rules and regulations, of which C. C. Hawkins is chairman, recommended a golf eighteen inches in diameter in order that the sound might carry further. Mr. Hawkins said that small gongs had led to much trouble in numerous bouts. The committee recommended that in the selection of judges only men below 50 years of age be named. The committee recommended that four seconds in each corner be permitted and that bandages six feet in length and one inch in width be prescribed. The committee recommended that the tossing of a sponge or a towel by seconds in token of defeat be forbidden and that the referee be empowered to stop a bout if in his judgment one of the contestants was outclassed. These proposed rules will be considered at to-day's session. The committee on by-laws and constitution also submitted its report, and the proposed rules were adopted aeriatur, with occasional amendments. Considering the fact that some of the delegates were not widely enthusiastic over the new association, the progress made was remarkable. Although all the delegates were appointed by the Governors of their various States and will necessarily report to the executives, Mr. Johnson said he could not give his approval to the plan until he had consulted his colleagues on the New York College course, both amateur and professional, and also the general public, for their kindness. I must say we were treated beyond our fondest expectations. Our opponents met us at all times in a friendly way, however though we were vituperated in the nicest way. We have many happy recollections of our tour. Your interest and professional golfers are a fine body of men and fine golfers, too." Vardon has a special word of praise for the men who managed his tour. "A man who is all heart," he says of Arthur Peterson, who looked after the Eastern end. "Nothing was too much trouble for him. I can assure you that no one could have travelled as we did with a more kind hearted man than 'Pete'."

How many golfers in the East are familiar with the following lines it is impossible to say, but the number must be large. It is the New Year greeting of the American amateur golf champion, Charles Evans, Jr. "Neath candle glow and holly spray, With happiest wish for year and day, I greet the best life gives—a friend."

National Boxing Body Has Been Christened

Named the National Boxing Association of the United States. By CHARLES E. MATHISON. The christening ceremonies of a hasty infant named the National Boxing Association of the United States were held in the offices of the International Sporting Club yesterday afternoon, and its sponsors declared that as soon as it grew up it would be strong enough to control boxing all over the United States and probably wield a powerful influence throughout the world. The delegates to the national convention for the formation of a body to control boxing and defend it against attacks exterior and interior made excellent progress yesterday, which would indicate that permanent organization will be completed within the few days allotted for the work and that the organization will start the new year in condition to undertake the task of putting boxing on the highest plane in its history.

There is strong probability that the first president of the new association will be Walter Liginger, chairman of the Wisconsin Boxing Commission and one of the ablest men that ever took an interest in the sport of boxing. Mr. Liginger has been at the head of the Wisconsin Boxing Commission over several years ago, but the vindictive opposition of Eastern promoters killed it. Mr. Hinkel is anxious to see the present association succeed, even though it was launched by Eastern admirers of boxing. E. A. McAuley of Chicago, Harbor, Michigan, secretary of the Michigan Boxing Commission, arrived yesterday, submitted credentials and was seated. The report of the Ways and Means Committee, of which Joseph Johnson is chairman, recommends a board of directors of forty-eight, one member from each State in the Union. The report also recommends that the new association formulate rules that will govern the conduct of contestants in and out of the ring and also take measures to assure the protection and comfort of the public and to prescribe and limit admission fees and purses.

VALGER WINS ON POINTS. Benny Valger last night received the judges' decision over Jimmie Pruzzetti of Boston in a fifteen round bout in the Pioneer Sporting Club. The bout was interesting, with both landing many hard blows. Neither lad scored a knockdown. The Boston boxer recently was given a decision over Valger in a bout in Boston. Pruzzetti weighed 136½ pounds, while Valger tipped the beam at 133¾ pounds. In the ten round bout between Joe Delayo and Frankie Nelson the judges called it a draw. The third night's play in the amateur championship tournament, which is being held at Doyle's Broadway billiard room under the auspices of the A. B. A., took place last night. George La Rue defeated George Barton by 69 to 46 in thirty-two innings. Winner early in the game made a high break of 20, while Barton's best effort gave him 14. The result was a surprise. Two games were played yesterday in the national class C ballroom amateur championship tournament in the Crescent Athletic Club in Brooklyn. In the first contest Charles Steinbugler defeated J. McManis 200 to 125 in forty-three innings, while in the other game McManis dominated Harry Brussel 200 to 149 in forty-one innings.
