Owners of Movies Decide to Fight Censorship Bills

Senator Lusk Holds Measure for Hearing on April 5 on Alternate Proposals.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. New York, March 24.—Owners of motion picture theatres decided to-day in session here to make a hard fight against film censorship. Their association adopted a resolution opposing the Lusk-Clayton censorship bill and also went on record as denouncing the exploitation in film of the Smith Hamon, acquired recently by the Warid, the old Morning Journal, the Record, and The New York Herald. At the time of his death he was a member of the staff of the New York Times and editor of his own, Endicott G. Rich, is editor. He leaves a wife, another son and mother.

Senator Lusk said he was willing to entertain any suggestions the motion picture men might make and agreed to hold up the censorship bill now pending until the alternative proposals have been received. There will be a hearing on April 5. The Governor is known to favor censorship.

The proposed measure, or any other attempt at censorship, will be vigorously fought by this organization regardless of the treachery attributed to some self-constituted spokesmen of the industry. This organization is not in favor of a producer advocating censorship is too transparent to need comment. The motion picture exhibitors want clean pictures as much as anybody and always have been ready to know that object can never be attained by the proposed bill, which is neither just nor equitable.

Censorship of motion pictures is an un-American act of the press and in an absolute insult to the intelligence and decency of millions of red blooded American men and women who frequent motion picture theatres to-day. The proposed bill now threatening the existence of many picture houses would eventually impose a hardship on the motion picture industry as a whole. The end, must be the additional taxation which the passage of the bill would involve. Our executive committee has been pledged the earnest and active cooperation of all the members of the Exhibitors League in an intensive campaign to expose the sinister and selfish motives of this proposed legislation.

Despite the several traps cleverly laid for our association in Albany we do not intend to either walk deliberately into one or to help to entrap some of the reformers who are being used as a reward for their trips to Capitol Hill, and we think some of the energetic reformers should be modest enough to realize that the only way to allow recent election scandals to subside. Reform proposals come with poor grace from such sources.

ITALIAN 'CELLIST'S DEBUT.

Uncommonly Beautiful Tone Produced by Arturo Bonucci.

Arturo Bonucci, a young Italian cellist, was heard for the first time here in a recital given yesterday afternoon in Aeolian Hall. His programme comprised Beethoven's B flat concerto, a waltz and a mazurka by Chopin, the mazurka from Haydn's C major sonata and allegro from his D major concerto and the customary array of miscellaneous short pieces.

This young cellist showed not only promise but attainments already of high value. His tone was uncommonly beautiful, always lustrous, smooth and of great quality, whether in the low or the high register of the instrument. His intonation was almost flawless in all positions. In double stops and in trills, his bowing had elasticity and repose. Indeed, flexibility and continuity were combined in a singular degree in all his playing.

It was a genuine pleasure to hear a young artist who knew how to make the "cello sing all the time and who played musically and without affectation or immaturity. Musical quality, indeed, pervaded his art, and his knowledge seemed to be founded on excellent schooling aided by a real talent. Mr. Bonucci had the competent assistance of Frank Bibb at the piano.
