"HOW MY POOR BACK DOES ACHE!"

Many a woman keeps Sloan's handy for this, but it's great for other pains, too.

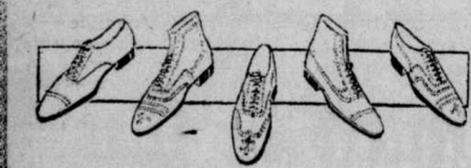

THAT dragging, wearying back-ache, that so many women regularly suffer from is quickly eased by a little Sloan's Liniment.

But it is good for all the family. Apply it, without rubbing, for all kinds of aches and pains, from the sharp neuralgic twinge to the dull, tearing ache of rheumatism.

Then there's sciatica, lumbago, sore muscles, stiff joints. Keep a bottle handy, for you never'll know when you will need it.

Largest size is most economical. At all druggists—35c, 70c, $1.40.

LOW TYPE OF DRY AGENTS ASSAILED BY GRAND JURY

'Disrepute Threatens Department Unless Standard Is Improved.'

DISMISSALS ARE ASKED

Extortion Attempt Shown in Testimony of Three Men Named.

STATE LAW IS ATTACKED

General Sessions Judges Oppose Compulsory Booze Trials by Juries.

The Federal Grand Jury handed up a presentment to Judge John C. Knox yesterday in which it was declared that unless the prohibition department is to be brought into disrepute the standard and personnel of local enforcement agents will have to be improved.

Dismissal of three prohibition agents is asked for because their testimony before the Grand Jury, of which Robert Adamson was foreman, is said to have indicated efforts to extort money. The men named are Peter Reager, H. L. Everett and Saul Passler.

It was stated in the presentment that the Grand Jury had observed during the presentation of testimony by prohibition agents that almost without exception the agents were not men of a type of intelligence and character qualified to be charged with the enforcement of such difficult and important Federal laws.

"Their testimony has been such," the presentment went on to state, "as to indicated looseness and personal inefficiency on the part of the agents, which should be called to the attention of the head of the local department."

The presentment charges that the three agents named gave testimony pointing strongly to a corrupt effort on their part to extort money from a man under arrest by them, also conflicting and contradictory explanations of the circumstances attending a raiding party.

Langley in Washington.

Supervising Agent Langley went to Washington yesterday afternoon with Agent Elstein, who acted as his lieutenant in the $250,000 seizure of sacramental wines in the warehouse of the Menorah Wine Company Monday. They are to confer with Attorney-General Daugherty, who has ordered an investigation of the seizure, which is claimed by the owners of the wine to have been illegal.

An attack was directed yesterday against the State prohibition bill providing for the enforcement of the Volstead act by all the seven Judges of the Court of General Sessions. The bill was condemned also by Chief Assistant District Attorney Banton. He, together with Deputy Police Commissioner Leach, will go to Albany Monday to talk with the Governor regarding possible amendments to the bill.

The bill would bring all cases of violations of the Volstead act before General Sessions and would necessitate trial by juries. The Judges sent a telegram on protest to Gov. Miller after a conference yesterday morning at which Judge Morris Koehn presided.

The telegram recommends that the bill be so amended that liquor cases be tried in the Court of Special Sessions.

Would Cost $550,000.

Mr. Banton said the proposed law would entail an additional expense of $350,000 for New York county, while trial of liquor cases in the Court of Special Sessions could be carried on for $70,000 a year. Jury trials, he said, would necessitate six extra Judges and six additional court rooms.

Magistrate John E. McGeehan, replying to William H. Anderson's attack on city Magistrates, said New York does not want a prohibition act. "It has done in the nation, and will do in the State," he declared, "more to break down respect for the law than any other thing that has happened."

George B. Carroll, president of the National Retail Liquor Dealers Association, was one of eleven saloon keepers who pleaded guilty in Elizabeth, N. J., yesterday to selling liquor without a State license. They were fined $650 each by County Judge Pierce.

MILLER TO APPROVE PORT DEVELOPMENT

Governor Announces Stand After Hearing Opposition.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD, New York Herald Bureau, Albany, April 1.

The bill authorizing this State to enter into a treaty with New Jersey under which the port authority for the development of New York Harbor is to be created will become a law by tomorrow night, Gov. Miller indicated this afternoon. At a hearing he was little impressed by the opposition of Corporation Counsel John P. O'Brien, representing the Hyman administration. Mr. O'Brien was the only one to oppose the bill, while the representatives of a dozen or more civic and commercial organizations of New York city and other parts of the State appeared in its favor.

The Corporation Counsel complained that the Board of Estimate and Apportionment would have absolutely nothing to say in the carrying out of the port development plan.

INDORSED FOR MAGISTRATE.

After a fight lasting several weeks the Democratic organization of Richmond county has indorsed for appointment as city magistrate Alfred V. Norton, Assistant District Attorney.

URGES REFERENDUM AND RECALL HERE

Labor Federation Wants People to Control.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD, New York Herald Bureau, Albany, April 1.

Another attack on Gov. Miller and the State Administration was launched by organized labor today. James P. Holland, president of the State Federation of Labor, declared that need for popular control of the making of law and its administration was "never greater than now, as we gaze at the performances going on in the capital of the State."

Urging direct legislation, the recall, initiative and referendum, he said that the voice of the people is not now heard "even in whispered tones as the law mill grinds out its grisly reactionary and privilege bestowing enactments."

CAN'T SEARCH HIP POCKET.

LANSING, Mich., April 1.—The hip pocket is immune from investigation under the search and seizure provisions of Michigan's prohibition laws, according to a ruling to-day by the State Supreme Court.

AMENDMENTS SOUGHT TO STATE DRY BILLS

Governor Says City Police Asked for Hearing.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD, New York Herald Bureau, Albany, April 1.

The request for next Monday's hearing on the State prohibition enforcement bills came from New York city district attorneys and police officials, the Governor said, and resulted from a conference of the district attorneys with Police Commissioner Enright. It is expected several amendments to facilitate the duties of enforcing prohibition will be asked for. One amendment suggested is that prohibition cases be tried before the Court of Special Sessions without juries as well as before the Court of General Sessions.

The Governor said he had heard of no opposition to the prohibition bills from Mayors and officials in cities along the Canadian border. He was told that according to reports reaching Albany several Mayors had threatened to resign if the bills became law, holding that it would be impossible for them to enforce the measures because of the flow of liquor over the Canadian border.

REAPPOINTMENT URGED.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—Miss Mary Anderson was recommended to-day by Secretary Davis for reappointment as director of the women's bureau of the Department of Labor.
