

WAR HORSE BOLTS VOLLEY AT GRAVE Scared at Bronx Funeral Animal Deserts Caisson Despite Soldiers.

RUNS WILD IN STREETS Policeman in Chase Is Hurt When His Horse Gives Out and Falls.

MANY MILES ARE COVERED Nag Finally Lands in Armory. Goes to Stall and Calmly Starts to Eat.

A horse hitched to a caisson during a military funeral in St. Raymond's Cemetery in The Bronx late yesterday afternoon became frightened when a volley was fired over the grave and snapped its halter. Before any of the soldiers could seize it the animal, owned by the Second Field Artillery, had run into East Tremont avenue and was speeding down that thoroughfare.

The horse continued at a gallop to Morris Park avenue, attracting considerable attention, but apparently avoiding rather carefully all automobiles and trucks. There it turned into Bronxdale avenue, there about a mile and a half from the cemetery, the animal was seen by Patrolman Bayard of the mounted force of the Westchester station, who gave chase.

He pursued the horse through Bronxdale avenue into Pelham Parkway and down the Parkway to Fordham road, where his own horse became exhausted and fell to the pavement. Bayard was thrown off and was slightly scratched and bruised.

The policeman had to go home to have his injuries treated and no further pursuit of the runaway horse was made. The horse, however, continued to gallop until it reached the armory at Franklin avenue and 168th street, where it turned into its stall at the armory.

Another horse belonging to the artillery regiment got away during the afternoon, but was caught at 174th street and Anthony avenue. The Bronx, by Patrolman John Carroll of the Tremont station.

INCORRIGIBLE GIRLS OF NO SPECIAL TYPE Only 8 Per Cent. of 495 Examined Mentally Diseased.

The incorrigible girl, the delinquent girl or the girl who is on the verge of delinquency does not constitute a "type." The theory that these unfortunate or misguided young women represent a type distinct in the social scheme has been exploded, according to a report made public yesterday by the New York Probation and Protective Association of 130 East Twenty-second street.

The report shows that 1,650 girls were cared for by the organization in the last year and the cases of 495 "first offenders" referred to the association instead of being sent to prison or reformatories.

The individual work of the association is conducted through Waverly House, Hillcrest Farm, the Mental Clinic and the Girls Protective League. An investigation of the girls revealed that 53 per cent. of the girls were mentally normal and that approximately only 8 per cent. were mentally diseased. Some of the girls, particularly the "runaway" girls, were shown to have initiative above the average.

IDENTIFIES BODY HERE AS THAT OF GIBBONEY Philadelphia Detectives Meet Remains From Mexico.

The body of D. Clarence Gibboney of Philadelphia, counsel for Grover C. Bergdoll, draft dodger, was identified today on the steamship Morro Castle of the Ward Line. With it was the body of Frank W. Schriver, also of Philadelphia. Gibboney, Schriver and two others were drowned last December in the Bay of Campeche, in Mexico, when a small boat in which they were riding capsized.

The drowning of Gibboney and his associates was first reported by John Bromley, one of Gibboney's law partners, but owing to the meagre details Representative Kahn of California, chairman of the House Military Committee, declared he doubted it had occurred. Gibboney, he said, could throw more light on the disappearance of Bergdoll than any other person. The body was brought back for identification, which was made yesterday by a former Philadelphia detective.

Insurance amounting to $100,000 has been held up pending proof that Gibboney was dead. He was president of the Tropical Products Company and was on his way to visit the properties of the company when the accident occurred.

WANTS EDUCATION IN PENAL INSTITUTIONS Prison Commission's Head Deplores Lack of It.

John S. Kennedy, president of the State Prison Commission, deplored the lack of an educational programme for the penal and correctional institutions of New York city in a report made to the commission yesterday. The New York City Reformatory for Male Misdoers at New Hampton Farms in his opinion is the only institution that is making any real effort at education of the inmates.

No teachers were provided at the Penitentiary, Women's Workhouse, Hart's Island Reformatory, Prison or Rikers Island Reformatory. At the time the report was completed on December 31 last, continuing, Commissioner Kennedy says that in 1920 there were 3,751 persons between the ages of 15 and 20 sentenced to various terms in the city institutions. They were for the most part without the benefits of education while in custody. Many were aliens. Some could not speak or write English.

Passengers on Brooklyn Bridge Car Get Thrill as Coolest Man Takes Plunge, Which Police Say Will Again Thrill Movie Fans Throughout City.

Dane Carone of 120 South Terrace, Mount Vernon, wearing nothing but his shoes, a sleeveless shirt and dark trousers got out of a taxicab at Brooklyn Bridge street, before 1 o'clock yesterday and boarded a Brooklyn-bound trolley car. His appearance excited comment, but no one interfered with him until the trolley reached a point just beyond the center of the bridge toward the Brooklyn side. Carone hoped off, crawled through the structural work and leaped from the bridge. Passengers in the car saw the leap and raised an outcry, but the trolley finished its trip over the bridge. The point at which he leaped was 133 feet above the river.

QUAKER CUSTOM IS PUT IN THE DISCARD 2,000 Attend First Public Meeting Held in New York to Expound Basis of Faith.

In the Town Hall in West Forty-third street yesterday afternoon Quakers for the first time in the history of New York held a public meeting for the purpose of setting forth the ideas on which their faith is founded. Throughout its three centuries of adherence to the doctrine of love and its condemnation of force the Society of Friends has seldom gone outside its meeting houses to spread its gospel.

At the meeting yesterday Dr. Elbert Russell of Swarthmore, Pa., described to more than 2,000 persons "The Quaker Challenge to a World of Force." He preached a doctrine of good will and trust in international relations, holding that such acts as the return to China of $12,000,000 Boxer indemnity and the repeal of the Panama Canal tolls act were a potent force against evil and misunderstanding.

SUNDAY SEARCH FOR MRS. RANKINE VAIN Woman Now Missing a Week From Home Here.

Detectives continued yesterday to search for Mrs. Annette Kinsley Rankine of 14 East 125th street, who disappeared on April 1 after dismissing her automobile at Fifth-ninth street and Second avenue. FOREST FIRE FIGURES WARNING TO CAMPERS Good Part of Destruction Is Traced to Carelessness.

With the fishing and camping season approaching, interest attaches to figures recently compiled by the United States Forest Service showing the damage resulting from fires of various sorts of origin in the last five years. Of the total damage, estimated at more than $85,000,000, campers' fires are shown to have been responsible for more than 12 1/2 per cent. These are fires that have not been properly watched, or stamped out, and the total area burned from all causes during the last five years would exceed that of the combined States of Delaware, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Vermont, New Jersey, Maryland and West Virginia.

Mrs. Anna Hedges Talbot, who resigned a month ago as superintendent of the State Reformatory in Bedford, left the institution yesterday and went to her home in 185 Emerson place, Brooklyn. The board of managers asked her to resign, but she declined. Mrs. Joseph Stottenger, second assistant superintendent, took temporary charge of the reformatory pending the appointment of Mrs. Talbot's successor. Mrs. Talbot resigned because of the recent passage by the Legislature of a bill consolidating the offices of superintendent and psychiatrist on July 1. She was unable to qualify as a psychiatrist and realized she would be automatically deposited.

WOMAN SHOTS HERSELF. Act Followed Quarrel With Man Over Phone, Police Say.

Miss Madeline Kues, 19, of 64 East Eighty-seventh street, shot herself yesterday afternoon, according to the police report, after having quarreled with a man over the telephone. The police said the conversation terminated when Miss Kues slammed down the receiver and began to cry. A moment later she left the room where she had been entertaining another young woman and fired the shot.

INDIAN NAMED AS GREATEST OF MEN

IS PUT BESIDE CHRIST Close Race With Lenin, Placed in Class of Napoleon and Mohammed.

Dr. Holmes considered also Romain Rolland, French litterateur and Socialist, and Nicolai Lenin as great enough to be in the producer of a standard a man "universal, eternal, infinite." Rolland, he said, is essentially an artist and idealist; Lenin, a realist, one of a company who have done things, men who have rocked the world, men who have built a new society, and have gone down in the history of the world—the law of morality.

LOUD CHEERS FOR DEBS Sermon in Lyric Theatre Discards All at Versailles, Except Smuts.

Mohandas Karamchand Gandhi, Indian ascetic and leader of the revolution for Indian independence in a campaign of non-violence and non-cooperation, deserves the title, said Dr. John Haynes Holmes, who sought in his sermon in the Lyric Theatre yesterday to answer the question "Who is the greatest man in the world to-day?" The theatre was filled with a cosmopolitan audience. Applause greeted the mentioning of the name of Eugene V. Debs while Dr. Holmes was discussing Gandhi.

Throughout its three centuries of adherence to the doctrine of love and its condemnation of force the Society of Friends has seldom gone outside its meeting houses to spread its gospel.

He preached a doctrine of good will and trust in international relations, holding that such acts as the return to China of $12,000,000 Boxer indemnity and the repeal of the Panama Canal tolls act were a potent force against evil and misunderstanding.

"We believe," he said, "that human society to-day is organized too much on the faith in the power of evil. We have no such organization for the spreading of good will as we have for the application of force. Ideas and ideals and not material strength are the real force. It was the British Empire, which was not the British fleet, and the world proved, that held the Empire together."

"We believe that if we hold out love and trust and justice to other nations we will receive a like response. If an army of our young men and women were sent to Japan and Mexico now to take part in the life of those countries and cement friendship they would prevent forever the sending of those other armies which, it may be, will some time have to go."

A GIFT for the BRIDE AU QUATRIEME

"REMEMBER. MEE. WHEN. THIS. YOU. SEE." This is the eternal message of a wedding gift, and for that reason it should be chosen with the greatest of loving care.

The ideal gift should do these four things: 1. Express the personality of the giver. 2. Fit the ideas of the person who gets it. 3. Stand distinctive, whether it costs little or much. 4. Add something of beauty or usefulness to its new environment.

People sensible of these facts like to choose their gifts from the wealth of treasures Au Quatrieme, where there are beautiful things, gay things, amusing things, distinguished things—some of them modern, costing as little as $2 and some of them with the intrinsic value of rare antiques.

It is a pleasure to know that every gift selected Au Quatrieme is beautifully packed and carefully delivered on the exact date given. Never was there a collection more fascinating to choose from than the one Au Quatrieme offers to-day. Incomparable steamers have stored the shelves with new and lovely glass; the potteries of Italy and France have sent over charming bowls and plates and candlesticks, and all the out-of-the-way corners have been ransacked to find the old bibelots that are now here.

Charming toilet bottles in aquamarine, ruby or white come in three different sizes, $2.50, $2.75 and $3. These may be used for bathroom bottles as well as dressing tables.

For Her Mantel there are little vases of flowers to set in a row, which are $1 to $3 apiece. In all white or colors.

Perhaps the most decorative of all are the two-branched candlesticks with a gay bouquet of flowers or a bunch of fruit placed between the two.

When You Put On a Dinner Coat

—especially if it be a Wanamaker dinner coat, you touch the springs which drop the commercial cloak of the day, and you become for the nonce primarily a man, and cease to be primarily a worker.

It is pleasing to be conscious of the fact that the unfinished worsted of your dinner coat and trousers was loomed in one of the best woolen mills of America.

That the course of the scissors which cut it was determined by a first-hand knowledge of what is metropolitanly correct. That the tailoring was done by brain as well as by hands.

An excellent model, peaked lapel, grosgrain silk facing, black satin lining, white silk sleeve lining. $70. Evening coat and trousers, $75.

White Cheviot Sport Shirts, $2

BEDROOM SUITES—$120 to $1,235 DINING-ROOM SUITES—$324 to $2,370

We do not believe any other store has offered so fine a collection of suites at such substantial savings for years.

We have not. We could not. The only reason why we can do it now is that three of the leading manufacturers of the country were eager to find an outlet for their stocks on hand. They came to Wanamaker's first, very naturally, for this store is America's largest and swiftest distributor of good furniture, because——the people know Wanamaker values.

There is small chance of furniture so good as that in this sale being at prices so low as Wanamaker Week price for many a day.

If you are going to need furniture soon, but are delayed by the housing shortage, we shall be glad to extend to you the courtesy of storing your purchase for a while.
