That engine noise you can't explain

EVERY sound is music to your ear when the engine runs smoothly and sweetly. But how often a harsh, grating noise, a bird-like squeak or even heavy pounding spoils your trip!

Can you explain this engine noise as it jars on your car? Poor lubrication causes 90% of engine trouble. Under the terrific heat of the engine 200° to 1000° F.—ordinary oil breaks down and forms great quantities of sediment.

Why have such worries? Sediment is reduced 86% when you use Veedol, the lubricant that resists heat. See the two bottles at the right. With Veedol in the engine, most serious engine troubles are prevented. Have your engine flushed out. Put in Veedol. Leading dealers have it in stock. Ask for a supply today.

FOURTH DIMENSION IS NOT EINSTEIN'S

Denies 'Invention' in Connection With His Theory of Relativity.

GIVES MEANING OF TIME

Scientist in Second Lecture Goes Into More Profound Depths of Mathematics.

A ripple of laughter went yesterday through the Doremus Lecture Theatre of the chemistry building of the College of the City of New York when Prof. Albert Einstein, in his second of a series of four lectures, protested against the widespread assumption that he has "invented the fourth dimension."

"Time and space must be treated as essentially equal. But there is no essential analogy, though there is a certain formal analogy," he said, explaining that time becomes a function of the three coordinates of space—length, breadth and thickness. In the next sentence the professor claimed that the "foremost achievement of the relativity theory was the discovery of the four dimensions."

"We need," he said, "the three coordinates of space, but also one additional coordinate symbolizing time. We simply must have a fourth coordinate. But time is absolutely independent of space."

Prof. Einstein did not introduce the fourth dimension; that was done by other scientists. But he treats all four dimensions as homogeneous in mathematical equations. Length and time have not the absolute character formerly attributed to them. They represent relations between the object and the observer, and time is not independent of position and motion.

Referring to electrons, Prof. Einstein set forth that if the three symbols representing space disappear the fourth symbol, representing time, disappears also.

Before he began his lecture, Prof. Einstein declared his willingness to enlighten those who had doubts as to the theories he had set forth on Monday afternoon. He invited questions from the audience, which he answered.

Then he gave the derivations of the equations he had formulated on the previous day to explain and prove, in a mathematical way, the special or restrictive principle of relativity, before he turned to "General Relativity and Gravity."

The mechanical laws, according to Prof. Einstein, cannot be limited in their application to systems of coordinates in uniform motion. The application of those laws is general.

Respective of the position and movement of an object, the relativity theory must apply to that object, irrespective of whether we take a new system of coordinates or not. We are not able to detect absolute, but only relative motion.

Matter and energy are different names for the same fundamental force. Any decrease of energy means a corresponding decrease of matter. Any change of energy means a corresponding change of matter. Matter is energy, and vice versa; energy is matter. The volume of a body corresponds to its energy.

WOUNDED SOLDIERS GET DRUGGED MILK, IS CHARGE

Two at Fox Hills Hospital Became Delirious and Attacked Fellow Sufferer, Mrs. Emma Balcom Tells American Legion Investigators.

That drugged milk is given to wounded soldiers in Fox Hills Hospital to make them sleep, with the result that two men became delirious from an overdose and attacked a fellow sufferer, was charged yesterday by Mrs. Emma Balcom, auxiliary of the American Legion in The Bronx, and she testified before the American Legion committee investigating the treatment of wounded men.

Robert Moreland, formerly a guard at the Fox Hills institution, testified that liquor and drugs are being sold at the hospital. He said that one guard ran his own still, selling "home brew" to the patients at "a dollar a shot." The guard, it was stated, was discharged.

Mrs. Balcom told the following story: "I understand that when the temperature of wounded in this hospital runs

ZIONISTS STRUGGLE TO CLOSE BREACH IN LEGION OF HONOR

Judge Mack Defends Stand of American Section on Raising of Funds.

The breach between the World Zionist Organization, of which Dr. Chaim Weizmann is president, and the Zionist Organization of America, headed by Judge Julian W. Mack, widened, if anything, yesterday, though the "door to amicable adjustment is still open," according to one member. The two bodies split over a difference of opinion held by the delegation from Europe and the local organization as to the control of the Keren Hayesod, or Donation Fund.

Judge Mack declared that he had been charged by the visiting official with unconstitutional. He presided at several conferences during the day at the offices, 55 Fifth avenue, and late in the evening issued a reply to the statement, he said, had been published in a local Jewish paper and in which Dr. Weizmann, he asserted, had charged the Zionist Organization of America with violation of agreement.

Dr. Weizmann, who left for Washington Monday, returned yesterday morning and spent most of the day in his rooms at the Commodore Hotel, where he had several conferences with the delegates. He would not comment on the situation.

In his statement Judge Mack said: "The charge of unconstitutionality which has been brought against the Zionist Organization of America for its determination to organize the Palestine Foundation Fund along donation lines only is unfounded."

"However, the statutes of the World Zionist Organization specifically state that each federation shall decide independently upon the methods of raising the assessment levied upon it." Interference by the Zionist actions committee with the autonomy of federations in fund raising is subject to specific approval of two-thirds majority of the actions committee.

Dr. Weizmann, president of the World Zionist Organization, in an official letter which he wrote me on November 5 declared very definitely that "the concrete plans for the organization of the Keren Hayesod in America cannot be left to you, who know and understand American needs and conditions. We, of course, shall be willing to advise and help you all we can."

"In view of this the adopting of the Keren Hayesod to suit American conditions and the plan of the American organization to take the initiative in the organization of a fund to suit American conditions is in strict accord with the constitution of the Zionist Congress."

BRINDELL IN WELFARE BODY. Robert P. Brindell, labor union leader, who is serving a sentence in Sing Sing prison for extortion, was admitted to membership in the Mutual Welfare League yesterday, as his probationary term has expired. He will not be eligible for office in the league until he has served six months of his sentence.

B. A. CONLAN SLAIN, RELATIVES ASSERT

Manufacturer's Body Taken From Passaic River 9 Days After Disappearance.

The finding of the body of Bernard A. Conlan, president of B. Conlan & Co., metal novelty manufacturers of Newark, in the Passaic River yesterday provided the Newark police with a mystery as to how he died. Members of the Conlan family, particularly Joseph I. Conlan, a brother, were quick to turn down the theory of suicide and advance that of murder, with robbery as a motive.

There were no marks on the body when it was taken from the river. Dr. George Warren, Medical Examiner of Essex county, who made the official examination, said death occurred about ten days ago. There was every indication that Mr. Conlan was drowned.

George Platt, a watchman employed on the Passaic river front near Fourth avenue, Newark, saw the body yesterday afternoon when it was brought near shore by an eddy. He called the police and it was taken to one of the city morgues.

There it was identified through cancelled checks found in a pocket of the coat. They were checks drawn by Mr. Conlan as head of the metal firm. Word was sent to his brother and other relatives and they completed the identification.

How much money and jewelry Mr. Conlan had in his possession when he dropped out of sight on April 19 was known to none of the family. It was believed that he had started on a business trip, but when letters and other messages usually sent by him when away from home failed to appear, the family began to worry. Yesterday when a search of the clothing failed to produce more than a check for $53.20, drawn to the firm's order, a search of cancelled checks and seven cents in pocket of the coat, led to another examination of the body he made and said he was convinced his brother had been robbed and thrown into the river.

An autopsy will be performed today. The Conlan home is at 129 Lincoln avenue, Newark. His wife and three children survive him.

MOTORS CRASH, FIVE TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

Women and Children Are Badly Hurt Near Prospect Park.

An automobile said to have been driven by James R. Evans, a negro, at Eighth avenue and Garfield place, Brooklyn, last night rammed an automobile containing Howard E. Smith, a salesman, of 137 Seventh avenue, Brooklyn, his wife, mother and son and two children of a neighbor. The impact sent Smith's car to the west side of Eighth avenue. It mounted the sidewalk and crashed against an iron railing in front of a dwelling. Evans's car crumpled in the opposite direction and became wedged between the side of an apartment house and a tree.

Smith was the only passenger in his car to escape serious injury. He and Mrs. Smith were thrown to the pavement as the car skidded and hit the railing. Mrs. Smith fell on her head. She and the others were taken to the Methodist Episcopal Hospital. Evans was arrested on a charge of felonious assault.

The police reported the injuries as follows: Mrs. Jennie Smith, 33, wife of the salesman, lacerations of the scalp, fractured skull; Mrs. Lottie Smith, 87 years old, fractured right leg; Harold, 13, Smith's son, contusions of the head and body; Mabel Treacartin, 14, bruised legs and back; Cordelia Treacartin, 11, fractured left thigh.

The Treacartin girls live at the same address as the Smiths. They had been invited to take a ride to Prospect Park, and the accident happened about a block from the park entrance.

Smith said that just before he reached the corner, going east in Garfield place, he saw Evans's car going north in Eighth avenue at what he thought excessive speed. He tried to throw the brakes and prevent the accident, but it was too late. Evans's fingers were cut by broken glass. He told the police he did not believe he was travelling fast. He was taking the automobile, owned by Joseph A. Riggi, a candy manufacturer, of 379 Washington avenue, Brooklyn, to a garage.
