

ALDERMEN ASKED TO GIVE 1000 COPS

Com. Enright Appeals for $1,031,870 for Their Pay in War on Rum.

ACTS ON HYLAN ADVICE Issue of Revenue Bonds Is Suggested as 3,164 Liquor Arrests Are Cited.

JACK BUSTANOBY HELD Ex-Restaurateur Accused in Trap That Netted 10 Cases of Champagne Raiders.

Police Commissioner Enright took the tip of Mayor Hylan and appealed yesterday to the Board of Aldermen for an issue of $1,031,870 in special revenue bonds to add 1,000 policemen to his force for the enforcement of the State prohibition law and $75,000 to pay the expenses of obtaining evidence. The latter sum is $25,000 less than that formerly asked by the Commissioner and refused by the Board of Estimate.

The request was referred without comment to the Committee on Finance. It is expected that the Tammany majority will follow instructions from Mayor Hylan should he follow up his advice to the Commissioner by advice to the board. Such an appropriation would virtually wipe out the $2,000,000 of bonds to which the board's authority is limited.

"In order that the law may be promptly and efficiently enforced, I respectfully request that a sufficient appropriation be provided for the appointment of 1,000 additional patrolmen whose services are needed for that purpose. Assuming that this appropriation may be granted, and that the entire number of men may be appointed on June 1, 1921, an appropriation of $1,031,870 will be required for salaries. An additional appropriation of $75,000 will be required to pay the necessary expenses of these men in obtaining evidence in connection with the enforcement of this law."

It was announced at Police Headquarters that 3,164 arrests have been made under the Mullan-Gage act. In the twenty-four hours ending at midnight Monday ninety-five persons were arrested.

Commissioner Enright said that only four or five accusations have been made against policemen charging disregard of their duty in enforcement of the liquor law, and that these charges are being expeditiously handled.

Foolish to Pay for Protection. "As a matter of fact," said the Commissioner, "any man who pays for protection is a fool. The system we have is too intricate to allow that sort of thing to be practiced. The police are the sergeant, and so on up. Their reports are checked up by squads roaming independently under inspectors DeLeon and McDonald, and by the Chief Inspector. Then they have my own squad secretly covering the city."

A man who said he never had heard of the eighteenth amendment, the war time prohibition act or the Volstead act, appeared before Judge McMahon in the County Court in Brooklyn yesterday. He was Alexander Leifert of 616 Howland avenue. He was charged with having brought to vacate a search warrant issued against Jacob Rosenthal, a restaurateur at 2 Belmont avenue.

He said he bought whiskey at Rosenthal's place in January and became ill. He made no complaint to the police until last month, informing the court that he had delayed because "there wasn't any law." A newspaper reading is limited to Hebrew.

Of 200 liquor samples examined in the chemical laboratory established above his office in Brooklyn by District Attorney Lewis only one has been found to be genuine liquor. Mr. Lewis said yesterday.

GIN 94 Per Cent. Alcohol. The District Attorney called attention to a bottle of gin containing 94 per cent alcohol, flavored with cologne and all of juniper berries, as a representative sample. He said the liquor appeared to have been concocted with the sole idea of getting "kick" into them.

"Jack" Bustanoby, whose place at Fortieth street, near Sixth avenue, was one of the gayest restaurants of pre-Volstead days, was arrested in Brooklyn yesterday, with two other men, charged with possessing and transporting wine.

Inspector McDonald, in charge of Commissioner Enright's special booze squad, received a tip a few days ago that Bustanoby was dealing in champagne and other high class wines. The former restaurateur man he represented himself over the telephone as a stock broker and arranged to have ten cases of champagne delivered at Buzby and Beverly avenues, Brooklyn, where the liquor was seized yesterday.

CONGREGATION GIVES DINNER TO DR. BURRELL His Thirty Year Pastorate Celebrated. Nearly four hundred members of the congregation of the Marble Collegiate Church gave a dinner last night for the Rev. Dr. David J. Burrell, to celebrate his thirtieth anniversary of coming among them as their spiritual guide and friend. The dinner was held at the Hotel McAlpin. Elder John M. Kyle presided.

BILLIARD BALL BATTLE AND CHASE IN BROADWAY

Man Caught Looting Cash Register in Pool Parlor Bombarbs the Manager, Then Plunges Through Crowds in Columbus Circle—Arrest Made.

A fight with cues and billiard balls took place late yesterday afternoon in a pool room on the second floor of 1848 Broadway, at Sixtieth street, when a lone bandit attempted to hold up Harry Smollen, day manager of the place. The battle came to a climax when one of the billiard balls bounded out of the window into Broadway, where homegoing theatre crowds poured out of Columbus Circle.

The fight had been warm up to this point. Smollen, who had been backed into a closet, discovered the "bandit" had no revolver and rushed into the room just after the thief had opened the cash register and taken $27 in cash. He seized a billiard cue and made for the robber, shouting to him to drop the money.

The youth seized another cue and they began whaling each other, breaking the cues but effecting no great injury. Then the bandit picked up billiard balls and Smollen followed suit. From opposite sides of the room

NINE GIRLS TAKEN BACK TO BEDFORD

Keeper Captures Five, Marshal Seizes Four Who Escaped From Reformatory.

Nine of the ten girls who escaped from the State Reformatory for Women at Bedford last night had been recaptured up to late last night, and reformatory attendants and State Constabulary were searching the territory north of the Connecticut border for the tenth girl, Ruth Wentz. All of the captured girls have been returned to the institution and will each have several weeks added to their sentence because of the attempt to escape.

The girls who have been returned told attendants last night that the reason they tried to get away was because Dr. Amos T. Baker, the new superintendent, had cancelled the regular Monday night moving picture show, which was supposed to be the film had too many killings in it. Dr. Baker, however, said that he still believed that the real reason for the attempt was the opening of the psychopathic ward and the transfer of several girls to it.

Two of the escaped girls were caught by Keeper Thomas Towey in Cherry street, Bedford Hills, and Miss Ella Shields, marshal of the reformatory, captured four more as she was driving her car along a road three miles from the reformatory. Later, Towey captured three more in Bedford Hills.

RED HEADED NEGRO FORGETS DISGUISE

Tries to Change Color When Arraigned for Burglary.

Charles Davis, a negro known as "Red Davis" for the reason that his hair is a bright shade of that color, was locked up yesterday in the West 133d street police station on a charge of burglary. The color of his hair, according to the police, was the principal factor leading to his arrest. While being arraigned before Lieut. Thompson, he was said, Davis tried to conceal his identity by smudging the red hair with a handful of eyebrow pencils.

Davis is accused of having helped rob the military store of Abraham Logan, at 206 West 124th street, on the night of January 13. Four hundred dollars worth of hats was taken. Through the application of eyebrow pencils to his hair, according to the police, he was able to himself from being identified. He left his home at 250 West 124th street yesterday afternoon to play ball and forgot his makeup.

VESSEL'S STEWARDESS HAD LOAD OF COCAINE

Piece of Hose on Ship From Germany Hid Morphine.

Two drug seizures were made yesterday on ships docked in Brooklyn. A stewardess carrying a package was started to leave the Portuguese steamship Mormago after it put in to Robine's Dry Dock was stopped by P. J. Kilduff, a customs officer, and the search it conducted, showed that she had phials of cocaine in the satchel and in her clothing. Kilduff said she admitted she was going to an address in Clinton street, Brooklyn, and this information was turned over to Federal narcotics raiders.

On the steamship Fairmont, from Hamburg, Customs Inspectors George Burron, John McAdams and J. E. Scully found a piece of stray hose, and on unscrewing the nozzle found it concealed twenty-one bottles of morphine. A sailor who left the ship Monday night is being sought.

BURGLAR FORCED ENTRY TO KEEP OUT OF RAIN

Court Gives Him 2-1/2 Year Sentence Despite Excuse.

James Wesley, 25, of 213 East Sixtieth street, was sentenced yesterday by Judge Alfred J. Tally to not less than two years and six months in prison. Wesley pleaded guilty to attempted burglary rather than face a jury trial, because, he said, he would have no chance of acquittal on account of two previous convictions.

TWO TESTIFY PETTIT BOUGHT STOLEN CARS

Witnesses Who Accused Plant Again Are Heard.

and using the billiard tables as shelter from the other's fire they hurled the balls. Smollen said none of the balls hit him, but he was certain he hit the bandit several times.

When the ball went out the window the robber fled. Smollen followed. The ball landed harmlessly, but it had caused a few persons to halt, and when the youth came tearing down the stairs and out into Broadway a crowd quickly gathered. He fled across Broadway and then doubled back into Columbus Circle, evidently intending to cross. Smollen's shouts brought Patrolman Harry Singer of the West Sixty-eighth street station, and every-one else who saw the chase joined in.

The youth succeeded in getting through a break in traffic, but then turned toward the entrance to Central Park. Homebound crowds were thick at the circle and several hundred persons watched. The policeman caught a man at the entrance to the park. He gave up without resistance. He was locked up, and said he was Cornelius Brady, 19, of 813 Fifty-first street, Brooklyn.

TWO TESTIFY KAUFF HELPED STEAL CAR

His Former Associates, Shields and Whalen, Say It Was Sold for $1,800.

At the opening of Benny Kauff's trial yesterday, two of his former associates, James Shields and James F. Whalen, testified that the former New York Giants' player helped them steal an automobile, change the number, repaint it and sell it for $1,800. Kauff is on trial before Judge Crain in General Sessions for grand larceny and criminal receiving stolen property.

Kauff unswayed the film. He had been convicted of stealing automobiles, but sentences had been suspended in return for information furnished the police. They were employed by Kauff, who was supposed to be a small automobile tire and accessory shop at 185 Columbus avenue.

On December 8, 1919, according to their testimony, they dined with Kauff at the Monterey Hotel, Broadway and Ninety-fourth street, and arranged to go out and "get" a Cadillac, because Kauff said he knew a man who wanted to buy one. They walked down Broadway and then up West End avenue, Whalen said. At Ninety-eighth street they found the car they wanted standing in front of No. 788.

Kauff unswayed the lock witnesses testified, and drove the car around the corner, where they joined him. Then they went to a repair shop on the Grand Concourse, in 1919, where they had the following day the engine number was changed with a set of stencils Shields said he had bought. The car was painted black at a garage shop on 157th street near Lenox avenue.

Kauff's customer, a man named Schwartz, did not buy the car, Whalen said, but he sent them to Ignatz Engle, an automobile broker, 64 West 125th street, who bought it for $1,800, which was divided equally among the three. Both witnesses testified that a bill of sale covering this deal had been forged by Kauff.

ATELL IN CUSTODY; AWAITS EXTRADITION

To Answer Chicago Indictment in Baseball Scandal.

Abe Atell, pugilist, 38 years old, was taken in custody yesterday by Detective James J. Coy at his home, 854 Seventh avenue, and arraigned in the West Side court to await extradition to Chicago under an indictment returned there in connection with the baseball scandal in October, 1920, charging conspiracy to defraud. Soon after Magistrate Ten Eyck committed him to a cell with a writ of habeas corpus signed by supreme Court Justice McAvoy was served on the court officials. Atell was brought before Justice McAvoy and was released in $1,000 bail pending argument on the writ on Saturday.

William J. Fallon, Atell's counsel, told Magistrate Ten Eyck the "arrest" was merely a surrender. Atell himself arranged with the detective to submit himself to custody so as to clear himself eventually. He said that Chicago detectives are on the way here with extradition papers, and that the indictment shows nothing to identify Atell as the man mentioned in the Illinois indictment.

MRS. TINSLEY FIGHTS RENT CASE IN COURT

Carries Bible and Acts as Her Own Lawyer.

Mrs. Lella M. Tinsley, who conducts a stenographic and multifarious business in Aeolian Hall, and who, armed only with a Bible, recently defied a rent collector, because her rent had been advanced since 1919 from $1,000 to $2,000 a year, announced yesterday in Ninth District Municipal Court that she would sit in a rocking chair and hold her Bible and defy rent profiteers until her breath failed.

She appeared in person to answer the dispossession proceedings. Besides her Bible she carried a thick screw, which she presented as her "defence." She had no lawyer.

SIX MEN HURT BY FALL OF 1,000 POUND STONE

One Brooklyn Worker Perhaps Mortally Wounded.

A stone weighing about 1,000 pounds, which fell yesterday afternoon from a one story building being erected at Kosuth place and Van Cortlandt avenue, Brooklyn, struck a scaffold on which six men were working.

DEMOCRATS WIN IN JERSEY CITY

Mayor Hague and All Present Commissioners Defeat Fusionists.

NEWARK FIGHT CLOSE

Raymond and Others of Present Board Win by Lesser Majorities.

WOMEN CAUSE MIXUP

Many Who Had Reached Age of 18 Thought They Were Entitled to Vote.

The ticket headed by Mayor Frank Hague and comprising all of the present city Commissioners won the municipal election in Jersey City yesterday by a majority of 55,843, that being the number of votes by which Harry Moore, high man on the Hague ticket, defeated George T. Vickers, who was high man for the fusionists.

In Newark the contest was closer, but early this morning the returns from 160 out of 202 precincts indicated that all of the present Commissioners except John F. Monahan would be returned to office. Thomas L. Raymond headed the list in Newark, with a vote of 47,998 in 193 precincts, while William J. Brennan, Alexander Archibald and Mayor Charles P. Gilen appeared also to have been reelected. Frederick C. Brettenbach appears to have defeated Monahan, and early to-day was also running ahead of Gilen.

The result in Jersey City was expected, but the size of the majority by which Mayor Hague and his associates were returned to office was something of a surprise. Even Mayor Hague himself had claimed the election only by about 50,000, and politicians in accepting these figures made allowance for hope.

Complete Election Returns. The complete vote, as given out early this morning by the Board of Elections, was: Hague ticket—Harry Moore, 63,177; John Bentley, 59,224; Frank Hague, 55,124; Michael Fagan, 55,082; James F. Gannon, 54,613. Fusion ticket—August Ziegner, 17,737; Walter J. Gorman, 17,591; George T. Vickers, 17,534; Edward Cahill, 16,242; J. Arthur O'Toole, 10,669.

Heavy voting characterized the early hours of the election, both in Jersey City and in Newark, with more than a thousand votes cast in thirty selected districts of the latter city during the first hour. This is much more than the usual number, and very close to the total registration for the districts. In Jersey City before noon it was estimated that at least 90 per cent of the total vote would be cast during the day, this estimate being based on the rush to the polls during the first two hours. Polls in both cities opened at 7 o'clock, daylight saving time, and closed at 8 o'clock last night.

Girls Cause Some Confusion. The authorities experienced little trouble with the election clerks and managers, excepting in the Seventh Ward in Newark, where one district on the board of elections discharged the entire personnel because the polls were opened later than they should have been. A heavy board was selected and the voting proceeded, although several hundred persons were compelled to wait in line because of the delay. In neither city was there much difficulty with the challenge list.

In Newark this list contained about 10,000 names, made up by a joint canvass of the polling lists and comprising principally persons who had moved from the district or who had registered improperly. Many names on it were of girls who believed that they were entitled to vote after reaching eighteen years of age, thinking that they then became of age.

The most serious trouble in either city was in Jersey City, where as a result of an alleged attempt to inject the religious issue into the campaign Judge Daniel O'Regan of the Second Criminal Court, charged with attempting to commit criminal libel. Edelsohn was one of the campaign managers for J. Arthur O'Toole, candidate for City Commissioner on the fusion ticket, and is accused of having caused a circular to be sent out urging voters to vote against O'Toole and several others because they were Catholics and calling on all Protestants to vote for O'Toole's opponents.

Besides O'Toole the circular attacked Mayor Frank Hague, James F. Gannon, Dr. Michael Fagan, George T. Vickers and Cahill, all candidates, and all Roman Catholics, and urged the voters to support Harry Moore, August Ziegner and Walter Gorman.

Religious Issue a Boomerang. Some politicians charged yesterday that the attempt was directed particularly against Commissioners Moore and Bentley by creating an impression among Catholics that they were being supported by anti-Catholics. Chief of Police Battersby declared last night that two of the envelopes in which the circulars had been sent out were addressed in the handwriting of O'Toole and his brother, Dr. J. Chauncey O'Toole. Another man who he alleged to have addressed some of the envelopes, Harry Richmond of 95 Bostwick avenue, Jersey City, was also held for the Grand Jury as a witness. He and Edelsohn were released on bail furnished by John O'Toole, a broker, of 93 Newark avenue, Jersey City, father of the candidate.

WOMAN IS ACCUSED OF SETTING FIRE TO STORE

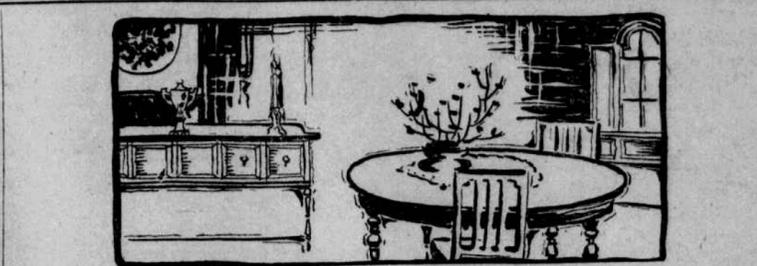

Fifty Persons Living Above Driven to Street.

Miss Eva Schaeffer, 30, of 157 East Fourteenth street, poured oil on the front of a cigar store at 508 East Thirtieth street at midnight yesterday and touched a match to it, according to William J. Cassidy, assistant fire marshal. Fifty persons living in the tenement house above were forced to the street.

In Yorkville court, the woman talked of her friendship for the "Queen of Great Britain" and the "Queen of Colorado," and said she had presents from both. Herman Stark, one of the owners of the store, said he had offered her money for work she did in his store at Arverne, L. I. She was committed to Bellevue for observation.

Broadway at Ninth Street New York Business Hours—9 to 5 Telephone Stuyvesant 4700

The John Wanamaker Store Formerly A. T. Stewart & Co. [It is not big type and big talk in the newspapers—but the quality, fashion and fair price of the goods in the store which make value and give lasting satisfaction.]

F-U-R-N-I-T-U-R-E Another Surprise! 138 Complete Dining-room Suites At Half Price and Less

Since furniture isn't ready to come down from its high horse regularly—as all reports say—we are doing our best to bring the prices down occasionally on limited lots of this character. But in the present instance you must not delay. Undoubtedly there is an enormous latent demand for furniture which will become active at such prices as these.

$850 dining-room suites—only 12 suites. $425

Only twelve suites at this low price, which makes us say again: Come quickly. They are in the Jacobean, or Early English type, as it is variously called; made of beautifully marked walnut finished in antique high lighting. Ten pieces complete; sideboard, china closet, extension table, serving table, one arm and five side chairs.

$932 and $948 dining-room suites—only 24 suites. $465

There are twenty-four of these suites, in selected walnut and mahogany in Heppelwhite design, the unobtrusive, graceful lines of which give simple dignity to the dining room.

$991 to $1,032 dining-room suites—three styles. $495

There are three styles in this group, Sheraton, Jacobean and William and Mary, and seventy-two suites in all. In selected mahogany and walnut. The William and Mary design has a slight Elizabethan feeling; the Sheraton and Jacobean being true to their period. Great care has been taken in the selection of the fine woods which make up these suites, and in the high lighting of the various turnings, carvings and panels. All the suites have the dignity and finish of the antique.

$1,243 and $1,259 dining-room suites—only 12 suites. $620

There are only twelve of these, all in the Adam style. In beautiful walnut and mahogany.

$1,496 to $1,516 dining-room suites—only 18 suites. $745

There are only eighteen of these suites in two types, Jacobean and English Renaissance, in selected mahogany and walnut. The beautifully shaped and carved stretchers and handsomely carved and shaped scroll legs with inlaid cupboard fronts are the principal features of this English Renaissance design, often called Georgian.

Sixth Gallery, New Building

Business Doing

has its delights and it is a mistake when it becomes mere drudgery or skinflintism. There are inherent, intense and abiding pleasures if it is organized for mutual helpfulness as well as for private returns and actual service to the public.

Chesterfield did well when he faithfully advised his son that "no man tastes pleasures truly who does not earn them by previous business," and few people do business well who do nothing else.

The mere jingle of money in the merchant's till will never satisfy a real man.

(Signed) John Wanamaker May 11, 1921.

The English Shop For Men

Just received—a shipment of English foulard and regimental silk neckties, in the colors and designs which will be worn next month at the International Polo matches in England.

Four-in-hands, $1.65, $1.75. Bow ties, $1.10. Burlington Arcade Floor, New Building

A New Collection of 18th Century Italian Tables

People are telling us what a surprise it is to find such really beautiful old tables for so little money.

At this particular moment, when the country house is presenting its problems, this collection is most opportune. There are tables for any sort of room—litt'e writing tables; small stands; dining tables; console tables.

The small tables are priced from $50 up. A pair of tripod stands is $100. Others with oval tops are $125 a pair.

A large dining-room table with oval top and Tuscan feet is fine in color and of excellent proportions. It could be used as a table in an informal country house living room, where books and flowers and all the pleasant small things that give a living room charm, Price $300.

A small Louis XVI. console table is priced $90. An exquisite inlaid table, $250.

Fourth Floor, Old Building

Straw Hats Are Ready!

Famous Lincoln-Bennett and Redleaf, London Hats, and Delion Hats from Paris New 1921 hats—egg-oval shapes $2.75 to $12

All sorts of stores sell all sorts of straw hats, but the Wanamaker Store may be depended upon to sell only genuine first-quality straw hats, and every one of them satisfactory.

To many eyes the straw hat is just a name for an article of apparel that is fashionable, uncomfortable, and easily soiled. Which is true of most low-grade straw hats.

But a good straw hat is a different proposition. It is a comfort.

We have been improving for years. We have tried out one maker after another, one method after another. Our ideas finally have been embodied in the straw hats that are now ready for New York—the most finished products to be obtained.

They are comfortable, because— (1) of the anatomically applied egg-oval shape; (2) of the cushion-for-comfort head-line.

Every one is a 1921 straw hat and every one will keep fresh.

Crowns of varying height. Rims of varying width. Sizes and correct new lines for every man.

Burlington Arcade Floor, New Building