

Society folk turned out in force for the annual garden party given by the New York Zoological Society. Picture shows the party at its height. Underwood & Underwood.

Mrs. Dudley Davis (left) and Mrs. Charles S. Whitman, wife of the former Governor, at the annual Zoological Garden party. Underwood & Underwood.

Mrs. Henry Fairfield Osborn caught by the camera while attending the Zoological Garden party, which attracted many of society's leaders. As chairman of the New York Zoological Society she did much to make the fete a great success. Underwood & Underwood.

Society kiddies at the Zoological Garden party. Left to right: Theodore Strange, Sally Crittenden, Pauline Crittenden, Roma Niles, Edwin Strange, Jr. It was only natural that the children should find much to delight them at the great Zoo. Photo Paul Thompson.

Mrs. John B. Thayer and her son, John B., 4, at the opening of the Flower Mart in Philadelphia, at which many of the most prominent families of the country were represented. International.

Miss Christine Frazier (left) and Miss Inez L. Justice, who aided in the sale of potted plants at the Flower Mart in Philadelphia, the eighth of its kind. Three children's institutions will be the beneficiaries of the mart. International.

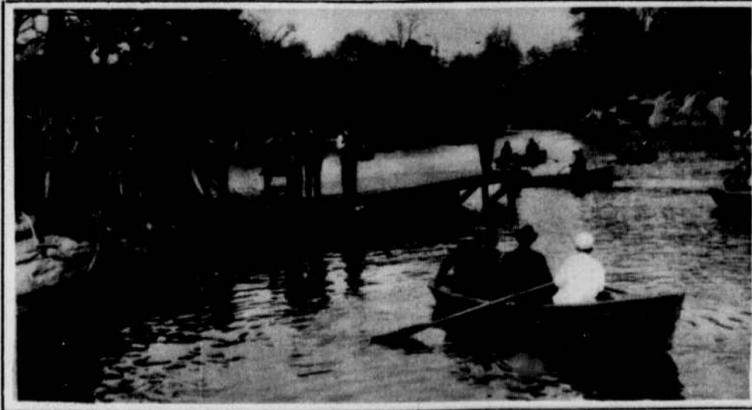

Mrs. E. B. Cassatt at the Flower Mart, Philadelphia's annual society event. She was one of the most successful in selling flowers. International.

Above—A. J. Marsh, holder of the casting record with a quarter ounce bait at the distance of 184 feet. Picture shows him in action at the recent Anglers Club tournament at Central Park Lake.

At right—Dry fly casting for accuracy was one of the most interesting contests in the Anglers Club tournament. Picture shows Jack Schwinn casting from end of the pier. Photos Sport-Commercial.

Above—This is the latest in "rainmaking" plants. Farmers in Alberta, Canada, pin their hopes of breaking droughts to it. The "rainmaker" keeps his process secret, but his operations have been extensive and have caused a sensation throughout the Canadian Northwest. The tower is twenty-four feet in height and supports a fourteen foot tank.

At right—Charles M. Hatfield, who, as a result of a month's labor as "rainmaker," received $3,000 from Canadian farmers.

