

MRS. KABER IN COURT PLEADS NOT GUILTY

Daughter Also Taken Before Judge and Later Returned to Jail

TRIAL SET FOR JUNE 28

Defence Will Be That Assassins Were Not Expected to Kill

SEEK MORE INDICTMENTS

Prosecutor to Go Before Grand Jury—Defence Will Not Ask Bail for Girl.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

CLEVELAND, June 11.—Two men and two women were closely questioned to-day at Central Police station in an effort to clear up details of the murder of Dan Kaber.

As a result, Prosecutor Stanton expects to ask the Grand Jury to return additional indictments. He said sufficient evidence was in his hands to indict the woman from Sandusky.

The four questioned are: A woman believed to have introduced Mrs. Kaber to the woman said to have obtained the assassins; a woman Mrs. Kaber consulted in planning the employment of the men to "beat up Dan Kaber"; and who is believed to have furnished poison to Mrs. Kaber; a man under suspicion of having acted as the go-between in planning the stabbing; and a man, arrested several days ago, who is believed to have been directly implicated in the murder. Chief Smith said he would keep this man and the others in custody for further questioning.

Mrs. Eva Catherine Kaber and her daughter, Marian McArdle, were taken from the jail to the Court of Common Pleas, where before Judge Maurice Beron they pleaded not guilty. Judge Beron set the trial of Mrs. Kaber for June 28, the earliest date possible.

When the women were returned from the court room to the county jail, Francis W. Foulson, who will represent them and possibly other defendants, saw his clients for the first time. Bail will not be asked for Miss McArdle, the lawyer indicated. It was probable, the lawyer indicated, that the defence would be that the hired assassins who stabbed Kaber to death in his bed were not employed to kill him, but merely to "beat him up" and teach him a lesson.

"What did Mrs. Kaber say in her own defence while you were consulting her?" Mr. Foulson was asked to "beat up" Dan Kaber grew out of the treatment of her daughter by her husband," the lawyer answered.

Foulson said he would act as attorney for grandmother, mother and daughter unless the cases conflicted. He added that it was possible the case of Mrs. Mary Brickel might conflict with that of Mrs. Kaber, and if so he would not represent Mrs. Brickel.

Mrs. Brickel was taken from the county jail to the Sterling Home to-day. The bond remains at $5,000. Her removal was an act of humanity, the judge said, following the plea by Charles Brickel, her son, that his mother would not live if left at the jail.

CHICAGO GIRLS PAINT FACES ARTISTICALLY

Woman, With Hobby of Facial Paste Work, Gives Opinion.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

CHICAGO, June 11.—Mrs. M. E. Frazer of London has arrived here with her 18-year-old daughter, in the course of a globe trotting tour, during which she has made extensive research studies into the artistry of rouge.

"It is my opinion, from what I have observed thus far, that Chicago girls were the victims of a base canard in the charge that they rouge and powder too much," said Mrs. Frazer. "They paint less than the girls of any other city I have visited and what facial paste work they do is both artistic and harmonious, even in the finest points of nuance, feeling and perspective."

ONE ARREST, 5 HELD IN COHEN SHOOTING

Bronx Man, Victim of Assault in Atlantic City, Accuses N. Y. Pugilist.

ATLANTIC CITY, June 11.—Jealousy is believed by the Atlantic City Police Department to have been the motive for the shooting of Joel Cohen of 1327 Southern Boulevard, The Bronx, who was shot early this morning while seated in an automobile in front of a cottage in South New Hampshire avenue.

Before he was operated upon Cohen accused Albert Moore of 462 West Twenty-second street, New York, a pugilist, who was arrested and charged with assault with attempt to kill. Cohen will recover.

In addition to Moore five witnesses, three of them women, are being held as witnesses. They gave their names as Miss Anna Meyers, a telephone operator of Hazleton, Pa.; Miss Anna Johnson, a waitress of Philadelphia; Miss Alice Derr, a clerk of 364 West 10th street, New York; George Sylvester Vincent Wandling, broker, 429 East 161st street, who also gave the address of 78 Seventh avenue, New York city; and Cornelius Murphy, a salesman, 114 West 10th street, New York, who was living in the Hampshire avenue cottage.

The police said that Cohen owned the automobile in which he was seated and that he recently came to Atlantic City for a vacation. He met Moore and the other men here, and late last night they met the three women, who have admitted to the police that they were only chance acquaintances of the three men. It is supposed by the police that Murphy, Moore, Cohen and Wandling became involved in a quarrel over one of the girls and that the shooting resulted.

After Moore had been locked up charged with shooting Cohen he was recognized by Detective Jack Williams as the man who held up Beatrice Butler, a negro waitress in William Gabler's restaurant at Arctic and Tennessee avenues and robbed the till of a few dollars. The negro identified him, and on her complaint he was held on an additional charge of highway robbery.

Joel Cohen's aunt, Miss Lillian Butler, with whom he lived in The Bronx, said this afternoon that she had received word of the shooting from the Atlantic City Police Department. She said that Cohen had lived with her ever since his father remarried some time ago, and that he left last Friday for his vacation. He is employed as a salesman by the Central Union Gas Company.

The address given by Moore is a lodging house, and the landlady said he had lived there a month. Friday morning, she said, he paid his bill and told her he was going away for the summer. She thought he was a pedler. Wandling is an automobile salesman and a brother of Patrolman William J. Wandling of 429 East 161st street. His father is a retired policeman.

SHOE PRICES HELD BY BUYERS' STRIKE

Would Have Gone Even Higher if Public Had Not Become Exasperated.

PROFITEERING RAMPANT

Federal Trade Commission Makes Report on Abnormal Conditions in Industry.

WASHINGTON, June 11.—High prices of footwear which obtained during 1918 and were increased in 1919 resulted from "abnormal conditions of supply and demand, both economic and psychological, arising from the war."

The Federal Trade Commission to-day reports to the House of Representatives. The report was submitted in response to a resolution.

"Incident to these conditions," the report added, "were large margins of profit taken by tanners, shoe manufacturers, wholesalers, jobbers and retailers, whose large earnings were declared to be 'out of all proportion to the increase in their cost per unit.'"

The advance in the price of shoes finally was terminated by the so-called "buyers' strike" in the spring of 1920, according to the report.

Failure of leather and shoe prices to decline as extensively as did hide prices after the "buyers' strike" was attributed by the commission to "a tendency to base selling prices on actual rather than replacement costs" and to the fact that other prices had not declined as much as had raw materials.

"In any event," the report concluded, "the present prices of hides and skins and the conditions existing in these phases of industry justify an expectation of still further declines in the quoted prices of leather and shoes."

The report claims large profits on the part of tanners, shoe manufacturers and wholesalers and retailers in 1918 and 1919. Earnings of 361 reporting shoe manufacturers, representing 62 per cent of the 1919 production, averaged 16.2 per cent on their total investment, according to the commission's figures.

"These large earnings of tanners and shoe manufacturers," the report says, "were due primarily to the fact that their selling prices increased out of all proportion to the increase in their costs of production."

"Earnings of thirty-two typical shoe wholesalers and jobbers averaged about 22 per cent of investment in 1918 and about 31 per cent in 1919. Earnings of forty-six typical shoe retailers averaged about 25 per cent in 1918 and about 32 per cent in 1919. These earnings, like those of the tanners and manufacturers, resulted from wide margins of profit taken on each shoe sold."

There was an important decrease in the supply of imported hides in 1918 and 1919, the commission said, but it could not subscribe to that as the reason why prices of shoes soared, even after hide stocks were available in quantity and quotations lower.

The commission noted a change in the retail demand to a higher quality of shoes, in spite of the greater prices exacted. This was in addition, according to the report, to a marked demand for shoes in 1919, but a slackening followed in 1920, when the "buyers' strike" took on nationwide scope.

MRS. H. W. JACKSON WINS DIVORCE DECREE

Desertion Alleged Against Pelham Man.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

GREENWICH, Conn., June 11.—Mrs. Anna Hart Jackson of this town was granted a decree of divorce to-day from Hugh William Jackson, by Judge John P. Kellong, in the Superior Court in Bridgeport. Mrs. Jackson charged her husband with deserting her and in support of her contention told the court that her married life had been a series of unpleasant incidents.

The Jacksons, whose home is one of the most beautiful in this section of Connecticut, were married in June, 1904, and, according to Mrs. Jackson, their troubles started a few years later when her husband manifested a distinct disregard for what she thought he ought to do. They parted, she said, and saw each other but few times thereafter. She says that she went to see him once when informed that he was dangerously ill, and was told by his physician that alcohol had contributed largely to his indisposition.

They have three children, Hugh, Jr.; Bertram and Harriet, aged 16, 14 and 11, respectively. The two boys have won reputations for themselves by their horsemanship. Both have done considerable riding in horse shows in New York. Mr. Jackson lives in Pelham, N. Y.

GIRLS CLAIM TO BE HOSTAGES FOR DEBT

Manufacturer Says That He Is Protecting Them.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

WORCESTER, Mass., June 11.—Manoog H. Shoshan, one of Worcester's largest manufacturers and distributors of confectionery, was summoned today to probate court to-day upon petition of Mary and Paul Stephen, who say Shoshan, in violation of the Personal Liberty Act, has held their nieces, Felor Naman, 22, and Anosbig Naman, 19, because he says the girls owe money to him for their passage to this country from Harport, Turkey.

Shoshan denies the charge, and says the girls are remaining at his home from choice, as marriages have been arranged for them which do not meet their approval. He says they have been in America only a short time, but have acquired sufficient American spirit to pick their own husbands.

He says a Hartford widower was to marry Felor and furnished money for her transportation, but when the girl learned of the deal she balked and Mr. Shoshan refunded the money to the Hartford man, paying it through the Travellers' Aid Society, which has the care of the girls under investigation.

HAYNES BECOMES PROHIBITION CHIEF

Ohio Dry Leader Has No Policy but Will Do His Best, He Says.

KRAMER SEES TIGHTENING

Retiring Commissioner Hopes That Successor Will Get a Loyal Staff.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

New York Herald Bureau, Washington, D. C., June 11.

Major Roy C. Haynes of Hillsboro, Ohio, former editor of a Hillsboro newspaper, a dry supporter who was backed by the Anti-Saloon League, to-day took the oath as Prohibition Commissioner of the United States, to succeed John P. Kramer of Ohio.

Commissioner Haynes said he was without a policy, but would do his utmost. Commissioner Kramer sang his swan song.

"At the time most convenient for Mr. Haynes to take charge of the duties I will gladly and with the kindest feelings surrender the office and its duties to him," he said. "He believes in prohibition and has helped to advance the cause for years. This means much not only to himself but to the people as a whole."

"He is not merely entering on a hard position but a work in which he has been interested for a long time and which he desires to have brought to a successful conclusion."

"People can rest assured that the cause will receive from him no half-hearted support. He is as much interested to see the cause succeed as any one can be, and let me say here that the cause will succeed. The people have entered on this work and will see it through."

"Among his problems may be mentioned the following: To maintain an organization that will be loyal to him and to the work he has to do. The amazing thing to me is that men and women will take an oath of office to defend, protect and uphold the Constitution and then proceed to tear it down by selling out to its enemies and thus becoming constitutional anarchists."

"This, however, some of our officers as well as local and State officials do, but let me suggest, this in all seriousness: every American citizen, whether by birth or naturalization, is solemnly obliged to defend, protect and uphold the Constitution of the United States."

"The man or woman who flagrantly and deliberately violates and breaks it is not far behind the officer who betrays his trust. They have joined themselves to the enemies, and what can we say for them who lend their aid and their comfort and their support to the enemies of the Constitution?"

"I do not marvel much at the lower element in the communities violating the law, but it is an amazing thing to have so-called good citizens lending their aid and their comfort and their support in word and deed and act to those engaged in violating the law."

Mr. Kramer added that Congress could make it easier for the new prohibition Commissioner by enacting a law which would give him authority along the line of limiting the number of prescriptions which physicians might issue and limiting the quantity of whiskey which might be manufactured and imported.

SIVER, CHURCH ELOPER, IS SUED FOR DIVORCE

Girl With Whom He Went Away Seeks Work.

New Brunswick, N. J., June 11.—Mrs. Annabel R. Siver filed suit for divorce to-day against Shubel K. Siver, the former treasurer of the First Reformed Church here. She named as correspondent Miss Adele Gouin, the Perth Amboy waitress with whom Siver eloped several weeks ago, taking with him $6,000 in Liberty bonds belonging to the church. The papers in the suit were mailed to the Supreme Court in Trenton by Mrs. Siver's attorney, who said that the action for a divorce "was obviously the only course that Mrs. Siver could take."

Siver told reporters in the jail here to-day that Miss Gouin, anticipating that he would be sent to State's prison, had gone to Trenton to find work and that she would remain there until he had been released.
