

'The Old Nest,' Adapted From a Rupert Hughes Story; 'Salvation Nell' and 'Carnival' Screen Novelties

'The Bronze Bell' and Miss Ethel Clayton in 'Wealth' Other Pictures.

This Week's Feature Pictures

- ASTOR—"The Old Nest." CAPITOL—"Carnival." RIVOLI—"The Bronze Bell." STRAND—"Salvation Nell." HIPPODROME—"The Twice Born Woman." LYRIC—"The Queen of Sheba." CRITERION—"The Golem." CENTRAL—"Connecticut Yankee." PARK—"Over the Hill." FRAZEE—"Headless Moths." FORTY-FOURth STREET—"Way Down East."

'The Old Nest' opens a limited engagement at the Astor Theatre on Tuesday evening. Rupert Hughes has contrived a photoplay version of his own story, which Reginald Barker has produced for Goldwyn, placing before his audience a series of chapters out of life itself.

In the role of the mother will be Miss Mary Alden. Twenty-one principal players are listed in the cast, including Misses Helene Chadwick, Molly Malone and Louise Lovely, Dwight Crittenden, Cullen Landis, Theodore Van Eltz, Nick Cogley and most of the "Edgar" children, with Johnny Jones, Lucille Rickson, Buddy Messinger and Edward Trebas.

S. L. Rothafel will give "The Old Nest" its initial production together with an appropriate musical presentation at the Astor, where it will be given twice daily.

The characters of Edward Sheldon's drama, "Salvation Nell," will be seen on the screen at the Strand Theatre. The photoplay was adapted by Miss Dorothy Farnum and directed by Kenneth Webb. It is a story of life in the tenement district of New York's East Side, of the ups and downs of a girl in the city. It deals with the steadfast love of Nell Sanders for Jim Platt, who was the idol of her dreams. The cast comprises Fannie Starke, Joseph Sids, Gipsy O'Brien, T. Langford and Evelyn C. Carrington. The remainder of the film programme will consist of a new "Toonerville Trolley" comedy called "The Shipper" and "Narcotics," announced for presentation last week, but delayed.

"Carnival," the international production by Harlan Knoles, will hold the centre of the screen at the Capitol Theatre. The story takes an unusual angle. The crux of the theme is a man having to act on the stage what he has just gone through in real life. The action takes place in Venice during carnival time, when the city puts aside all care for the period of merrymaking, and striking scenic effects have been obtained from the use of the city, where the picture was filmed, as well as the picturesque scenes of the fête in which hundreds of actors participated.

The cast is headed by Matheson Lang, who plays the principal role, that of Silvio Steno, a prominent Italian tragedian, who is called upon to play the difficult role of Othello while he is so disheartened with jealousy at the fidelity of his own wife. Mr. Lang starred in the original presentation of "Carnival" on the legitimate stage. Miss Hilda Bailey, who plays opposite him in "Carnival," also created the part in the original stage presentation. Ivor Novello, author of the famous "Keep the Home Fires Burning"; the Duchess d'Ansois, one of the first of women comedians who through the screen, and Clifford Grey also are among the principals. Because of the size of the production the only other film unit on the programme will be the Capital News.

A story by Louis Joseph Vance, direction and cast under the supervision of Thomas H. Hunt and a Paramount trademark are comprised in "The Bronze Bell," a motion picture serial, which will be the feature at the Rivoli. It is a tale of the Orient and Occident, of a young American who through the resemblance to the missing ruler of the most powerful principality of India, is forced into leading a revolt against the British and wins a bride in the process. The cast includes Harry Carey, Jr., and Miss Doris May have the leading parts. Others are John Davidson, Miss Clara DuBrey, Noble Johnson and Otto Hoffman. James W. Horn directs. "The Bronze Bell" and "The Queen of Sheba," by Del Andrews and Louis Stevens adapted the story for the screen. A comedy is also on the bill.

Miss Ethel Clayton in "Wealth" will be the feature attraction at the Rialto. It is a William D. Taylor production for Paramount from a story by Cosmo Hamilton. Miss Clayton has the role of a young artist, who is married to a millionaire's son after a series of exciting adventures. The photoplay was written by Julia Crawford Ivers. The supporting cast includes Herbert Rawlinson, J. M. Dumont, Lawrence W. Steers and George Periolat. A comedy and a scenic will complete the film part of the programme.

"The Twice Born Woman" continues at the Hippodrome.

"The Queen of Sheba," the William Fox spectacle, will be the Lyric. "The Golem," Paul Wegener's impressive production, continues at the Criterion.

"Over the Hill," the Fox version of Will Carleton's poems, runs on at the Park.

"Headless Moths," with Audrey Munson as the Frazees.

Next week's attractions at Lee's New will be "I Am Guilty," with Miss Louise Glaum, to-day and to-morrow; "Such a Little Queen," with Miss Constance Binney, Tuesday; "The Whip," with Irving Cummings, Wednesday; "The Heart Line," with Miss Leah Baird, Thursday; "The Kiss," with F. Arnold Meyer, and "The Raisers," with Franklyn Farnum, Friday. "The Bondsman's Dance," with Desha, Miss Vera Myers and Paul Ocard, will be given for one week at this theatre because of its success at the Criterion and at the Hippodrome.

Next Tuesday evening the Goldwyn Concert Band, under direction of Edwin Franko Goldman, will journey to the Rialto and give a concert in Poe Park, where it was welcomed by a crowd last season. The concert will be free. The soloist will be Miss Frida Klink, contralto, who while in "Don Quixote" with "Don Carlos," by Verdi.

The hand will play a new march, "Columbia," by Mr. Goldman; the overture to "Mignon," by Thomas; air from Suite in D, by Bach; fantasia, "The Valkyrie," by Wagner; "Invitation to the Waltz," by Weber; Polka; "Shepherd's Hey," set by Percy Grainger; and excerpts from "Carillon," by Bizet.

MISS PAULINE STARKE and JOSEPH KING in 'SALVATION NELL' at the STRAND.

MISS PHYLLIS HAVER in 'HOME TALENT' at the BROADWAY.

MISS PHYLLIS HAVER in 'HOME TALENT' at the BROADWAY.

Rivoli. John Priest will play the organ solo, "Huldigungs-marsch," by Edward Grieg.

Selections from "Robin Hood," by Reginald de Koven, will be the overture played by the Strand orchestra, under the direction of Carl Edwards and Francis W. Sutherland. In Managing Director Plunkett's prologue to the feature presentation the Strand Ladies' Quartet will be heard singing selections made popular by the Salvation Army lassies. Ralph Corey will offer a trombone solo. The organ solo will be "Festive March."

The musical programme at the Capitol has been arranged by S. L. Rothafel to concentrate on the special production "Carnival." The programme opens with two selections from "Thais." The first is the "Modification," played by Jacques Gordon, concert master of the orchestra. The second is the "Mirror Song," and serves to introduce a new singer, Miss Fanny Rezia, a soprano, formerly of the Paris Opera Comique. The prologue to the feature picture has been staged to carry out in scenic effect and musical interpretation the spirit of gaiety in Venice at carnival time. The Capitol orchestra, including the quartet, ballet corps and principals, take part in this number. It is divided into several parts: (a) the opening ensemble; (b) "Carnival of Venice," by James Parker Coombes; (c) "The Gondoliers," a pantomime danced by Mlle. Gambarelli, Alexander Oumansky and the Capitol Ballet Corps; (d) "Buono baylone," will sing Army Woodford; quartet, and (e) "Solo Mio," sung by Erik Byet.

Hugo Rosenfeld's music programme at the Rivoli will have as an overture the ballet music from Goldmark's "Queen of Sheba," with Frederick Stahlberg conducting. George Richardson, baylone, will sing Army Woodford; Flinders' "The Temple Bells Are Ringing" as an introduction to the feature picture. The organ solo, played by J. Hunt and Cooper, will be Handel's "Largo."

Royalty Sees Film, 'A Connecticut Yankee'

In the Court Circular, London, appears the following, dated Marlborough House, May 30:

"The Princess Royal, with Princess Maud, visited Queen Alexandra to-day, and remained to luncheon. Afterwards, accompanied by the Princess Royal, with Princess Maud and the Princess Victoria, was present at the film version of Mark Twain's comedy, 'A Connecticut Yankee at King Arthur's Court,' at the Alhambra Theatre this afternoon. Her Majesty was attended by the Honorable Charlotte Knollys, the Honorable Louis White and Col. Sir Henry Stewartfield."

The London Daily Telegraph, in reporting the visit of members of the royal family to see the film, said: "The royal visitors were received in the vestibule of the theatre by Sir Oswald Stoll, representing William Fox, the manager, representing William Fox, and were at once conducted to the spectacular royal court scene, which had been converted into a bow of flowers. After witnessing the presentation Queen Alexandra assured Mr. Reynolds that she had thoroughly enjoyed herself while watching this amusing photoplay, and it was noted that many shrieks of subdued laughter came from the three royal Princesses, as they watched the very amusing exploits of the American Yankee at King Arthur's court."

CONCERT IN POE PARK.

Next Tuesday evening the Goldwyn Concert Band, under direction of Edwin Franko Goldman, will journey to the Rialto and give a concert in Poe Park, where it was welcomed by a crowd last season. The concert will be free. The soloist will be Miss Frida Klink, contralto, who while in "Don Quixote" with "Don Carlos," by Verdi.

Personal Notes of the Screen Players and Their Activities in the Studios

Because of their success in recent productions Miss Agnes Ayres and Jack Holt have been signed as stars by Universal. Who will replace Miss Ayres as C. B. De Mille's leading woman is not yet decided.

A film producing centre like that at Los Angeles is being constructed outside of Nice, France, by Rene Navarre. Paris film star, which is behind the project.

Miss Margaret Armstrong, who broke into pictures as a gown model in Bert Lytell's "Lombardi, Ltd.," and later played the lead in Von Stroheim's "Foolish Wives," has been signed by Universal to star.

The alarm clock awakens Lon Chaney these days at 5 A. M. It takes him nearly three hours to put on his make-up for the Chinese part he now is playing.

Stage appearances are now popular with film celebrities on the West Coast. Among those rehearsing a new play by Victor Mapes for presentation at the Little Theatre are Neely Edwards, Russell Simpson, Miss Kathleen Kirkham, Lincoln Stedman and Miss Olga Gray.

Reginald Barker, formerly a Goldwyn feature director, is heading his own company to produce stories with all-star casts.

Harry Myers has patented a gopher trap which he invented and is using in his California ranch.

Roscoe Arbuckle's most recent leading woman was Miss Mary Thurman. That picture finished, however, she has moved her belongings to the Fox studio to play opposite William Russell.

Miss Beaulieu Love now is passing her vacation at her father's ranch near Bakersfield, Cal.

"Omar the Tent-maker" is to be screened with its original star, Guy Bates Post, in the title role. James Young will direct the picture. Richard Walton Tully, will supervise production.

Frank Borzage has bought a home on Long Island Sound, plus a seagoing yacht. The time between his productions will be spent on ocean voyages when he will work on the preparation of new stories.

The wife and daughter of Eddie Polo have started on a globe trotting tour of Europe, Egypt and Africa. The daughter is Miss Malvine Polo, who has recently come into screen fame in "Foolish Wives."

Miss Viola Dana is temporarily quitting her picture work to be queen of a rodeo in Reno, Nev. She is the guest there of the Chamber of Commerce.

A new home in Hollywood has been purchased by Miss Mildred Davis. She presented it to her parents as a wedding anniversary gift. She again is in her make-up and is playing in a new Harold Lloyd comedy.

Miss Carmel Myers' contract with Universal has expired, and she is expected soon to affiliate with another concern. The same is true of Miss Edith Roberts and her Universal contract.

White Mountains Attract Golfers

Many Automobile Parties Arrive for the Opening of the Mount Pleasant.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. WHITE MOUNTAINS, N. H., June 25.—The White Mountains are the especial delight of golfers, and the courses are kept busy from late June until October. Scarcely an automobile arrives without a full equipment of golf bags and tennis rackets.

Bretton Woods, while it is the mecca of golfers in the White Mountains, by no means claims all of them. The links at the Mount Pleasant, at Bretton Woods, are among the most popular. During September the annual White Mountain golf tournament is played there. Golf tournaments and exhibition matches are frequent features at Bretton Woods. The large colony devotes the major part of the summer to the sport. The Maplewood links and those at Crawford, Whitefield, Sugar Hill and Profile House form interesting objectives for the itinerant golfer.

The links at Dixville Notch are among the most famed in the East. Not only do people who spend the entire summer at the Balsams play the course daily, but many parties motor up from the other resorts in order to enjoy the sport. The course with its Scottish turf and broad fairways is the most beautiful which is being newly opened by Gray's Inn at Jackson this year also will be well patronized.

Water Sports for Deal On Independence Day

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. DEAL, N. J., June 25.—Swimming races for boys and girls at the pool will feature the Independence Day celebration. There also will be special high diving by a professional. There will be fireworks at night.

All the hotels here have opened. They include the old Hathaway Inn, Deal and Travers Inns. Improvements costing $4,000 have been made in and around the Deal station. No longer does the town appear as "Deer Beach," as the misnomers having dropped the "Beach" some time ago.

Former Representative Mr. Thomas J. Scully, Mayor of South Amboy, and Mrs. Scully have opened their summer home.

The convention proper starts on Monday morning, when the eighth annual session will open at the Lyceum, ending with a series of athletic events Tuesday morning and a parade in the afternoon. The reunion committee expects to entertain 15,000 visitors.

The parade will be the big feature. The prizes, loving cups, will be for the best appearing lodge in line, the lodge having the greatest number of members, the most women present, best band in competition, best decorated automobile in line, most grotesque division, and best decorated float. In addition there will be cups for the tallest, shortest, fattest and leanest Elk in line, most grotesque uniform, and a trophy to the lodge winning the baseball game. Governor Edward I. Edwards will parade with his lodge, Jersey City, No. 211.

Mrs. Lewis S. Thompson has issued invitations for the ninth annual meeting of the Monmouth County Elks Association to be held at the country home at Brookdale Farm, Lincoln, for next Thursday, at which time Mrs. August Belmont will speak on "A Preventive Community Program" and Dr. Thomas W.
