

SUMMER RESORTS

Younger Set in Tennis Matches on Lenox Courts

Mr. Charles Lanier, a Charter Member, Attends 56th Annual Meeting of Club.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. LENOX, Mass., July 9.

MR. CHARLES LANIER, New York banker, who is a charter member of the Lenox Club, attended the fifty-sixth annual meeting of the club, which was held on Tuesday.

Miss Cathleen Vanderbilt, daughter of Mrs. Sydney Jones Colford, Jr., is frequently at the Lenox Club tennis nets.

The large Liberty bell, which attracted much attention in the Independence Day parade by its deep tones, was formerly on the Methodist Church at Lee, a building recently converted into a motion picture house.

Tennis on Courts at Blake Place. Mr. and Mrs. George Baly Blake had a tennis tournament on the courts at Pine Needles, starting Tuesday, for their guests, Miss Eleanor Lovering and Mr. Hollis H. Henshaw, Jr.

Mrs. Edwin T. Rice poured this afternoon at the first tea of the season at the Stockbridge Golf and Tennis Club. Among those who registered this week were Miss Mary McKay McCreery, Mrs. William Van Brunt Findley, Miss Grace McGovern, Mr. William E. S. Griewood and Mr. William Sloane.

Mr. Norman H. Davis, former Assistant Secretary of State, is on a salmon fishing trip to New Brunswick, with three sons, Macdon, Peasnell and Goode Davis. Another son, Mr. Norman F. Davis, sailed on Tuesday for Europe with two Harvard friends, Mr. Davis Merwin of Bloomington, Ill., and Mr. Robert F. Leshner of Rye, N. Y.

Arrivals at Hotels. Arrivals at the Red Lion Inn at Stockbridge include Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Hyde, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Hulet, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Litchfield, Mr. and Mrs. Winslow S. Pierce, Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Everett I. Rogers of New York, and Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Johnson of Glen Ridge, N. J.

Friday night dances are a feature of the season at Heaton Hall in Stockbridge, among whose late visitors are Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Merrill, Miss Minnie P. Tilden, Mrs. A. H. Wheeler, Mrs. Jean Stillson, Miss Janet Robertson, Miss Annie D. Mackay of New York and Miss Edith Curtis of Brooklyn.

Mrs. Nelson J. Peabody of Boston, who, dressed as the wife of a Stockbridge Indian chief, was marshal of the Fourth of July parade in Lenox, is at the Asphwall Hotel. She is daily seen in the Wooley Woods on her favorite chestnut. Among other arrivals at the Asphwall are Capt. Pitt Scott, U. S. N.; Mrs. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. John Campbell Townsend, Mrs. Phillips Phoenix, Mr. and Mrs. L. Laurence Stearns, Mr. and Mrs. N. G. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. James D. Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Young, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. John W. Burrows of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernhard Hoffman have given the use of their villa, Overbrook, at Stockbridge, as a vacation house this summer to the New York Exchange for Woman's Work, which held a sale at the home of Mrs. Carl A. de Gerardoff on Wednesday and Thursday. Through the efforts of Mrs. de Gerardoff's brother, Mr. Francis W. Crowninshield, $1,500 was raised as a vacation fund for work in the exchange at New York headquarters. Mrs. Henry Hollister Pease also is much interested in the work.

Mr. Frederic A. Delano and daughter, Miss Louise Delano, are back at the home of the Nummers in Stockbridge, from Barrytown, N. Y., where they were guests of Mrs. Warren Delano.

NOTES FROM SEA BRIGHT. Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. BRISTOL, N. J., July 9.—Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Waring are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. J. Ford Johnson on the Rumson Drive.

Surf Bathing at Night Enjoyed at Narragansett Pier

Warm Weather Drives Thousands to the Beaches at All Hours.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. NARRAGANSETT PIER, R. I., July 9.

OUTSTANDING features of the week have been surf bathing first and foremost, for the unprecedented warm wave sent every one to the beaches to revel in the breakers. Not only at the fashionable bathing hour in the morning, but at night bathing has been enjoyed, notably at Scarborough, Narragansett's private beach. The Casino has also been a popular social centre, where on the night of Independence Day a patriotic dance in the ballroom followed a number of dinner parties on the plaza overlooking the ocean.

Among those giving dinner parties before the holiday dance were Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Welsh at their villa, Shadow Farm, in Kingstown road, and Mrs. John O. Ames of Providence at their villa, Sea View, on the Boston Neck road.

Mr. and Mrs. Carter Leidy of Philadelphia and Mr. and Mrs. Peter A. Porter, Jr. of New York gave dinner parties on the Casino plaza. A Lower Price for This May-O-Belt Corset, $3.95

A PINK COUTIL model of the May-O-Belt Corset that supports the full figure with such comfort has the lowest price it has ever borne for tomorrow.

Medium bust style, well boned and reinforced over the abdomen and with wide elastic insert across the lower back, it is a model that has much comfort to offer with its correctness of line.

This is a special that can well invite you to sample its good qualities. Those who wear this Corset now need but the information about the special price to realize the advantage.

MIDSUMMER CLEARANCE

SUMMER comfort and pleasure—at the lowest cost. Is that not what all of us are looking for at this season? And because the equipment for summer comfort and pleasure is now offered at Loeser's for low prices that have not been equaled in several years this Store will be a busy place tomorrow.

Many of these clearances are out of our own stocks—straight price reductions. Many others are new purchases hunted up and secured from good manufacturers who for some sound reason were ready to make price sacrifices.

July is a wonderful month for economies—some compensation for those who spend it in town instead of away on vacation.
