

Society, Fashions, Events in Suburban Sports.

MISS ROSEMARY M. PINCHOT DAUGHTER OF
MRS. MINTON
PINCHOT,
and HER
SADDLE HORSE,
REDMOND

Photo. by Fotogram

MISS BECKY LANIER, WINNER
OF MANY BLUES at the
GREENWICH HORSE SHOW,
TAKING THE RAIL FENCE.

Photo. by PAUL THOMPSON.

MISS HELEN R. SCHNIEWIND and MR. WARREN B. FOND WHO WILL BE MARRIED NEXT THURSDAY

Photo. by
FOTOGRAMS

MRS. SHERWOOD
A. CHENEY DAUGHTER OF MR. and MRS. E. A.
DE LA ROY of WASHINGTON
and a BRIDE
OF SEPT. 10
at STOCKBRIDGE
MASS.

© by LACHRACH

Important Weddings and Engagements in Society

Reception Following Marriage on October 17 of Miss Marion Carey Dinsmore to Be Held at Home of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Astor.

HERE is prospect of a good season of autumn weddings, both in New York and in country places, although weddings with the surroundings that the country offers at this time of year are considered preferable.

Several weddings are to take place in the city this week, and invitations to weddings later in the month are being received frequently. Mr. William Brown Dinsmore of this city and Tuxedo Park sent out invitations last week for the marriage of their daughter, Miss Marion Carey Dinsmore, to Mr. Francis May Simonds, Jr., on the afternoon of October 17 at the Church of the Incarnation. The reception will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Astor, 340 Fifth avenue. Mrs. Astor and Miss Dinsmore are cousins.

The engagement of Miss Dinsmore and Mr. Simonds was announced a week ago last August, while she was with her parents in Edgartown, Mass. Dinsmore was introduced to society at the same time as her cousin, Charles Reed, who then was Miss Madeleine Carey, at a reception which was held at the Colony Club.

Miss Hortense Garside of this city, Miss Rebecca Brown of Des Moines, and Miss Elizabeth Vernon of Newport, Mr. Ralph Wolf will serve as Mr. Johnson's best men. The ushers will be Messrs. Harold F. Gibson, Jay Van Schack, Charles Hitchcock and Daniel Grant, Mr. Johnson, who has been living at the Yale Club, gave his farewell bachelor dinner there last night.

There will be a wedding of much interest next Saturday in the Church of the Holy Trinity, when Miss Alice Isabel Judson, daughter of Mrs. Samuel Hyatt Vallance, will be married to Mr. Russell Kennedy Jones, who is a son of Dr. Le Baron Jones of Pleasantville, N. Y. Miss Judson is a great granddaughter of the late Cyrus W. Field of Atlantic City, and a daughter of the late Cyrus Field Judson. Her mother is a niece by marriage of Major-General Leonard Wood, Governor-General of the Philippines, and of Capt. Albert Key, U. S. N.

Frances Judson will be her sister's maid of honor. The other attendants will be Mrs. John Hoar of Boston, Miss Genevieve Clendenen and Miss Carolyn Cox of this city, and Miss Mary Coffin of Pittsburgh. A small reception will be held at the Plaza.

Another wedding of interest, arrangements for which have not been announced, will be that of Miss Charlotte Lemoino Dunlop, a daughter of Mrs. Archibald M. McCrea to Mr. John Lowrey Walsh, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Lowrey of Philadelphia, which is to take place on the afternoon of October 13 in St. Thomas's Church. A reception will be held at the Plaza. It was in St. Thomas's Church that Miss Dunlop's sister, Miss Sally Dunlop, was married to Mr. Joseph D. Eddy, several years ago. Miss Dunlop is a step-daughter of Mr. McCrea, who with Mrs. McCrea, now lives at Ballyheather, Ardmore, Pa. They generally pass a part of the winter at the Plaza.

The marriage of Miss Helen Culver Kerr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Clapperton Kerr, to Mr. Ernest Greene Kerr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Greene of Clapboard Hill Farm, New Canaan, Conn., and this city will take place on October 13 in New Canaan, where Miss Kerr's parents have a country place.

In the Church of the Atonement, Tenafly, N. J., next Saturday, Miss Helena Roosevelt Bleeker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony James Bleeker, will be married to Mr. Ripley Hitchcock, son of the late Ripley Hitchcock of this city. A reception will be held at the home of the bride's parents in Mountain Road, Tenafly, and it will be attended by numerous friends from New York.

According to plans mentioned when they were in New York last summer, the marriage of Miss Eustacia Smith, only child of the late Eustacia Ballard Smith and Mrs. Smith, to Capt. Francesco Marigliano, Duca del Monte, of Naples, will take place this month in London, where the bride's mother expects to take a house for the occasion. Mrs. Smith and her daughter were in Southampton and Newport in July and later went to Dinard, France, where they have lived for years. The Duca del Monte is a member of an old Italian patrician family, the head of which, the Duca di Marigliano, Miss Ballard-Smith is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Butterfield, of this city, from whom she inherited a fortune. She has lived for the greater part of her life in France and is an accomplished linguist.

An engagement announced last week which is of interest to many old families of New York was that of Miss Elizabeth Livingston Hall, a daughter of Mr. Edward Livingston Hall, to Mr. Northwood Rathbone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joel Rathbone of 147 East Fifty-third street. Miss Hall is a granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Valentine G. Hall of this city and Tivoli, N. Y. She is a niece of Mrs. Stanley Mortimer, Mrs. David Gray and Mr. Valentine G. Hall and a granddaughter of the late Mrs. E. Livingston Ludlow, for many years identified with social life in New York and Newport. One of her cousins is Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, who was Miss Eleanor Roosevelt, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Elliot Roosevelt. Mr. Rathbone is a grandson of former Judge Carlisle Norwood. His father is a member of a family prominent for generations in the life of Albany. He saw active service at Chateau Thierry and after the armistice was with the army of occupation in Coblenz.

From Cleveland, Ohio, last week came the announcement of the engagement of Miss Louise Harkness, daughter of the late William L. Harkness, of that city and New York, to Mr. David Sinton Ingalls, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert S. Ingalls of Cleveland. Miss Harkness has been identified with New York society for several years and passes part of the summer with her mother in Glen Cove and on board their yacht, Cythera. Her father was one of the founders of the Standard Oil Company. Mr. Ingalls is an undergraduate at Yale and is a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Phoenix Taft of Cincinnati. Chief Justice William Howard Taft and Mr. Henry Waters Taft of New York are his great uncles. His father is general manager of the New York Central Lines and the sister of Mrs. Ingalls was graduated from Yale in 1920 and now is attending the Harvard Law School. He was in the naval air service, where he won the title of aviator and was the only American naval ace. He is credited with bringing down five or six German air ships. He also was in the Royal Air Force scout squadron and the British Distinguished Flying Cross was awarded to him.

Mrs. Tarleton Winchester of 340 Park avenue announced last Tuesday the engagement of her daughter, Miss Anne Gordon Winchester, to Mr. Essek S. Shorman of this city. Miss Winchester's father is Mr. Essek S. Shorman, of Baltimore and she is the sister of Mr. Robert P. Patterson of this city and Mr. Tarleton Winchester, now in London. Mr. Sherman is the son of Mr. Arthur Outram Sherman of New York, and this city. He was graduated from Harvard in 1918. He served as an officer in the naval reserves transport service aboard the U. S. S. Great Northern. His sister, Miss Audrey Townsend Sherman, was married to Mr. John Lawrence Bigelow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Lawrence Bigelow of Ann Arbor, Mich., yesterday in Christ Church, N. Y.

Patriotic Meetings of Sons of Revolution

The Sons of the Revolution in the State of New York whose headquarters are at Francis's Tavern, Broad and Pearl street, will hold a series of patriotic meetings this month in cooperation with the Board of Education in the celebration of the centennial of the first meeting will be held to-morrow evening in Erasmus High School, Church and Flatbush avenues, Brooklyn. Brigadier-General George A. Wingate will preside and Supreme Court Justice John McCrate of Brooklyn, will be the speaker.

On Thursday at the Washington Irving High School, 40 Irving place, the second meeting will be addressed by Dr. John Finley, who will speak on "America's Making." On October 7 at Washington High School, 114th street, and Seventh avenue, Mr. Henry J. Ryan, one of the pioneers of the American Legion, will be the speaker. One of the features at all the meetings will be the color guard of the Sons of the Revolution, who will be dressed in Continental uniform.

The committee in charge of the meetings includes Messrs. George A. Zabriskie, chairman, and Talbot Root, Col. William G. Bates and Brig.-Gen. Wingate.

MISS MARY K. LINCOLN, MISS MARION LOOK and MISS POLLY LINCOLN at the GREENWICH HORSE SHOW.

Photo. by PAUL THOMPSON

Lenox Society Entertains at Villas

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

Lenox, Mass., Oct. 1. MR. AND MRS. HENRY WHITE, who have Mrs. Vanderbilt as a guest for a week or more at Elm Court, are doing much entertaining, especially on Sunday parties. Mrs. Richard Gambrill, who was with them, has since been the guest of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Girard Foster, who had a dinner party for her on Tuesday night.

Mrs. William Pollock had her son, Mr. Marshall R. Kernochan of Tuxedo Park, and Mr. and Mrs. William Corcoran Eustis of Washington, D. C., as guests at Holmesdale in Pittsfield.

Three real estate sales—two in Lenox and one in Stockbridge—already have been consummated and others are pending. Many Stockbridge friends of Dr. and Mrs. William Gilman Thompson of New York are to rejoice the cottage colony through their purchase of Mrs. Frederic Crowninshield's place, Konkapot.

Mrs. Richard T. Auchmuty, who has just bought the sixty-six acre Wayside property of the Mrs. William H. Bradford estate on the Pittsfield road, has been a summer resident of Lenox since 1920, when she came over the mountain from New Lebanon, N. Y., with her mother, who liked the region so well she decided to remain. The Dormers, Mrs. Auchmuty's villa, was built in 1860. It has no electric lights, no gas. It is lighted by kerosene and tallow candles. Although one of the wealthiest women in Berkshire, Mrs. Auchmuty has no automobile. She drives on the rural roads in an open victoria drawn by two bay horses, with liveried coachman, who has been in her employ forty-nine years. Mrs. Auchmuty is said to have bought the Bradford property to control the water supply. Mrs. Albert S. Barker of Washington, who, with Mrs. Russell, is at the Curtis, is having improvements made on the Livingstone house she recently bought in Cliffwood street, so it will be ready for occupancy next spring. The house was built by Mrs. Edward McCrea, daughter of Mrs. Edward McCrea of Lenox, Pa., France, about twenty-five years ago.

The Stockbridge Casino elected these officers on Monday: President, Mr. Edward B. Owen; vice-president, Mr. William H. Clarke; secretary, Miss Marion Hague; treasurer, Miss Jennie H. Soyars; directors, Mrs. Alexander Sedgwick, Miss Emily Tuckerman, Miss Mabel Choate, Dr. William Gilman Thompson and Prof. Henry W. Farnam. The Stockbridge Golf and Tennis Club, Officers there are: Misses Isabelle F. Hopkins and Annette Tilden of Cincinnati, Mr. Allen T. Treadway; secretary and treasurer, Dr. Herbert E. Stockwell; directors, the above, with Messrs. Carl A. de Gersdorff, Norman H. Davis, J. Woodward Haven, Edwin T. Rice, Frank E. Courson and Phillips Blagden.

Mrs. Louis Chauvenet of Boston, who spent the summer at Bar Harbor, has arrived at the Maplewood Hotel in Pittsfield for a month. She was Miss Annie L. Allen, daughter of the late Mr. Thomas Allen of Pittsfield and St. Louis. Among others at the Maplewood are Mrs. Benjamin Nicoll and Miss Elsie B. Couper Lord of Morristown, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Merrill of East Orange, Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer M. Singer, Miss Elizabeth and Miss Catherine Singer, Mr. Henry E. Sheffield, Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Wright and Miss Joan Wright of New York. One of the best tennis matches of the season at the Lenox club was played on Tuesday by Miss Grace Bristol, Berkshire woman's champion, against Mr. Herbert B. Shaw of Boston. Miss Bristol won two out of three sets, playing mixed doubles at the Lenox club on Tuesday were Miss Cathleen Vanderbilt and Mr. John O'Donnell against Miss Edith Bonnal and Mr. Thayer Thorndike. Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Pavonatsky, the latter of whom was Baroness Speck von Sternberg, wife of the one-time German Ambassador at Washington, were on the Lenox golf course each day during their stay at the Curtis Hotel. Mr. Samuel Russell of Middletown, who, with Mrs. Russell, is at the Curtis, also has joined the autumn golfers at the club. Among others at the Curtis are Mr. Lathrop Colgate of Bedford, N. Y.; Mrs. H. C. Bainbridge and Miss Ida L. Bainbridge of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Osterhout and Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Wright of New York.

Arrivals at the Spinwheel Hotel include Mr. and Mrs. George Fritz Charlier of Philadelphia, Mrs. C. A. Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Stephenson, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Young, Mr. William E. Jenkins of New York. Mrs. Anne Mitchell Paulding and Miss Anne Dewey Paulding of New York are remaining at the Graylock Hotel, in Williamstown, through early October. Others there are Misses Isabelle F. Hopkins and Annette Tilden of Cincinnati, Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Talmage of Haverhill, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Schwab of Greenwich, Conn.; Mr. and Mrs. S. W. March of Newport, and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Allen of Tarrytown.

A quartet of Brooklyn golfers at the Berkshire Inn, Great Barrington, were also were on the course each day. Arrivals include Mrs. George N. Ellis, Jr.; Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Haskins of New York; Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Cox of Montclair, N. J.; Mrs. George B. Huntington and Mrs. Anne Huntington of Scarborough, N. Y.

Society Takes to the Stage in Modern Progressiveness

Individuals Seeking Theatrical 'Careers' and Groups Devoting Spare Time to Making and Producing Motion Pictures for Charity.

IT was only a decade ago, with some old ideas still influencing society, that a claim of interdependence between a fashionable drawing room and the dressing room of a Broadway theatre or the studio of a film corporation would have been regarded as daringly supposititious.

To be sure society always, even in its most aloof days, fell back upon the stage for much of its best amusement, and even went so far as to import whole theatrical productions to its country colonies for time-killing purposes, but the barriers of distinction were carried away by the war that succeeded almost entirely in removing such a word as exclusive from modish nomenclature.

Some social philosopher has yet to work out the psychological reasons why modern women of unearned increment and acknowledged social standing seek "careers" in general and the stage in particular. Thus, why should Mrs. R. A. D. Cort Van der Linden, a representative of a typical family of the American landed gentry, enter, like others of her order, the theatrical profession Mrs. Van der Linden, whose husband is a son of the present Minister of State of Holland, will make her debut in a new play, "We Girls," which will be produced next month in New York.

Mrs. van der Linden is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hasell, niece of Mrs. William E. Iselin and a granddaughter of the late Mason Renshaw Jones, whose estate, still held by the family, is in some of the most valuable property at the corner of Fifth avenue and Fifty-seventh street.

Very recently a woman of the old school said in criticism: "It is because society has become theatrical—by that I mean self-assertive, even bold, and too highly colored."

"But," replied her hearer, "you must understand that society is very much alive and forward only in the sense that it is progressive."

There is no stopping society's forwardness. Two of the earliest incidents of the season are to illustrate it, and the newest of the two newest theatrical "stunts" by society is to be a filmed melodrama in which all the participants were amateurs of the Tuxedo Park colony. The film called "The Kick in the Pants" is to have its first showing in the ballroom of the Tuxedo Club next Friday night for the benefit of the College Settlement at Mount Ivy and the Tuxedo Hospital.

The natural question is, who started it? When one finds that one of the chief propelling influences was Mrs. Edith Parsons Morgan, it is quite naturally, as Mrs. Hare is one of that group of women who have made the Film Mutual Benefit Bureau a business success. Associated with Mrs. Hare in promoting the Tuxedo Park film were Mrs. Montgomery Hare, Mrs. George St. George, Mrs. David Wagstaff, Mrs. Philip Kip Rhineclander and Miss Annette Tilford, a sister of Mrs. Wagstaff. Mr. Le Roy W. Baldwin, president of the Empire Trust Company, financed the film, the technical work of which was supervised by a well known film corporation. There had to be a professional cooperation. Miss Lucie Baldwin, daughter of Mr. Baldwin, plays a stellar role in the large cast.

Tuxedo Park stands for social advancement, but "The Kick in the Pants" to that colony a new reputation for originality. The scenario, written by Miss Edith Percy Morgan, daughter of Mrs. Edith Parsons Morgan, is based upon a report printed in the newspapers last year that a wild family had been found living close to nature in the Ramapo Hills, not far from the sophisticated life in Tuxedo Park. For melodramatic purposes Miss Morgan introduced a moonshine still with gallons of illicit "hoop" and a jealous lover. The wild girl, the hoop and the lover make "a perfect screen of a film," to use the descriptive words of a member of the cast. Miss Baldwin plays the wild girl, Mr. Charles Reed the lover, Mr. Bruce Price Post the jealous rival and Mrs. Amos Cotting Schermerhorn the fiancée. Mr. Amos Tuck French plays the moonshiner proprietor of the moonshine still, Mrs. James Lowell Putnam, who has played in the legitimate but not in the movies until now, the mother of the

National Academy Show Opens Nov. 19

The coming winter exhibition of the National Academy of Design will be held in the galleries of the American Fine Arts Society, 215 West Fifty-seventh street. Varnishing Day will be Friday, November 18, from 9 to 12 o'clock, when Academicians, associates and exhibitors only will be admitted. On November 19 the exhibition will be open to the public and will remain open