ALLEN'S FOOT-EASE DOES IT.

When shoes pinch or corns and bunions ache, get a package of ALLEN'S FOOT-EASE, the antiseptic powder to be shaken into the shoes. HYLAN BUDGET STILL MILLIONS TOO HIGH

Craig Promises to Force a Reduction of $4,500,000 Before Final Action.

OTHER CUTS EXPECTED

Tentative Total Adopted Is $354,446,463. Being $9,000,000 Over 1921.

HEARINGS BEGIN TO-DAY

Comptroller Thinks Tax Rate May Be a Point or Two Lower Next Year.

The Hylan administration yesterday adopted its tentative budget for 1922, amounting to $354,446,463, or approximately $9,000,000 more than was demanded of the taxpayers for this year's budget.

The Board of Estimate will hold public hearings upon this budget until October 20, subjecting each item to increase or reduction as seems justified. The figures agreed upon by the board on that date will become the budget's maximum and from then until October 31, when the budget must be adopted finally, the items will be subject to reduction only.

Realizing the effect that another increased budget in the face of falling prices must have upon the electorate, Comptroller Charles L. Craig, financial spokesman of the administration, attempted to take the sting out of the blow by predicting that the tax rate would be reduced and declaring he would insist that the budget be reduced by $4,500,000 before final adoption.

Craig Withholds His Vote.

To lend conviction to his promise the Comptroller refused to vote for the tentative budget. Commissioner Clarence H. Fay, representing Borough President Curran, also refused to vote for it, thereby depriving the budget of sufficient votes for adoption. Finding that such an attitude would hold up the work of the board unnecessarily, Commissioner Fay changed his vote, reserving the right or Mr. Curran to object to items under consideration later.

The 1922 tentative budget represents an increase of 68 per cent., or $143,000,000, over the budget when Mayor Hylan went into office in 1917. The Street Cleaning Department holds the record for increase in that period, its budgetary allowance being 106 per cent. greater.

After the meeting yesterday Comptroller Craig said that the tax rate limit made it imperative that the budget be reduced to the following figures:

Two per cent. tax levy, $210,000,000; general fund, $81,000,000; debt service, $54,529,689.67; State tax, $14,430,512.91. In predicting that the tax rate will be lower, Comptroller Craig was inclined to give much more credit to the reduction of the State tax by $12,000,000 as a result of correspondence between himself and the Governor than to the $440,000,000 increase in property valuations.

Mr. Craig ventured that the tax rate will be two points lower in Manhattan; at least one point, or perhaps two, in Brooklyn, Bronx and Queens, and possibly one point lower in Richmond. The rate by boroughs this year was: Manhattan, 2.77; Brooklyn, 2.90; The Bronx, 2.84; Queens, 2.85; Richmond, 2.83.

The departmental totals in the tentative budget for next year are generally approximating or slightly under the allowances in this year's budget. The increase in the total shows up largely in provisions for the redemption of notes issued this year to pay expenses in excess of this year's budget. Those securities must be redeemed by the taxpayers in 1922.

Nation's Ice Cream Quota Grows Gallon Per Capita

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 10.—Possibility of the return of the ten cent ice cream sundae, as well as lower prices for other dishes will be taken up at the annual convention of the National Association of Ice Cream Manufacturers, which opened a three days session here to-day.

Statistics compiled by the association show that consumption of ice cream in the United States has increased approximately 100,000,000 gallons since prohibition went into effect.

Among those securities are special revenue bonds and tax notes amounting to $19,500,000 issued to help make up the $27,000,000 deficiency in this year's school appropriation, and it is expected that approximately $9,500,000 more in special revenue bonds will be appropriated before the end of this week to run the schools for the rest of the year.

The tentative budget for 1922 allows the schools something more than $71,000,000, or approximately what the Board of Education asked, to which will be added funds from the State amounting to about $18,000,000, making a total of more than $89,000,000 for next year. It was admitted, however, that that sum will not be sufficient to keep the schools going for the year, but short term securities, to be redeemed in 1922, will have to be resorted to again. Owing to increased registration and the proposed opening of new schools, it was impossible to forecast the departmental monetary needs accurately at the time the requests were made.

MARION'S HEROIC DEED NEVER SERVED IN ARMY

Armistice Day Celebration in Harding's Town Halted.

MARION, Ohio, Oct. 10.—Plans for an Armistice Day celebration in President Harding's home town were knocked into a cocked hat to-day by receipt of a brief telegram from the War Department at Washington saying no record could be found that Dwight Wells Artis ever had served in the United States Army.

The feature of the celebration was to have been the burying of Artis's body in the "honor triangle" of Marion Cemetery. Artis, 19, died penniless here. He was supposed to have been a world war veteran whose home was in Highland, Ill., and a local American Legion post buried the body in the Potter's field. Later the Marion Cemetery Association donated the "honor triangle" for all soldiers dead after Mrs. Harding had taken personal interest in the case. New plans for the Armistice Day celebration are being arranged.

PERMANENT WRIT NOT ASKED

Christian Scientists Make No Further Garage in Pence.

The Christian Science committee on publication stated yesterday that a permanent injunction had not been issued restraining First Church of Christ, Scientist, from erecting a garage in the alley separating the edifice from the home of Mrs. August E. Stetson at 7 West Ninety-seventh street. The church trustees' attorney at a recent hearing on the case merely agreed to continue the temporary injunction, the statement explained, adding the church intends to have a "full trial of the question."

Mrs. Stetson's contention is that the garage erection cuts off light and air from her premises, and that the church authorities' ground years ago not to build in the alley.

INSPECTOR DWYER ATTACKS WHITMAN

Alleges Frameup Against Him in Raid on Healy's Restaurant.

'HAD STAFF OF CRIMINALS'

Says He Will Pull Down Some Pillars of Republican Party.

The monthly meeting of the Police Reserve Officers Association, held last night in the gymnasium at Police Headquarters, was turned into a demonstration for Inspector John F. Dwyer by the adoption of resolutions expressing the reservists' pride and faith in him and wound up with the Inspector reading a long statement which, he said, he would read again this morning before the Meyer Investigating Committee. Inspector Dwyer was in an anteroom while the resolutions were being adopted and entered the meeting amid an outburst of cheers. His denunciation of the aims of the Meyer Committee as being purely partisan, of the newspapers and of former Gov. Whitman also were loudly acclaimed.

The statement which Inspector Dwyer read covered forty typewritten pages. It began with an analysis of his testimony before the Meyer committee and a general denunciation of the charges which, he said, had been made against him in the newspapers and dropped into an attack on Mr. Whitman, in which the Inspector cited a raid on Healy's restaurant several years ago and other incidents to support a charge that Mr. Whitman had tried to "frame him up." The object of the statement was summarized by the Inspector as follows:

"Before I get through with this committee I will pull down some pillars of the Republican party. I am going to show what the controlling forces are in that party and what the object of this investigation is." Relative to the Park Court Realty Company, which figured in his testimony before the committee, Dwyer said there is no Federal or State law or police regulation prohibiting a policeman from buying or holding real or personal property. He then launched into a defence of Policeman John W. Sutter of his staff, whose name was mentioned in testimony before the committee in connection with the tapping of telephone wires. Mr. Dwyer said he would swear it was impossible for Sutter to have been engaged in the alleged wire tapping.

Mr. Dwyer said Edward Derico, a former newspaper man, testified he (Dwyer) "was drunk" the night Healy's restaurant was raided. The Inspector said he would ask that former Deputy Police Commissioner Neuberger and Frederick M. Whiting of the Committee of Fourteen be called to disprove this and will suggest they be asked "if Ex-Gov. Whitman was not intoxicated at the Healy Raid."

It was here that Mr. Dwyer in his statement opened his attack on Mr. Whitman, which began with the citing of incidents that occurred during the raid and the bringing of charges of assault against him subsequently by a newspaperman, all of which, he said, was part of Mr. Whitman's campaign to discredit him.

"Before this generation shall have passed away," he continued, "I am confident the frame-up of Becker will be revealed in all its nakedness and depravity." The Court of Appeals in setting aside the first conviction of Becker, he said, pointed out to Mr. Whitman the vital missing link. Mr. Dwyer made the charge that Mr. Whitman then framed this "missing link" with a negro named Marshall, who, he said, was under indictment at the time.

Mr. Dwyer charged that Mr. Whitman when District Attorney "had a staff of the worst criminals in town" that Rihmelander Waldo, former Police Commissioner, knew Mr. Whitman was trying to frame him (Dwyer) and that he had been so advised by the committee. He charged that a "Mrs. Mack" and her husband, "Jack Hall," who had been arrested for operating a disorderly resort, had been urged by Mr. Whitman's men to swear they "had paid money to Dwyer." The Inspector said Mr. Whitman insisted in his efforts only after Dr. Parkhurst had gone to see Whitman. Mr. Dwyer said he would ask that Dr. Parkhurst be called to testify to this.

Dwyer said that he would ask the committee to demand that Senators Murphy and Lockwood produce their bank accounts. He said he also would ask that insurance companies be compelled to show whether they had paid Mr. Whitman $20,000 within the last year. The Inspector asserted that he will defy the committee to show that he ever received a dollar dishonestly.

CENTRAL AMERICAN STATES FORM UNION

Honduras, Guatemala and Salvador Joined in Federation.

Despatches from Tegucigalpa, Honduras, dated October 9, said that a new nation with an approximate area of 100,000 square miles and a population of 4,000,000 would come into existence on October 10, when the Governments of Honduras, Guatemala and Salvador would cease to function and the Provisional Federal Council of the Central American Federation, composed of those countries, takes charge. The new republic lies between Mexico and Nicaragua, with Tegucigalpa as its capital.

The pact of the union was signed early in January by delegates of the three mentioned states and of Costa Rica, whose National Assembly rejected it later by a vote of 19 to 20. Nicaragua refused to sign the pact on account of differences with its neighbor states about the interpretation of the Bryan-Chamorro treaty, which gave to the United States special rights for the construction of a new interoceanic canal through its territory.

The text of the treaty of union provides for a government modelled on the lines of the Constitution of the United States, with three separate branches, the executive, legislative and judicial, although the executive is modelled more on the Swiss system.
