J. N. STEARNS WINS PIPING ROCK FINAL

Defeats Chris Dunphy 3 and 2 for Honors of Golf Tourney.

By KERR N. PETRIE.

Although wholly on the defensive throughout the first eleven holes and having to square the match no less than three times in that time, John N. Stearns, Jr., of Nassau and Piping Rock came through in fine style to win the chief honors in the Piping Rock Club's annual invitation golf tournament yesterday, defeating Chris Dunphy of Bretton Woods and Woodland, Mass., in the first round by 3 up and 2 to play.

Both Stearns and Dunphy established their right to contest the last bracket in no uncertain fashion, for while Stearns was out winning from H. P. Bingham of the National Links by 7 up and 6 to play, Dunphy was taking his semi-final match from E. W. Nash of Rockaway Hunt by 6 and 5.

Playing in a high wind Stearns showed a really remarkable flash of golf in the morning round and by going out in 34 he bettered his own record for that half of the course. Against most opponents Bingham probably would have turned with a lead, for he was out in 41, and considering the conditions, this was excellent going at Piping Rock yesterday.

Stearns had a glorious chance to win the tournament, but after Stearns had won a shot in bunker the Woodlander player allowed a half by missing a two foot putt. From a likely winner at the tenth Dunphy had now become a certain loser. His game on the fifteenth broke down completely, for he found traps both on the first and third shots.

Stearns was over the green on his approach, but had a certain 5 and a possible 4. Dunphy pitched on in five, and after putting one without result picked up. The finish came at the next where Stearns, after being short with his second, pitched his third over the mounds onto the green and within two feet of the hole. Dunphy was over in his second and ten feet away on his third. The card:

with the aid of the wind. However, Stearns holed his long one and Dunphy took three putts. A sliced second by Dunphy and a putt to the rough by Stearns featured the tenth seventh against the wind. Both pitched on nicely and, holing in the correct number of putts, halved in 5.

At the eighth it was again Dunphy's turn. Stearns topped from the tee into the rough, but the Woodlander got a fine smash away down wind. Playing a brassy one from the long grass, Stearns barely escaped a trap. His next was mis-hit, and although it reached the green it left him with nothing better in view than a 5. Dunphy played a bold approach to the pin over a bunker and, scoring a 4, again stood one hole to the good.

Stearns Takes Three Putts.
Driving for the ninth, Stearns asked, while Dunphy sliced out into the rough. The latter cut his short approach too fine and the ball finished in the trap. About twelve feet from the hole with his second Stearns required three putts, and the hole was halved in 5.

Dunphy up to this stage had looked decidedly the more dangerous, but it seemed there was always something lacking at the finish. He was keeping the better direction through the fairway, but Stearns was always dropping in at the right moment.

The tenth hole furnished a fine illustration of this. Dunphy had two fine wooden club shots which carried him down near the green. He was on and within a six foot putt of the cup with his third. Stearns, with his second, was on the green, but he missed the hole by a yard.

George Duncan Himself Critic as Well as Player in Realm of Golf

British Star Has High Regard for Yankee Players Met During Recent Tour.

By JOHN G. ANDERSON.

George Duncan is more than a great player. He is one of the most intelligent students of the game of golf in the world. After a moment's glance at detail, able after a moment's glance to reproduce a swing of another and to illustrate each and every fault common and uncommon to all golfers, it is certain that a short resume of his opinions of certain golfers whom he has played will interest. Without much further ado, therefore, we set down a number of the statements he made to us before he sailed.

"Walter Hagen: One of the very finest golfers I have ever seen in America, who combines lustrous hitting power with expert work on the greens. I'd ought to be the hardest man to defeat in America. The one fault which can be found is his slight but noticeable tendency to sway, which inclines to an off balance and mistiming unless he is at the top of his game."

"Jesse Guifford: A grand golfer, to which sentiment Abe Mitchell agrees most heartily. He has a touch with the maulie which pleases more than anything else. His fault is chiefly the cramping of his right elbow on a few occasions, which causes that quick hook and low flying ball. Over the seventy-two hole route Guifford ought to be unbeatable at match play."

"Robert Jones: The best balanced golfer in America, with his game placed together smoothly. His fault is over-confidence in style and former success, which leads to lack of concentration. He is on a par with Guifford in scoring ability and leads him in style, but not by a big margin."

"Jesse Sweetser: He is too wide open. The days when a man can win a championship with a constantly pulled series of strokes is past. He should tighten up, play from the inside, and then he can win. His stroking of the ball on the put, hitting it with the centre with an overcast, is difficult to attain, but wonderfully efficacious."

Outset Wonderful Putter.
"Francis Ouimet: A wonderful putter most of the time. His apparent inability to join a good ball with a good line and a very good putt as readily as in days gone by is probably due to thoughts of something besides golf. It will be hard for him to win another championship if American golf increases in power, as this trip has shown is most likely."

"Chick Evans: To every golfer who has tasted the height of success there comes a time when one is not willing to put every ounce of energy into every winning again or keeping a title. Evans has the same brilliant style, but not the mind energy back of the shots. He will not improve from now on, but he may recover his lost title in a year when strong opposition is lacking on the route to the finals."

"Jack Hutchison: The real champion of the world. He has the finest control over a maulie shot of any golfer living. Badly overplayed the last two months, he should rest up for several weeks. His maulie play against us was very spotty, which indicated to both Abe and myself that he was in the throes of a slump."

"Bill Reekie: One of the greatest putters ever seen.
"Miss Marion Hollins: When I saw Miss Hollins in England I said that I could give her lessons for a week on the playing of the irons she would be unbeatable. Her win in the American championship did not surprise me."

"Rudy Knepper: When he is three years older he ought to be the foremost contender for the championship. He is the best of the younger players, barring Jones, whom I have seen."

The list of those whom the British pair played against in their tour of America links is too long for naming, nor did Duncan speak of them all in our chat, but the above will suffice, we feel, to show the very high regard which he has for the players of this country. One wonders at the end of the playing season what new names will crop out during the golfing period of 1922. The season just passed showed scarcely a single surprise with State, national and club titles won by the players with the old familiar names. The same applies to the qualifying rounds and the successful qualifiers. It is just as hard nowadays for a golfer to break into the charmed circle

STUYVESANT BOYS AGAIN IN FRONT

Regain Lead in P. S. A. L. Title Cross-Country Series at Van Cortlandt.

Stuyvesant High School's barriers regained their lead in the contest for the P. S. A. L. cross country championship of New York high schools in the fourth of the series of over hill and dale dual runs decided over the Van Cortlandt Park course yesterday. The lower East Side boys stopped ahead of the Flushing High school runners by making a remarkably low score in the second group yesterday morning, while the runners of Curtis school were beating Flushing in an eyelash finish in the first division.

The strategy of the series was provided by A. Nicholades, a Greek youngster representing De Witt Clinton High School. He outfooted Sigmund Greenberg, the champion cross country flier of Flushing High School. Greenberg has been a consistent winner, while Nicholades, although always showing a credible performance, never indicated that he possessed enough speed to beat the Long Island crack. However, Nicholades scored a well earned victory yesterday. He kept close to the fast pace set by Greenberg in the early stages of the race and outstripped him in the final strides. The Greek boy 'beasted' the tape a winner by ten yards.

Louis Gentile, the P. S. A. L. title champion, showed signs of coming back to his last year's form by turning in the fastest time for the 2 1/2 mile course when he finished first in the third group. The stoicky Stuyvesant school runner just lasted to beat J. Lowe, a teammate, in the sensational time of 10:09.

Curtis High of Staten Island, Manual Training and Stuyvesant were the winners in their respective groups, with the latter scoring the least number of points. The first three Stuyvesant boys finished one, two, three, and their next two were fifth and thirteenth, for the low scores of 26. Manual scored 29 points to defeat Commerce in the second group and Curtis's score 43, was one less than Flushing's in the first group. The summaries:
