

Capt. Walters of the Bluenose said he would "have to look slippy" to beat the Gloucester craft. He won in the final beat to windward.
International.

The Canadian fishing schooner Bluenose, winner of this year's race for the international trophy, photographed as she entered Halifax Harbor.
International.

The American schooner Elsie was handicapped in the first race by carrying away her foretopmast. The photo shows her driving ahead although crippled.
Keystone View Co.

Mrs. W. H. McCudden, whose husband and three sons were killed fighting with the British army in France, will lay a wreath on the grave of America's Unknown Soldier in Washington. One of her sons was Major McCudden, V. C., holder of every British decoration for valor.
Central News.

Three distinguished visitors salute America. Left to right they are: Generalissimo Armando Vittorio Diaz, Italy's foremost soldier; Admiral Lord Beatty, First Sea Lord of Great Britain; General Baron Jacques of Belgium.
(c) Underwood & Underwood.

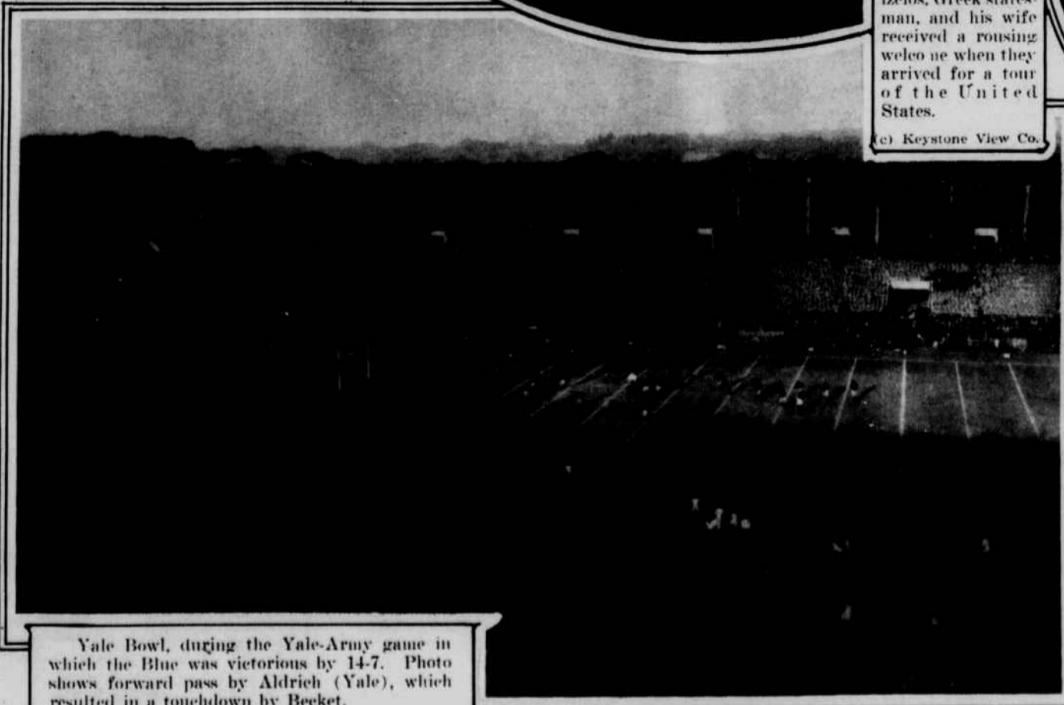

Above—Brigadier-General Charles J. M. Payot, transportation expert of the French army, and Mme. Payot, arriving on La Lorraine. They were met by Major-General Bullard and Brigadier-General Dawes.
International.

Eleutherios Venizelos, Greek statesman, and his wife received a rousing welcome when they arrived for a tour of the United States.
(c) Keystone View Co.

At left—This photograph is of special interest in view of the recent attempt of ex-Emperor Charles to regain the Hungarian throne. In front are Admiral Nikolai Horthy and Count Albert Apponyi; second row: Archduke Joseph on the left; Archduke Francis Joseph, Jr.
E. Peterffy.

Yale Bowl, during the Yale-Army game in which the Blue was victorious by 14-7. Photo shows forward pass by Aldrich (Yale), which resulted in a touchdown by Becket.
Wide World.

Romney of Chicago kicks a field goal in the Chicago-Princeton game, which resulted in Princeton's defeat by 9-0. Note ball in flight.
Paul Thomson.