FOCH RESTS TO-DAY; RESPECTS ELECTION

Marshal Gets His Greatest American Reception From Detroit.

TERRIFIC DIN FOR HIM

Michigan Cities and Towns Shout Good Wishes on Trip From Chicago.

By a Staff Correspondent of THE NEW YORK HERALD.

DETROIT, Nov. 7.—Famous men have come from Europe to America and made triumphal tours from State to State. They have met with great enthusiasms from an enthusiastic people.

But this tour of Marshal Foch seems to gather force as it goes along. Certainly nothing he has seen thus far in America has had quite the color nor all the vigor that characterized Detroit's welcome to the leader of the allied armies.

The Marshal heard that a large part of the United States will be involved in local elections to-morrow. He asked many questions about it and then said: "It was as citizens that Americans came to France—good citizens of the world."

So Cleveland will not see the Marshal officially until Wednesday. He will go directly from the train to the home of Myron T. Herrick, American Ambassador to France, and there remain throughout the day and night.

On Wednesday he will plunge again into the tremendous schedule that American cities have set for him day after day and of which he does not seem to tire.

He came to Detroit through Battle Creek, Jackson, Ann Arbor and half a dozen more Michigan towns and cities. Everywhere the crowds were huge.

In this city the welcome assumed something of an international flavor. There were Canadians and Americans who served beneath the Canadian colors in khaki and the picturesque kilts of the Dominion Scots.

The Tricolor, the Union Jack and the Stars and Stripes fluttered over the procession. The Marshal entered the city between

War Greatest Crime of World, Asserts Foch

DETROIT, Nov. 7 (Associated Press).—"It was a unanimity of feeling and ideals that led us on to final victory," declared Marshal Foch to-night in his speech at a mass meeting.

"War in itself and for itself," he added, "is the greatest crime in the world, and the glory of victory pursued for itself is a crime. This world is made for peace and for work in peace time. The first duty is to work for our people, not to fight."

Two lines of women who threw flowers at his feet as he advanced. And, escorted by Gov. Greenback and Mayor Cavanaugh, he went to the City Hall, where he was welcomed officially.

"America is huge and it does everything in a huge way," said the Marshal, as he emerged from the City Hall.

"I am particularly happy to see that at the close of the war the population of this country has done such wonderful things. I thank the Governor of Michigan for the wonderful care they are giving our wounded men."

From there the tour led into Battle Creek, where virtually all the innumerable breakfast food factories and imposing sanitariums quit operating for a few minutes while the French soldier saluted the town from the rear platform of his car.

"Breakfast is an honorable institution and one worthy of cultivation," replied the Marshal.

About 10,000 persons surrounded the train during the minute it stopped in Jackson, but it remained for Ann Arbor to give the Marshal the thrill of the morning.

Virtually all the undergraduate body of the University of Michigan was at the station or in the immediate vicinity. At least twenty students leaped from the roof of the station to the roofs of the cars of the special train.

After his official welcome in Detroit the Marshal went through the yards of the Packard motor car plant and through the shops and assembling rooms of the Dodge Brothers' plant. In the latter place he saw the raw materials being received and was ushered along until complete cars were sent out the delivery doors under their own power.

From Cleveland Marshal Foch will go to Pittsburgh and thence to Washington for the Armistice Day ceremonies. On November 12 he will be in New Haven, where he will receive a degree at Yale and witness the football game between Yale and Princeton.

BERGDOLL'S NAME OFF ARMY'S SLACKER LIST

Draft Official Unable to Explain Change in Roll.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7.—The name of Grover C. Bergdoll, fugitive draft dodger, has been stricken from the list of slackers sent recently to the War Department by local board No. 32.

No explanation could be offered by John P. Dwyer, chairman of the board, who said Bergdoll's name was on the list when he sent it to Washington.

"I haven't the least idea why Bergdoll's name was removed," said Mr. Dwyer. "It certainly was done in Washington."

FACTS ON HANGINGS SOUGHT OF LEGION

Weeks Refers Watson's Charges to Commander MacNider for Opinion of Men.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7.—Secretary Weeks called on the American Legion to-day to help get to the bottom of sensational charges made in the Senate a few days ago by Senator Watson (Ga.) that soldiers were hanged during the war "day after day without court martial or any other form of trial."

The organization of veterans was asked to lend its assistance in obtaining all facts bearing on the charges.

Secretary Weeks wrote to Hanford MacNider, new commander of the legion, calling attention to Senator Watson's statements. He commented that since they have come so long after the commission of the alleged crime they constitute a reflection on the entire personnel of the American Expeditionary Force.

"I consider the public entitled to all the facts which it is within the power of my office to produce," Secretary Weeks said. "If there possibly exists any basis for such an allegation the responsible parties should bear the odium. Otherwise its refutation is desirable."

"The War Department will make available all its records and such information as may come from persons under its control. However, such persons constitute but a small percentage of those who served overseas and who have been attacked."

"I request that the American Legion lend its assistance toward obtaining all facts bearing upon the issue which has been raised."

TWO HOSPITAL FIRES BELIEVED INCENDIARY

Damage to the Paul Kimball Memorial $8,000.

SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE NEW YORK HERALD.

LAKESIDE, Nov. 7.—The Paul Kimball Memorial Hospital has been threatened twice within twenty-four hours by fires which it is believed were of incendiary origin. Employees prevented the flames from spreading to the main building and it never was necessary to do more than prepare to move the patients to safety.

The first fire, which was discovered last night, had been set in a building used as a combination isolation ward and nurses' quarters. At 4:45 o'clock this morning a watchman discovered a fire in an old stable. The Lakeside engine companies extinguished the flames with little difficulty.

At present the hospital is crowded. Many of the patients were frightened by the clanging of the fire gong and the shouts of the men working at the fire.

COMMUTES 54,000 MILES TO GET HIS EDUCATION

New York University Magazine Has Travel Statistics.

COMMUTING statistics published in the current number of the New York University publication show that Martin Welberger, a member of the junior class in the School of Commerce, holds the record for the university.

Long ago Welberger grew tired of the scenery along the railroad. He quit gazing out windows and took up his books and now, so it is said for him, he spends his commuting hours at his work.

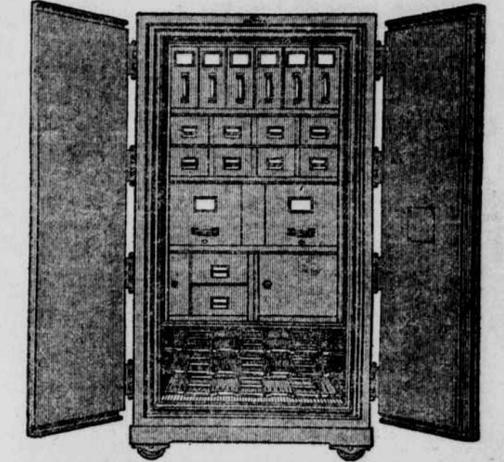

There are other long distance riders among the students, among them being Daniel Ryan, who comes from Stamford, Conn., every day, and David Fogelson, whose home is in Netcong, N. J.

Coal Producers Can Only Tell You About the Mine Price

IN this series of advertisements the producers have told you what it costs to mine anthracite and prepare it for market. It has been shown that of the dollar received by the mine owner 65 cents goes for wages, 15 cents for supplies, leaving 20 cents for insurance, taxes, depreciation, uninsurable risks and profits.

The profits per ton have been stated; namely, what remains out of a "margin" of 60 cents per ton after paying selling expenses, taxes and interest.

This was accompanied by the statement that the operator is fortunate whose margin approximates 60 cents a ton. Only a few exceed it, most of them make less and many are today operating at a loss.

A third advertisement set forth the actual figures of an average cost mine, as follows: labor, per ton, $3.92; materials, $1.05; insurance, taxes, etc., 58 cents; total, $5.55—a cost applying alike to coal selling at the mine for $7.50 a ton or more, and to the small by-product sizes of coal selling as low as $1.50 a ton.

As the average received by the producer for his total tonnage was $6.15, and the cost $5.55, it was again shown in this way that the average mine owner's margin was about 60 cents.
