

PRIEST IS KILLED AS CAR HITS TRUCK

Rev. J. P. McGinley Crushed Beneath an Automobile in Hollis.

FATHER SENNETT HURT

Mrs. Mary Dumas, His Cousin, Also Is Taken to Hospital.

BRONX WOMAN IS DEAD

Girl Is Mortally Hurt at Crossing of the Long Island Railroad.

A touring automobile, in which two priests and a woman cousin of one of them were riding, struck the rear of a stalled motor truck at Columbus and Hillside avenues, Hollis, early last night. The smaller vehicle was completely wrecked, and in the crash one of the priests, the Rev. Joseph P. McGinley, pastor of St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church, Academy street, Long Island City, received injuries that caused his death a few minutes later.

The second priest, the Rev. Charles Sennett, assistant pastor of St. Rosalia's Roman Catholic Church, Brooklyn, and his cousin, Mrs. Mary Dumas of 1577 Fulton street, were taken to Jamaica Hospital suffering from cuts and internal injuries. Father Sennett, it was said, was in a serious condition.

As Father Sennett drove through Columbus avenue, the drizzling rain splattered the windshield of the machine, making clear vision impossible. He decelerated, he said later, but on reaching a clear space speeded up slightly. Suddenly the shape of the truck loomed ahead. Mrs. Dumas called to him to jam on the brakes and he did so, but the coating of oil and water on the roadway let the wheels slip along and the car struck the tail of the truck with enough force to overturn itself.

Passenger carried Father Sennett and Mrs. Dumas into a house and then lifted the rear of the automobile and released Father McGinley. It was unconscious and remained so until he died in an ambulance from Jamaica Hospital fifteen minutes later. The other priest and the woman were taken to the hospital. There it was found Mrs. Dumas' right hip was fractured.

In a statement to the police Father Sennett said the truck carried no tail light. He said it was stopped in the center of the road, and it would have been practically impossible to pass around it. Witnesses said they saw a man run from a clump of trees near the road a few seconds after the collision. He leaped to the seat of the truck and drove away, they said. The police received a report the truck was stopped

YEARLY VISIT TO MOTHER'S GRAVE ALLOWED CONVICT

Broker Exiled From Dutchess County With Suspended Sentence Because of Age and Physical Condition.

Special Session to The New York Herald. Putnam County, Nov. 28.—Gilbert E. Foote, 62, a member of the defunct brokerage firm of Atwater, Foote & Merrill, was sentenced to Sing Sing Prison for five years by Justice Joseph Morchauer in the Supreme Court at Carmel today, but because of Foote's age and physical condition the sentence was made a probationary one and he will be permitted to visit Dutchess county but once a year and then only to go to the grave of his mother at Greenhaven, a short distance from Poughkeepsie. Foote already has served a term of six months in Sing Sing for his connection with the failure of his firm two years ago, and sentences have also been served by other members of the firm.

Their convictions were the first obtained under the law which makes it a felony for a member of a stock brokerage concern to make a false entry or conceal the financial condition of the firm from its creditors. Twenty-six other indictments are also pending against Foote. His attorneys requested their dismissal, but this was refused by District Attorney Raymond E. Aldrich. A plea of guilty was entered today for Foote by his attorney, who had physicians present to tell the court that another prison sentence probably would cause his client's death. Justice Morchauer then paroled him in the custody of Sheriff Henry Stephens of Putnam County, but he will have to go to prison if he violates the terms of his parole or if he visits Dutchess County on the annual visit to the grave of his mother.

FOUND GIRL IN HEAP, ARBUCKLE'S STORY

He carried her three-quarters of the way and layle took her the rest of the way, Virginia Rappe leaving the party in a moaning, suffering figure, carried down a hotel hallway to die in a few days.

This was Arbuckle's story of the main events of the party. It was not all told. Bit by bit, atom by atom, the defense tried to strew the prosecution's evidence against him. To most of the questions Arbuckle replied firmly and without hesitation: "I did not."

He denied having forced Miss Rappe against a door. He denied testimony by Jesse J. Norquard, janitor of a Culver city studio, that he had offered money for the key of Miss Rappe's room. He said prior to September 6, the date of the party, he did not know Mrs. Delmont, Alice Blake or Zey Provost and that he had no idea any of these persons were to be his guests until they actually arrived.

He denied that the door leading from his room to the corridor was locked or that the window was down. Both window and curtain, he insisted, were up at all times.

Train Service Interrupted; Phone and Light Wires Torn Down.

Telephone and electric light services were most seriously affected, the collapse of the ice laden wires and poles causing traffic interruptions that will take days to overcome. Suburbs north of Boston were without lights to-night in most cases and at least 2,000 subscribers in those places were without telephones. Telegraph companies also reported service breakdowns. Many points in Massachusetts and Southern New Hampshire and Southern Vermont were without means of outside wire communication. Street cars were stalled over a wide area north of this city because of power troubles and tracks blocked by storm debris.

The financial loss was estimated to exceed $2,000,000. The Edison Electric Illuminating Company, which serves this city and some of its suburbs, reported damage to its equipment of $1,000,000. The loss incurred by the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company was estimated at $500,000. The Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company said its damage was considerable and with the losses sustained by the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies and various independent lighting and trolley companies, the toll was great.

Fruit trees were damaged considerably, their branches torn off. The elm in the Harvard yard also suffered and rare shrubs and plants at the Arnold Arboretum were broken. The storm was likened by many to that in which the steamship Portland went down with all hands twenty-three years ago. Its destructive force was spent largely ashore instead of at sea, however.

WAGE CUTS IN EFFECT DESPITE STRIKE THREAT

Omaha Cudahy Workers Repudiate Employee Agreement

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 28.—Wage reductions ranging from three to seven and a half cents an hour for work and 3 per cent for piece work became effective in Omaha packing plants today, according to packing companies.

The cuts were accepted by conference representatives of plant employees, who voted to favor a strike here if a majority of the workers in other packing houses expressed a willingness to take similar action.

Superintendents of packing plants said they did not fear a tie-up as a possible result of the union's action.

Tells of Getting Liquor

In answer to McNab's questions, Arbuckle admitted there was liquor at the party. He named the ingredients as Scotch, orange juice, gin and mineral water. He testified that Fischbach carried in from room 1218 because Fischbach had the key to the closet in which it was kept. Arbuckle said he did not drink until after breakfast when he started to take highballs.

After the Rappe girl had been taken from the apartment, Arbuckle said he remained with the party, which continued until 6 o'clock that evening, going to the bathroom of the hotel where he remained until midnight.

Arbuckle's "engagement" with the "Tabe" girl, he said, was an indefinite arrangement.

The defendant said he did not dance with Virginia Rappe, but did have sev-

OMLANDO, Fla., Nov. 28.—Miss Lena W. T. Clarke, former Postmistress of West Palm Beach, charged with murder in connection with the death of Fred A. Millmore, testified today she had appropriated $38,000 of postal funds to repay a loan made to her by the late Joseph Elwell, New York sportsman.

Elwell, who was later killed in New York in mysterious circumstances, advanced the money, Miss Clarke said, to replace funds stolen by Millmore in 1915 after he had drugged her brother Paul. Millmore was killed in a room at a local hotel which had previously been reserved in Miss Clarke's name. Testifying today she declared that after she had slipped a drug into a glass of water which Millmore ordered she became dizzy and remembered nothing more of what occurred in the room.
