It is a hat with a two-fold mission, that of tailored and semi-dress wear. And it is typical of dozens of new hats recently received from Paris in our Millinery Salons. Hats that carry more interest for the American woman—because they are more original—than any we have seen in several seasons.

FOURTH FLOOR

HERE FOR ALL TO ADMIRE ARE THE FIVE SUIT SILHOUETTES FOR SPRING

Such ateliers as Doucet, Jenny and Martial et Armand are showing the Paletot jacket. This little jacket is short, full and in circular form and is shown in the sketch, left, developed of Kasha cloth with bizarre Russian embroidery, $225.

Then, there is the clean cut, faultlessly tailored suit of midnight blue tricotine or twill made on the fitted lines of the riding habit. Clever Parisiennes are wearing this suit with a gay cretonne or white pique waistcoat, $79.50. Lord & Taylor suits of type range from $47.50 to $195

The cape-completed suit is the real favorite, whether its cape is short or long. The fascinating cape suit, sketched center, is of navy Kasha cloth with trimmings of red suede ornamented with steel beads. A narrow band of caracul gives the last becoming touch to the collar $250. Cape-completed suits in all sports and smooth fabrics from $29.50 to $250

Paris's favorite tailleur is illustrated fourth. It is cut straight, with hip length jacket belted at an exaggerated low waistline. It is tailored of domestic tweed at $47.50, of imported tweed at $69.50

The novelty of the season is a checked velour suit with sleeveless jacket. This is typical of the many complete sports costumes that have found their way among suits by adding a coat or cape. With plain or checked coat, $39.50
