VICTOR GOLIBART'S RECITAL. Victor Golibart, a tenor new to New York, gave a vocal recital yesterday afternoon at Town Hall. His debut was an artistic success. His delivery in general showed a fine understanding of the texts of his well varied selections, together with much admirable training in technique. His rather light voice proved to be of a better natural quality in the upper range than in the lower registers, but with a vocal equipment not of the best he was able to achieve many fine results. He sang a program of French songs and American lyrics, each in turn, with correct style, taste, clear diction and a musical feeling quite capable of producing the desired effect. His intonation was dignified and his composure while singing had a restful effect. Stuart Ross furnished admirable piano accompaniments. C. A. ROSING'S LAST CONCERT.

During the evening, subscription slips having been given out by many society debutantes to the audience, Mr. Rosing made the appeal for the work in relieving famine in Russia and a statement was given on behalf of the American Relief Administration, the appeal and a high relief of a "Sleeping Child" by the English sculptress, Mme. Claire Sheridan, which was auctioned off to the highest bidder, bringing in the receipts of the recital up into the thousands. No tickets were sold. The house was crowded with a brilliant audience.

Miss Guggenheim and E. L. Vail Are Married in Paris

Painter's Son Declines Separation and Calls Friends to Wedding.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK HERALD. Copyright, 1922, by THE NEW YORK HERALD. Paris, March 10.—Miss Peggy Guggenheim, the daughter of the late Benjamin Guggenheim, who lost his life in the sinking of the Titanic, was married at the Matric of the sixteenth arrondissement this morning to Eugene Lawrence Vail, son of Eugene Vail, the noted painter, in the presence of the bride's mother and the bridegroom's family and only a few friends.

The ceremony was followed by a reception at the Hotel Plaza Athenee, after which the couple left for Capri, where they will remain for several months, and probably go to the United States late this summer. The bride's mother, who has been spending the winter at Cannes, expects to sail for New York with the bridegroom's sister.

The couple announced their engagement only a few days ago. It was the result of a romance which started last summer, soon after the Guggenheims arrived in France. Mr. Vail, who is a rising young author, intended to spend the spring in Capri, but when the time came to say good-by, he decided not to be separated from Miss Guggenheim. His close friends were asked only late Thursday night to be on hand at the Mairie's office to-day.

Acting as witnesses were Miss Clothilde Vail, the bridegroom's sister, and Mrs. Leon Fleischman. The bride wore a frock of old Spanish lace over pink satin.

Among those present at the reception were Mrs. Alan Lehman, Mrs. Sanford B. Pomeroy, Mrs. Frederic Jennings Parsons, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Davenport, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Chamberlain, Mr. George Seligman, Bayou P. Gunzburg, Dr. Max Wasserman, Mme. FASHIONS AND MUSIC COMBINED IN FETE FOR RUMANIAN ORPHANS

Thousand Attend Dinner and Dance at Palm Beach

Princess Bibesco at the fete for Rumanian orphans.

Prince and Princess Bibesco and Latter's Mother, Mrs. Asquith, Among Those Present.

Fashion and music were delightfully combined in the benefit fete and concert given under the patronage of Her Majesty Queen Marie of Rumania and Prince and Princess Bibesco yesterday at the Hotel Plaza. The program, alternating a display of the latest creations from Paris with entertaining numbers including music, short stories and interpretations, was for the benefit of the War Orphans of Rumania, which country Prince Bibesco represents at Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Margot Asquith, mother of the Princess Bibesco, sat a part of the time in the Princess' box opposite the stage and during some of the numbers, which apparently caught her interest, she moved close to the proscenium arch. She was dressed in her favorite silver and gray and removed her fur coat and toque.

Prince Bibesco made a short speech after the fete and pleasantly linked up fashions with at least one Rumanian. After extending thanks to those who took part in the program and helped to make it a success, he announced that he didn't intend to make a speech because other members of his family were much better at it than he.

"I've a feeling," he said, "that makes me speak," he said, "and a wife who makes speeches and a mother-in-law, even, who makes speeches."

The committee included Mrs. Golet Gallatin, Mrs. Edward Ringwood Hewitt, Major and Mrs. Radu Ionescu, Mrs. Otto H. Kahn, Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Mellon, Mrs. Charles H. Ditson, Mrs. T. J. Oakley Stineland, Mrs. Oden M. Reid, Mrs. Louis Livingston Seaman, Mrs. George W. Vanderbilt, Mrs. Charles S. Whitman, Mrs. Frederic W. Whitridge, Mrs. Elbert H. Gary, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Gerard, Mrs. Joseph S. Coston and Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Thayer Robb and Miss Juliana Cutting.

There was unusual excitement yesterday among the girls of Public School 25, at 257 West 107th street, when a group of men marched with them in their morning assembly and sang the songs which as boys they had sung in the same assembly rooms in the '90s, '80s and '70s. The occasion was a golden jubilee in honor of Miss Makewen, who, however, her husband rounded out her fiftieth year of teaching in School 25, and who says she feels "hooded for fifty more."

The celebration was planned by the Association of P. S. 25, founded by the boys' pupils of '85 and '81. Fifty of the "boys" arrived at 9 o'clock yesterday morning to show their loyalty to their former teacher, among them, Joseph Peter Schmuck of the City Court, Julian P. Witmark, music publisher, Major Edwin W. Dayton, U. S. A., and Charles E. Smith, Commissioner of Elections, all of whom joined Miss Makewen on the principal's platform. The others took their places on the school room benches.

Herman A. Heyd gave Miss Makewen a platinum bar pin studded with diamonds as a "distinguished services medal of peace."

Addresses were made by Judge Schmuck and Major Dayton. After the singing of "School Days" and saluting the flag "the boys" marched out with the girls.

Among the former pupils who gathered to pay homage to Miss Makewen were Charles A. Brodek, John J. Gordon, James G. Maclean, Fred J. and F. W. Sobieski, Mr. Herbert J. Stone, Leonard Rains, baritone of the Institute of Musical Art, and all three of the Witmark brothers.

Harry Keller, 72, Famous Magician, Dies in Los Angeles

Learned Many Tricks Used by Hindus—Toured United States Many Times.

LOS ANGELES, March 10.—Harry Keller, known throughout the world as a magician and ranked as the leading illusionist of the United States before he retired in 1907, died in his home here to-day. He had been seriously ill for several weeks after two years of poor health. He was 72 years old.

Mr. Keller was born in Erie, Pa., and was graduated from a high school there in 1866. As a boy he became an assistant to a magician known as "The Fakir of Agra" from whom he received his first instruction in the magical art. Later he became business manager for the Davenport Brothers, famous spirit mediums, and learned from them many tricks and illusions which he used after they retired. His first venture on his own account was a tour of South America and Mexico with a magician named J. J. Rogers.

In 1873 Mr. Keller formed a partnership with Ling Look and Yamadura, and with them made a tour of the world. He performed in China in 1877 and he formed a partnership with William H. Cunard and traveled with Cunard for five years. He began appearing in the United States in 1884 and appeared continuously until his retirement in 1907, showing in all the principal cities of the country.

Many of the present day magicians trace their ancestry to the magicians invented by Keller. The famous magician was also one of the few Occidentals able to do certain of the tricks employed by the Hindu magicians.
