Art School for American Students to Open in Paris

Atelier of New York Institutions Will Begin Its Work Wednesday.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK HERALD. Copyright, 1922, by THE NEW YORK HERALD.

The first extensive movement of its kind to be carried out in Europe will start Wednesday, when the New York School of Fine and Applied Arts will open its atelier in the ancient Hotel de Chaulnes in the Place des Vosges, perhaps the quaintest existing relic of the Middle Ages in Paris.

It is intended to render practical assistance to students seeking to study old and modern French interior designs. Courses for advanced students and beginners will be given, and also courses for American teachers and other visitors during the tourist season.

In addition there will be a series of public lectures by Frank Alvah Parsons, president, and others. Various scholarships up to $1,000 and exhibits will be given by Mrs. Frederick Havemeyer, Mrs. Robert Woods Bliss, Miss Kusie de Wolfe and others in order to give competent students at the head school in New York, who otherwise would be unable to do so, a chance to study in Europe.

Flower Show OPENS TO-DAY WITH 500,000 BLOOMS ON VIEW

Copyright by Henry Havelock Pierce.

Tea Garden for Aid of Girl Scouts to Be Feature of Exhibition.

The International Flower Show will open in Grand Central Palace at 2 o'clock this afternoon. From that hour until next Sunday night flower lovers will be in their glory, as the first two floors of the huge exposition building have been turned into the most magnificent and fragrant of gardens.

Throughout yesterday florists and gardeners were putting the finishing touches on the hundreds of exhibits. More than half a million blooms, both domestic and exotic, were put into place ready for the prize competitions, which will begin almost as soon as the doors open. There are $17,000 distributed among the exhibitors. Most of this is in cash for the commercial displays, but the private growers have valuable medals to contend for.

Society will take its usual active part in the show this year and the tea garden on the mezzanine floor will be its rendezvous. The proceeds of this feature of the display will be donated to the Manhattan Council of Girl Scouts for extension work and to the Virginia Day Nursery. Junior League girls will be active on the dance floor and also will participate in the fashion pageant that will be staged twice daily. Girl Scouts in uniform will act as waitresses.

One of the principal features of the show this year is the record entry list that has been received for the four special events on the schedule of the Garden Club of America: Mrs. Charles C. Cushing, Mrs. Mackintosh, Mrs. Charles Cushing, Miss Ethel Carhart and Mrs. Iselin.

Louis V. De Foe, 53, Dramatic Critic of 'The World' Dies

Suffers Attack of Pneumonia on Wednesday and Fails to Rally.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

Louis V. De Foe of 250 West Eighty-fifth street, for twenty-three years dramatic critic of the World, died of pneumonia early this morning in the Hahnemann Hospital, Park avenue at Sixty-fifth street. He was 53 years old and had been a patient at the hospital since Thursday to where he was removed on the advice of his physician, Dr. E. Klotz of 128 West Seventy-eighth street.

The critic's last work for the World was a criticism of "The Rose of Stamboul" Wednesday night. After he went home that night both he and his wife, who was Miss Isabella Ethelny Brewer of New York, suffered attacks of pneumonia, and they had become so seriously ill by morning that both were sent to the hospital. Mr. De Foe on Friday got an injection of serum. He rallied somewhat, but suffered a relapse yesterday just before midnight and died at 12:30 o'clock this morning.

Mr. De Foe was born in Adrian, Mich., on May 18, 1868. He took his degree at the University of Michigan and went almost at once into newspaper work in Chicago. He came to New York after some years in Chicago, where he was literary editor of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in 1899. He became one of the best known dramatic critics in the United States, and his opinions had much weight both with his public and with the theatre.

The father of Mr. De Foe is James Vincent De Foe, who is 80 years old and still lives in Adrian. On November 1, 1892, he was elected to the Phi Beta Kappa. He was a member of the Sigma Phi and the Phi Beta Kappa fraternities.

Funeral services for the Rev. John Huppenbauer, for forty years pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Flatbush, Brooklyn, who died Thursday, were held yesterday at the church. The Rev. Theodore O. Fossell, president of the New York Board of the Evangelical Lutheran Church; the Rev. Jacob W. Loch, pastor of the German Evangelical Lutheran Church in Schermerhorn street, Brooklyn; the Rev. J. A. Weyl of Manhattan and the Rev. Gustave Doering of Jersey City took part in the service. Interment was in Lutheran Cemetery.

H. IRVING HANCOCK. SAVILLE, L. I., March 12.—H. Irving Hancock, aged 54, who had lived at Blue Point for the last fifteen years, died there to-day. Mr. Hancock, a chemist and author, was born at Waltham, Mass. At the age of 17 he started work on the Boston Globe. He was a war correspondent in the Spanish-American war. He was the author of books on chemistry. Mr. Hancock leaves a wife and two children.

AUSTIN ADAMS. Austin Adams, direct lineal descendant of John Adams, the second President of the United States, died of pneumonia at his home, 117 West 125th street, Flatbush, the home of his son, Joseph H. Adams. He was 77 years old and was a civil war veteran and an inventor. He leaves four sons. Funeral services will be held this afternoon. Interment will follow in Greenwood Cemetery.

SERVICES FOR F. V. BURTON. Funeral services for Frank V. Burton, for many years in the coin trade and who died Saturday at his home, 570 Park avenue, will be held at 10 o'clock this morning at St. George's Episcopal Church, Stuyvesant Square.
