Just what constitutes A Real Motor Car

THE soundest lesson you can learn in buying a new car is this—No automobile is stronger than its weakest unit. It may have the best motor in the world or the best transmission or the best any other one feature but unless every unit is of proven value the car will fail at its weakest point.

The wonderful success of the Moon is due to the fact that every unit is the product of specialists who know no equals in their respective fields. Check up these units one by one and you will understand why the Moon is the sensation of the automotive world.
