

Here is Dr. Charles P. Steinmetz, the modern Ajax, who not merely defied lightning but invented a way of producing it artificially.

A most unusual photograph showing what is left after two loaded passenger trains had collided in the railroad yards at Pueblo, Col. More than a score of passengers were killed.

Keystone

Above—This is the Duke of Orleans, Bourbon pretender to the throne of France.

E. O. Hoppe.

Here are shown six peasant girls of the Sofia district in their best Sunday go-to-meeting gowns. They are shown in a native dance.

This is Miss Beatrice Bayne in the Dutch costume she wore at the fete given at the Hotel Plaza to raise funds for the Roosevelt Memorial Home.

Underwood & Underwood

At right—The English racing season is under way. This photograph shows from left to right—Perryman, Lynch, Feltham, Stokes and Jelliss.

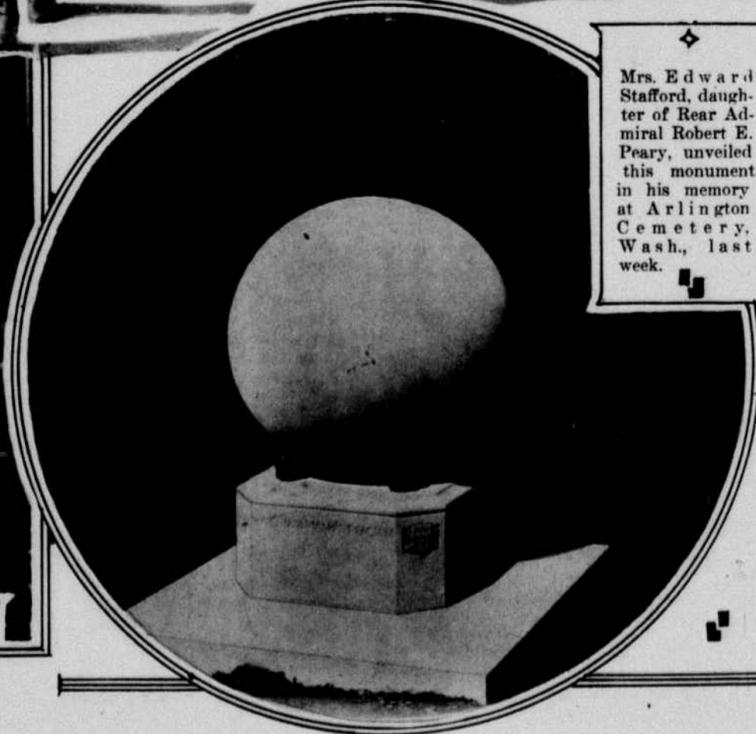

The carnival queens of Paris; left to right: with white bonnet, Mlle. Jeanne, champion Queen of Metz; the Queen of Queens, Mlle. Germaine Buchet of Paris, and Mlle. Therese Riff, the Queen of Strasbourg.

International

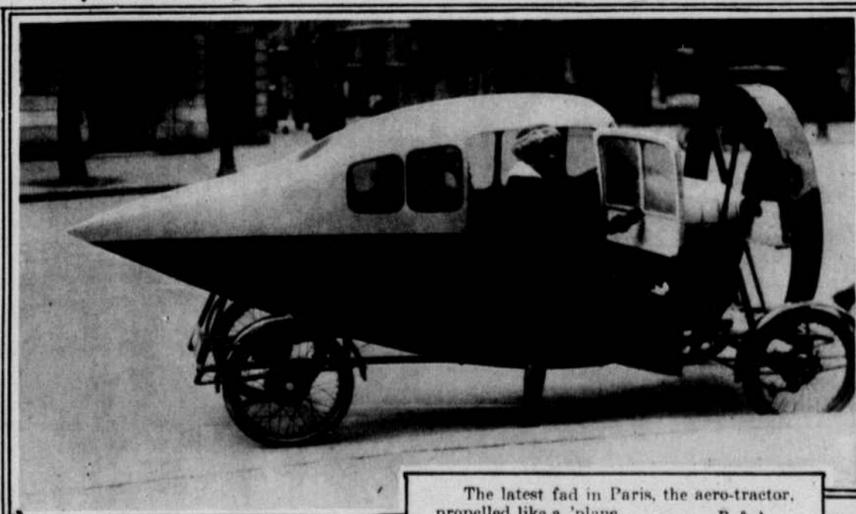

A most interesting photograph of Sergio Osmena, Speaker of the Filipino House of Representatives. Mr. Osmena is the strongest personality in Philippine politics.

Underwood & Underwood.

Mrs. Edward Stafford, daughter of Rear Admiral Robert E. Peary, unveiled this monument in his memory at Arlington Cemetery, Wash., last week.

The latest fad in Paris, the aero-tractor, propelled like a 'plane.

P. & A.