

A striking photograph which thoroughly illustrates the "war" on the Ulster border. These are Ulsterites with their trench and tree barricade thrown across a road on the Fermanagh-Caban border. It is here Ulster troops most fear unauthorized raids from Republican Ireland. International.

A charming grandchild of a well known American. The Hon. Mrs. Richard Norton and her baby daughter. Mrs. Norton's mother was Lady Kinlock, wife of Lord Grantley's only son, and daughter of the late W. H. McVickar of New York, a founder of the New York Yacht Club. © Adams

The new Armenian Patriarch of Jerusalem, who has just been enthroned. He is Archbishop Elisee Tourin, and was formerly Armenian Patriarch at Constantinople. (International.)

Above—This is the little known President of Russia, Kalinen, and his daughter. Lenine and Trotzky are the most heard of Russian authorities, and yet Kalinen is the nominal head of the Government and in rank above both Trotzky and Lenine. International

At Left—Where Gen. Grant was born, April 27, a hundred years ago, and where President Harding is to deliver an address at the celebration of the Grant Centennial. The cannon marking the spot is a relic of the civil war. (International.)

"The Queen of the Panama Canal Zone" and the "Queen of the Panama Carnival," with their pretty ladies in waiting. The Carnival Queen is Senorita Mercedes, daughter of one of the prominent Panaman families at Colon. The Queen of the Zone (at left in the picture) is Miss Violet Bissell. Both Queens were chosen by the Panama Post of the American Legion at the Recent Legion Carnival at the Zone. Copyright, Keystone View.
