"SPIRITUALISTIC" ART SHOW.

Drawings of Emma Mabel Field to Be on View Here.

A private showing of twenty-one drawings by Emma Mabel Field, "spiritualistic" artists of Chicago, will take place in the room of Charles Albion 554 Fifth avenue, this afternoon.

A special jury of New York psychics and art critics will view the work and attempt to determine whether or not it is of any psychic or artistic importance. This will be the first exhibition of Mrs. Field's work ever held in New York.

However, a small drawing of "An Impressionist Personality Portrait" was shown at the last independent artists' show here.

Some persons say they believe Mrs. Field is the reincarnation of one of the ancient Egyptian masters. Others voice the opinion that she is simply a powerful natural medium working under the guidance of an etheric spirit who gives to the world a new artistic message. She says she makes the drawings for her own amusement and ridicules the idea that she is a medium or anything of the sort.

The unusual pictures, which are all pencil drawings, running from 8x10 inches to 3x4 feet, are full of symbolism and hundreds of faces and figures, many of them so small that they can only be seen through a powerful magnifying glass.

Gala Concerts in Parks, Churches, Open Music Week

Children Chorus Have Important Part in the First Day's Celebration.

New York's music week opened auspiciously yesterday. More than a thousand churches in the five boroughs and the outlying cities, small towns and countryside within thirty-five miles had sermons on music and special music programs.

Children played an important part in the celebration in the parks. In the Meadow opposite the Mall in Central Park, and in the Long Meadow, Prospect Park, Brooklyn, there was massed Sunday school singing with at least ten thousand children each in chorus. A great "gallery" of adults came to hear them. Accompanying the children, who were directed in New York by Dr. Milton S. Littlefield, chairman of the special Sunday school committee of music week, and in Brooklyn by George B. Pettit, secretary of the Brooklyn Sunday School Union, the United States Navy Band played in Central Park and the United States Army Band in Prospect Park.

As an additional unusual event, almost in the nature of a surprise, for it was arranged only at the last moment, the large band of the battleship Maryland, flagship of the fleet, volunteered, came over and gave a preliminary concert in Central Park of eleven numbers, afterward playing the accompaniment with the Navy Band.

The children sang "Nearer My God to Thee," "O' Worship the King," "Faith of Our Fathers," "The King of Love My Shepherd Is," "Jerusalem the Golden," "Lead on, O King Eternal," "America," "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" and "America the Beautiful."

The distinguished committee of New York churchmen presided over the sermons on music and the special musical features of the many churches and directed the organizing of the details. The Rev. Dr. Ernest Ingham, of the Golden Gate, was chairman, and his associates comprised the Revs. Parkes Cadman and Joseph Fort Newton, the Right Rev. Luther B. Wilson, Methodist Episcopal Bishop, and the Rev. Francis J. Beckwith.

Music Week's opening day did not forget the poor, the forlorn, the unfortunate and the helpless. For these concerts were given at the Kings Bay Neighborhood House Club, July of forty-three boys who sing admirably and are under the special patronage of Mrs. Adrian Belmont, Mrs. J. H. Hartshorn, Stanley B. Hazzard, Calvin W. Lauther, Joseph Silverman and Walter J. Southerton.
