WATSON BONUS TALK WAS ALL HIS OWN

Indiana Senator Admits He Did Not Express Harding's Views.

PRESIDENT STILL FIRM

Finance Committee Expected to Report Raid Measure To-day.

BILL TO BE USED AS CLUB

Republicans Will Employ It to Force Democrats to Yield on Tariff.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.
New York Herald Bureau, Washington, D. C., May 30.

President Harding has not changed his position on the bonus bill, despite the impression that he would sign the pending McCumber measure, which will be reported out of the Senate Finance Committee to-morrow with the aid of Democratic votes.

That the President is firm was made known to-day to THE NEW YORK HERALD by Senator Watson (Ind.) on his return to the capital after delivering his keynote speech last week at Indianapolis. In that speech Senator Watson made the declaration that a bonus bill would be passed by Congress at this session and would be enacted into law.

The inference, of course, was that he meant that President Harding would sign any bonus bill which would be presented to him. Since Senator Watson had conferred with President Harding before his speech, the bonus advocates were much elated over the assertion, which they said clearly indicated approval of the measure by the President.

Didn't Express Harding's Views.

To clear up all doubts Senator Watson was asked:

"In your Indianapolis speech did you express the President's views on the bonus?"

"I did not," was the answer of Senator Watson.

"Were you authorized to say a bonus bill would be enacted into a law at this session of Congress?"

"I was not, although I am sure a bonus bill will be passed."

"We have been under the impression that the President, judging from expressions on the subject, would veto the pending bonus bill, since it does not meet the requirements laid down by him in his letter to Chairman Fordney of the Ways and Means Committee. Have you any information to the effect that the President has changed his position on the subject?" was the next question.

"I have not," replied Senator Watson.

Going Ahead With Program.

Nevertheless, the bonus advocates are going ahead with their program. They show no disposition or desire to meet the requirements laid down by the President for bonus legislation as outlined in his letter to Chairman Fordney—that is, either to finance the measure by a sales tax or to postpone it indefinitely.

Just what "inside" information, if any, Senator Watson has which justifies his positive statement that a bonus bill would be passed and enacted into law at this session of Congress could not be learned. At no time has the President indicated the slightest change in his attitude on the subject, and he has expressed himself frequently on the question. It may be the bonus advocates are convinced they have enough votes to pass the measure over the head of the President, but that is very questionable so far as the Senate is concerned.

Plans were completed to-day by the Finance Committee of the Senate to report out the McCumber bonus bill to-morrow. Chairman McCumber will be authorized at a meeting of the full committee to report favorably the measure to the Senate. Then the program is to have it placed on the calendar until after the tariff bill is disposed of, which may be six or eight weeks, if not longer.

Bonus Bill as Tariff Club.

Republican leaders intend to use the bonus bill as a club over the Democrats to force action on the tariff bill. Those in charge of the tariff bill are convinced there is a well organized filibuster on by the Democrats in opposition to the bill. Now by placing the bonus bill behind the tariff bill the Republicans will put the onus for delay or defeat of the bonus bill at this session on the Democrats.

Senator Watson (Ind.) conferred with Senators McCumber (N. D.), Curtis (Kan.) and other bonus advocates and they mapped out their program as outlined. However, Senator McCumber was not very enthusiastic for the plan, as he was strongly inclined to call up the bonus bill in the near future, and he advanced the argument that it could be passed in a day or two.

Senator Lodge (Mass.), Republican floor leader, is a long bonus advocate, advised against that procedure. Mr. Lodge is disposed to heed the warning of Senator Borah (Idaho) and other anti-bonus Senators that to call up the bonus bill at this time would wreck the whole legislative program. So bitter are a large number of leading Senators against the proposed bonus bill that they intend to devote considerable time to its discussion once it reaches the floor of the Senate.

Stalwart Political Motives.

They intend to point out the sinister political motives back of the bill and in other ways denounce its inception and its deleterious effects upon the nation. To record their objections to the bill will take some time and the Senators intend to take it, and the Republican leaders realize that fact.

Furthermore, when the bonus bill is brought before the Senate the Democrats plan to offer innumerable amendments and they will consume much time in their discussion. Some Democrats are in favor of the five year House bill, which provides for a cash option, if desired, by the ex-service men. They make no secret of the fact that the American Legion prefers that kind of a measure and they are disposed to carry out the wishes of the legion and other propagandists back of the bonus proposal.

To finance the proposition the Democrats are still relying on the interest from the foreign debt—a plan denounced by the Treasury Department. Secretary Mellon has asserted repeatedly that money when received will be needed to redeem Victory notes and Liberty bonds, if the finances of the country are to be kept on a sound basis.

War Department officials have notified the Finance Committee that it would be impossible to assemble the records of the ex-service men and to prepare other data desired in fewer than six months.

Brit Sholem Averts Threatened Split Over Dues.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.
ATLANTIC CITY, May 30.—In opposing Federal blue laws the convention of the Independent Order of Brit Sholem to-day adopted a resolution that such measures violate the spirit of the Constitution of the United States in that they imply a union of church and State.

Another resolution called on the League of Nations to formally recognize Palestine as the Jewish homeland.

A threatened split was averted by reference to a committee to report next year on the proposal to place 16,000 of the 42,000 members on the adequate dues system. Sol C. Kraus of Philadelphia was re-elected Grand Master.

POOR IMMIGRANT RETURNS TO ITALY WITH A FORTUNE

Angelo Paino Came Here Twenty Years Ago 'to Get a Chance' and He Got It in the Last Six Years as a Contractor in Queens.

There was a celebration yesterday in Gerry avenue, Corona, at the home of Angelo Paino in honor of the departure of Paino with his wife and family aboard the Conte Rosso to-morrow for Italy to visit his home near Rome, which he left nearly twenty years ago.

Paino came to New York as a stevedore partner, with all his possessions wrapped in a bundle. To-morrow he starts back in the best suite on the new liner.

Paino in the last five or six years has done contracting work in Queens. At present he is completing the concrete paving of the Rockaway boulevard. Recently he put in the $1,000,000 Myrtle avenue sewer in Flushing, and last year finished all of the sewers in Woodhaven.

Paino's first job was as a water boy with a contractor in The Bronx. Then he became timekeeper. He came to Queens and obtained a job with Joseph Sigretto, a contractor. He soon was made foreman. Sigretto was completing a contract about six years ago when he prepared a bid on a large sewer job in Jamaica. When the bids were opened he was surprised to find that his foreman Paino had submitted the lowest.

"I came here to get a chance and I got it," Paino said yesterday. "The only thing not American about me is my birthplace and I didn't have any choice in that. Ever since I could choose I've been picking the United States first, last and all the time. After a visit I am coming back."

Witness Refutes Claim in Ad; Others Tell of Losses.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.
PRINCETON, May 30.—Dr. Henry van Dyke expressed his opposition to the bonus proposal in an address at the annual Memorial Day exercises in Princeton Cemetery to-day.

"Our gratitude to them," said Dr. van Dyke in speaking of the heroes of the Revolution, "must look forward rather than backward and express itself in deeds worthy of their fame. We shall honor them by upholding the cause and serving the country for which they gave their lives."

"Not by pampering the unwounded and able bodied survivors of the late war with a national bonus for doing their duty, but by helping the crippled and disabled with a wise and generous hand. Not by laying a heavier burden of taxes upon the coming generation, but by reducing taxation, improving business, encouraging industry, bettering our schools and making this country of ours in every way a healthier and a happier land for boys and girls to grow up in."

"The glory of the present is to make the future free."

"We love our land for what she is and what she is to be. Thus shall we best honor those whose bodies sleep in this time honored ground. They prove their faith that America is worth living for."

NEW BOMB THREATS STIR COLUMBUS, GA.

City Officials Warned to Stop Drive Against Illicit Liquor Traffic.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.
COLUMBUS, Ga., May 30.—In the face of rewards totaling $12,500 for the capture of those responsible for the assault on City Manager Hinkle and the bombing of the home of Mayor Dimon last week, threatening letters were received to-day by J. M. Huling, chief of the Muscogee county police, and by Deputy Sheriff C. C. Layfield. Both letters were based on the activities of the officers in enforcing prohibition laws.

The letter to Chief Huling warned him to leave Columbus at once or suffer the destruction of his home by bomb. It was not signed and was sent through J. B. Key, chairman of the County Board of Commissioners.

The letter to the Deputy Sheriff referred to his breaking up of a big illicit distillery about eighteen miles from here last Friday morning while the still was filled with 300 gallons of mash ready to run, and warned him that he had "probably cut one still too many."

Both officers declared they would redouble their efforts to catch the guilty persons. There is speculation as to whether the guilt lies with the violators of the prohibition laws or with former taxicab drivers who were refused licenses.

Criticism has been directed at the Police Department because no arrests have been made, despite the fact that the outbreaks began a month ago when City Manager Hinkle was attacked by three men and severely beaten.

The announcement of a reward of $1,000 for the arrest of the assailants was followed next day by blackhand letters to Mr. Hinkle and Mayor Dimon, warning them to resign within forty-eight hours under threats of death and the destruction of their homes. No attention was paid and Mayor Dimon's home was blown up on Sunday morning, May 21.

Mr. Hinkle returned to his former home in Altoona, Pa., last Friday, and his office was declared vacant by the Commissioners Saturday. Mr. Hinkle attributed his departure to the illness of his wife and dissatisfaction with co-operation of the commission. Mayor Dimon is acting city manager.

Business firms of the city and civic organizations have offered rewards in addition to the $5,000 offered by the City Commissioners and $5,000 offered by the County Commissioners. The Ku Klux Klan has offered $2,000 for the capture of the blackhand letter writers in view of the fact that "K. K. K." was signed to some of the letters.

HELD AS SUSPECTED BURGLAR.

Romeo Goulet, an alleged Montreal burglar, was captured early yesterday by Benjamin Carpenter, a special policeman, after a fight in the rear of the home of Isidore Biedbert, 154 Seventh street, Brooklyn. Carpenter's right wrist was broken. Goulet was held in Flatbush Court on a charge of burglary in trying to enter the Biedbert apartment.

FATHER TAKES POISON AT GRAVE OF WAR HERO

Runs to Hospital for Treatment and Is Arrested.

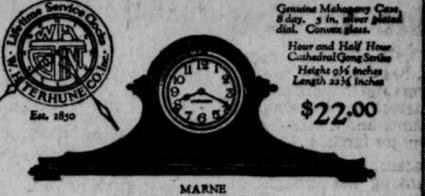

After drinking poison as he knelt beside the grave of his son who was killed in the world war, Joseph Laccora, 62, of 117 Duncan avenue, Jersey City, ran from the Holy Name Cemetery, Jersey City, yesterday afternoon to the City Hospital, where he told physicians what he had done.

Laccora was made a prisoner on a charge of attempted suicide. Physicians said he undoubtedly would recover.

The Color Lure in

goes far toward solving the decorative problem of the country home, for never, it would seem, has the assortment been quite so effective.

For draperies and other decorative purposes, the materials range from the colorful cottons and stamped linens, to the hand-blocked Oriental silk and cotton prints. Couch pillows are shown in an interesting assortment, including the summery ones of checked gingham.

For the veranda are porch sets of split cane, gayly French enameled; unbleached reed of a sort to withstand the weather, and reed with turned oaken posts in Jacobean style. Summer rugs constitute a particularly interesting selection in charming designs and colorings.

The swinging hammocks, smartly upholstered, are a practical feature, and an interesting novelty is an individual type with cushioned back and seat.

For afternoon tea in the open are the useful Lawnettes, that not only contribute to warm-weather comfort but strike a decorative note as well.
