Both Held All Night at Quarantine and Representative Charges Favoritism in Releasing Cunarder First—Many Notables Home From Europe.

The Concord liner Berengaria, which brought 895 passengers, one of the largest incoming lists of the year, including 253 first cabin, 211 second and 331 third, was passed by the Quarantine officials Friday night but did not dock until yesterday morning because of unfavorable tide conditions. She was warped into her slip at 5 o'clock, but those who rose at that hour in the hope of landing were disappointed, as the customs and immigration inspectors did not arrive until 8 o'clock.

A titled personage on board was His Highness Maharaja of Rajpootia, a principality of 200,000 inhabitants near Baroda, India. He went to the Hotel Plaza and will spend five days seeing the sights of America. This is his first visit here but he has thoroughly done both Paris and London.

Col. Robert M. Thompson, financier and president of the Navy League, returned from London, Paris and Aix-les-Bains convinced that the United States must take a hand in European affairs and help ward off Bolshevism. He was met at Pier 54, North River, by his hostesses, The Everglades, which took him to his summer home in Southampton.

Clarence Whitehill, American metropolitan bass, returned from singing since early May at Covent Garden, London. He sang Wagnerian roles in English and recently sang before the King and Queen of England at the reception given by Ambassador and Mrs. George Harvey.

Miss Neysa McMein, artist and illustrator, who has been spending a vacation in Paris, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Treman, the latter Irene Castle, dancer, who brought home an English sheepdog of high degree, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Williams, the latter Marguerite Clark, actress, and Count and Countess de Litzur.

J. P. Morgan & Co. received a gold shipment valued at $2,500,000 from the British Government. This is the first consignment from that government in over a year and a half, and it was said at the banking house that the bills of lading for the gold came as a surprise. It was said that another shipment was on the way.

A Congressional investigation of the management of quarantine was threatened by F. A. Britten, Representative in Congress of Chicago when he disembarked at Pier 4, Hoboken, yesterday from the steamship George Washington of the United States Lines, which arrived from Bremen, Southampton and Cherbourg. Representative Britten passed two months in Central Europe, He declared that the George Washington had been in quarantine for several days in quarantine. The ship arrived at quarantine at 4:45 P. M. Friday and was not released until after 7 A. M. Saturday. The Berengaria was given precedence over the George Washington in the matter of quarantine inspection, he declared.

Representative Britten furthermore declared that efforts are being made to hamper American shipping in England and France, and that Germany is the only nation willing to aid the American merchant marine.
