

HARVARD WILL OPEN TO 6,000 TO-MORROW

Record Enrollment Looked For as University Enters Upon Its 287th Year.

TWO NEW DEPARTMENTS

School of Public Health and Theological School to Be Inaugurated.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Sept. 23.—Harvard University swings open its gates to-morrow for its 287th year with prospects of enrolling the largest number of undergraduates in its long career of educational service.

The Harvard School of Public Health, established last year through the generous endowment received from the Rockefeller Foundation, a fund which will ultimately amount to over $2,000,000, will open for the first time.

Dr. Roger L. Lee is to be acting dean in the absence of Dr. David L. Edsall during the first half year. The faculty of the school will include Drs. Richard P. Strong, Milton J. Rosenau, Lawrence J. Henderson, George C. Williams, Cecil C. Pringle, and Prof. Edwin B. Wilson, formerly of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, who was recently appointed to the professorship of vital statistics.

The School of Public Health has purchased for its headquarters the Rotch Memorial Building, now occupied by the Infants' Hospital in Boston, but probably will not occupy the building until next year, when the addition of a new wing to the Children's Hospital has been completed to accommodate the Infants' Hospital. At present the School of Public Health is housed in the Medical School Buildings, in the Fenway, Boston.

New Members of Faculty. The new school is the outgrowth and continuation of the school jointly conducted by Harvard and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology since 1913, and will include certain departments, such as those of industrial hygiene and tropical medicine, which have hitherto been a part of the Harvard Medical School. It will be closely associated with the Medical School.

Another new department to open this year will be the Theological School of Harvard University, formed in time by agreement between the Harvard authorities and the trustees of Andover Theological Seminary. The Rev. William L. Sprague was chosen as its first professor and will take charge in the fall of next year, when the addition of a new wing to the Children's Hospital has been completed to accommodate the Infants' Hospital.

Among prominent newcomers to the Harvard teaching staff this year are Homer E. Vanderhilt, formerly professor of transportation at Northwestern University, who will serve as professor of business economics, giving most of his time as economist of the Harvard economic service and the remainder to the business school; Edwin C. Boring, formerly of Clark University, who will be associate professor of psychology, and Franklin C. Nichols, formerly State director of commercial education for Pennsylvania, who will be associate professor of commercial education.

Among those who will assume teaching work again this year after a period of absence from Harvard will be Prof. J. D. M. Ford, who last year held the exchange professorship at France; Prof. Arthur E. Kennelly, who held the French exchange professorship in engineering established by a committee of American universities; Prof. Robert H. Lord and Maxine E. Howard, who were exchange professors to Western colleges; Dean Charles H. Haskins of the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences; Dean Roscoe Pound of the Law School; Prof. Ralph B. Perry, Clifford H. Moore, Charles Palache and R. A. Daly and Prof. Henry A. Yeomans, formerly dean of Harvard College, who will return to the professorship of government, giving part of his time as lecturer in history, government and economics.

Classes Begin Wednesday. Prof. David Gordon Lyon's retirement from the Harvard professorship took effect September 1, as did that of Dr. William T. Councilman from the Shattuck professorship at the Medical School. Both are now professors emeriti. Prof. Lyon's successor being Prof. W. R. Arnold and Dr. Councilman's, Dr. S. B. Wolbach.

Among the teachers who will be absent from Harvard during the whole or part of the year will be Prof. Irving Babbitt, who will serve as exchange professor to France during the second half year; Prof. William E. Hocking and Alfred M. Tozzer, who will be exchange professors to the Western colleges during the first and second half years respectively; Prof. C. N. Jackson, G. A. Reiser and Julius Klein and Director Edward Forbes of the Peabody Museum, who will be on leave of absence for the entire year; Dean D. L. Edsall of the medical school and Prof. Roger B. Merriman on leave for the first half year, and Prof. Harvey N. Davis, W. B. Munro and Eugene Wambaugh on leave for the second half year.

Dean Chester N. Greenwood of Harvard College will have the aid this year of four assistant deans, D. M. Little, Jr., '18, who will be in charge of freshmen; P. P. Chagnon, '19, in charge of sophomores; Delmar Leighton, '19, in charge of juniors and seniors, and E. R. Gay, '19, in charge of records. Mr. Little and Mr. Leighton take the places of E. A. Whitney, '17, who has become secretary of the committee on electives, and K. B. Murdock, '16, who is to give his whole time to study. Prof. G. H. Edgell, former secretary of the committee on electives, is now dean of the faculty of architecture.

The hours of registration will be from 9 o'clock to-morrow in the evening to 9 o'clock to-morrow in the morning. In addition to the above will be the Phillips Brooks House to welcome foreign students to the college. E. A. Whitney will speak on Tuesday undergraduates will fill out and file their study cards, and Tuesday evening the annual meeting of welcome to freshmen and other new students will be held at the Union. Dean L. B. Briggs will preside, and the speakers will be President Lowell, George Wigglesworth, '24, president of the Union; Dean W. E. Sperry of the Theological School; and Assistant Dean D. M. Little, Jr. With the beginning of classes on Wednesday the college will settle into its stride for the year.

The public courses provided at the business school under the will of George H. Leatherbee for properly qualified business men will this year cover the subjects of traffic management and retail store problems. Prof. Cunningham will have charge of the course on traffic management, and Assistant Prof. David and Mr. McNair will give that on retail store problems. The first meeting of both courses will be held on Tuesday.

RUSSIAN JUDGE DIES WORKING AS LABORER

Professors in Personnel of the American Relief.

Moscow, Russia, Sept. 23.—A former judge of high repute, reputed to be the most learned jurist of his time and who contracted typhus from which he died while working as a common day laborer in the food warehouses of the American Relief Administration, was one of the many pathetic instances recounted by John H. Hynes of New York, supervisor in the Odessa district of the Ukraine for the American Relief Administration. "Men of prominence in their respective professions have been forced to tasks not in keeping with their former status in life," said Mr. Hynes. "Niculin, an opera singer of prominence, a man with a beautiful baritone voice, was in charge of the feeding in the children's institutions for a time. He was willing to work day and night to get enough food to keep him. In Odessa we had four professors in our Russian personnel at one time bearing the brunt of the child feeding direction. They were professors from the University of Odessa. The professor in charge was a noted physiologist and his three aids were men of high standing in educational circles. These men had the assistance of professors as their assistants in the child feeding work."

RADIO BUSINESS HAS BIG GRIP ON ARGENTINA

Wireless Telephony Aerials Are Constantly in View.

Buenos Aires, Sept. 23.—There is one class of trader in Buenos Aires remaining unaffected by the general business depression—the dealer in radio apparatus. Wireless telephony has a wonderful grip on the imagination of the Argentine, and wherever one travels in and around the city at least two or three aerials are constantly within view.

While enthusiasm is so great, however, the arrangements for the broadcasting of programs are painfully inadequate and the "latter in hand" has to content himself with amateur recitals on wheezy old phonographs. Transmission is, in most cases, faulty also, and that, combined with well-worn discs, is sufficient to satisfy the amateur that his set is O. K., makes radio-telephony in Argentina more of a painful rite than a pleasure.

However, there will come a day, no doubt, when Argentina will organize its radio concerns better, and when that day does come, if the present is any criterion, the sole topic of conversation in Buenos Aires will be radio-telephony.

SAYS WOMEN MAY POINT WORLD PEACE

Barnard Dean Has Faith Education Will Bring World Harmony.

BACK FROM CONFERENCE

Believes Paris Meeting Marked Big Stride in Friendly Relations.

Back from Europe to take up the duties which illness forced her to abandon a year ago, Dean Virginia C. Gilderleeve of Barnard College, Columbia University, declares that her European contacts have given her a new faith in the power of education to bring the nations of the world into harmony and intimate that the women of the world may point the way.

The most impressive feature of the Paris conference of the International Federation of Women, whose membership now includes organizations in seventeen nations, said Dean Gilderleeve, who was one of 400 delegates to the conference, was the intelligent sympathy and understanding manifested by the delegates of various nationalities in regard to the problems and viewpoints of the world. "We know now from this experience," declared Miss Gilderleeve, "that in time all the nations of the world can understand each other, as we did, and settle sensibly after friendly discussion, questions far knottier even than some of the delicate ones we settled."

The great result of the Paris conference was that we now, remembering the women assembled there, think of other countries in a quite different way before. As one of the French delegates expressed it: "In the future when we hear the name of another country it will not, as in the past, bring up to our minds merely a colored shape on a map or a bit of history, or some description in a book; it will call up the face of a good friend."

The courtyard and garden of the American University Women's Paris Club, a charming old house in the Latin quarter, where the meetings of the conference were held, presented an interesting and arresting spectacle, according to Miss Gilderleeve. She said: "Every one who attended the conference felt that it marked an immense step forward in attaining the purpose of the federation—to promote understanding and friendship between the university women of the nations of the world and thereby to further their interests and develop between their countries sympathy and mutual helpfulness."

FOR UNIVERSAL CHECK REMITTANCE AT PAR

Commerce Chamber Against Charging Practice.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

New York, Sept. 23.—The committee of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, which is making a study of the practice of charging a remittance at par for checks drawn upon them by their depositors was urged today by a committee of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. Remittance of checks at par should be made universal, according to the committee. The committee found that 9,726 banks in the Federal Reserve System and 18,782 banks which are non-members are making remittances at par, while only 1,932 non-member banks are not remitting at par. Banks in the latter class charge usually one-eighth to one-tenth of 1 per cent. on remittances. The national Chamber's committee recommends that if par remittance cannot be made universal in the United States that par remittance be made compulsory through legislation by Congress, to apply to all banks, whether or not they are members of the Federal Reserve System. This question was submitted today by the committee for a referendum vote of the 1,400 business organizations connected with the national organization.

TO LECTURE ON NEW YORK.

Dr. Peterson to Review Growth in Columbia Course.

The growth and development of New York City from a Dutch trading settlement to a world famous metropolis will be the theme of a course of lectures by Dr. A. Everett Peterson, author and historian, to be given under the department of university extension at Columbia during the coming academic year. Dr. Peterson will trace the development of the city from the Dutch settlement up to the world war. In the spring he will discuss the present municipal government and its administration.

DEPARTMENT STORE NET PROFITS SMALL

Harvard Research Shows Nineteenths of One Per Cent. Average.

REPORTS ON 30 FIRMS

Aggregate Volume of Sales Covered Are Nearly Half a Billion.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Sept. 23.—The average net profit realized in the department store trade in 1921 was small, according to figures compiled by the Harvard University of business research with the cooperation and financial aid of the National Retail Dry Goods Association. This pioneer survey of the cost of doing business in department stores reveals the fact that a readjustment of operating expenses is necessary to restore net profit to normal, and that a rapid rate of stock turnover is fully as important in department stores as in other types of business.

The summaries of the bureau, which are published in a bulletin, are based on reports from 301 firms in all parts of the country, with an aggregate volume of sales of nearly half a billion dollars. The common figure for net profit among these firms during 1921, a year of business depression, was nine-tenths of 1 per cent.

"Net profit is defined for the purposes of this study," says the bulletin, "as the amount that remains over and above all expenses, including the salary of the proprietor or partners, rent of the store, whether owned or leased, and interest on the firm's net investment, as well as interest on borrowed money. It is to be noted, however, that Federal and State income taxes are not included in expense before net profit is determined."

NEW TRIAL FOR FRENCH GIRLS JAILED AS SPIES

Conviction on Elder's Testimony Declared Unjust.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK HERALD. Copyright, 1922, by THE NEW YORK HERALD. New York, Sept. 23.—Two girls convicted of espionage three years ago by a French court-martial and sentenced to twelve years at hard labor have been granted a new trial in a civil court by the Ministry of Justice, which is convinced there is a strong possibility that their conviction was unjust.

During the height of the battle of the Vosges early in the war Alice and Germaine Reveure, 17 and 19 respectively, appeared at a French court, their garments soiled and torn, declaring themselves to be French and demanding protection from the Germans. Their story moved the officers, who were ready to provide an escort to the lines of communication.

The counter spy service, however, decided to question them and obtained a statement from the elder to the effect that she had been entrusted with a spring mission forty-eight hours previously by a German officer, whose mistress she was. Since their conviction friends of the girls are said to have obtained an admission by a former member of the Surete Generale that the alleged confession had been extracted by force and threats, and that the conviction was unwarranted.
