POKES FUN AT EDWARDS

Representative Accuses Him of Promising Things He Knows Can't Be Done.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. ATLANTIC CITY, Oct. 21.—Encouraged by enthusiastic receptions in every county, Republican candidates in the New Jersey campaign ended a week's tour of the State at a mass meeting here at which Senator Joseph Frelinghuysen, William N. Runyon and Senator Walter E. Edge addressed a large gathering.

The Republican leaders are more confident than ever of a Statewide victory for their ticket. They say the half truths of Gov. Edwards's catch-penny phrases are beginning to be realized by the voters and eventually will prove a boomerang.

Wherever Senator Frelinghuysen and ex-Gov. Runyon have spoken discussion among Republicans and Democrats alike has veered to the Governor's efforts to mislead the voters on the five-cent fare issue and the prohibition question.

Expect to Sweep Essex. Both candidates in scores of addresses during the last week have driven home the lesson that a vote for Edwards means neither that the flood gates of liquor will be opened nor that a five-cent fare will suddenly materialize any more than it has during his last three years in office. The Republicans admit that Edwards probably will poll a heavy vote in Hudson county, but they are looking for an overwhelming majority in the normally Republican county of Essex to counterbalance.

Senator Walter E. Edge joined the Runyon-Frelinghuysen party at Hammononton and speaking to a large audience in Victor Hall asked the voters to return his colleague to the Senate to continue the splendid record of statesmanship that made him one of the "real pillars of the Administration."

Cutting of Waste Timber for Fuel Helps Forests

USE of cordwood as a fuel is commended by Hudson River suburbanites as a coal substitute in event of shortage by the National Forestry Program Committee yesterday. Cordwood in New York city was quoted at $32 a cord. Unlimited quantities are available in the upper Hudson River valley at about $12, according to J. R. Simmons, Albany secretary.

Utilization of the coal emergency to stop up cutting of waste timber for fuel also would help the forests. Mr. Simmons indicated by saying: "Survey of the State's wood resources as a substitute for coal during the coming winter has shown that the State's forests would be improved by taking the fuel shortage as an opportunity to clear away what foresters call the weed trees."

Whether I am defeated or not, I was elected to the Senate and I am going to stick on the job until the session is finished.

This was the decision, he said, that had been construed by the Democrats as indicating a casual attitude toward the voters of the State, whereas it was the Senator's zeal for service that led him to remain out of the State, to the possible detriment of his own political chances.

Representative Bacharach, who is a member of the Ways and Means Committee of the House, and took part in many tariff disputes, said the New Jersey Senator had secured more amendments on the floor of the Senate for the benefit of labor and manufacturers than any other four legislators.

Photographs of foreign articles imported at low prices and sold in New York at ten and twelve times their purchase value are being used by the speakers to convince the voters that the argument placing the blame upon the tariff for the increased cost of commodities to the consumer has no merit.

COOLIDGE PROUD OF PARTY'S RECORD

Tells Princeton Audience How Congress Has Benefited Whole People.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. PRINCETON, Oct. 21.—Vice-President Coolidge addressed 2,000 Princeton undergraduates and town residents in Alexander Hall here to-night, praising the work of the Republican Congress for the last nineteen months. He described the sessions as "a season of most remarkable accomplishment on behalf of the people of this country and the people all over the world."

"Without criticizing those who have gone before," Mr. Coolidge reviewed the work of reconstruction and economy and dwell on the Administration's strict observance of constitutional government.

He cited as its greatest achievements "the taking of foreign affairs out of the realm of partisan politics," the adoption of the budget, which he said will save $250,000,000 the first year, "a more scientific customs tariff," the reduction of revenue taxes and the consequent cut in the cost of living, measures to refund the foreign war debts, the immigration emergency law, the establishment of the Veterans Service Bureau, the reorganization of the merchant marine, the

LAWYER WILL KEEP KITCHING FORTUNE

Miss Rembaugh Informs Court Rich Eccentric Seeks to Dissipate $100,000.

The application of Miss Edith H. Kitching of 210 West Ninety-seventh street for an order compelling Miss Bertha Rembaugh, formerly her attorney, to turn over to her cash and securities was denied yesterday by Justice Van Sicken in the Supreme Court in Brooklyn after Miss Rembaugh told the court that she is holding the property to prevent its falling into the hands of persons who seek to exploit the aged woman.

Miss Rembaugh stated in an affidavit that Miss Kitching inherited $100,000 a few years ago. Some of it was placed in trust funds, part of it was placed in banks and some turned over to Miss Rembaugh with power of attorney for Miss Kitching's benefit. Miss Rembaugh stated that Miss Kitching is eccentric in her attitude toward money and has developed a determination to get rid of it in any fashion and to any person.

A relative of Miss Kitching, according to Miss Rembaugh, has induced her to turn over to him a considerable amount of cash and securities. This relative, Miss Rembaugh states, has served a term in prison for larceny and is spending

TWO SEPTUAGENARIAN BROWNS BRIDEGROOMS

Possession of Same Name Only Coincidence.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. PATROUSE, Oct. 21.—Two men, coincidentally named Brown, not relatives, one 75 years of age and the other 70, were married in Brookhaven this week. The first was the Rev. Charles Brown, a retired Congregational clergyman of Lake Grove, L. I., who married Mrs. Frances A. Luther of the same place. It being the minister's fourth marriage and the second of his bride, who is 64 years of age.

The other marriage was that of Levitt T. Brown and Mrs. Susan Ross, both of Brookhaven. It was the second marriage of each. A number of children of the former marriages are living.

WESTCHESTER EXPECTS 127,000 REGISTRATION

About 127,000 voters are estimated to have registered in the different towns and cities in Westchester county in the removing of America from the suspicion and fear of the Anglo-Japanese alliance and the establishment of closer relations with South America. He went on:

"I believe we have returned America to a permanent condition of prosperity and that America is in a better position than ever before in its history. We have saved for America the jurisdiction over its own affairs and have showed to the other nations that we wish to be helpful in solving the problems of the world. We appeal to America for the approbation, well done, thou good and faithful servant."

The Vice-President made only one reference to Senator Frelinghuysen for whom he is campaigning, saying: "In all my acquaintances with Senators, I know of none who performs his duties better or more acceptably than your Senator from New Jersey. You can elect a Senator in one day but it takes years to make one and when you have a man who has been trained in the duties of that office for six years it is a matter of wisdom to continue him in office."

In introducing Vice-President Coolidge, Dr. John Grier Hibben, the president, spoke of him as a man of intellectual vigor, intrepid courage and one unselfishly devoted to the best interests of his country. Mr. Coolidge was entertained at dinner by Dr. Hibben at Prospect and after the meeting went to New York.

HINT STOLEN CAR PLOT SOUGHT MILLIONS HERE

Plan to Fleece N. Y. Bank Intimated After Arrest.

DETROIT, Oct. 21.—A conspiracy to defraud a New York banking concern of several million dollars is indicated, Federal authorities here say, in the arrest of Edward J. Sweeney, accused of violating the Dyer law relating to the transportation of stolen automobiles.

Sweeney has been in secret custody since October 3. The authorities say he attempted to persuade a New York banking company to finance the purchase of 4,000 high grade motor cars which he represented would be new ones, but which would have to be sold as used machines to avoid complaint from dealers. He is said to have delivered a sample car to the banking concern, which later found it is alleged, that the machine had been stolen from a Detroit man.

Illuminate the Social Season With the Scintillant Court Fashion of Metal Tissues and Brocades of

GOLD and SILVER in FORMAL GOWNS and WRAPS

REGAL FABRICS, the sumptuous survivors of ancient royal courts, return to reign the realms of formal fashions. The glint of metal thread, the sheen of colored silk, the rhythm of vibrant tapestry patterns more decorative than ornament—these are bequeathed to the social season by the historic courts of China, Persia, India, Venice and France. And from their courtly costumes Bonwit Teller & Co., with the aid of Paris, have been inspired to launch the vogue of courtly fashions—gowns and wraps of gold and silver tissues and colorful brocades to make this social season surpassing in magnificence.

WOMEN'S FORMAL GOWNS
Of Gold or Silver Tissues or Brocades

Medieval simplicity of line, classic dignity of draping, Venetian youthfulness of bouffancy, produce the courtly fashion of the gown of gold or silver or colorful brocades. Scintillant silver or gold shot like living lights through coronation red, imperial purple or royal blue in patterns of incomparable beauty; tissues of metal combined with glittering laces—such is the fabric of the formal gown, often enriched with fur. 145.00 to 365.00

WOMEN'S FORMAL WRAPS
Of Gold and Silver Brocades

The grand couturiers of Paris turn to ancient coronation robes for inspiration in fashioning wraps of regal brocades. Bonwit Teller & Co. brocade wraps reproduce the research of Worth, Brandt, Jenny, Premet, Rolande and Hallee in terms of Persian, French and Italian patterned brocades, agleam with gold or silver, luxurious with fur, sumptuous with velvet, colorful as a royal pageant, magnificent as a royal court. 175.00 to 375.00
