French Frocks

You remember those charming French-made frocks that were so popular last summer? They lasted about one morning after they went on sale. We have just received a consignment of the same delightful type of simple frock in crepella, a sort of heavy wool crepe. There is a charming range of colors—beige, taupe, grey, green, tan—in French shades that you never see over here except when you are lucky enough to happen on imported materials. Hand drawn work, hand beading, and hand embroidery ornament these frocks, and some of them have color schemes of picturesque brilliancy. $45, $49.50, $55, $59.50
