The First Day of Thanksgiving

Turn back Time in its flight to the fall of 1621—just 301 years ago—and picture our great, great, great, great Pilgrim grandparents in their tiny log cabins, with no coal to heat them, with poor clothing and little food and in constant fear of the Indian's war-whoop—yet setting aside "a Day of Thanksgiving," Governor Bradford sent out a party of hunters "to shoot wild fowl that the homesick Colony might, after a more special manner, rejoice together." Thus the turkey became the piece de resistance of the Thanksgiving Day dinner.

And just as our ancestors invited the Indians to share their feast, so ever since Thanksgiving Day has been a day of entertaining—and a day of sharing our feasts with those less fortunate.

THIRTY-SEVEN WILL MEET LA FOLLETTE

Radical Senator Announces Congressmen to Confer in Secret.

PROGRAM NOT PUBLIC

Members of Group Trying to Discourage Third Party Talk.

THOSE WHO ANSWER CALL

Groupings of the Men in the List of Those Accepting Bid.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. New York Herald Bureau, Washington, D. C., Nov. 29. Thirty-eight members of Congress, thirteen Senators and twenty-five Representatives, are to attend the conference of insurgents called by Senator La Follette (Wis.), to meet here Friday. The list of acceptances given out by Mr. La Follette as chairman of the Executive Committee of the People's Legislative Service contained the name of Senator Walsh (Mass.). This would have made fourteen Senators, but when Senator Walsh's attention was called to the list, he said: "I have not agreed to go to the meeting. Mr. La Follette had no right to include my name on the list of acceptances. He did call upon me and showed me the program contemplated and I expressed myself in sympathy with some of the measures proposed. I positively will not have anything to do with any bloc organization in the United States Senate and this movement seems to have that purpose."

List of Acceptances. After hearing from Senator Walsh, Mr. La Follette had Mr. Walsh's name stricken off. This is the list of acceptances: Senators and Senators-elect—Henry F. Ashurst (Ariz.), William E. Borah (Idaho), Smith W. Brookhart (Iowa), Arthur Capper (Kan.), Joseph I. France (Md.), Lynn J. Frazier (N. D.), Edwin F. Ladd (N. D.), Robert M. La Follette (Wis.), George W. Norris (Neb.), Robert L. Owen (Okla.), Morris Sheppard (Tex.), Henrik Shipstead (Minn.) and Burton K. Wheeler (Mont.). Representatives and Representatives-elect—Joseph D. Beck (Wis.), Edward E. Brooke (Wis.), W. J. Burke (Pa.), Ross A. Collins (Miss.), Henry A. Cooper (Wis.), James A. Frear (Wis.), George Huddleston (Ala.), W. F. James (Mich.), Oscar E. Keller (Minn.), Ed. J. King (Ill.), C. L. Knight (Ohio), F. H. La Guardia (N. Y.), Florian Lampert (Wis.), John J. McSwain (S. C.), W. T. Logan (S. C.), J. Mansfield (Tex.), James M. Mead (N. Y.), John M. Nelson (Wis.), H. H. Peavey (Wis.), Frank E. Reid (Ill.), T. D. Schall (Minn.), George F. Schneider (Wis.), J. H. Sinclair (N. D.), Elmer Thomas (Okla.), Edward Voight (Wis.) and Roy Woodruff (Mich.).

The legislative program to be considered by the conference was not made public. It includes, however, farm relief legislation with more liberal farm credits as a primary factor and provides for action toward lowering freight rates for establishing a better marketing system for farmers. Keen interest was aroused by notice that the meeting would be behind closed doors. Insurgents in the Senate and House and all of the radical members have always fought bitterly against secret sessions, secret legislation and locked door caucuses. La Follette's announcement said: "In order that there may be full and free discussion upon the important subjects of legislation which will be taken up for consideration, the conference will meet behind closed doors. Any statements which Senators or Representatives may care to make to the press will be given out after the deliberations of the conference are concluded." Insurgent Senators are trying to discourage third party talk in connection with the conference. They say it is purely a legislative one. Senator Borah said to-day it was doubtful whether he would be able to attend the Friday meeting and that he would be in Boston Saturday. His departure for Boston may upset his willingness to sit in at the legislative conference.

Radicals and Insurgents. Of the Senators to attend the conference these classifications may be made: Unqualified Radicals—Brookhart (Iowa), France (Md.), Frazier (N. D.), Ladd (N. D.), La Follette (Wis.) and Shipstead (Minn.). Those Senators less radical and who may be classified as insurgents are: Ashurst (Ariz.), Borah (Idaho), Capper (Kan.), Norris (Neb.), Owen (Okla.), Sheppard (Tex.) and Wheeler (Mont.). Of the members of the House to attend the conference the following may be classified as unqualified radicals: Beck (Wis.), Cooper (Wis.), Frear (Wis.), Keller (Minn.), Lampert (Wis.), Nelson (Wis.), Peavey (Wis.), Schneider (Wis.), Voight (Wis.) and Brown (Wis.). Those House members who are less radical and may be classified as insurgents are: Burke (Pa.), Collins (Miss.), Huddleston (Ala.), James (Mich.), King (Ill.), Knight (Ohio), La Guardia (N. Y.), McSwain (S. C.), W. T. Logan (S. C.), Reid (Ill.), Schall (Minn.), Sinclair (N. D.), Thomas (Okla.) and Woodruff (Mich.).

something about that problem. There has been so much agitation regarding the Volstead law lately that my mind is not made up about it. It may be found that a little more alcoholic content in beer would be advisable. However, I'm not recommending that or anything until I have studied the question for myself."

Transit Tip for New York.

Mayor Couzens was not the least loath to discuss transit problems, however, and expressed the belief that New York city could take upon itself municipal operation of the transit lines here with as much success as he has made of city operation in Detroit. "I do not see why New York cannot do the same as Detroit," he said. "You might find 1,000 Tammany Hall men appointed at a clip, but so long as you save good service and there was no graft the people would not kick. I do not claim municipal management is as economical and perhaps it is not always as efficient, as private management. But municipal operation is organized for service; private management is organized for profit. I pay more for good service. An eighth or a quarter of a cent more means nothing to them." "You New Yorkers have only yourselves to blame for your traction difficulties here. The mistake you made in the beginning was to issue municipal bonds to obtain money with which to build municipally owned lines which you immediately turned over to private corporations to operate. "New York city built her lines for service—supposedly to be operated for profit by private companies. The two things don't go together. New Yorkers are realizing it more every day. I tell you municipal operation as well as ownership is sure to come in New York city."

In regard to the defeat of Gov. Miller Mayor Couzens said: "The great mistake Mr. Miller made was to encroach upon Albany on the home rule rights of the people of New York city. The people will always be quick to resent that. New York to every New Yorker is home and your New Yorker doesn't want any one coming into his home and telling him what he must do."

When asked his attitude toward the blocs of the Senate, the insurgent wing and other factions and his possible alignment Mr. Couzens said: "I shall let my conscience be my guide. I'm not the representative of any bloc or group and I do not purport to tie myself to any faction of the Senate in advance of each issue as it arises, and upon each issue I shall take my own stand. I do not represent labor as a group, I do not represent capital as a group, I do not represent the farmers as a group, and that is not to say that I would not favor legislation beneficial to any of those so long as the same legislation is beneficial to the nation." Mr. Couzens declined also to express an opinion on the ship subsidy, the bonus or any other legislation now under consideration in Congress. He added that he would leave the office of Mayor of Detroit with a deep affection for the city that had done so much for him and honored him so highly. "I want to thank Gov. Groesbeck," he said, "for the confidence placed in me."

Mayor Couzens is in New York to pass the Thanksgiving holidays with his daughter, Madeleine, who is attending the Brownson School, at 24 East Ninety-first street. With him are Mrs. Couzens and their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Couzens. The other children were left at home in Detroit. Mayor Couzens expects to leave for Detroit to-morrow and begin his arrangements for resigning his duties as Mayor and taking up his Senatorial affairs. He said he hoped to get to Washington in time for the December session.

Kansas's New Governor Will Milk His Own Cow

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. PEKA—Kan., Nov. 29.—Apparently the new political fashion in Kansas is going to be: "If you want to become a public official you must own and milk a cow." Following the announcement of Gov.-elect Jonathan Davis that he will bring a prize cow to the Executive residence and do his own milking, Col. J. W. Hughes has been brought out as a candidate for Mayor on a platform declaring: "We want a Mayor with a cow." Col. Hughes lives in Potwin, the old aristocratic residence section of Topeka, and distributes milk to a few of his neighbors.

WARNS OF JAPANESE MENACE IN HAWAII

English Lawyer to Write Book on Invasion.

S. W. Fitzherbert, an English lawyer, who has spent the last three years in Hawaii, sailed yesterday by the Cunarder Saxonica for Plymouth to write a book on the legal aspects of the Japanese invasion of the Sandwich Islands. He said that white civilization under present laws in Hawaii faced a real menace from the yellow races, as the descendants of Japanese born in the islands automatically became American citizens and there were hundreds of them. He suggests that the problem of the yellow races may be solved by letting them take all the tropical islands where the white race cannot exist and keeping them out of all territory occupied now by Caucasians.

How Life and Growth are Sustained on WARD'S VITOVIM BREAD As Compared with Other White Breads THE amazing superiority in food-value of VITOVIM BREAD is strikingly demonstrated by the representative growth-chart shown above. This chart is an accurate record of one of the hundreds of animal feeding experiments made in our own laboratories and the laboratories of leading Universities of the United States during the last eighteen months to determine the relative food-value of VITOVIM BREAD as compared with the best known white breads. How to Read the Chart Solid black line No. 1 shows how one of the experimental animals after being weaned from the mother thrived and grew steadily, gaining in weight and maintaining perfect health and vigor on an exclusive diet of WARD'S VITOVIM BREAD and water. Broken line No. 2 shows an average of how six animals of the same age and weight, failed to grow on a diet of three of the most popular white breads sold in this territory. Solid line No. 3 shows how these six animals immediately resumed their normal rate of growth as soon as their diet was changed to WARD'S VITOVIM BREAD. Study this chart carefully. Think of it in terms of your children and other members of your family. Then ask yourself whether it isn't worth while to make WARD'S VITOVIM BREAD the basis of every meal in your home. Here at last is a real "staff of life."
