American Churches in Rome Observing Memorial Season

Visitors in Italian Capital to Have Interesting Symphony Program This Winter.

Special Correspondence to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

NOVEMBER, the memorial month of the church, has been observed with services of unusual interest. All Saints' Day and All Souls' Day celebrated in the cathedrals here were generously observed, although they occurred in a solid week of "festa" between the Fascist demonstration in honor of the new government and the anniversary of the victory of Veneto, which is made the occasion for memorial ceremonies at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

The American Church of Santa Suzzanna, which is conducted by the Paulist Fathers, is having memorial services every afternoon all during the month. Right Rev. Bishop M. J. Hoban of Scranton, Pa., delivered the sermon at the Sunday morning service, November 12. Memorial month is also being observed in the North American College, which has just opened its fall classes with a very large registration of new students from America.

An interesting season of symphonic music has been announced by the Augusteo, whose tradition is to invite several noted conductors during the winter for one or several concerts. Leopold Stokowski, conductor of the Philadelphia Orchestra, who has consented to come to Europe this winter for two concerts, will give one in Rome and the other in Paris. Other conductors will be Jean Sibelius, Richard Strauss, Albert Coates, Vittorio Monti, Antonio Guarini, Oscar Fried and Hermann Scherchen. Among the soloists will be the violinists Buch and Serrato, the cellist Bonucci, the soloist Boris Dostobach and the pianists Tichclati and Volterra. The Augusteo season will be opened during December with a special performance of Verdi's Requiem, directed by Maestro Molinari.

The famous Academy of Santa Cecilia is planning a season of chamber music for the midwinter. The Busch string quartet and the Capet quartet of Paris have already been announced. Another visitor from the Pacific coast is Mr. W. K. Young of the San Francisco Library Board.

Mr. George Flower, a Los Angeles sculptor, has opened a studio in Via Margutta and expects to work in Rome for some time.

Dr. Edwin B. Davis, professor of Romance languages in Rutgers College, has arrived here with Mrs. Davis to spend the winter. Prof. Davis is employing a year's leave from Rutgers College.

During the early days of November visitors to Rome staying at the Quirinal Hotel were Mr. Howard Brewer and family, Mr. Joseph Squaglia and Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. H. Currier of Boston, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Mullins of Boston, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Currier and Mrs. G. G. Fraser of San Francisco, Miss Helen Baker, Mr. George Acumio, Mr. Mark O. Precht and Mr. William Hancy of New York, while others from the same city were Mr. and Mrs. William Graupe, Mr. C. E. Andrews, Mr. H. A. Jacob, and from Chicago Mr. J. J. McVay.

Mr. Charles Hall of Springfield, Mass.; Mr. D. L. Thornbury of Oakland, Cal., and Mr. James Whitelaw of New York are guests of the Hotel Continental.

Mr. Robert F. Herick of Boston, president of the Boston Harvard Club, has arrived at the Hotel Excelsior with Mrs. Herick. Other guests are Mr. Harold MacKeenan, Mr. John Arthur, Mr. Albert Weathers and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Smith of New York, Mr. Simon Hinsinger of St. Joseph, Mo.; Mr. Benedict J. Backer of Boston and Mrs. J. J. Connelly and Mr. John J. Conley of Philadelphia.

Arrivals this week staying at the Eden Hotel include Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Keenan of San Francisco, Mr. H. P. Daniels and family and Mrs. Allison Holland of Chicago and Miss Julia H. Whitehead of New York.

Mr. Basil Miles, Paris representative of the American Chamber of Commerce, has been here this week to arrange with Mr. Henry C. MacLean, commercial attaché of the embassy, and other Italian officials for the congress of the chamber, which will be held here in March. Americans staying at the Grand Hotel here are Mr. and Mrs. Harry Vitelles of Kula, Va.; Mr. E. B. Howard, Mr. Frederick Wilkes and Mr. John J. Offens of New York city; Mr. and Mrs. P. Ellis Farmer of Philadelphia, Mr. C. C. Williams of Washington and Mr. K. L. Keuning, Mr. L. M. Hugh and Mr. Paul Kodapi of Cleveland.

Registrants at the Rome bureau of THE NEW YORK HERALD include Miss Jillian R. Verker of Chicago, who has just left Paris; Mr. and Mrs. William S. Horton of Paris; Mr. and Mrs. William J. Irvine of Washington, D. C., recently left for Venice; Mrs. Charles H. Dennis of Chicago and her daughters, the Misses Mildred and Doris. Dennis, who have been visiting Venice and intend going to Naples; Mrs. John Radenall and Mrs. Mary Martin of Charleston, S. C., arriving from Florence and leaving for Naples; Dr. Crayke Simpson and Mrs. Crayke Simpson of Washington, D. C., visitors from Florence and going to Paris; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hahn of Los Angeles, Cal.

Americans Help Celebrate Armistice Day in Paris

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Fleischmann, Mr. and Mrs. E. Berry Wall and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Carter Are Among Those Entertaining Parties of Friends.

Special Correspondence to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

PARIS, Nov. 13. WITH the exception of the Armistice Day festivities, the last week has taken rather a dull turn socially, and Parisians have been making plans for the winter on the Riviera or at St. Moritz.

Armistice Day was celebrated with merrymaking as well as in a serious way. Cro's was beyond doubt the gayest spot in Paris. The occasion was not only the celebration of the armistice holiday, but the opening of a beautiful new dining room which enables this popular restaurant to seat at least 500 diners. There were more than that number for the opening. The decorations were, of course, the flags of the Allies, and with the distribution of noisy favors the gayeties reached a high pitch before midnight.

Among those noticed dining were Mr. and Mrs. Julius Fleischmann, entertaining a party of friends. Mr. and Mrs. E. Berry Wall and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Carter were with a party. Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. K. Williams entertained Mr. and Mrs. Midgett, Mr. and Mrs. Adams, Miss Minette Adams, Mr. Porter Woodruff, Miss M. McMillan and Mr. Robert Dull, Mr. and Mrs. Clement Johnson entertained Lady Hawtree, wife of Sir Charles Hawtree, the actor; Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Gilroy, Comte de Lyrot and M. de Montal. Mr. Earle Hoppling, the polo player who has just arrived from America on his way to Cannes for the winter polo games, was with a party of friends and others noticed were the Grand Duke and Grand Duchess Boris of Russia; Princess of Kapurthala, Mr. Alfred Giraud, Mr. Fred Hoy, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Toulmin, Mr. and Mrs. Elie Joseph, Mrs. Ruth Brandeis, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson Frenton, Mrs. R. Volck, Mrs. Ruth Melville, M. Henri Letellier, Captain Molyneux, Mrs. Helen Gwynne, Mr. Erskine Gwynne, Mr. William Chapman, Mrs. Forest, Mr. John Walden, Mr. Eaton Cromwell, Mr. Curley, Mrs. Reginald Ronalds, Mr. Ernest Ives with a party of friends, Mr. and Mrs. William O. Burton, Duchess Strozzi and Mrs. I. Blumenthal, Colonel Clark, Lady Chaleit and Lady Bowen.

The Cafe de Paris was a close scene of its gay parties. The decorations were the colors of the Allies. Among those dining were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Burns, Marquis and Marquise de Dion, Mlle. de Larenty, H. Guiller, Mr. and Mrs. Colonel Blayhard, Mr. and Mrs. I. Blumenthal, Colonel Clark, Lady Chaleit and Lady Bowen.

Mr. and Mrs. Felder Entertain. The Union Interallies made a feature of its regular Saturday night dinner dance to celebrate the armistice and there were several American parties. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Felder, who are leaving next week for the Riviera and Egypt, entertained Mr. and Mrs. Robins and Mr. Page. Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Bullwinkel and Miss B. Bullwinkel were with a party. Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Conner, who have just returned from London, were with friends; Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Perkins were entertaining a party, and Mrs. John A. Black and Mrs. Charles Casgrain were in another party. Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Phillips were giving a farewell party before going to Monte Carlo.

Clardice Hotel was still another gay spot, with a grand gala dinner dance. June Day and Jack Gavin were the dancers. The decorations there, too, were flags and the favors were flags, drums and noisy contrivances.

Pallardi's restaurant also had a gala dinner and dance, and it was the same there as elsewhere. There was not a table to be had and late comers were turned away. Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Coffin were giving a farewell dinner before leaving for India, China and Japan, and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Wright of Cleveland, Ohio, were entertaining for the last time before leaving for Algiers to pass the winter.

The popular dancing houses were crowded after midnight. The Club Daupou and the Perrotet drawing the greatest number. The Acadia, which closed its doors last week under the management of Harry Piler, was reopened for the armistice celebration under the management of Charles Stuart, who has been popular at the Club Daupou. Among those giving parties were Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Cortis of New York, who have been passing the last year at their villa in Capri and are in Paris for a short visit before sailing for America in December to pass the holidays. They expect to return to Italy early in February.

Among those who entertained privately on the occasion of the armistice holiday was Mr. Eugene Higgins, who gave an elaborate stag luncheon at his residence in the Place d'Iena. It was also given to his recent nomination as Knight of the Legion of Honor. Among those present were the American Ambassador, Mr. Myron T. Herrick; Gen. DuBall, Grand Chancellor of the Legion of Honor; Mr. Walter Berry, Mr. Lord Ronalds, Major G. Creighton Webb, Col. T. Bentley Mott, Mr. Karriek Rigas, Mr. John Ridgely Carter, Mr. Henry Chachard, Major Vallant, M. A. Tirman, M. Paul Dupuy, M. Georges Mauffron, Admiral Guepratte, Comte de Chaffaut, Comte de la Mazerelle, Marquis de Labordet, Comte de Bolourouy and Comte de Gramedo.

Mrs. Henry Clews, Jr., was entertained extensively during her short visit to Paris last week. She came from Biarritz, to be in Paris for a few days with her daughter, Miss Louise Clews, who sailed on Saturday for New York to pass the winter with her grandmother, Mrs. Henry Clews.

The dinner concert at the Ritz last night was one of the best in its musical program that has yet been given. The old songs and dances in costume rendered by M. and Mme. Lyon Clauzel were particularly beautiful. M. de Villabella of the Opera Comique, who has grown to be a favorite at the Ritz concerts, was heard again in several songs and received his usual enthusiastic applause. Mlle. Jane Bourguignon, also of the Opera Comique, was heard in four or five songs. Among those giving dinner parties were Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Chapin, Mr. and Mrs. Prince Hopkins, Lady Wilton, having as her guests Baron Fouad and Lady Stafford; Baron de Monaco, Baron Jacques de Gunzburg, Baron and Baronne Schroeder, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Graham, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Curtis, who have recently arrived from New York; Mr. and Mrs. J. Stonehouse, Mr. Tower Bell, Mrs. John Munroe, Mr. and Mrs. Richard McCreery, Comte and Comtesse d'Argo, Mrs. Laurence Boggs, Mr. and Mrs. E. Berry Wall, Mrs. Alastair Cameron, Mrs. Addison and Mrs. Arthur Wilton, Mrs. Chase Casgrain, Mrs. John A. Black, Mr. and Mrs. T. Reid Frazee, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Carter, Baron and Baronne Fouquier, Prince and Princess de Chimay, Mr. and Mrs. P. Giannini and their daughter and son.

The Ritz weekly dinner dance was as gay as ever and smart in the matter of dress. There were about 500 dining and several American parties, but no really big parties. Major Creighton Webb entertained Duchesse Durcal, Duc and Duchesse d'Albe, Comtesse O'Brien and Marquis Boni de Castellane. Mrs. and Miss Rowan had as their guests Mrs. Mora Reid, a sister of Mrs. Rowan; Mr. and Mrs. A. Kingsley Macomber and Mr. T. Wilkinson. Mrs. John A. Black entertained in honor of Miss Rita Yerkes, who is in Paris for a few days on her way from England to St. Remo.

H. H. Morgan Gives Party. Mr. Henry H. Morgan, the American Consul-General in Brussels, had as his guests his daughter, Comtesse Jean de Maupas, Mrs. Benjamin Thaw and Comtesse d'Aubigne. Others noticed were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rogers, Comtesse d'Harville, M. Leon Suarez, Sir Mortimer Davis, Mr. and Mrs. E. Berry Wall, Comte and Comtesse Wachtmeister, Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Gilroy, Lady Hawtree, Mr. William Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. William O. Burton, Mr. Leslie Cotton, Gen. and Mme. Taufflieb, the Grand Duke Alexander of Russia, Mrs. Ruth-erford Stuyvesant, M. Pierre Lacroix, Mr. William Roche, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lanning Perrin, Mr. and Mrs. Elie Joseph, Mr. and Mrs. J. Kennedy Tod, Mrs. Bates Batcheller, Mme. Vieux Gue, Mrs. James, Miss Carmen de Mora, Miss Roslyn Robinson, Mr. Ernest Ives, Mrs. Rodney Williams, Izet Pasha, Mrs. Newbold

Leroy Edgar, Col. Stanley Knott, Mrs. Huntington Wilson, Prince and Princess de Chimay, Judge and Mrs. A. Speckler, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Morris, Mrs. Arthur Barnwell, Lady Coventry, Mr. Charles Walsh, Miss Ruth Walsh, Capt. and Mrs. Jefferson Davis Cohn, Prince and Princess Christian of Hesse, Mrs. Alastair Cameron and Mrs. H. D. Smith.

There is more than a stir among the dressmakers in anticipation of the spring season. Many of the leading houses are showing advance spring models for the American buyer, and an exceptionally early season on the Riviera has also been taken into consideration. The best indication, so far, as to what the spring styles might bring out comes from the fabric makers.

According to Rodier many of the novelty woolen fabrics have a smooth finish, rather indicating that the broadly cloth family will come into its own to replace the fabrics of a loose and extremely woolly weave, and there are many novelty woolen crepes. A fabric of this description which is proving very popular among the dressmakers is a sort of poulain called "crepe popalpa," and there are many others which are novelty poplins and crepes. There is a "crepepaja" and a "drapaiga" and "crepepla" is developed in various novel ways, and "crepepla," a wool and silk crepe, is a favorite. Kasha, which has been a popular fabric for several years, is made now in a dozen different ways and is more of a leader than ever. Striped designs are favored in many of the woolens. A novelty serge has a plaided stripe woven in it, and checks, too, are not overlooked.

Crepe is a leader in the cottons, too, and the wrinkled and crumpled effects are to be as strong as ever. The quilted cottons which were so strong last year are replaced by cottons which are wrinkled and crushed, and the wrinkles appear to be stitched in stripes and squares so they cannot be washed out. "Crepe milply" is a fabric of this sort, and this "milply" in various designs so far is the most popular of the cottons. Embroidered fabrics are still to be noted, but they are not so numerous as they have been.

Weeks is among the dressmakers who are showing new models for the Riviera. He has made a specialty recently of tea gowns and has a complete collection to be shown with his other new models. Many of them are made of silk velvet in soft colors and trimmed in fur. A popular model from Weeks is rose velvet with collar of ermine.

Phillippe and Gaston is another house showing a complete collection of advance spring models. Some sixty or more figures in the collection, and they introduce many of the new spring fabrics in thin woolens combined with foulards. A semi-cape frock of green homespun with a broad sash of printed foulard is proving a popular model.

The management of the Needlework Shop of the Y. W. C. A. has arranged a Christmas sale in the Plaza for Thursday, when a great variety of things will be displayed in order to show the types of needlework done by the three hundred and fifty consignors of the shop, all of whom are self-supporting women. Tea will be served by a committee of sub-debutantes under Mrs. Frederic W. London who is being assisted in arranging the sale by Mrs. Janus W. Phyre.

The tables will be managed by Mrs. George C. Comstock, Miss Marion D. Cooper, Mrs. T. S. Winslow, Miss Rosalie Gilkin, Mrs. A. R. Ledoux and Mrs. Randolph Beadleston.

more influence on the fashions than those who actually design the models. The Rodier spring fabrics have been on the market for some weeks, and the majority of the dressmakers have found so much that is entirely new in them and have made their purchases with so much more interest than usual that there is no doubt that the spring season will be presented with new life and animation.
