

ALL EAST FOOTBALL HONORS FOR 1922 SEASON ARE WELL DISTRIBUTED

BACKS AND TACKLES SHONE BRILLIANTLY

Kaw of Cornell Best of Carriers—Owen and Basista Followed.

TREAT MADE HIS MARK

Tiger and Gullian of Brown Earned Places on the First Eleven.

By DANIEL.

Here they are, the Eastern football titans of 1922! After massing our own impressions and consulting qualified experts on the capabilities of men whom we had not seen in action this season we arrived at the conclusion that Taylor of the Navy and Hulman of Yale had been the best ends, Treat of Princeton and Gullian of Brown the leading tackles, Hubbard of Harvard and Schwab of Lafayette the top guards, Garbisch of the Army the outstanding center, and Pfann of Cornell the best quarterback.

When it came to classifying the backs the job was not so easy. Kaw of Cornell was easily the star of the season, while Owen of Harvard stood second. Basista of Washington and Jefferson, from all accounts, was far and away the best defensive back of the year. We will confess an inclination to favor Mallory of Yale, for we had not seen the star of the Presidents. But so much expert weight was thrown on the side of Basista that we had to name him for the job.

There were perplexing problems at every angle in this work of naming the leading players of the year. It was a labor which was not confined merely to the men who were being talked about and who featured in the big games and on the leading teams. As has been our custom for many years we have named those who proved of sufficiently high caliber to earn places on the roll of honor.

Starred in the Byways.

On this roll you will find many a player who would have been an outstanding luminary had he been a member of a leading eleven. Among these we may mention Byham, the Allegheny tackle, who is said to have been about as good as any tackle in the East; there was in the East, Tony, the Boston University back; Roderick, the Columbia carrier; Sweeney of Susquehanna and Gibbons, the Bowdoin end. Others, like Meredith of West Virginia and Bowser, the Pittsburgh center, suffered through the fact that they did not show in this section of the country.

The best quarterback of the year won his honor by quite a margin. Pfann of Cornell was not only a heady field general but he was a great carrier as well. He was the only player who carried the standard set at Ithaca by Chuck Barrett. Had Pfann combined great drop kicking ability with his other qualities his name would have been as prominent as was Barrett's. Buell of Harvard was the second best quarterback. He was a fine leader, but owing to the fact that he was not called on to carry the ball, Darlington of Boston College, Smythe of the Army and Langdon of Pennsylvania also stood out.

Kaw led the backs by quite a margin—and then came confusion. There were so many stars, so many top notch candidates, that there really is little to choose among the eight halfbacks and fullbacks of the three teams named. Erickson could have been placed on the first eleven without doing anybody an injustice.

Between Basista and Mallory.

But Kaw and Owen had to go on it, and we believed that the third place belonged to a man whose services for his team did not always stand out for the general public and whose praises were not sung in the headlines. The defensive back has a difficult job, and like the tackle and the guard he gets his due only top seldom. Basista, who carried nearly all the tackles turned in by the secondary defense of the Presidents.

Some of the best critics of football who saw him several times this year told us that he had a something on Mallory, who was the greatest defensive back seen at Yale since the days of Jack Field. So while the first honor goes to Basista, Mallory is right there with him. The Ell suffered a bit from the fact that when the big games came along he was on the list of injured.

The best ends of the season were Taylor of the Navy and Hulman of Yale. For a while it looked as if Eddy of the Ells would be the leader, but after the Army game he fell back in form, while Hulman continued to improve, and at last stood out for the general public and whose praises were not sung in the headlines.

White of the Army and Comerford of Boston College would have got the places had we chosen a fourth team. They ranked with the stars of the year. And then there was Gibbons of Bowdoin, who, we are told, was about as good a flankman as there was. But we did not see him and could get enough data about him. So we may have done him an injustice.

Other Leading Ends.

White of the Army and Comerford of Boston College would have got the places had we chosen a fourth team. They ranked with the stars of the year. And then there was Gibbons of Bowdoin, who, we are told, was about as good a flankman as there was. But we did not see him and could get enough data about him. So we may have done him an injustice.

White of the Army and Comerford of Boston College would have got the places had we chosen a fourth team. They ranked with the stars of the year. And then there was Gibbons of Bowdoin, who, we are told, was about as good a flankman as there was. But we did not see him and could get enough data about him. So we may have done him an injustice.

White of the Army and Comerford of Boston College would have got the places had we chosen a fourth team. They ranked with the stars of the year. And then there was Gibbons of Bowdoin, who, we are told, was about as good a flankman as there was. But we did not see him and could get enough data about him. So we may have done him an injustice.

White of the Army and Comerford of Boston College would have got the places had we chosen a fourth team. They ranked with the stars of the year. And then there was Gibbons of Bowdoin, who, we are told, was about as good a flankman as there was. But we did not see him and could get enough data about him. So we may have done him an injustice.

White of the Army and Comerford of Boston College would have got the places had we chosen a fourth team. They ranked with the stars of the year. And then there was Gibbons of Bowdoin, who, we are told, was about as good a flankman as there was. But we did not see him and could get enough data about him. So we may have done him an injustice.

White of the Army and Comerford of Boston College would have got the places had we chosen a fourth team. They ranked with the stars of the year. And then there was Gibbons of Bowdoin, who, we are told, was about as good a flankman as there was. But we did not see him and could get enough data about him. So we may have done him an injustice.

White of the Army and Comerford of Boston College would have got the places had we chosen a fourth team. They ranked with the stars of the year. And then there was Gibbons of Bowdoin, who, we are told, was about as good a flankman as there was. But we did not see him and could get enough data about him. So we may have done him an injustice.

White of the Army and Comerford of Boston College would have got the places had we chosen a fourth team. They ranked with the stars of the year. And then there was Gibbons of Bowdoin, who, we are told, was about as good a flankman as there was. But we did not see him and could get enough data about him. So we may have done him an injustice.

White of the Army and Comerford of Boston College would have got the places had we chosen a fourth team. They ranked with the stars of the year. And then there was Gibbons of Bowdoin, who, we are told, was about as good a flankman as there was. But we did not see him and could get enough data about him. So we may have done him an injustice.

White of the Army and Comerford of Boston College would have got the places had we chosen a fourth team. They ranked with the stars of the year. And then there was Gibbons of Bowdoin, who, we are told, was about as good a flankman as there was. But we did not see him and could get enough data about him. So we may have done him an injustice.

White of the Army and Comerford of Boston College would have got the places had we chosen a fourth team. They ranked with the stars of the year. And then there was Gibbons of Bowdoin, who, we are told, was about as good a flankman as there was. But we did not see him and could get enough data about him. So we may have done him an injustice.

White of the Army and Comerford of Boston College would have got the places had we chosen a fourth team. They ranked with the stars of the year. And then there was Gibbons of Bowdoin, who, we are told, was about as good a flankman as there was. But we did not see him and could get enough data about him. So we may have done him an injustice.

White of the Army and Comerford of Boston College would have got the places had we chosen a fourth team. They ranked with the stars of the year. And then there was Gibbons of Bowdoin, who, we are told, was about as good a flankman as there was. But we did not see him and could get enough data about him. So we may have done him an injustice.

White of the Army and Comerford of Boston College would have got the places had we chosen a fourth team. They ranked with the stars of the year. And then there was Gibbons of Bowdoin, who, we are told, was about as good a flankman as there was. But we did not see him and could get enough data about him. So we may have done him an injustice.

White of the Army and Comerford of Boston College would have got the places had we chosen a fourth team. They ranked with the stars of the year. And then there was Gibbons of Bowdoin, who, we are told, was about as good a flankman as there was. But we did not see him and could get enough data about him. So we may have done him an injustice.

White of the Army and Comerford of Boston College would have got the places had we chosen a fourth team. They ranked with the stars of the year. And then there was Gibbons of Bowdoin, who, we are told, was about as good a flankman as there was. But we did not see him and could get enough data about him. So we may have done him an injustice.

White of the Army and Comerford of Boston College would have got the places had we chosen a fourth team. They ranked with the stars of the year. And then there was Gibbons of Bowdoin, who, we are told, was about as good a flankman as there was. But we did not see him and could get enough data about him. So we may have done him an injustice.

White of the Army and Comerford of Boston College would have got the places had we chosen a fourth team. They ranked with the stars of the year. And then there was Gibbons of Bowdoin, who, we are told, was about as good a flankman as there was. But we did not see him and could get enough data about him. So we may have done him an injustice.

White of the Army and Comerford of Boston College would have got the places had we chosen a fourth team. They ranked with the stars of the year. And then there was Gibbons of Bowdoin, who, we are told, was about as good a flankman as there was. But we did not see him and could get enough data about him. So we may have done him an injustice.

White of the Army and Comerford of Boston College would have got the places had we chosen a fourth team. They ranked with the stars of the year. And then there was Gibbons of Bowdoin, who, we are told, was about as good a flankman as there was. But we did not see him and could get enough data about him. So we may have done him an injustice.

Stars of The New York Herald's All Scholastic Eleven

PHIL WEIS, FORDHAM PREP, HALFBACK

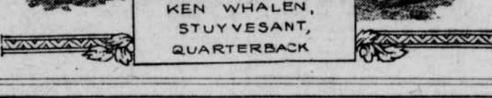

ABE KAPLAN, STUYVESANT TACKLE

WILLIAM ADLER, STUYVESANT CENTER

JIM HURLBERT, FORDHAM PREP, FULLBACK

KEN WHALEN, STUYVESANT, QUARTERBACK

Lafayette and W. and J. at Polo Grounds in 1923

LAFAYETTE and Washington and Jefferson will meet on the football field at the Polo Grounds next fall. J. C. Boudak, secretary of the Glens, announced yesterday that the Pennsylvania rivals had agreed to meet on Saturday, November 3. Last month they met on the Ells.

The Eastonians and the Presidents provided the best game seen here this year. Washington and Jefferson winning by 14 to 13, and setting all its points in the second half. Tierney is filling his schedule rapidly and will announce some big features soon.

Many Stellar Guards.

The guards of outstanding ability were not as numerous as the tackles. Hubbard of Harvard was not quite as steady as he might have been, but in his shining performances he was so great that he had to be named on the first team along with Schwab, the veteran from Lafayette. Neither of these had a great margin over Welsh of Colgate and Cross of Yale.

Bodack of Penn State was not quite as great as he was in 1921. Dickenson of Princeton was one of your hard working, steady guards, a player along the lines of Cyril Ballin, who was captain of the Tigers not so many years ago. Dickenson was right on the job in every battle, playing for the team.

Creakshank of Yale, Graf of Pennsylvania, Flynn of Cornell, Carny of the Navy and Breidster of the Army may be mentioned as coming close to the top and failing of places only because there were so few places to fill. It was a great season for guards.

We thought Garbisch of the Army the best center in the East. We did not see Bowser of Pittsburgh, who had strong support, but not enough to make us change our mind about the rank of the Army pivot. Lovejoy of Yale improved remarkably as the season progressed and took Landis's job away from him. Heaphy of Boston College, Clark of Harvard, Bente of Penn State, Richards of Cornell and Rathbone of Colgate also had to be considered along with Alford of Princeton, who made the most of his opportunities in a new position.

Kaw of Cornell, Wood of the Army, Wright of Yale, Cullen of the Navy, Cleaves of Princeton, Asplund of Swarthmore and Owen of Harvard were among the leading punters in the East. Snelvy of Princeton was the best thrower of a forward pass.

All East Football Consensus Is Compiled

Teams Named From Opinions of Fifteen Writers.

The annual array of all star football eleven, picked from an exclusively Eastern viewpoint, was passed in review. Picked as the opinion of fifteen writers, first and second All Eastern teams shape up as follows:

FIRST TEAM. Ends—Taylor, Navy; Hulman, Yale. Tackles—Gullian, Brown; Hubbard, Harvard. Guards—Schwab, Lafayette; Treas, Yale. Center—Garbisch, Army. Quarterback—Buell, Harvard. Fullback—Langdon, Penn State.

SECOND TEAM. Ends—Eddy, Bowdoin; Comerford, Boston College. Tackles—Gibbons, Bowdoin; White, Army. Guards—Gibbons, Bowdoin; White, Army. Center—Gibbons, Bowdoin; White, Army. Quarterback—Gibbons, Bowdoin; White, Army. Fullback—Gibbons, Bowdoin; White, Army.

HONORABLE MENTION. Ends—Palchid, Pennsylvania; Mahoney, Holy Cross; Florence, Georgetown; Smith, Princeton; Smith, Princeton; White, Army; Farr, Navy; Barker, Cornell; Mott, Syracuse; King, Wesleyan; Korn, Swarthmore; Gibbons, Bowdoin; Williams, Pittsburgh; Eddy, Yale; Comerford, Boston College; Henderson, Cornell; Hartley, Harvard.

TACKLES—Meredith, West Virginia; Deibel, Lafayette; Baker, Princeton; Borne, Navy; Eastman, Harvard; Waldorf, Syracuse; McMahon, Penn State; Leonard, Colgate; Raab, Rutgers; Wiedersheim, Washington and Jefferson; Albin, Allegheny; Spillman, Brown; Hatch, Dartmouth; Fischer, Columbia; Miller, Yale; Cusick, Lehigh; and Dunbar, Harvard.

GUARDS—Creakshank, Yale; Carny, Navy; Breidster, Army; Van Blarcom, Syracuse; Grew, Harvard; Graf, Pennsylvania; and Flynn, Cornell.

CENTERS—Heaphy, Boston College; Clark, Harvard; Alford, Princeton; Bowser, Pittsburgh; Bente, Penn State; Richards, Cornell; and Rathbone, Colgate.

QUARTERBACKS—Seldinger, Yale; Carny, Navy; Breidster, Army; Mallow, Williams; Robertson, Carleton; Teich, Mills; Dartmouth; Ferguson, Syracuse; Dinmore, Princeton; Gorman, Princeton; Maloney, Rutgers; Langdon, Pennsylvania; and Henscher, Colgate.

HALFBACKS AND FULLBACKS—Wood, Army; Gassella, Lafayette; Simon, West Virginia; Tron, Colgate; Anderson, Syracuse; Cleaves, Princeton; Beattie, Princeton; Tron, Princeton; Caldwell, Princeton; Rodrick, Columbia; Myers, Fordham; Asplund, Swarthmore; Hamer, Pennsylvania; Hewitt, Pittsburgh; Nordstedt, West Virginia; Miller, Pennsylvania; Burke, Dartmouth; Glennon, Holy Cross; Deibel, Harvard; McBride, Syracuse; Hafford, Penn State; Cullen, Navy; Sawman, Syracuse; Zimmerman, Syracuse; Sienemonger, Holy Cross; Flynn, Georgetown; Berk, Vermont; Koppisch, Columbia; Torneck, New York University; Gossel, Vermont; Lawrence, Army; Timberlake, Army; Hermann, Colgate; Nantz, Yale; Sweeney, Susquehanna; Adams, Brown; Hammond, Harvard; Chellett, Springfield; Chapin, Harvard; Monjo, Williams; Coloma, Pittsburgh; and Terry, Boston University.

HONORABLE MENTION. Ends—Palchid, Pennsylvania; Mahoney, Holy Cross; Florence, Georgetown; Smith, Princeton; Smith, Princeton; White, Army; Farr, Navy; Barker, Cornell; Mott, Syracuse; King, Wesleyan; Korn, Swarthmore; Gibbons, Bowdoin; Williams, Pittsburgh; Eddy, Yale; Comerford, Boston College; Henderson, Cornell; Hartley, Harvard.

TACKLES—Meredith, West Virginia; Deibel, Lafayette; Baker, Princeton; Borne, Navy; Eastman, Harvard; Waldorf, Syracuse; McMahon, Penn State; Leonard, Colgate; Raab, Rutgers; Wiedersheim, Washington and Jefferson; Albin, Allegheny; Spillman, Brown; Hatch, Dartmouth; Fischer, Columbia; Miller, Yale; Cusick, Lehigh; and Dunbar, Harvard.

All East Football Teams for the Season of 1922

By DANIEL.

Position	Player	College
Ends	TAYLOR	Navy
Left tackle	TREAT	Princeton
Right tackle	HUBBARD	Harvard
Center	GARBISCH	Army
Left guard	WELSH	Colgate
Right guard	GULLIAN	Brown
Right tackle	HUBBARD	Harvard
Right end	HULMAN	Yale
Quarterback	BUELL	Harvard
Left halfback	KAW	Cornell
Right halfback	PFANN	Cornell
Fullback	OWEN	Harvard

Position	Player	College
Ends	GRAY	Princeton
Left tackle	THURMAN	Pennsylvania
Right tackle	WELSH	Colgate
Center	LOVEJOY	Yale
Left guard	HEAPHY	Boston College
Right guard	CLARK	Harvard
Right end	SPILLMAN	Brown
Quarterback	LYNCH	Dartmouth
Left halfback	MALLOW	Williams
Right halfback	MALLOW	Williams
Fullback	BARBET	Wash. & Jefferson

Position	Player	College
Ends	NEEDLINGER	Dartmouth
Left tackle	BEIDENK	Penn State
Right tackle	OWEN	Harvard
Center	DICKENSON	Princeton
Left guard	WELSH	Colgate
Right guard	LYNCH	Dartmouth
Right end	ROFF	Wash. & Jefferson
Quarterback	DARLING	Boston College
Left halfback	RAMSEY	Cornell
Right halfback	RAMSEY	Cornell
Fullback	WILSON	Penn State

PENN'S ATHLETICS YIELD LARGE PROFIT

Nineteen Sports Show Gain of $62,000 for Fiscal Year.

Special Dispatch to The New York Herald. PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Dec. 16.—Some idea of the magnitude of the task of conducting intercollegiate athletics at the big universities of the country is revealed in a financial statement just made public by the University of Pennsylvania for the fiscal year which ended on June 30. It does not include the football season just closed. If it did, it would show very much greater profit.

The statement shows that the nineteen sports which Pennsylvania fosters earned a total of $369,781.95 for the academic year of 1921-22. The expenditures were $247,757.32. This shows a net profit for the operation of these sports of $62,024.63. These figures, however, do not include such charges as interest on outstanding bonds, the sinking fund and other charges for the maintenance of Franklin Field. When all these are included the profit for the year is shown to be only $4,938.65.

Only two sports earned a profit. These were football and basketball. Football receipts were $225,058.18, the expenditures $126,323.70, leaving a net profit of $98,734.48. Basketball did not earn as much as the year previous because of expenses in the construction of new stands. This indoor sport, however, had receipts amounting to $2,581.97, against expenditures of $2,508.55, leaving a profit of $73.42.

As usual, the net loss was sustained in rowing. This sport, which has no receipts, ended with a deficit of $24,292.28. The track and relay accounts are lumped. The receipts for the year were $79,967.27, and the expenditures $36,962.83. The expenditures for the track season, including not only the relay carnival but the trip of the four mile relay team to England in March, were $36,962.83. This resulted in a loss of $11,995.56 for the track season.

The board of trustees, which collected a fee of $20 from all male students who were candidates for a degree, this being divided between the gymnasium, Houston Club and the Athletic Council, appropriated $19,000 for athletics. Without that amount the athletic year would have resulted in a deficit.

WEST SIDE'S TENNIS PROPOSAL ACCEPTED

Continued from First Page.

next year and that the put situation was very unfavorable. The quality of put used in rackets in the last year or so has constantly deteriorated, he said, and the manufacturers held out little hope of immediate improvement. A letter was received from Thomas H. Hicks, honorary secretary of the Australian Tennis Association, thanking the United States Lawn Tennis Association for its offer to host the first five ranking players of America to compete in the world's covered court championship, which is to be held at Barcelona, from February 1 to 11. Action on the matter was deferred, however, and the chances are that the invitation will have to be turned down with regret. One reason is that none of the five ranking players is in a position to make a trip to Europe during the winter months.

A resolution was adopted authorizing the United States Lawn Tennis Association to join the recently formed National Amateur Athletic Federation of America and the American Olympic Association. A resolution of sympathy and respect was also adopted on the recent death of the association's secretary, Charles Garland.

Those present at the meeting were Julian S. Myrick, New York, president of the national association; Dwight F. Davis, Washington, vice-president; A. Y. Leach, Washington, treasurer; George Y. Adee, Robert D. Wrenn, R. Clifford Black, Louis B. Dailey and Watson M. Washburn of New York; R. Norris Williams of Philadelphia and Paul W. Gibbons of Philadelphia; Harry S. Knox, Chicago; Edwin Sheafe, Boston; Carleton Y. Smith, Atlanta; and Nathan H. Bandy, Norfolk.

Walter L. Fatio, New York, chairman of the ball committee, was also present by invitation.

Basketball Game To-day.

Many novel features will be introduced when the Pryor Sisters Five, only sister basketball team in the world, opens its home court at Bronx Castle Hall, 149th street and Walton avenue, this afternoon.

EAST GETS EIGHT ON ALL AMERICA

Football Consensus Is Based on Votes of Newspaper Critics.

According to a consensus compiled by the Romeke Agency, the All America football team of 1922, arranged from the votes of newspaper critics, is as follows:

Position	Name and College	Votes
Ends	Gray, Princeton	90
Tackles	Gullian, Brown	87
Guards	Schwab, Lafayette	84
Center	Garbisch, Army	76
Quarterback	Buell, Harvard	72
Halfbacks	Kaw, Cornell	64
Fullback	Owen, Harvard	62
	Locke, Iowa	61

FIRST TEAM.

Position	Name and College	Votes
Ends	Gray, Princeton	90
Tackles	Gullian, Brown	87
Guards	Schwab, Lafayette	84
Center	Garbisch, Army	76
Quarterback	Buell, Harvard	72
Halfbacks	Kaw, Cornell	64
Fullback	Owen, Harvard	62
	Locke, Iowa	61

SECOND TEAM.

Position	Name and College	Votes
Ends	Kirk, Michigan	65
Tackles	Fletcher, Chicago	54
Guards	Below, Wisconsin	57
Center	Brewster, Michigan	50
Quarterback	Bowser, Pittsburgh	53
Halfbacks	Kipke, Michigan	49
Fullback	Williams, Wisconsin	47
	Thomas, Chicago	46

THIRD TEAM.

Position	Name and College	Votes
Ends	Muller, California	54
Tackles	Penfield, Northwestern	54
Guards	Flischer, Chicago	54
Center	Washburn, Iowa	54
Quarterback	Harner, Michigan	50
Halfbacks	Cappon, Michigan	50
Fullback	Martineau, Minnesota	50

FOURTH TEAM.

Position	Name and College	Votes
Ends	Taylor, Navy	41
Tackles	Meredith, Michigan	31
Guards	Washburn, Iowa	40
Center	Washburn, Iowa	42
Quarterback	Washburn, Iowa	41
Halfbacks	Washburn, Iowa	40
Fullback	Washburn, Iowa	41

FIFTH TEAM.

Position	Name and College	Votes
Ends	Kopf, Wash. & Jeff.	31
Tackles	Roberts, Centre	22
Guards	Baker, Princeton	38
Center	Mulligan, Army	34
Quarterback	Cross, Yale	34
Halfbacks	Washburn, Iowa	34
Fullback	Washburn, Iowa	34

Michigan Votes Men

Player	College	Men
Michigan	345	7
Chicago	208	4
Princeton	158	3
Army	138	2
Cornell	126	1
Harvard	114	1
Wisconsin	102	1
Pittsburgh	102	1
Lafayette	102	1
Bowling Green	90	1
Notre Dame	88	1
Yale	88	1
Northwestern	88	