M. MURDOCK & BROTHER, Proprietors. PERSONAL AND LOCAL ITEMS OF NEWS

The grand jury will be in session for eight or ten days. Sells' brother's advertising car No. 2 came in last night over the Santa Fe.

The millinery stock of Mrs. Klantz was moved yesterday to the Dorsey building. Wheat is still declining. From 35 to 50 cents was paid by local buyers on Monday.

The Wichita museum has been opened by Mr. Ed Wood on the corner of Douglas and Topka avenues.

The net profits of the late Catholic picnic was about $250, which will be applied to the church building fund.

The fruit stand in the Zimmerman building near the Ross block, has been moved out and a saloon will take its place.

Mr. Isaac Hamble, of the postoffice, is off for a rest this week, leaving for St. Louis Sunday morning by the 'Frisco.

The best on Sunday and Monday was the principal subject of conversation. The mercury rose to 102 on Sunday, and to 96 on Monday.

Dr. McDonald, a prominent druggist, physician and surgeon, of Harper, bought a new Conover patent right piano of Ion Arnold & Co. last week.

The Kansas Furniture House of Moffett & Hartzell have turned out on the street in connection with their trade a handsome delivery furniture wagon.

The stringency in money matters among the farmers consequent upon the low price of grain is having a depressing effect on the Wichita live stock market.

A. C. Robinson will sell at Garden Plain, Tuesday, Sept. 16, about 100 head of cattle, consisting of cows, heifers and calves, including some fine milk cows.

A good wide sidewalk was laid yesterday from the corner of Topka and Douglas avenue to the alley by the livery stable. A long suffering public is now thankful.

Rev. G. M. Kelley preached an eloquent sermon Sunday evening in the Catholic church, on the passage of scripture which says, "No man can serve two masters."

We wonder what George Gregg meant by saying that Ed Dorsey and the commissioners of Sedgewick county could not buy him for twelve hundred dollars a year.

The new wholesale dry goods firm of W. W. Johnson & Co. received seven carloads of dry goods on Saturday over the 'Frisco road. The shipment weighed over 120,000 pounds.

Yesterday while Robert Arthur was sitting in his buggy talking to a friend, an express wagon was driven so near his buggy that the wheels locked and one of the buggy wheels was taken off.

Mr. Dwight Beach, of Valley Center, was around yesterday insisting that we hadn't had a square view of the presidential situation, but we were compelled to decline any further light on the subject.

Arrangements are being perfected for the establishment of a bank at Valley Center. That town has always handled a great amount of grain, lumber, hogs, cattle and so forth, and a regular banking institution will prove a great convenience.

Rev. C. W. Blake, who occupied the pulpit of the Presbyterian church last Sunday, is a nephew of James H. Toole, of this city. He is a graduate of Park college, Park Hill, Mo.

Mr. Blake and his mother have spent a week here visiting Mr. Toole. They left yesterday morning for Osage City.

Mr. McGrath, of St. Louis, who is extensively interested in Colorado mines, and a warm friend of William Mathewson, spent Sunday and Monday in the city. Mr. McGrath said he expected to find a prairie-land on the contrary he found one of the densest forest cities he ever saw.

In conversation with our reporter yesterday, Major Powell remarked that he had control of enough money to extend the street railway in any direction that the business of the city may warrant. Just which way and how far the road will be extended Mr. Powell is not now prepared to say.

Some brats of the man persuasion came to the Kennedy house on Fourth avenue Saturday night, unannounced around to the kitchen and insulted the domestics. Mr. Kennedy fired him out. Mr. Kennedy came in soon after and learning the particulars went out to find the fellow. He soon discovered him on the corner of Douglas avenue, walked up and knocked him out of time in one round, largely of Queensbury rules. Rally for John.

At the city council chamber last night, some one in discussing the water works question asserted that the editor of the Eagle, who lives beyond the city limits, had used his influence to get a hydrant placed near his home. That is an entire mistake. We did no such thing. We never even spoke to the water works company, its manager or superintendent on the question. Don't kick before you are pricked.

From Mr. El Brown we learn that a German farmer named Han, living one mile south of Germania was killed by the accidental discharge of a shotgun on Friday. It seems that he was loading hay in the field with his boy, when the latter handed the shotgun up—which the former took hold of by the muzzle. As he pulled it towards him the lock caught in the trigger on the wagon rack, discharging the shot, the contents passing entirely through his chest, or breast coming out at the back. The poor man managed to reach his home but fell dead in the doorway.

Mr. D. T. Baker, a workman in the blacksmith shop of Mounts & Taylor, on east Douglas avenue, was taken very suddenly yesterday, while at his work, with a spasmodic affection of the muscles, and for several hours lay in a precarious condition. Dr. T. D. Davis was called and kept several men employed for two or three hours over the sick man, who at last succumbed to the disease.

Miss Fannie L. Morse, who has been the book keeper of the establishment for some time, left for Greenwood county yesterday morning, where she goes to visit relatives for a week, after which she returns to Emporia to take her old position in the city schools, to which she has been re-elected by the board of education at a salary of fifty dollars a month. Miss Morse is a most intelligent young lady, in truth, gifted and cultured, of whose head and heart the public will, some day, learn through her own pen.

The bright little baby of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel McKenna, died yesterday afternoon of dysentery or cholera infantum. Little Leonard was a beautiful child, bright and winsome, and when he closed his trusting little eyes in death and planned his spirit wings for his heavenly flight to heaven and to the tender arms of Him who suffer them to come unto me, the heartstrings of those who had watched him from the hour he first looked into their eyes until he closed them upon earth, were almost broken. The little body—only the casket which held the jewel will be carried away this afternoon at 2 o'clock from that sorrowing home and laid to rest away.

I could not comfort; my lips were dumb; I could only her sorrow share. Why should I whisper of heaven above? She knew her child was there.

The city council has ordered property owners to pay up the numbers of their houses, and have authorized Messrs. North and Dockson to plat the city and assign the numbers. All parties should call and see them, next door to postoffice upstairs.

Mr. David Hays left in our office a basket of seedling peaches gathered from trees on his home place. He says that he knows they are seedlings as they came up from pits thrown out in the yard, but they would pass for cultivated fruit in any other country, some of them measuring eight and three-fourths inches. They are late clings, just getting ripe, and were very sweet and juicy.

WELLINGTON, Kan., Sept. 8, 1884. To the Editor of the Daily Eagle: On my way over here this morning a gentleman took the sentiments of the passengers on the presidential question with the following result: Blaine 70, Cleveland 32, Butler 6, St. John 3, no choice 6. I find this to be about a fair expression. The gentleman should take an expression on Dorsey.

Respectfully Yours, R. J. Brooks.

Mr. J. A. Kindred, of Goddard, night before last, had a pair of mules, harness and wagon stolen from him. He came to this city and put the matter into the hands of J. C. McMahan, the detective, who after taking the proper steps made a search of the town. The mules were found at the city car stables. McMahan, who is now on the track of the thief, seems to understand his business, at least his work and the recommendations and references which he brought with him would indicate as much.

Mr. T. L. Lunnix is suffering from a painful accident. A customer came into his store and inquired for a cheap revolver and Mr. L. showed him one which was loaded and had been laid away. The man laid the loaded revolver among some others on the counter and Mr. Lunnix, not knowing it, picked it up and discharged it, the ball passing in near the thumb and out between the second and third fingers. No bones were broken. The wound was dressed by Dr. Bentz.

About noon yesterday a dispute arose between the barkeeper of the Brunswick Billiard Hall and three or four rustic looking chaps, who had been playing pool and who, as the barkeeper alleges, were going off without paying for five games. They were moving off up Douglas avenue when the saloon man made such hostile demonstrations that one of the lads gave him fifty cents. This so enraged one of them, that he called on his fellows to stand by him and he would go in and smash everything about the bar and scatter the walls with that fellow's blood. The proprietor not seeming to fancy that style of decoration returned part of the money.

THE SOCIAL LAST NIGHT. About fifty or sixty young people gathered last evening at the rooms of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. Besides the rooms of the union, Messrs. H. P. Friend & Co. threw open their real estate rooms for the accommodation of the people.

The literary and musical programme, although not long, was excellent. Mrs. H. W. Abbott sang "Birds in a Brambling Song," which gave great satisfaction. She was followed by Mrs. M. E. Lease in a forcible recitation, "Sabbath vs. Women." Prof. Archibuckle then sang "Save the Boys," and followed it with an imitation of a brass band, which brought down the house. The balance of the evening was spent in conversation and partaking of refreshments.

SCHOOL OF ART AND MUSIC. Large and pleasant rooms in the fine, new building of Mr. Finch have been leased by the Art Institute, to be organized by Miss Anna L. Jackson and her friend Miss Hunt, an expert teacher and enthusiastic student and worker in art, also for the classes in music to be organized under the direction of Mrs. Eugenia B. Harding, who expects to be here by the 20th inst. Miss Jackson is urging so accomplished an artist as Miss Hunt to come with her to this place, believing that the people of Wichita will appreciate their efforts to give here as complete and thorough course of instruction in art as can be had in the best art schools in the eastern cities, and at very much less expense. And why not? If proper encouragement is given an art institute will be chartered and developed here such as will be an honor and an attraction to the city. They expect to be here ready for work by the middle of the month.

Mrs. Harding comes at the invitation of those who know something of her as a cultured lady, a fine singer and teacher of voice culture, and performer on piano and pipe organ. Her testimonials include professors of the New England conservatories, where she graduated with a very high grade in harmony and theory. Bishop Parker, of New Orleans, and others knew her personally as student, singer, and successful teacher of music in the seminary.

People in both vocal and instrumental music will be instructed from the beginning according to the best conservatory methods. But more especially as a teacher of vocal music she has been invited to come to this city, as so many of our young people seem to be neglecting any proper training of their voices. A class is already being formed. We understand Mr. Inboden can give particulars.

FIVE DOLLARS WONT GO. The session, instead of mainly meeting the factiousness and logic of the Eagle's "Frisco man," begs the whole question and offers to give five dollars to the "Women's Christian Temperance Union" if we will trot our Irishman out. Such subterfuges will not avail our cotemporary anything. He knows well enough, as does everybody else, there is no such organization as named by him here or elsewhere. What is the use? If you can't meet our man on his own ground, don't try to win five dollar bets.

COURT NOTES. The following cases came before Justice Hobbs yesterday: State of Kansas vs. Mrs. John Sullard and David Schert. Assault. Continued until the 11th at 9 a. m. Stanley & Wall for the defense.

Mrs. Julia Rice vs. John Snysor. Hutton, Ruggles & Parsons for plaintiff; Stanley & Wall for defense. This is an action in replevin to establish the identity of a certain mare now in possession of defendant, which the plaintiff alleges is one that was stolen from her premises about five miles from Topeka, August 8, 1884, and which her brother discovered last July in the possession of Mrs. Snysor. A jury was empanelled and the case was called at 8 p. m. There were witnesses present from Missouri and Topeka. After examining several witnesses court adjourned until 10 o'clock this morning.

JUDGE GLENN'S COURT. Two plain drunks, they deposited $5 each and were allowed to go and "smile" before Schlatter & McCarty and J. A. Keeler were before his honor for selling liquor without license. They added $50 and costs each to the city pocket book.

WRECK ON THE 'FRISCO. The west bound freight train No. 35, on the St. Louis & San Francisco railroad, due here at noon Sunday, was badly wrecked about one and a half miles east of this city. The trouble was a broken wheel. Seven cars were derailed and more or less smashed up. One car was so badly demolished that it was left beside the track. About three hundred feet of the track was torn up, and the ties so badly smashed as to be useless. In consequence of the wreck, the St. Louis express, due here at 6 p. m. Sunday, did not reach the station until two o'clock yesterday morning. The city omnibus drove out to the delayed train and brought the passengers to the city.
