Capt. Ogwood, of Anthony, was in the city yesterday.

Mr. W. M. Speck, of Argonia, made the Eagle a pleasant call.

The walls of the Dean and Brown blocks have reached the first story.

Councilman J. P. Allen turned out yesterday evening in a fine family carriage.

O. H. Bentley leaves this morning for Eureka with a view of purchasing real estate there.

The war talk and short reports seem to give almost an upward trend. Its about time.

Mrs. Wm. T. Drew, from Burlington, arrived last night and is registered at the Occidental.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Bayne and Miss Kate Bayne of Anthony, were at the Occidental yesterday.

There were a dozen loads of new hay in the market yesterday, and it is now down to $5 and $6 per ton.

Eldridge & Co. bought two carloads of fine fat hogs yesterday, and shipped two more to Kansas City.

Miss Gertrude Jenkins, Topeka; Miss Kate Redford, Wellington, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Cox, at the Occidental.

The dispatch from Arkansas City is but a confirmation or rather repetition of the Eagle's special of last week.

Yesterday and the day before were two of the duller days for business that have gone over Wichita's head in a long time.

Mr. Allen McVicker and R. F. Coates have opened a real estate and loan office on the corner of First and main street-upstairs.

The street commissioner was putting in a road six feet wide, crossing at the intersection of Douglas and Fourth avenues yesterday.

J. M. Grove, H. P. Cooper and R. W. McCombs, prominent business men of Saratoga, were in the city yesterday and were guests at the Occidental.

Bella Shertle, a boy ten years old residing with his parents on River street, had his legs terribly lacerated yesterday by a pet coon that attacked him. That is a bad coon.

Charles Klamborg, of New York city, who purchased the residence of Rev. T. M. Gates, on Emporia avenue, arrived Tuesday and will make Wichita his permanent home.

Fighting still continues to be a favorite pastime with the boys, and at least one of them has been pretty badly used up. Nobody appears to be making any money at it.

We are under obligations to the Turnverein Vorwerk society for a complimentary to their second picnic, to be held at Greifenstein's park Saturday next, the 18th inst.

Somebody dropped a leaden bullet on the steps of the county building yesterday afternoon and it melted into a solder in ten minutes. This is wondered for by Hank Heideman.

United States Commissioner Frank Shearman returned home night before last, so the United States marshal at Arkansas City can come on with his prisoners as soon as he pleases.

Kinmerle & Adams shipped a splendid tombstone to Kingman yesterday, consigned to Mayor Misner of that city, designed for the grave of his late wife. It is a very fine stone.

Some tramps broke into the Third ward school house night before last and scattered things around generally, breaking up some of the furniture, and plastering dirt and silt upon the seats and desks.

Harry Hill sold a whole car load of this year's colts at an average of $7 each, yesterday. Al Knudler, the old ruttler, is on deck at the horse and mule market again and business is booming.

Mr. J. L. McNeil found a gold-plated chain and chain near the W. & W. railway track just after the fire on Tuesday. The owner can find Mr. McNeil at Bishop Bros' restaurant, Douglas avenue.

G. Zimmerman returned last evening from a trip to the southwest and reports everything in the vicinity of Kiowa and Hazleton quiet so far as Indians are concerned, but the whole country is on a boom.

Frank Selin, whose carpenter-shop was burned day before yesterday, began building it again yesterday. The carpenters about town turned in and helped their fellow carpenter to rebuild his shop.

No oppression was the heat yesterday that the whole town had not enough energy to do anything that reached the proportions of a good news item and reporters had not sufficient vitality to manufacture one.

Mrs. Wm. N. Drew, wife of Capt. Drew, the United States land examiner, who will be detained probably six weeks in this city in connection with some important land suits, will arrive in the city to-night and remain with her husband.

Mr. A. R. Gore of the ice cream parlors on Main street has been advertising for a girl some time, but Mrs. Gore presented him with a girl yesterday morning that he won't have to pay any wages to. The new girl weighs eight and a half pounds. Mother and child doing well.

J. T. Campbell & Co. have a standing order for 100,000 Santa Fe Route cigars per month. They give a very fine porcelain cigar lamp with each 1,000 and they are having a big run on these cigars. With other brands they give an American Bull Dog revolver, and with another a water tank.

Notwithstanding the oppressive weather the health of the city is excellent. We see by our exchanges that there is quite a startling mortality in some places in western towns, bowel troubles predominating among children. While many of the children of this city are more less afflicted in that particular it is not of a serious character.

Mr. Ad. N. Jones telephoned the Eagle office yesterday evening, which is equivalent to telling about ten thousand people, that the trains were all on time, bridges all secure and no late washouts, and that Mrs. Ad. N. had just filled the cup of joy by presenting him with a ten-pound heir apparent to the house of Jones. Every engine that comes out of here on that road today will carry an extra-sized runfower.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Richey met the immortal J. N. on the train at Matton, Ill., and he gave them some notes to prominent people in this city who he regards as friends. Of course J. N. regards anyone who talks with him as a friend. The notes are not readable in English, but, though can be gathered to all that he will raise the wall in Wichita at some time in the future. J. N. is a good one, or, to draw more heavily on classic language, he is a dandy.

SAMBO AND JOHN CHINAMAN

Charley Sing is the proprietor of a laundry on Douglas avenue. Mr. Sing has uncles, cousins, but no aunts, who assist him in his business. He has two new arrivals from the Flowery Kingdom, kinsfolk, who, believing the said Charley Sing to be a big man among the Americans, do exactly as he says. They get their English from Charley and a good part of their Chinese. In the pursuit of their laundry business they command a large custom and the vacant lot adjoining their business is white with the snowflake lions that they have applied their skill on. In the cool of the evening they sit on the porch, resting their weary bodies in the native Chinese customs, on the shady side of their business house.

Now for some cause a colored barber who plies his razor next door has taken an antipathy to the aforesaid Chinese. The baggy trousers, long pig tails and almond eyes of these children of the Celestial Empire seem to awaken in this coon's breast the spirit of war and rapine. So it transpired Tuesday evening that when the colored gentleman of African descent paid his accustomed visit to John Chinaman's place, Chinaman, now there is a fight on the spot. Chinaman, who has a fine collection of the native Chinese customs, on the shady side of their business house.

Scarcely a day passes without a picnic at the horse and mule market. Harry Hill has a lot of Indian and Mexican ponies, some of which are dandies at their business, which consists principally of unloading those who have the timidity to attempt a voyage on their hazardous deck. Yesterday a well known horseman, whose name we will not give away, engaged for a cruise on one of these, whose actions were strongly suggestive of a storm-wheeler. By the time he had his orange on board and the craft was well under way, the vessel struck a swell and tossed for and aft, until the passenger lost his grip on the rigging and came down on the solid strop upon the post meridian of his spinal column.

Squire Ross says he has corn on his place which is higher than a man's head on horseback. We don't doubt it. We never saw such corn as the valley grows, and this year's crop promises to exceed any former year. Coming in from the east line of the state traveler tell us that the corn stands higher in each county as progress is made westward until this valley is reached, when the crop falls every other section in the shade. Ex-Commissioner Steenrod tells us that out of curiosity he measured the growth of a hill of corn on his place in twenty-four hours and the result was six and one-half inches.

About a dozen Indians with thirty ponies camped four miles south of town night before last. If that thing had been properly worked up that night, what a splendid Indian scare we could have had, and O, such exciting press dispatches. The opportunity has flown, nevertheless the thing is a pity. If it had been properly worked up, the ponies away in anticipation of trouble, the wily redskins having grasped the idea that their stock would be safe from both the Indians and government outside the territory.

The handsome wind mill at the west end of the Arkansas river bridge has been especially arranged for a perpetual advertising board. It is on the west approach to the city, before purchases have been made and suggests previously the place to buy. The county fair, soon to be held on that side of the river, will make this the "boon" advertising board of the city. Space sold reasonably and going rapidly. Inquire at the drug store four doors west of the bridge. 447-14

I will give $5 to know who has a three-spring wagon with shafts that C. W. Waller, a peck-marked man, sold or traded in Wichita within the last two months. Address, W. B. KNORR, Douglas, Kas. 446-61

Col. Woodcock, assistant adjutant general of the G. A. R., since his return from the reunion finds a vast quantity of correspondence of an official nature accumulated during his absence. Nearly 1,000 letters are to be answered and quarterly reports are to be attended to, constituting a very large amount of clerical work in his department.

Lon C. Woodrow, who has been connected with the Eagle press rooms for some time and who seems quite a genius in some directions, has been taking lessons of Prof. Haas in free hand portrait drawing and painting. For a subject he uses a cabinet photograph. He has just finished two life-size portraits, one of a lady and the other of Robt. J. Ingersoll. The result of his labor is but little short of astonishing. For finish, for truth and life-like expression, his work exceeds that for which fifty and seventy-five dollars have been charged by artists who have visited this city. Young Woodrow has never made art a study and knows nothing of the principles of portraiture other than that which has been imparted to him in a few lessons by Prof. Haas. In a short time Lon ought to be able to take orders from anybody.

The great success which has attended the rise of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and the probability of an epidemic of cholera during the coming summer, have induced the proprietors to put up their famous preparation in three sizes—25 and 50 cents and $1. Every family should keep it on hand. Sold by all druggists. 312

"By the bye," says Gen. A. Broadbent, editor of the Tonganoo, Kan. Mirror, "you can say that the bottle of Chamberlain's colic, cholera and diarrhoea remedy left me by your agent two days ago, and that I feel better than I have ever felt. I have no doubt but that it saved my oldest son's life." The doctor claims that there is nothing like having the great life preserver at hand at the right time. It is put up in 25 cent, 50 cent and $1 bottles. Sold by all druggists. 424
