There will be a meeting Monday night, at 8:30, of the Song Verein Argonauts, at John Nann's Germania house. All the boys who can sing are invited.

The minutes of the last meeting of the city council occupied ten pages of the record book. The meeting in question did not adjourn until after 1 o'clock a. m.

A petition will be presented to the board of council at the next meeting to condemn ten feet of Central avenue from the alley west of Water street to the Arkansas river.

Dr. N. Brokaw, of St. Joe, left for home last night after taking in the western county. He has not fully decided where he will locate, but will soon return and investigate further.

The Woman's Relief Corps of Garfield Post No. 40 will have charge of the dining hall privileges at the fair. This is a gratuity that plenty of good things will be had at the fair.

The social held at the residence of Messrs. J. F. McConnell and H. W. Shaffer last Friday night in aid of the West Wichita Sunday school, was socially and financially a grand success.

Benjamin Forest of Erie township, came home from a six week's visit to his old home in Will county, Ill., yesterday. Mr. Forest is one of the substantial farmers of this county. He prefers sunny Kansas to Illinois.

The Poeria, Ill., National Democrat contains a quarter column account of the death of Mr. Darrow Senlow, of that city, from consumption of the brain, sustained by a fall. He was an uncle of Officer Frank Heinke, of this city.

To the Editor of the Eagle: To those who made donations for the social on Friday evening, and to those who so kindly assisted on that evening, thanks are extended by Mrs. J. F. McConnell and Mrs. H. W. Shaffer.

Dr. Tebo leaves for Mount Sterling, Ill., to-morrow morning for the purpose of disposing of all his effects in Illinois and making further investment in this city. Dr. C. Allen, his partner, will attend to his patients in his absence.

Squire Ross, of Clearwater, was in town yesterday and said he would now enjoy himself as a gentleman of leisure, having sold all his personal property. Ross says that this is the first time in fifteen years that he has been free from care.

The great New York artist skipped as soon as the Eagle gave him away, but the Cattle King of Arizona got away before we were positive he was a fraud. The Eagle is a terror to frauds and dead beats and when she screams these fellows think Wichita a good place to leave.

Mr. Wm. Ross, familiarly known as the bard of the Ninneschaw, came in from Clearwater yesterday and spent the day among his numerous friends. It was a noticeable fact that friend Ross had very recently encased himself in a new suit of fine, neatly fitting clothes, and he was acknowledged as the slickest looking granger in town, by a large majority.

The police court had but one case yesterday, that of Wm. Pray, of the Commercial house, who was charged with allowing water from his hotel to run into the gutter and form a stagnant pool. After testimony of witnesses he was fined $5 and costs. The officers of the court thereupon determined to pull a number of other hotel keepers for like offenses.

Dr. R. A. Guyton has bought a residence property of Mr. F. Wilcox, corner of Water and Oak streets, paying him for it $2,200. Dr. Guyton, Sr., and his son, Dr. D. W. Guyton, are formerly of Bakinora, Md., but Dr. Guyton, Sr., has been practicing in Sioux City, Iowa, for the last five years. They will open office at once, probably on Main street.

ANOTHER SPLENDID RESIDENCE.

Perhaps the most complete, conveniently arranged and beautiful residence of all the fine residences of which we have mentioned in these columns, is that of Mr. R. H. Boys No. 623 North Lawrence avenue. This fine structure is of brick and in general outline is about thirty feet square and two stories high. It is built on a very fine site 150 feet square, which is being graded and prepared for a beautiful lawn. The building has just been completed and furnished, but the walks are not yet down and the space directly in front is not yet graded. The site is one of the most fashionable neighborhoods on that beautiful avenue, and this new addition to its attractiveness is the most imposing and beautiful structure on the street.

The style of architecture might be termed the architectural Queen Anne. The exterior walls are of an irregular octagonal shape. The cornice, windows and porticoes are artistic and beautiful, and the exterior view might well be styled grand. In the facade two fine plate glass windows with side wings and crown molding are each of such stone look out on Lawrence avenue. This wing projects two feet out beyond the north wing, in which is the entrance, and presents an end to the front, in the gable of which is a double window of varied colored mosaic tile, a decorative ornament of real beauty. A neat little portico crowns the entrance. Inside, the interior is in a spacious and beautiful hall, into which all the rooms on the ground floor open, and in which is the entrance to a noble, broad platform stairs, with four fine pilasters and deep steps.

At the left of the ante hall is the entrance to the parlor and reception room, a commodious, beautifully arranged and elegantly furnished apartment through which one can reach the dining room and the kitchen. These apartments are laid with Wilton velvet carpet, bought at Finlay Ross' furniture emporium on Main street. They are furnished with magnificent chandeliers and a fire place with beautiful marble mantel and facing, furnished by O. B. Stocker. The drawing room looks out upon the grounds at the south side through a noble bay window, and it also opens into the spacious dining room by sliding doors, so that these main apartments of the lower floor can be thrown open so as to make one apartment. The carpet in the dining room is Brussels. The latter room is handsomely furnished and appropriately decorated with fine pieces and other ornamentation.

The family bed chamber is at the rear of the drawing room and opens into it and the main hall. It is a very commodious chamber and furnished in a style in harmony with the whole. The kitchen, a fine large, airy room, complete in all its appointments and supplied with a splendid range and a steam heater. All the main apartments are handsomely furnished with steam heaters. There is a family closet with marble finish on the lower floor near the family chamber and another on the upper floor adjoining a fine bath room. A trap door opens from the dining room to the kitchen. The battery is conveniently arranged as any we have seen—in fact, the whole structure is very convenient in its appointments, and Mrs. Boys informed our reporter that his motive was to construct a comfortable home rather than a magnificent establishment.

The basement is divided into five apartments, in one of which is the heating furnace. Retracing our steps to the main hall we ascend the broad stairs with its rich carpet and find ourselves in a broad hall. This floor is like the lower one, divided into five principal apartments, all opening into the main hall. The principal of these is a commodious library room and general business room. A fine, large apartment on the north side for Mr. Ray's mother, which is elegantly fitted up and connected by a hall with the south side of the house. There is a bath room on the second floor. In fact all the principal apartments are so arranged as to admit the south breeze. There is a closet or clothes press joined to every chamber. The whole house is supplied with hot and cold water and a marble-cased fire place. The arrangements for supplying water are peculiar and original. There is an attic cistern with a filter that holds twenty barrels, which is intended for the bed room. There is an outside cistern of 150 barrels capacity, and then there is the water works connection, so there can be no danger of a water famine. Having made but a very brief inspection of this fine home our description is necessarily imperfect. Terry & Dumont are the architects and Mr. Stenberg the builder. The structure, independent of furniture cost a little less than $10,000. It is a model of perfection, convenience and beauty.

AN EXAMINATION.

To the Editor of the Eagle: The examination of the teachers who are applicants for positions in our city schools was held Friday and Saturday. We quickly slipped into the town Saturday morning and there beheld twenty-five teachers very busy trying to unravel a list of questions on geography. The questions were rather concise, i. e., as compared with the answers which they called for. Some of the teachers were of the opinion that it would require four pages of legal cap to contain a full answer to some of the questions which Lawyer Hatfield had given them.

About 10 o'clock the teachers were finishing up geography and Mr. Hatfield began writing a list of U. S. history questions on the board. Then we could see in the countenances of the teachers the unuttered petition, "give us no light."

Some of the teachers expressed a hope that the examination would not be so long as to keep them after 10 o'clock on Sunday, as they would like to go to church. We were convinced by what we saw that the examination is surely not an easy one. The "mill" of that board grinds slowly and it grinds exceedingly hard.

Several of the institute brethren were in visiting the examination while we were in. Mr. Barry was one of the number.

ELEGANT RIGS.

The southwestern carriage repository, of Parkinson, Glouet & Kelly, is becoming noted for elegant carriages of all sorts. Their immense warehouse is now filled with a stock of the most bugies and carriages ever brought to this city. Among the last and most beautiful is a double seated buggy similar to the one mentioned in the Eagle a week ago. No finer vehicle of that make was ever seen in this city, also a folding seat Rockaway, from the famous James Cunningham & Sons, carriage works, Rochester, New York. This is a dandy, of the best material, with silk trimmings and rich and beautiful upholstery. It can be closed so as to make it storm proof. We lack space for a full description. Go and see it.

HORSE THIEF CAUGHT.

Sheriff George McIntyre, of Cowley county, is now getting led. He arrived here night before last as stated in the Eagle; left yesterday morning for Greenwich and got back on the 6 p. m. train last evening with him, James Whitehead, a noted horse thief, who he lodged last night at the hotel de Fisher. For a steady old country Cowley a sheriff who is a dandy at his business.

HOO CHOLERA CURED.

A gentleman who has had an extensive experience in the hog cholera business called on the Eagle yesterday afternoon and left the following prescription: Drive the hog cholera virus and put them in a new four or five miles and wash the hog cholera virus and nothing more is necessary to stay it.

ABOUGS CATTLE KING

Who rode the High Horse in Wichita a Whole Week, but did not get away With Much Boole.

When a city becomes noted abroad as a booming red hot town every imaginable species of frauds select it as a good field for their operations. The past week or two has been rich in incident of this kind. There was a Major the bogus artist and painter who skipped out when the Eagle exposed him, but the boss fraud was the fellow who sailed under the cognomen of Benjamin Bradley, the millionaire Cattle King of the Chino Valley, Arizona, who has been flying high in the past two weeks, but who skipped yesterday morning leaving his name good for amounts variously estimated at $600, but a careful investigation discovers only about $200 actually got away with.

The alleged Bradley is rather a gentlemanly appearing man, about 35 years old, of good address, and as one man expresses it, "oil finish." He kept rather quiet in town a few days, starting out on the lay of the land and then came out to buy all the cattle in the county; all the fine teams and carriages in town. He represented himself to be a big cattle king of the Chino Valley, Arizona, and the owner of a big ranch with thousands of cattle not far from Prescott, that territory. He said he had been sick some time and had run out of cash. He employed a physician and reports says borrowed, some say $25 and some say $100 from him. He went to one of our jewelry stores and bought a fine gold watch and chain and engaged a jeweler to the amount of about $500. At least, this jeweler told a brother in the trade that he had sold that amount to one man. The jeweler, who is a Jew, and all his prospective victims was that his son had sold cattle had brought in $50,000, then he would pay everything and buy more. It is needless to say the draft never came. Following is a list of his purchases on this racket, as far as our reporter could gather:

W. P. Poppeno, one pair of black horses, $500; Harry Hill, pair spotted ponies, $200; Parkinson, Glouet & Kelly, three fine rigs, $900; Bush & Rodgers, fine team, $500; John Ross' cattle, Major Ross' cattle, and almost everything Mr. Alley, a brother of J. H. Alley, had on his place, so that he was about to discharge his help and suspend business altogether. From this it was deterred, however, by the advice of friends, until the capital was shown up. The jeweler who made the big sale was the principal loser, but his loss was not near what it would have been had he not become a little suspicious and taken back the fine gold watch and gave him a cheaper one. The chain and watch he got away with were worth about $100. He got a $25 suit at Bittling Bros., and was to make them a present of a $75 cow. It is said that he got $25, and others say $100, from Dr. Furley, and was to make him a present of a fine team. Dr. Kirkland, at Bush & Rodgers', who is acquainted in the country he hailed from, was taken in because the fellow named several men he knew in that country. Doc stood good for his word for such small favors he was to be taken to the Chino valley and set up in the ranch business to be converted into a millionaire. He also contemplated marriage and in one of Parkinson, Glouet & Kelly's fine carriages and Bush & Rodgers' high stepers was going for a wife.

His woman friend, at least in one family, was frustrated by the fact of the family who was satisfied he was a fraud. John Kelly, of the Southwestern carriage repository bought him at $3.50 whip. It is impossible to ascertain just how much he got away with because the victims are ashamed of it and claim they got everything back. The list of transactions named is not all, but the rest are comparatively small. He showed letters and dispatches alleged to have been received from his son. It is generally supposed he intended to work in some heavy draft in those transactions and get the excess of his purchases in cash, then skip, but he probably saw that his prospective dupes were getting suspicious and he skipped, yesterday morning. The last seen of him was at 12 o'clock the night before. He then said he was going out in the country to look at some more cattle.

KANSAS MINSTRELS AT THE OPERA HOUSE.

The opera house was full-packed until there was not standing room last night. To say that the music and song, full, rich and melodious is no exaggeration. The true old time plantation "Nigger" was there in the rich reality—true as nature itself. The renowned Billie Kersand had favorite place and struck at once the chord of popular favor. The song, dance was a master piece of minstrelsy and the house roared and laughed and clapped their hands in approbation. The rich voices, the splendid vocal renditions was a new treat to the black. Zouze had the most novel and interesting piece of musical drill presented on the stage in the way. As a minstrel troupe it is of rare excellence superb. They will capture the city and strike a popular chord from its original and its perfect conception of negro minstrelsy.

The new stone sawing mill at Wichita has just been completed by the Augusta Stone company for their supplies of stone. As it is expected that this new enterprise will largely increase the use of stone in Wichita, it will increase the output of our quarries—Augusta Stone Light.

The time will soon come, is now about here, when cut stone will be largely used in Wichita for fronts. The work, so far as we are capable of judging, of the steam stone saw mill alluded to is of a first-class character and very cheap for stone work as compared to the work of the mallet and chisel.

HOODS FOR THE CALE.

A gentleman who has had an extensive experience in the hog cholera business called on the Eagle yesterday afternoon and left the following prescription: Drive the hog cholera virus and put them in a new four or five miles and wash the hog cholera virus and nothing more is necessary to stay it.

DISTRICT COURT.

David Watkins, a native of Hold Hingland, was admitted to the full degree of American citizenship yesterday.

The following cases were filed in the district clerk's office yesterday:

C. L. Buffon vs. S. P. Judson et al., suit on promissory note for $800; E. A. Walmsey vs. A. McDougal, suit on note.

James Fulmer filed a suit against the gas company praying for $1,500 damages to his business by reason of injury sustained by injury to his blacksmith stand and poisoning water under his premises by reason of tar, tar-water and other refuse from the gas works.

The district judge will hear a motion in the injunction suit of H. O. Burleigh and the city, Monday.

THE ARIONS.

One of the largest societies that has graced the opera house for some time assembled last evening to greet the Arion Bell Ringers, and an audience never was more thoroughly and pleasingly entertained in this city. It often occurs that people pay 50 cents and even a dollar to attend an entertainment that cannot compare with it in excellence. The small admission and excellent character of the entertainment should be efficacious in packing the house every night. It is a matter of regret that this company has not been sufficiently appreciated. Everybody go to-night and enjoy a first-class entertainment—Dabague Times.

INDEPENDENT PARTY.

A called meeting of the friends of a new political party, to be known as the Independent People's party, was held in the city yesterday afternoon, with Mr. E. S. Tyler, of Kechi township, in the chair. After reading the call discussion of the proposition to continue the organization was opened. Speeches were made by Judge Fisher, W. H. Hanson, G. E. Rawlins, Dr. M. A. Pratt, M. A. Balph, Wm. Baker, and others. The only line which virtually makes no charge for their cars to St. Louis or Chicago, other lines charge two dollars. Passengers ticketed through and baggage checked to destination.

RUNAWAY.

Yesterday evening at 6 o'clock a team of mules with a load of hay became frightened back of the Manhattan hotel and ran through the alley on the corner of Topeka and in the alley they struck the telephone pole with one wheel completely smashing it. One mule got loose from the wagon and ran down the street at a two forty pace with a whippletree hanging and rattling at his heels. It was a general smash-up.
