

PLANS FOR ATHLETICS

Championship Games at Jamestown Exposition Next Year.

JAMES E. SULLIVAN DIRECTOR

Noted Promoter of Athletic Events
Accepts Invitation For Governors—
Oldest Man in Virginia May Be Brought to Fair.

The Board of Governors of the Jamestown Exposition has approved the plans of R. H. Sexton, chief of the department of special events for the great championship athletic games to be held at the exposition next year. James E. Sullivan, of New York, has been offered and has accepted the position of honorary director of the athletic events.

Mr. Sullivan is one of the most noted athletic directors in America. He was commissioner from United States to the Olympia games recently held in Athens, Greece. He has been president of various large athletic associations in the North and the moving spirit in promoting athletic sports in America.

The Amateur Athletic Union, which will be asked to enter the contest, is composed of the New England Association, the Metropolitan Association, the Central Association, the Western Association, the Southern Association, the Pacific Association, the Atlantic Association, the Pacific Northwestern Association, the Fencers' League, the National Skating Association, the Inter-Collegiate A. A. A., the Young Men's Christian Association, the Canadian A. A. U., the Military Athletic League, the North American Gymnastic Union and others.

Oldest Man in Virginia.
An effort will be made to bring "Uncle" Life Jones, an old negro of Rappahannock county, to the Jamestown town exhibition. "Uncle" Life is 112 years old and is said to be the oldest man in the State. He was owned by the late Colonel Jaquelin Ambler, who at one time owned Jamestown Island.

Coming to Jamestown, An Associated Press dispatch from Boston says:

"The bureau of statisticians of labor, which has been holding its annual convention here this week today re-elected Charles P. Neill, of Washington, as president; W. L. A. Johnson, of Kansas City, was elected secretary. It was decided to hold the next annual conference at the Jamestown Exposition."

CANCER DISCOVERIES.

Important Advance Made in Work at London Laboratory.

LONDON, July 28.—As the result of experiments on mice, the superintendent of the Imperial Cancer Research Fund Laboratory announced today at a meeting of the subscribers to the fund that the prospects of discovering the origin of cancer were more hopeful than ever.

Experts, he added, were now able to reproduce in mice all the features of spontaneous cancer, and to protect healthy mice from the consequences by inoculation. Out of a hundred mice inoculated to produce the disease ninety developed tumors, but in the protected animals no tumors occurred.

It has also been found that the body fluids of protected mice injected into mice with experimental cancer retarded the growth of well established tumors. The superintendent pointed out that the experiments must be carried further before it could be ascertained whether they would have any bearing on the treatment of the disease in mankind.

A Proposal.

"Yes," he said, "I'm in love."
"Huh!" she replied scornfully. "I wouldn't care to be you."
"And I wouldn't like you to be."
"I'd rather you were mine."—Philadelphia Press.

"MIRACLES" FROM ITALY.

Discovery of a Long Buried Image of a Saint Due to a Dream.

ROME, July 28.—Though they are generally considered to be extinct elsewhere, Italy still continues to produce an abundant crop of miracles. A small minority of sceptics and scoffers may attempt to explain it on rational grounds, but the great bulk of the populace are firmly convinced that the discovery just made of the long-buried image of a saint is a miracle, pure and simple.

Angiolina Parrella, a girl of ten, if anything rather less intelligent than most peasant children of her age, who lives in a village near Benevento, declared that the Virgin had appeared to her in a dream and told her that in a certain place a sacred picture was buried and that it was her wish it should be unearthed. Despite the protests of the owner of the property, a large number of peasants at once began to dig for it at the spot indicated by the child. They toiled all day without finding anything and by nightfall had lost all faith in Angiolina's vision. But that night, the child had another dream in which she said the Virgin again appeared to her and told her that the men were to dig deeper and in addition to the sacred object, they would also find a chisel.

With renewed energy, they again set to work next day with picks and shovels. At a depth of twelve feet they came upon the foundations of an old building. After making some excavations between the walls they uncovered a marble tablet on which an image of Saint Francis had been cut. And to make the proof of the reality of the child's vision complete, alongside of it was an old chisel.

The place has been converted into a sort of shrine to which thousands of people have already made a pilgrimage, leaving offerings to the church behind them. And little Angiolina wonders why everyone has suddenly taken to petting her and nobody chides her for being slow and stupid.

How did she get the idea that what she described as a sacred picture was buried where it was found? Was it a mere coincidence? If so, can the coincidence theory be stretched far enough to cover the chisel, too? Or was it the result of some subconscious, clairvoyant intelligence operating on the child's subconscious mind? Or was it just a miracle?

PURE MEAT ASSURED.

Rules to Be Enforced so Chicago Can Not Ship Diseased Products.

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 28.—Secretary Wilson today declared that as a result of the new meat inspection law and the rules promulgated by him yesterday, a radical change for the better would occur.

"Within a very short space of time," he said, "the meat products of the United States will be purer and more wholesome than any similar products of the world."

"Of particular importance is the rule providing for weekly inspection reports to be supplied the Bureau of Animal Industry. Without such reports it would be difficult to cope with the situation. As a general proposition, however, I believe, the law will be complied with in every detail, but I shall take nothing for granted and will make the inspections in every establishment that the law reaches rigid and complete."

MURDERER GETS A HEARING.

Son's Fight to Save His Father Partly Succeeds.

(By Associated Press.)

BIRMINGHAM, ALA., July 28.—Criminal Judge Weaver today decided that his court has jurisdiction in the habeas corpus proceedings brought in behalf of John Williams, condemned murderer of State Senator R. L. Nopp.

Williams was to have been hanged at Culman yesterday, but he resisted the officers when they came to take him from his cell. This caused the party to miss the train.

Williams' son took advantage of the delay and sued for a writ of habeas corpus. After overruling the motion of the State to dismiss the proceedings, Judge Weaver fixed August 6 for the habeas corpus hearing.

MASTS FOR WARSHIPS.

Skeleton Ones to be Put in the New Battleships.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 28.—The naval constructors who are engaged on the plans for the next battleship to be built by this country have completed the design for a skeleton mast, with the same principle of construction applied to the yards.

This mast will support the observation tops, where will be situated the fire control officers, those who direct the gun fire by means of observing the vulnerable points of the enemy and ascertaining by rangefinders the proper direction of the projectiles.

Formerly masts of this kind were built of hollow steel; hereafter they are to be of skeleton steel framework so that a shot coming in contact with the mast or yard so built will not bring it down or do more than destroy a part of the support. This is a new feature in battleship construction, and is understood to be adopted from foreign vessels which are now building.

It will introduce the principle of presenting to the enemy as little of a target as possible. It is believed that the percentage of hits possible at sea in action will be small enough to protect the structure from demolition.

Says Strikers Didn't Win.

Mr. Spencer Henley, manager for the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company here, emphatically denies that the linemen won a victory in the strike which has just been settled. Mr. Henley has just returned from Denver, where he attended the Elks' grand lodge meeting. He says that the strike was settled without concessions to the linemen and that all men employed by the company during the strike will be kept at work.

WAR DECLARED ON "GREEKS."

State of Rhode Island Gets After the Gamblers.

(By Associated Press.)

PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 28.—One of the most extensive crusades against gambling ever undertaken in this State is in progress.

Under the direction of sheriffs who are, it is said, following instructions from Governor Usher, raids already have been made at several points, notably at North Providence, a part of the town of Warwick, and at Narragansett Pier.

The activity of the authorities is causing a general exodus of promoters of gambling.
