Bank of England Boosts Its Rate of Discount to 6 Per Cent.

NEW YORK BROKERS SURPRISED

Rush Made to Sell Securities on Receipt of News from Great Britain About Action of That Country's Great Banking Institution.

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—The Bank of England sent a sensation pulsing through the financial market's of the whole world, today, by advancing its official minimum discount rate from five to six per cent. following an advance from four to five per cent. on October 11.

The speculative position in all markets was disturbed and the effect in New York seems to have been more acute even than in foreign markets. The rush to sell at the opening of the market here, was emphasized by vague fears that some undisclosed development lay behind the drastic measure adopted by the English bank. This action was taken by the bank to stop the drain upon its reserve fund.

Drastic liquidation in the stock market was forced before the stringency was broken. Practically no other subject was considered in the market today, although the levying of fines on the New York Central for giving of rebates and the conviction of the Standard Oil Company in the suit for conspiracy in an Ohio court were cited as incidents likely to depress the market.

These and all other considerations were swallowed up in the dominant effect of the response in the money markets, to the Bank of England action.

The stock market was quiet and free from urgent pressure during the latter part of the day. Recoveries from the low point were inconsiderable and the closing tone was heavy. Bonds were weak. Total sales par value 2,244,000.

Their First Movements in Revolutions Are Usually Generous.

I know the men of the people in Paris too well not to know that their first movements in times of revolution are usually generous and that they are best pleased to spend the days immediately following their triumph in boasting of their victory, laying down the law and playing at being great men. During that time it generally happens that some government or other is set up, the police return to their posts and the judge to his bench, and when at last our great men consent to step down to the better known and more vulgar ground of petty and malicious human passions they are no longer able to do so and are reduced to live simply like honest men. Besides, we have spent so many years in insurrections that there has arisen among us a kind of morality peculiar to times of disorder and a special code for days of rebellion. According to these exceptional laws, murder is tolerated and even permitted, but theft is strenuously forbidden, although this whatever one may say, does not prevent a good deal of robbery from occurring upon those days for the simple reason that society in a state of rebellion cannot be different from that at any other time, and it will always contain a number of rascals who as far as they are concerned scorn the morality of the main body and despise its point of honor when they are unobserved. TIDAL FLUX AND REFLEX.

Completed Movements of the Billows of the Ocean.

Those who see the rise and fall of the tides in our Atlantic harbors seldom think of the wonderful course of the ocean waves which cause the tidal flux and reflux. Such billows not only cross the sea, but flow from ocean to ocean, and in this way complicated movements are set going.

Thus, for instance, once in every twelve hours the moon raises a tide billow in the southern Indian ocean. When this billow passes the Cape of Good Hope at noon its successor is already born, and by the time the first billow has reached the Azores islands at midnight the second is rounding the cape, and a third has come into existence in the southern ocean. By 4 o'clock in the morning following its passage of the cape the tide billow reaches the English channel, and there the shallow waters delay it so much that it does not arrive at the strait of Dover until 10 a. m. Here the narrowing channel causes the tide to rise very high and almost puts an end to the wave.

In the meantime another branch of the billow runs around the western side of the British islands, rounds the north point of Scotland and moves slowly down the eastern coast of England until it finally flows up the Thames and laps the wharfs of London.—Philadelphia Record.

WASEO IS HERE. "WASEO" IS THE NAME OF A FLOUR. Though a NEWCOMER to the Peninsula Section of Virginia, that has been on the Market for nearly Fifty years. "WASEO" is made by LYON & GREENLEAF, of Wauscon, Ohio, and Ligonier, Ind., whose head miller is regarded the best in the world barring none. In its manufacture, nothing but SOFT WINTER WHEAT is used and to assure absolute uniformity, the mills are installed with a Miller Baking Equipment where scientific bakings are made of each day's run. "WASEO" makes Light Rolls, Superb Bread and Delicious Pastry. Those who have used it declare that "WASEO" FLOUR Makes Sweeter Bread and Sweeter Rolls and Sweeter Biscuit Than Any Other. "A Proof of the Pudding is the Eating of It" and that is all that is asked of "WASEO" FLOUR to convince the most skeptical of its superiority. ASK YOUR GROCER FOR "WASEO" FLOUR. The J. W. KING RAMESES MARRIED.

Chicago Professor Has Proof of It, So He Says.

CHICAGO, ILLS., Oct. 19.—Rameses II died 4,000 years ago, but some facts of his life are just becoming known. One of these is the story of his marriage, revealed by Prof. James H. Breasted, of the University of Chicago, in a report of his researches among the temples along the Nile.

Prof. Breasted found the account of the marriage in the Sun Temple of Abu Simbel. To tell the story required an inscription of forty-one lines, each about eight feet long, making a total of 328 feet in length. The word for "snow" is found here in snowless Egypt for the first time in history.

UNABLE TO ELECTRIFY LINES.

New York Central's Work Delayed Because State Lacks Funds.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 19.—An opinion by Attorney General Mayer, given out tonight, may interfere with the electrifying of the lines of the New York Central from the Grand Central station north to Croton.

The attorney general late today advised the State board of railroad commissioners that it would not be authorized to permit the proposed change of grade crossings on the lines of the New York Central in Westchester County within what is known as the electrical zone, unless an appropriation is available to pay the State's share of the improvement.

ANOTHER PISTOL FOR ARMY.

New Weapon Being Turned Out by Springfield Arsenal.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—The army is to have a new revolver. At least that is the supposition of service people who base their expectation on the probable results of the tests of such types of weapon at Springfield, Mass., beginning on December 3.

Arrangements are being made for the competition, and already there has been presented several sample revolvers and pistols.

In view of this change orders have been sent out from the War Department that army officers need not purchase a revolver pending the announcement of the adoption of the new weapon.

A man who has applied for a divorce in New York complains that his wife told him to sit on a tack right after he had been so generous as to give her 75 cents. He ought to have a divorce, not because his wife was vixenish, but because she was so lacking in originality.—Buffalo Express.

JIU JITSU STILL A STUDY.

Midshipmen Must Keep on Practicing Japanese Methods.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—President Roosevelt is determined that the midshipmen at the Naval Academy shall continue to receive instructions in Japanese wrestling, which he believes is of great advantage in an athletic way.

There was inclined to be criticism in some quarters of this form of exercise, but the President has issued instructions thus far in advance of the academic year retaining the jiu jitsu in the class of work which the midshipmen must perform for their physical development.

Some of the naval officers on duty at the naval academy, including its superintendent, do not entirely believe in the advocacy of this exercise. They are inclined to think that it is altogether too dangerous and is not fully in accord with what is regarded as fairness to an opponent, but the Japanese wrestling is not supposed, according to its advocates, to give any chance whatever to a rival. It is the art of offence combined with that of defence. President

WEIRD ELECTION, THIS.

Russian Parties May Organize, But Can Not Hold Meetings.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 19.—In consequence of more favorable reports from the governors of the provinces Prime Minister Stolypin has decided to hasten the Douma elections.

The reports describe Poland as being much quieter, but the Baltic provinces are persistently rebellious. There is no party of the left. The Shipov-Heyden coalition for pacific renovation will be allowed to conduct its electoral canvass under local protection. This will place the constitutional democratic candidates under the local reactionary authorities, who have power to arrest.

The parties to the right of the constitutional democrats may lawfully organize their vote, but no party will be allowed to hold public meetings. This prohibition was conveyed definitely today to Prince Eugene Troubnskaï and Professor Manniloff, rector of the Moscow University.

ANTS TO AMUSE CHILDREN.

New Yorker Imports Colony for Nursery of His Home.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—It isn't everybody's papa who goes to the trouble of importing ants for the play room. David Einstein arrived here on the steamer Carmania and brought with him two nests of meadow ants that are intended to amuse Mr. Einstein's children. The ants will in no way affect the happiness of the cook, because they have to be fed only once a month and then on a plebeian meal of honey and water.

When Mr. Einstein told the customs officials that he had a consignment of ants, the inspectors looked queerly at Mr. Einstein. They understood only when he showed them a glass case that was partly filled with earth and in which about a million ants were working.

"They are engaged in building their house," Mr. Einstein explained. One of the officials asked him what was the joke. Mr. Einstein then made this explanation:

"These are amber-colored ants. They are two years old, and they will live six years if they behave themselves; that is, if they don't overfeed. I want to instruct and amuse my children, so I have imported them."

Mr. Einstein offered to take off the glass case to show the inspectors how intelligent the ants were, but the officials said that was not necessary and gave Mr. Einstein a free entry for his amber-colored ant colony.

BLIND MAN GUIDED BY A DOG. Gordon Setter Knows His Master's Customers and Leads Him to Them.

Dogs have been taught to perform many kinds of labor, but so far as is known there is only one dog in Indianapolis, Indiana, that acts in the capacity of a travelling salesman.

Yet this is exactly what Rex does nearly every working day of his life, and he does it well. He knows every town where there are customers, and he knows the customers and they likewise know him.

Rex really does the principal part of the traveling, and his master, Miles M. Goodwin, sells the goods. The master is blind, but with the travelling ability of Rex he is able to cover his territory as he did before he lost his sight. Rex is his master's eyes.

Mr. Goodwin lives at New Castle, near Indianapolis, and the story of his affliction is pathetic. He was a well built young man and popular everywhere he went. He made friends and was a successful salesman. For eleven years he sold clothing knows the meaning of every movement of the other. Goodwin can tell when he is a street crossing by the manner in which Rex ducks his head, giving the strap a slight jerk.

Rex guides his master across the street safely, no matter how crowded it may be, and steers him clear of street cars, automobiles and buggies. Master and dog have never yet met with an accident.

In violation of all rules, Rex rides in the coaches of all trains and interurban cars in Indiana, for he is known to all the railroad folk, and all conductors have strict orders to carry the dog.

Rex is a Gordon setter and a handsome animal. Even though he has the intelligence of a man and devotes the most of his time to doing a man's work, he is still a dog, and when the occasion offers delights in doing some of the things that it is peculiarly and particularly proper for a dog to do, such as "running" a rabbit.

One day recently Mr. Goodwin was waiting to change cars at a little country station. He took advantage of the opportunity to give Rex a short outing and released the dog from his strap. Rex was soon having the time of his life in a field some distance away. As time for the train to arrive approached Rex was still busy, and finally Goodwin had to send some men after him, and the travelling salesman barely returned to his master in time to catch the train.—New York Herald.
