Late investigations of German scientists have shown that the electric light is not only healthier than other methods of illumination in leaving the air purer, but that it increases the power of vision in some respects, especially in distinguishing colors.

Two Lapsic chemists have devised a process for obtaining sugar in a perfectly liquid form. This result is said to be effected by adding to a purified sugar solution a small quantity of citric acid, which combines with the sugar and deprives it of its tendency to crystallize.

MISSISSIPPI EDITORS. What They Think of the Exposition Some Resolutions.

The Mississippi editors spent yesterday in looking through the exposition and in studying what is shown there. They were much pleased with what they found and have become warmer friends of the exposition than ever.

There are several ladies with the party; among them, Miss Johnnie Hunt, of Vicksburg, a most charming young lady; Miss Mary Savery, of Baldwin, and Miss Minnie Brown of Water Valley, two favorites with the Mississippi quill-drivers; Mrs. A. S. Bosworth, of the Canton Citizen, and Miss Lillian Norment, of the Starkville Citizen, and Miss Mollie Duval, of Sardis.

Yesterday the party met in the Mississippi press headquarters, in room 169 at the Exposition hotel and passed the following resolutions:

1. That to Col. Edward Atkinson of Boston, Mass., and others not known by name to us, for the organization and locating of the cotton exposition at Atlanta, the south will ever feel grateful, believing as we do, that it will result in a vast amount of good and lasting benefit to the southern states, and we further believe that this exposition will be the means of eradicating any remaining sectional bad feeling.

2. That the thanks of the Mississippi press association are hereby extended to the managers of transportation of the following railroads, to-wit: Col. B. W. Wrenn, of the Kenesaw route; T. L. Davant, of the Memphis and Charleston; A. L. Reeves, of the Mobile and Ohio; John Scott and I. Hardy, of the Erlanger Syndicate railway lines;

3. To Col. H. I. Kimbal, Director General of the cotton exposition, we extend our warmest thanks for courtesies and kindness extended us during our stay in Atlanta.

4. To Col. B. S. Pardee, of the executive committee of the exposition—we shall ever feel warmly towards him for kindnesses, and hereby extend to him our warmest thanks for favors extended us.

5. To the proprietor, Col. Phil. F. Brown, of the Exposition hotel, we shall ever feel grateful for the kind manner he has manifested for our comfort during our stay at his hotel. And to that genial and clever gentleman, W. A. Boulls, chief clerk in the office of the Exposition hotel, we shall ever remember him with the warmest feelings of kindness and good wishes for favors shown us.

To the Atlanta Constitution and its editorial corps, we, as a body, extend to them our sincere thanks for courtesies and favors shown us, and wish it the success it and its managers so much deserve.

That the Atlanta Constitution and the press of Mississippi be requested to publish these resolutions.

R. A. BONNER, Secretary. R. WALPOLE, President.

After adopting the above resolutions the president of the association vacated the chair, when the following resolution was adopted:

6. Resolved, That the thanks of this association are hereby tendered to its president, Maj. R. Walpole, for his untiring efforts and success in organizing this visit of the Mississippi press association to the Atlanta exposition, by which every member has enjoyed the pleasure incident to the occasion.—[Atlanta Constitution, 8th.

Some experiments by M. Gantier appear to prove that human saliva possesses, in a milder degree, the same poisonous property as that of serpents. The human saliva injected under the skin of a bird caused death, with symptoms very closely resembling those resulting from serpent bites.

A new theory of the so-called fascination of birds by snakes is that the bird mistakes the snakes tongue which the reptile keeps in rapid and constant motion, for a lively worm and watches it intently with the anticipation of devouring it.

A Neapolitan gardener, after years of experiment, has produced a camelia with a delicate perfume, and he thinks it probable that these flowers may in the near future be so cultivated as to rival the rose the fragrance of its odor.

The Panola county bale took the first premium of one thousand dollars at the Atlanta Exposition.

The Memphis Appeal for 1881.

The Appeal, having completed the fortieth year of its existence, needs no elaborate prospectus as to its future policy. Suffice it to say that, believing the Democratic party to be the safest repository for the great trusts of the government, the Appeal will continue to be a Democratic newspaper. While faithfully adhering to the party which it has supported for forty years, it will labor earnestly for the development of southern thought, southern industries, southern literature, southern agriculture and trade, and southern effort for unity and brotherhood between all sections of the country. It will endeavor to secure from congress liberal appropriations for improvement of our rivers, for railroad building, organized efforts for immigration, manufacturing, and every enterprise calculated to promote the prosperity of the people. The APPEAL has no competitor in the vast territory which forms the field of its circulation, and which it occupies almost to the exclusion of any other morning paper, and it will continue, in all the essentials, a first-class newspaper, to maintain its concealed position. Daily Appeal, per year, $10.00. Weekly Appeal, per year, $3.00. Weekly Appeal, six months, $1.50. Send for sample copies to GALLAWAY & KEATING, Memphis, Tenn. Sept. 3—6m.
