CORRESPONDENCE

[We do not hold ourselves responsible for the opinions or utterances of our correspondents.]

EDITOR INDEPENDENT:

The remark made by a Councillor, at the meeting held yesterday, that the charge of government advertising is outrageous, finds favor with those who are knowing to some facts not generally known. The impudent retort of the Advertiser to the charge leads one to ask, as a taxpayer, that the Minister of Finance investigate, or cause to be investigated, the reason why the tax office advertising was given to the Chinese press. When an applicant for government advertising seeks to buy off competitors, with more or less success in order that he may charge eight times the sum for which the work may reasonably and profitably be done, it is time that such practices should be laid bare. This method of looting the public treasury has had the attention of the Lexow Commission in New York city and the printers are hunting their holes for shelter. We say again, Mr Minister, investigate in the interests of honest methods and brand the would-be looters so that an honest taxpayer may know them when he meets them. Hew to the line, Mr Minister, and take no heed where the chips may fall.

FAIR PLAY.
