

DEFALCATIONS IN CUBA CAUSE SPLIT.

Republicans Divide on the Question of Congressional Inquiry.

SOME REALIZE ITS NECESSITY.

President is Said to Strongly Oppose Any but Departmental Examination of Neely's Chance of Freedom.

WASHINGTON, May 17.—As a matter of political expediency, Republican leaders in Congress are now disposed to favor an independent congressional investigation of the Cuban case.

Senator Platt, chairman of the Senate Cuban Committee, said today that he did not see how Congress could afford to refuse to take the necessary action for probing the scandal to the bottom. In view of the large preponderance of Republicans on the committee, the proposition has been made as to whether it would be wise to amend the Hatch resolution so as to have a joint committee of the two houses of an impartial commission make the investigation.

Chance for Neely. Great fears are entertained by international lawyers here that F. W. Neely will be able to secure punishment for his alleged frauds by preventing his extradition to Cuba.

Notwithstanding the assurance of Attorney General Griggs that there is ample authority for extradition, Senator Platt has the almost universal opinion of the Senate, expressed in the form of a resolution that Neely will be able, through various expedients, to prevent his extradition.

He considers Cuba as much a foreign country as any other territory not belonging to the United States.

"Cuba has no government of its own," he says. "The United States is temporarily in military control. But this control does not give the authority for the extradition of a criminal. Other offenders in Cuba are, of course, amenable for trial under the jurisdiction of the military government."

Money Order Funds. Postmaster General Smith now feels absolutely certain that the money order funds in Cuba are intact. A remittance of $100,000 has been received from this country on money order business was received to-day and the remainder of the balance up to last date of settlement is on its way.

Representative Jones of Virginia introduced a resolution in the House of Representatives today that the President is authorized to issue warrants for the arrest of Neely in Cuba.

Mr. Lord's Task. Representative Lord, chairman of the House Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads, today announced that he had this morning in response to a resolution of the House, introduced a bill to amend the act relating to the post office.

Some one of these four committees must do the work of the post office. It is not known whether the same place will be favored for the amendment this year.

SENATION AT NEELY'S HOME. MEMPHIS, May 17.—A sensation was caused this evening by the publication of a statement from a government detective to the effect that almost $200,000 worth of stamps had been stolen from the Neely printing company in Manila and sent to C. W. F. Neely for distribution to Cuban post offices.

When Ross Cowan, president of the Neely Printing Company, was told this morning that the stamps had been stolen, he was not at all surprised.

"You may say that if there is any story about the Neely Printing Company, it is turned out by the government," said Cowan. "I have never printed stamps legitimately nor illegitimately. The government cannot work that way. It has been denied. It has been most in the form of printed bills. This work has been done in the past six months since Neely took office, and an amount of $100,000. It has not exceeded $100,000, while the printed stamps are that it will reach $500,000.

GRIGGS APPEALS TO CONGRESS. WASHINGTON, May 17.—The Post-mortem will say: "Congress must act in bringing C. W. Neely to justice. A new law must be enacted at once, which will tighten the Government hold upon him."

Attorney General Griggs has already made his appeal to Congress. Yesterday afternoon he forwarded to Senator Hearst, chairman of the Senate Committee on the Judiciary, and to Congressmen Roy, chairman of the similar committee of the House, a copy of a bill drawn especially to meet the present situation.

The bill is in two sections. The first provides that the statutes of the United States relative to extradition between the United States and treaties of extradition which the United States has treaties of extradition shall apply to the extradition of fugitives from justice from Cuba while the Government of that island is extended under the authority of the United States. The second section is to guard against further trouble in the possession of control. It provides that the domestic extradition now in force between the various States shall be

PLOT DIRECTED BY THE CLAN-NA-GAEL.

Inspector Murray's Opinion of the Welland Canal Dynamite Conspiracy.

TWO ARE NOW UNDER ARREST.

Famous Canadian Secret Service Sleuth Visits American Cities in Running Down Claws to Perpetrators.

REPUBLICAN SPECIAL. Buffalo, N. Y., May 17.—Convinced that the attempt to destroy the Welland Canal was the result of a "Clan-Na-Gael" plot, directed from New York City, the Dominion police have completed what they consider a strong chain of evidence. Inspector John W. Murray, the famous head of the Secret Service of Canada, has traced two of the three prisoners now under arrest at Toronto, Ontario, from their homes in Ireland to the lodgings in New York, whence, he says, they received money and instructions and dynamite with which to carry out the plot.

Inspector Murray told the full story tonight. He was on his way home to Toronto, having completed to his satisfaction his evidence against two of the men, John Walsh and John Nolan. His chase took him to New York, Philadelphia, Washington, Richmond and many other places. About the third suspect, Lullman, he does not know much, but he has evidence, he says, which will convict Lullman of being the predominating and directing mind in the plot.

New York Lodge. The lodge to which the men are said to have belonged meets in Tom Moore's Hall, 100 Broadway, New York, between the 10th and 11th streets, New York City.

John Nolan, John Moran and John Rowan, all young mechanics and all of Irish birth, located in New York City, the latter in the United States. They drifted about New York for a time in 1897, 1898, Moran declared he had been in New York for some time, but he did not give his first name, and gave his last name as Moran. Nolan went to Philadelphia and obtained work in the Ireland Locomotive Works. In 1895 all three returned to New York. Moran went to Philadelphia in 1896, but came back to the United States, and drifted about Washington, New York and other places. Moran was working at different callings.

About about April 1900, Inspector Murray to-night, told a committee of the police to look into the matter. He was told that Walsh and Nolan were in New York, and that they were working at different callings. He was told that Walsh and Nolan were in New York, and that they were working at different callings.

Plot Carried Out. After breakfast at the Stafford House on Monday morning, April 19, the two men, Walsh and Nolan, were taken to the hotel where they were staying. They were taken to the hotel where they were staying. They were taken to the hotel where they were staying.

AMERICAN COUNTESS SUES FOR DIVORCE.

Granddaughter of J. B. A. Haggin Charges Her Noble Husband with Non-support.

HE IS FETTERED DE TOLNA. She Declares that the Count Insisted on Living Abroad Their Yacht—Their Exciting Voyage.

REPUBLICAN SPECIAL. San Francisco, May 17.—The Countess Fettes de Tolna filed an application for divorce late this evening. The Countess is the granddaughter of J. B. A. Haggin, the California and New York millionaire, and has been married a little more than eight years. Her husband is a son of the Chamberlain of the Austrian Emperor.

Her divorce papers filed to-day give assertion and non-support as the ground for action. The Fettes de Tolna claim that the main ground for the Countess's complaint is that her husband insisted on living on the yacht Tolna in spite of her protest and that this seriously impaired her health, as a yacht constantly at sea was no fit place for a woman to live.

Miss Lilla Haggin and Count Rudolph Fettes de Tolna were married at the home of her father, Louis T. Haggin, New York, on February 25, 1892. J. B. A. Haggin, her grandfather, was a member of the firm of Haggin & Telfs of San Francisco, and is still largely interested in lands and mines on the Pacific Coast. He is also an extensive real estate holder in Kentucky.

The young Countess lived in San Francisco until her parents moved to New York. She has resided in San Francisco since her marriage and spent the winter of 1899-1900 in the Orient three years ago. She came to San Francisco two weeks ago and is now the guest of Mrs. Lloyd Telfs in Cleveland, O., May 17.—The coupon ticket agents in the Central Passenger Association territory have decided to ask for increases in their salaries equivalent to what they have lost by the abolishment of commission.
