

The Well-Dressed Man

The Best $15 Tailor-Made Suit.

Need not be expensively fitted. It costs no more to have correctly fitting, stylish garments than ordinary. Common-looking kind. We are showing handsome lines of pure wool Scotch Cheviots, Worsted and Cassimere Suits, newest designs and colorings. The workmanship and materials employed in its manufacture are the best the world affords, the same care and detail being given as to the most expensive garments. Your tailor would charge you $30 to $35 for nothing better than we offer at... $15

Werner Bros.

Clothiers, Haberdashers and Hatters.

New Republic Building. SEVENTH AND OLIVE STS.

MORE OUT-OF-TOWN VISITORS AT FAIR.

Harness Races, Larger Exhibits and Arena Contests Prove Great Drawing Cards.

LIVE STOCK MUCH ADMIRER.

Crowds Admire the Blooded Cattle and Aristocratic Sheep and Swine—Awards Made to the Exhibitors.

Larger exhibits, trotting and pacing races and interesting contests between high-class horses and cattle in the arena were the feature of the second day of the St. Louis Fair.

The number of visitors from out of town bore an appreciably greater proportion to the whole than on the first day, and there was sufficient to entertain them wherever they went.

There was a decided increase in the display of agricultural implements. On the opening day many of these exhibits were not quite completed, but yesterday they were all up and the machinery was working. In a tent was a gasoline engine, designed to run heavy field machinery, which attracted much attention. At another place an assortment of hay presses was kept busy. At another place a enormous threshing machine kept up a clatter that reminded one of the good old days back on the farm.

The accessions to the live-stock display were notable. The exhibit of Polish Angus cattle is one that has seldom been excelled. There are perhaps a dozen other breeds of these animals exhibited here, including a variety of Devonian, Ia., and the Meadow Brook stock farm of Colarville, O. One great attraction is a pair of black and white animals of a glossy black, and their hair looks and feels much like coarse silk.

Sheep and Swine Exhibits.

The display of livestock is remarkably good. One of the principal exhibitors is Thomas Clark, the short-horn breeder from the Avon farm, near St. Louis. The Vanderbilt stock farm at Hattiesburg, N. C., was the center of admiring crowds all day.

In the sheep section there is an unusually large and high-class display. A trip through it is well worth while. Among the most notable exhibits are the Shropshire, shown by George Allen of Alton, Ill.; the Oxford Down and under, shown by J. D. Storer of Lexington, Ill.; the Oxford Down and Southdown, shown by George McKerron of St. Louis; the Lincoln Down, shown by I. C. Sevey of Minneapolis; the Dishon merinos, shown by E. D. Williams of St. Louis; the Lincoln, shown by N. L. Bell of Ashby, O.; and the Cotswold, shown by Wilson Bros. of Alton, Ind.

The display of fine hogs of all kinds was never better, and this section is one of the popular features of the fair.

Joe Farnes and Coney Matched.

The earnest endeavors of the association to match Joe Farnes, 200 lb., and Coney, 200 lb., have succeeded. Little is to be said of the match, but it was a very interesting one, and every lover of the harness horse in the land will be glad to see it. The race will be held on the 10th of the month, and will be included in a program of six events.

When the race was held yesterday were surprisingly good. The 235 and 221 trot and the 214 pace, thirteen heats in all, were run off in a very interesting manner, and the excitement and the judging unimpeachable.

Mr. A. J. Hoffman of St. Louis, who was in the race, turned out a very good horse, and was very successful. He was in the race, and was very successful. He was in the race, and was very successful.

We can't say too much about our new styles in

MEN'S AND BOYS' FINE Clothing and Overcoats,

but perhaps we don't say enough about

FURNISHINGS.

In these matters we are always just a little in the lead in showing the new things.

Fall Underwear is waiting for you.

Fall Neckwear anticipates the glories of the Autumn woods.

Browning, King & Co.

GROUND TOO WET FOR FARM WORK.

Last Week's Conditions Generally Unfavorable in Upper Mississippi Valley.

BETTER WEATHER IN SOUTH.

Cotton Picking Has Progressed and Is Unusually Well Advanced in Central and Eastern Portions of the Belt.

Sweethearts, Wives & Voters

YOU ALL WEAR SHOES.

NO SHOES WILL PLEASE YOU LIKE A PAIR OF

Looper's

"STANDARD SHOES."

The Best Shoe $3.50 In the World for

All the latest Fall shapes and styles in Patent and Enamel Leather, Vici Kid and Box Cal and Tan Russia Calf. No better wearing shoe made at any price.

See Our Window Display.

311 N. BROADWAY.

WANTS ATTACHED GOODS RETURNED.

Franklin Avenue Firm Writes a Letter of Warning to the Justice of the Peace.

CLAIMS TO HOLD MORTGAGE.

Household Effects of Catherine Graves Are Held Pending the Settlement of a Suit Over a Butcher's Bill.

Among the mail received yesterday at the office of Justice of the Peace Robertson, at No. 86 North Market street, was a letter addressed to Harry P. Harmon, the former Justice, who died some months ago. The envelope bore the stamped address of a Franklin avenue business house.

A. C. Hummel, clerk of the court, telephoned the house and received a reply that it was in regard to a court proceeding, and was authorized to open it. It read as follows:

"Mr. Harry P. Harmon, Justice of the Peace, 86 North Market street—Gentlemen: Through your order Constable John Landwehr attached goods and merchandise at Grave's, 519 North Market street. Now, those goods attached, two beds, two springs, two mattresses, five chairs, belonged to us. We sold them under mortgage, which was recorded August 1, 1900. We request you to take notice of this, otherwise we will enter suit against your court for the amount of said goods, also expenses and damages arising from same.

The letter contained the following post note:

"If our goods is not immediately returned and delivered to us at our place of business I will give it to my attorney."

The goods referred to in the letter were

SHE KEPT THE RIVALS BUSY.

Disappointed in One, Nettie McGuire Married the Other.

Nettie McGuire had the matrimonial fever. Her condition being serious three weeks ago, Charles M. Schneider, of No. 113 Case street, was asked to ask the marriage license clerk to prescribe, when James Donovan, for the men have been recorded August 1, 1900. But the fever returned September 24, so James got the license himself. The doctor, however, had the disease manifested, for Donovan senior returned the document on the ground that "Janney" was under age. The girl was now on the verge of collapse. But a cure was effected yesterday morning, and Nettie, who had been in bed for a week, was up and about.

Donovan takes it philosophically. Nettie alone induced her to hearken to the youth. The envelope bore the stamped address of a Franklin avenue business house.

A. C. Hummel, clerk of the court, telephoned the house and received a reply that it was in regard to a court proceeding, and was authorized to open it. It read as follows:

"Mr. Harry P. Harmon, Justice of the Peace, 86 North Market street—Gentlemen: Through your order Constable John Landwehr attached goods and merchandise at Grave's, 519 North Market street. Now, those goods attached, two beds, two springs, two mattresses, five chairs, belonged to us. We sold them under mortgage, which was recorded August 1, 1900. We request you to take notice of this, otherwise we will enter suit against your court for the amount of said goods, also expenses and damages arising from same.

The letter contained the following post note:

"If our goods is not immediately returned and delivered to us at our place of business I will give it to my attorney."

The goods referred to in the letter were

STATE UNIVERSITY TEACHERS.

Appointments Made by the Board of Curators.

PLAYED THE ROLE OF BURGLAR.

Deputy Sheriff Arrested Man Who Was Asleep in Bed.

Deputy Sheriff White found it necessary to assume the role of burglar in order to arrest Jerry O'Leary on a warrant charging him with wife-abandonment. White searched for O'Leary for two weeks before he finally caught him napping.

O'Leary moved about from day to day so that he could not be found. At last White located him at No. 187 1/2 Moran street and arrested him. O'Leary was taken to the police house at 6 o'clock yesterday morning and was held in the cell. He was found asleep, and before he realized what was going on, O'Leary White had made him a prisoner. O'Leary gave up, White then allowing him to dress and to furnish bond, and he was released.

The warrant was sworn out by Mrs. Lydia O'Leary, No. 119 North Fifteenth street, on September 15, charging him with abandonment of her on July 4.

CELEBRATION OF YOM KIPPUR.

All-Day Services in the Hebrew Churches To-Day.

In the Jewish calendar to-day is Yom Kippur, or Day of Atonement. The celebration began last evening at sunset, and lasts until sunset this evening. It is one of the most important religious days recognized by the Jews, and most of the Jewish business houses will be closed while their proprietors spend the day in fasting.

Services were held last night at Temple Israel, Twenty-eighth and Pine streets; Temple Shalom, Lincoln avenue and Vandewater avenue; United Hebrew Congregation at Twenty-first and Olive streets; and by all other similar organizations in the city. All-day services will be held in these churches, beginning this morning. Next Sunday night the Feast of the Booths, or Succoth, will begin. The Jewish holidays close on October 15 with the services of Simchat Torah.

SPLENDID OFFERS FOR RENT.

Mermod & Jaccard's fireproof building, Broadway and Locust. Best city location.

MELBOURNE TO BE CAPITAL.

Central Government of Confederate Australia Located.

Melbourne, Oct. 2.—It was announced that Melbourne will be the capital of the confederated Australia.

NERVOUS PEOPLE SHOULD USE THE GENUINE DR. SIEGERT'S ANGIKURA BITTERS.

WHEN you can get a $5.00 Tan or Patent Leather Shoe for $2.50, it will pay to secure for future use. Act quick.

HARRIS SHOE CO., 520 Pine St.

HEIRS FOUND AT LAST.

Deposit Made Twenty Eight Years Ago Is Still Held.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 2.—For more than a quarter of a century a sum of money, which has remained without claimant since the death of the depositor, has been held in the vaults of the Pennsylvania State Bank at Seventh and Walnut streets. The depositor had died shortly after putting the money in bank, and the bank had been closed for some time. The money was deposited in the vaults of the bank in 1872, and the depositor had died in 1873. The money was held in the vaults of the bank until 1900, when it was found by the heirs of the depositor.

SMOKER FOR THEIR CUSTOMERS.

Implement and Vehicle Men Enter into Tug-of-War.

HEIRS FOUND AT LAST.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 2.—For more than a quarter of a century a sum of money, which has remained without claimant since the death of the depositor, has been held in the vaults of the Pennsylvania State Bank at Seventh and Walnut streets. The depositor had died shortly after putting the money in bank, and the bank had been closed for some time. The money was deposited in the vaults of the bank in 1872, and the depositor had died in 1873. The money was held in the vaults of the bank until 1900, when it was found by the heirs of the depositor.

HEIRS FOUND AT LAST.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 2.—For more than a quarter of a century a sum of money, which has remained without claimant since the death of the depositor, has been held in the vaults of the Pennsylvania State Bank at Seventh and Walnut streets. The depositor had died shortly after putting the money in bank, and the bank had been closed for some time. The money was deposited in the vaults of the bank in 1872, and the depositor had died in 1873. The money was held in the vaults of the bank until 1900, when it was found by the heirs of the depositor.

HEIRS FOUND AT LAST.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 2.—For more than a quarter of a century a sum of money, which has remained without claimant since the death of the depositor, has been held in the vaults of the Pennsylvania State Bank at Seventh and Walnut streets. The depositor had died shortly after putting the money in bank, and the bank had been closed for some time. The money was deposited in the vaults of the bank in 1872, and the depositor had died in 1873. The money was held in the vaults of the bank until 1900, when it was found by the heirs of the depositor.

HEIRS FOUND AT LAST.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 2.—For more than a quarter of a century a sum of money, which has remained without claimant since the death of the depositor, has been held in the vaults of the Pennsylvania State Bank at Seventh and Walnut streets. The depositor had died shortly after putting the money in bank, and the bank had been closed for some time. The money was deposited in the vaults of the bank in 1872, and the depositor had died in 1873. The money was held in the vaults of the bank until 1900, when it was found by the heirs of the depositor.

HEIRS FOUND AT LAST.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 2.—For more than a quarter of a century a sum of money, which has remained without claimant since the death of the depositor, has been held in the vaults of the Pennsylvania State Bank at Seventh and Walnut streets. The depositor had died shortly after putting the money in bank, and the bank had been closed for some time. The money was deposited in the vaults of the bank in 1872, and the depositor had died in 1873. The money was held in the vaults of the bank until 1900, when it was found by the heirs of the depositor.

HEIRS FOUND AT LAST.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 2.—For more than a quarter of a century a sum of money, which has remained without claimant since the death of the depositor, has been held in the vaults of the Pennsylvania State Bank at Seventh and Walnut streets. The depositor had died shortly after putting the money in bank, and the bank had been closed for some time. The money was deposited in the vaults of the bank in 1872, and the depositor had died in 1873. The money was held in the vaults of the bank until 1900, when it was found by the heirs of the depositor.

HEIRS FOUND AT LAST.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 2.—For more than a quarter of a century a sum of money, which has remained without claimant since the death of the depositor, has been held in the vaults of the Pennsylvania State Bank at Seventh and Walnut streets. The depositor had died shortly after putting the money in bank, and the bank had been closed for some time. The money was deposited in the vaults of the bank in 1872, and the depositor had died in 1873. The money was held in the vaults of the bank until 1900, when it was found by the heirs of the depositor.

HEIRS FOUND AT LAST.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 2.—For more than a quarter of a century a sum of money, which has remained without claimant since the death of the depositor, has been held in the vaults of the Pennsylvania State Bank at Seventh and Walnut streets. The depositor had died shortly after putting the money in bank, and the bank had been closed for some time. The money was deposited in the vaults of the bank in 1872, and the depositor had died in 1873. The money was held in the vaults of the bank until 1900, when it was found by the heirs of the depositor.

HEIRS FOUND AT LAST.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 2.—For more than a quarter of a century a sum of money, which has remained without claimant since the death of the depositor, has been held in the vaults of the Pennsylvania State Bank at Seventh and Walnut streets. The depositor had died shortly after putting the money in bank, and the bank had been closed for some time. The money was deposited in the vaults of the bank in 1872, and the depositor had died in 1873. The money was held in the vaults of the bank until 1900, when it was found by the heirs of the depositor.

HEIRS FOUND AT LAST.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 2.—For more than a quarter of a century a sum of money, which has remained without claimant since the death of the depositor, has been held in the vaults of the Pennsylvania State Bank at Seventh and Walnut streets. The depositor had died shortly after putting the money in bank, and the bank had been closed for some time. The money was deposited in the vaults of the bank in 1872, and the depositor had died in 1873. The money was held in the vaults of the bank until 1900, when it was found by the heirs of the depositor.

HEIRS FOUND AT LAST.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 2.—For more than a quarter of a century a sum of money, which has remained without claimant since the death of the depositor, has been held in the vaults of the Pennsylvania State Bank at Seventh and Walnut streets. The depositor had died shortly after putting the money in bank, and the bank had been closed for some time. The money was deposited in the vaults of the bank in 1872, and the depositor had died in 1873. The money was held in the vaults of the bank until 1900, when it was found by the heirs of the depositor.

HEIRS FOUND AT LAST.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 2.—For more than a quarter of a century a sum of money, which has remained without claimant since the death of the depositor, has been held in the vaults of the Pennsylvania State Bank at Seventh and Walnut streets. The depositor had died shortly after putting the money in bank, and the bank had been closed for some time. The money was deposited in the vaults of the bank in 1872, and the depositor had died in 1873. The money was held in the vaults of the bank until 1900, when it was found by the heirs of the depositor.

HEIRS FOUND AT LAST.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 2.—For more than a quarter of a century a sum of money, which has remained without claimant since the death of the depositor, has been held in the vaults of the Pennsylvania State Bank at Seventh and Walnut streets. The depositor had died shortly after putting the money in bank, and the bank had been closed for some time. The money was deposited in the vaults of the bank in 1872, and the depositor had died in 1873. The money was held in the vaults of the bank until 1900, when it was found by the heirs of the depositor.

HEIRS FOUND AT LAST.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 2.—For more than a quarter of a century a sum of money, which has remained without claimant since the death of the depositor, has been held in the vaults of the Pennsylvania State Bank at Seventh and Walnut streets. The depositor had died shortly after putting the money in bank, and the bank had been closed for some time. The money was deposited in the vaults of the bank in 1872, and the depositor had died in 1873. The money was held in the vaults of the bank until 1900, when it was found by the heirs of the depositor.

HEIRS FOUND AT LAST.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 2.—For more than a quarter of a century a sum of money, which has remained without claimant since the death of the depositor, has been held in the vaults of the Pennsylvania State Bank at Seventh and Walnut streets. The depositor had died shortly after putting the money in bank, and the bank had been closed for some time. The money was deposited in the vaults of the bank in 1872, and the depositor had died in 1873. The money was held in the vaults of the bank until 1900, when it was found by the heirs of the depositor.

HEIRS FOUND AT LAST.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 2.—For more than a quarter of a century a sum of money, which has remained without claimant since the death of the depositor, has been held in the vaults of the Pennsylvania State Bank at Seventh and Walnut streets. The depositor had died shortly after putting the money in bank, and the bank had been closed for some time. The money was deposited in the vaults of the bank in 1872, and the depositor had died in 1873. The money was held in the vaults of the bank until 1900, when it was found by the heirs of the depositor.

HEIRS FOUND AT LAST.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 2.—For more than a quarter of a century a sum of money, which has remained without claimant since the death of the depositor, has been held in the vaults of the Pennsylvania State Bank at Seventh and Walnut streets. The depositor had died shortly after putting the money in bank, and the bank had been closed for some time. The money was deposited in the vaults of the bank in 1872, and the depositor had died in 1873. The money was held in the vaults of the bank until 1900, when it was found by the heirs of the depositor.

HEIRS FOUND AT LAST.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 2.—For more than a quarter of a century a sum of money, which has remained without claimant since the death of the depositor, has been held in the vaults of the Pennsylvania State Bank at Seventh and Walnut streets. The depositor had died shortly after putting the money in bank, and the bank had been closed for some time. The money was deposited in the vaults of the bank in 1872, and the depositor had died in 1873. The money was held in the vaults of the bank until 1900, when it was found by the heirs of the depositor.

HEIRS FOUND AT LAST.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 2.—For more than a quarter of a century a sum of money, which has remained without claimant since the death of the depositor, has been held in the vaults of the Pennsylvania State Bank at Seventh and Walnut streets. The depositor had died shortly after putting the money in bank, and the bank had been closed for some time. The money was deposited in the vaults of the bank in 1872, and the depositor had died in 1873. The money was held in the vaults of the bank until 1900, when it was found by the heirs of the depositor.

HEIRS FOUND AT LAST.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 2.—For more than a quarter of a century a sum of money, which has remained without claimant since the death of the depositor, has been held in the vaults of the Pennsylvania State Bank at Seventh and Walnut streets. The depositor had died shortly after putting the money in bank, and the bank had been closed for some time. The money was deposited in the vaults of the bank in 1872, and the depositor had died in 1873. The money was held in the vaults of the bank until 1900, when it was found by the heirs of the depositor.

HEIRS FOUND AT LAST.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 2.—For more than a quarter of a century a sum of money, which has remained without claimant since the death of the depositor, has been held in the vaults of the Pennsylvania State Bank at Seventh and Walnut streets. The depositor had died shortly after putting the money in bank, and the bank had been closed for some time. The money was deposited in the vaults of the bank in 1872, and the depositor had died in 1873. The money was held in the vaults of the bank until 1900, when it was found by the heirs of the depositor.

MORPHINE

THE ONLY POSITIVE CURE FOR LIQUOR DRINKING, MORPHINE AND OTHER NARCOTIC DRUGS, USING, NEURASTHENIA, TOBACCO AND CIGARETTE ADDICTIONS.

Correspondence and Consultation Confidential.

DR. J. E. BLAINE, Physician and Manager.

Home Treatment for Tobacco and Narcotic Habits. Local and long distance telephone. Lindell 152.

Keeley

2803 LOCUST ST., ST. LOUIS.

The only Positive Cure for Liquor Drinking, Morphine and other Narcotic Drugs, Using, Neurasthenia, Tobacco and Cigarette Addictions.

Correspondence and Consultation Confidential.

DR. J. E. BLAINE, Physician and Manager.

Home Treatment for Tobacco and Narcotic Habits. Local and long distance telephone. Lindell 152.

Merchants Tailoring Establishment

MILLS & AVERILL,

BROADWAY AND FINE.

"BIG FOUR"

To Cincinnati NO TUNNEL.

OLD DR. BELL'S

Cotton Root Pills,

LADIES' FAVORITE.

ALL WAYS RELIABLE and perfectly safe. Do not use any other pills. Beware of cheap imitations. The only reliable pills in the world. Dr. Bell & Co., P. O. Box 715, St. Louis, Mo.

DR. CROSSMAN'S

SPECIFIC MIXTURE

For the Cure of Stricture and anal and venereal diseases. Price $1 a bottle. For sale by Druggists.

Mermod & Jaccard's

BROADWAY, Cor. Locust St.

CALLING CARDS.

100 Calling Cards and copper plate $1.50

100 Calling Cards from your own plate $1.00

DISASTER OVERDUE.

Houston Police to Rout "Prophet" Smith and Followers.

SEATTLE HAS 87,671.

Population Increased 37,834, or 89.32 Per Cent in a Decade.

MRS. NESSENHNER INDICTED.

Accused of Poisoning Her Husband—Trial Saturday.

BURNS CAUSED HER DEATH.

Lottie Willenburg, Eight Years Old, Fell Into Bonfire.

WEARINESS FROM READING

Is often an indication that glasses are needed. Have your eyes scientifically tested by Dr. Bond, expert optician at Mermod & Jaccard's, Broadway and Locust. No charge for examination. Steel frames, $1 and up; gold, $5 and up.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Dr. J. C. Watson

"BIG FOUR"

To Cincinnati. Finest service, track and equipment.