FREDERICK'S FIGURES HELP.
Assessor's State That Issue of Additional Bonds Will Not Increase the Tax Rate
Carries Weight.

World's Fair workers are busied, just now, with work in behalf of the two amendments to the State charter authorizing the exposition and permitting St. Louis to issue $5,000,000 worth of bonds.

The statement made by Assessor A. H. Frederick to the effect that the present tax rate will pay the interest on the municipal bonds to be issued on behalf of the fair, and that the increase of assessments resulting from building and other investments will pay back the loan, has excited a great deal of interest and has been the subject of much discussion.

It is proposed to keep Mr. Frederick's figures and arguments prominently before the voters from now until election, and it is believed the amendments will carry by a large majority. The demand for literature favoring the amendments is well sustained. Supplies are being sent out as fast as they can be secured, and the work is being efficiently done throughout the entire State.

There is much active canvassing being done all the week closed with a good record of actual progress in every direction.

The receipt of subscriptions from sources hitherto regarded as doubtful or hostile is a matter of special encouragement to the chairman of the committee, and there is marked unanimity of sentiment in favor of promptly fulfilling the pledges made to Congress.

Historical Society Meeting.
Chairman Pierre Chouteau of the Committee of Two Hundred yesterday notified each member of his committee of the invitation of the Historical Society to meet with it on Monday evening to discuss the proposed amendments to the constitution.

Mr. Chouteau called attention to the fact that the committee on the Louisiana Purchase organized with the Historical Society and he uses this as an argument in favor of a general response to the invitation. A large gathering is expected to be held in the evening of the 14th inst. for the purpose of securing workers and volunteers in the way of the amendments.

The next general meeting more than one of its members will be present. Three minutes allotted to him by some pointed references to World's Fair work.

Correspondence was held for a week, a large part of it being responses from different parts of the State. The committee is securing votes for the World's Fair amendments. The replies were uniformly favorable. The committee is adopting the suggestion and request of the chairman of the State Central committee, and are referring to the amendments in all of their talks.

No Financial Burden.
They are drawing special attention to the statement that the amendments will impose any financial burden on the State, which, on the other hand, will benefit the State in many ways, both a commercial and educational standpoint.

Interest in the movement in more distant points was also manifested. G. H. Ten Brock has been appointed vice president of the Netherlands. As the correspondence leading up to the appointment shows, the Government of the Netherlands is in addition to its official representation here on account of the large increase of consular work which it anticipates from the present date.

The business men of this consular district look with great favor upon the idea of meeting exhibits at the World's Fair in 1904, and I believe that with proper effort a very creditable exhibit may be had from this district. If you desire to add any time please command me.

EMPLOYEES TRANSFERRED.
Number of Changes Put Into Effect by Mr. Baumhoff.

Postmaster Baumhoff announced a number of changes in the office of the St. Louis Post Office yesterday. In reference to the transfer Mr. Baumhoff says that they are in accordance with the plan of reorganizing and changing all the men in the employ of the Post Office.

The changes are as follows: Superintendent of the Post Office at St. Louis is placed in the place of W. S. Barnard, who is transferred to the office of the Post Office at St. Louis. Mr. E. L. Levey of the Registry Division is transferred to the office of the Post Office at St. Louis.

HANSMAN'S SUCCESSOR WINS.
Peeler Will Move Post Office to His Own Building.

The dispute in Maplewood over the removal of the Post Office from its present location at the Suburban Station to the corner of Manchester and Marshall avenues, where it is now located, has been decided by the Post Office Department. J. W. Peeler has been named as the successor of Hansman.

Peeler has received formal permission from the Post Office Department at Washington to remove the office. His bond has also been sent to the city, and he will assume charge of affairs to-morrow.

Peeler's predecessor was Eugene Hansman, who when elected to the office announced all the offices in Maplewood, to say nothing of carrying on at the same time for a dozen or more business enterprises.

For unexplained reasons Hansman, about two months ago, resigned as Postmaster. It was said that Congressman Richard Bartholomew thought it best for Peeler to resign, and Hansman step out. Then Hansman sought to prevent the removal of the office. In this way he could keep Peeler from accepting the appointment, since the district was so opposed to Hansman that he would not enter the latter's office, much less do a business in the same building with him.

Fatal Shooting at Lambert.
REPUBLIC SPECIAL.
Clerendon, Ark., Oct. 13.—Last night an unknown person went to the home of Victoria Mason, colored, at Lambert, twenty miles south of here, and calling her to the arm and breast, shot her killed. BRIGHT OUTLOOK FOR HORSE SHOW.
Secretary Gentry Reports That Kentucky Will Be Extensively Represented.

SADDLE-HORSE CHAMPIONSHIP.
Special Event for Rex McDonald, The Frenchman and Thornton Star—Polo Ponies and High Jumpers.

Society and horsemen are mutually interested in the St. Louis Horse Show, which will be held in the Coliseum the week beginning October 23. The members of the local smart set are making arrangements to give the sweet visitors from other cities a touch of St. Louis hospitality, and at the same time prove that there are some of the finest nags owned right here that ever looked through a bridle.

Secretary and Manager John R. Gentry of the St. Louis Horse Show Association was in Lexington, Ky., last week, and found plenty of people to encourage him in the belief that the coming show will be the best ever held here, from the standpoint of the horseman. There will be at least two carloads of horses from Lexington, and a large number of people. Probably the greatest interest attaching

GIRLS' INDUSTRIAL HOME READY FOR DEDICATION.

Imposing New Buildings at Von Versen and Belt Avenues Will Be Open for Inspection Next Tuesday.

The imposing new buildings for the Girls' Industrial Home at Von Versen and Belt avenues will be dedicated with appropriate exercises next Tuesday evening.

George's Episcopal Church and devoted to rent a house on Seventh and Carr streets, which was then the outskirts of the town and a very aristocratic neighborhood.

Invitations have been sent out to a number of persons interested in philanthropic work to inspect the building, which is one of the most complete of its kind in the city.

The oldest member of the Board of Ladies who have charge of the work will present the report. She is Mrs. John A. Barnard, the only survivor of those who founded the institution forty-seven years ago, and now its corresponding secretary. She is 80 years old.

Mrs. Barnard calls the home her life work, as she has hardly a day besides the institution, Mrs. M. A. Hendel of No. 514 Carr avenue is the indefatigable president of the Board of Ladies who have charge of the home, being the third executive head it has had since its organization.

Like most of the charitable institutions in the city this one sprang up in consequence of the destruction following the yellow fever epidemic of 1859. As most of the religious institutions were overgrown with orphans, these ladies held a meeting at St.

GIRLS WERE NOT WANTED.
"Co-Eds" Excused From University Chapel Services.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 13.—Henceforth the young women students at the university are known as to be excused from attending chapel.

This does not seem to be important, even if it is true. But it is. To the young men and the young women who are hunting for a higher education at the institution founded by Benjamin Franklin, it is of great importance. It means that masculine dignity has been preserved and that the petty quarrels of the sexes have been forced to a lock step, rather, not at all.

In the dormitories last night the boys were chuckling over the victorious end of a struggle that has been going on for more than a year. It was the "seniors" that led the battle.

When a year ago the women were admitted to chapel by virtue of their sex, the authorities gallantly gave them seats in the front row. Now, since time immemorial the front row has been the special prerogative of the seniors—a prerogative for which they would fight at any moment.

Now, however, gallant a senior may be in person, his sex will not allow him to sit in the front row. The "seniors" are now seated in the back row.

So when the girls got the front row they seemed up to the seniors to sit back of the juniors. A senior would no more do that than a young man would sit back of a young woman. The boys say they were "troubled." The girls were defiant. The Co-Eds, known in college parlance as "seniors," took up the cudgel. The row lasted all through the college term.

The faculty has a problem to deal with that was as diplomatic in nature as a question of grave international law. They met with the seniors and they were told to sit in the front row. They did not show up thereafter. The grave and reverend faculty has a problem to deal with that was as diplomatic in nature as a question of grave international law. They met with the seniors and they were told to sit in the front row. They did not show up thereafter.

There is also a sewing class, which meets twice a week. The ladies are taught by Jennie Gilmore of the Women's Training School.
