Change in Shirt Fashions—New Tie Silks—Smart Gloves.

The new ideas are certainly welcome, if for no other reason than that there has been ample time to tire of the old styles; but there are other reasons, chief of which is that really smart dress must be distinctive and exclusive.

OUR wife said to us the other night on her return from the city, with one of the fatigues of shopping the whole live-long day: "Well, I am satisfied; and in the future when I go to the city, I will not buy anything, but I will go around every store in town and look at their goods, and I did today, wearing myself out until I am dead tired, I shall land myself in Crawford's grand, magnificent, beautiful, and wonderful last cent with them. I am so satisfied now that there is the store for me that no one can persuade me again to try another. Their goods are all so fresh and new, they have such a variety, and they are so cheap, that it is a wonder the other half-equipped stores have any place left in the city. If you had seen, as I did, the difference between Crawford's prices and the prices in the other stores, you would not wonder at my enthusiasm for Crawford's. One funny thing, too, I noticed in the other stores, when a customer goes through buying the clerk said to the customer interrogatively, 'Charged?' You never hear such a word at Crawford's, because they don't charge, and I suppose that is why Crawford's can afford to sell so cheap.

INDIAN CITIZENSHIP QUESTION SETTLED.

Federal Court of Appeals Holds That Commissions Only Have Right to Pass on Such Claims.

THIS DECISION IS FINAL. Suicide Clause in Insurance Policy Passed Upon and Assessments Ordered Refunded—Other Opinions Given.

According to the terms of an opinion handed down by the United States Court of Appeals yesterday, the question as to whether or not a person claiming to be a citizen of any of the Five Civilized Tribes is legally a citizen is left entirely with the commissions to be appointed by Congress.

Mary Jane Kimberlin, plaintiff in error, vs. the Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes, is the title to the suit in which the important decision was given. The plaintiff in error sought to obtain a writ of mandamus against the commission, commanding it to enroll her as a citizen of the Chickasaw Nation. The case came to trial in the United States Court in the Indian Territory, and the application for the writ was overruled.

Mary Jane Kimberlin was married in 1890 to William G. Kimberlin. Kimberlin was known as a "squad man." He had married a Chickasaw woman by the name of Lizzie Mitchell in 1870. This first marriage was legal, and she was a citizen of the Chickasaw Nation. He had another Indian wife, who is a full-blooded white woman.

In 1898 the commission revised the lists of Chickasaw citizens, and left her name out. She claimed citizenship through her marriage with Kimberlin, and sought to compel the commission to recognize her by means of the Federal Courts. The hearing came before the Indian Territory Court in September, 1898, and a decision was given against her. The Court of Appeals affirmed this decision, it is in the opinion it is clearly set forth that whether a claimant's right is legal or not, it is not within the jurisdiction of Federal courts to interfere with the decisions of the commissions appointed by Congress.

Good Shot's Life Sentence. Another opinion, involving Indian rights, was handed down in the case of Good Shot, an Indian, vs. the United States of America. Good Shot, a Sioux, was indicted in the United States District Court for South Dakota for murder. He killed another Indian at the Pine Ridge Agency. The jury in the case returned a verdict to the effect that he was guilty as charged in the indictment, but did not assess capital punishment. The court inflicted a life sentence upon him. A writ in error was applied for, which was refused in the lower court. The appellate court affirmed this ruling.

Another important verdict handed down was in the case of the Knights Templars and Masonic Life Indemnity Company, vs. Reste B. Jarman. The action was brought against the insurance company to recover $500 on an insurance policy held by Jarman's husband, John P. Jarman. Jarman committed suicide while insane, by shooting himself. The company refused to pay the amount of the policy, because of a clause in it which rendered it void in case of the holder committing suicide, whether voluntarily or involuntarily. The case was tried in the United States District Court at St. Louis, and a judgment for the full amount given. The Court of Appeals modified this decision by giving the defendant the benefit of the doubt in construing the contract, holding that it would be absurd to abolish the suicide clause altogether in insurance policies.

Other decisions were those in the cases of Kate E. Tillet et al. vs. Jeremiah H. Mann; affirmed, with costs. In re Estate of the Estate of Company, Limited, et al. vs. Alva Adams, et al., affirmed. In re Matthew M. Gasser, petitioner, to review ruling of the United States District Court at St. Louis, dismissed. In re Estate of E. M. Tavis vs. The Netherlands Life Insurance Company; judgment affirmed. F. G. Logan vs. A. G. Goodman et al., reversed and remanded to lower court.

Always Use Platt's Chlorides for household disinfection. You will like it. KNIGHTS OF FATHER MATHEW. Supreme Council in Session—Officers to Be Chosen.

The twenty-first annual session of the Supreme Council, Knights of Father Mathew, was inaugurated at the Peckwick Theater at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. The 122 delegates from the various subunits, representing Missouri, Kansas and Illinois, attended mass at St. John's Church. The Reverend Joseph H. Tettemer, one of the delegates from Holy Name Council, No. 49, St. Louis, was celebrant.

Immediately after mass the delegates marched to a hall, where they were called to order by Supreme Chief Sir Knight Daniel O'Connell Tracy. Mr. Tracy appointed Chief Spiritual Adviser Joseph H. Tettemer, St. Louis; John T. Hunt, St. Louis; and Frank O'Laughlin of Kansas City a Committee on Credentials.

The principal matter of business yesterday was the report of the Committee on Resolutions, which was read by Sir Knight Daniel O'Connell Tracy. The committee was composed of Daniel O'Connell Tracy, Patrick Mulcahy, Thomas Fox, William S. McCann, John J. O'Connell, and others. The revised constitution and by-laws of the order were in the main acceptable to the Supreme Council as presented by the committee.

The first order of business this morning will be the consideration of the schedule of rates of assessments, and the principal business of the evening. The convention will adjourn this evening. Last night the delegates attended one of the local feasts.

Then Became Lost While Trying to Go Home. ALL IN A NIGHT. Edward Garner, the 17-year-old son of Mrs. Catherine Garner of No. 401 Russell street, had enough excitement early Sunday morning to last him until he is old enough to vote.

He was held up by a footpad, whom he promptly knocked down and left unconscious; he was lost for an hour in the neighborhood of Sarah street and Chouteau avenue; and then he was stopped by a policeman who wanted to arrest him because he couldn't find anybody else he thought had been performing the moonlight with pistol talk.

Young Garner has been living in Kansas City for two years. Last week he returned to live with his family, Saturday he accepted an invitation to visit the family of a Mr. Davis living at Shrewsbury Park and passed the evening there. He started home about 12 o'clock, intending to catch a car at Maplewood.

Garner had reached Dreinhof's saloon, near Benton, without adventure when he noticed that a small white man, wearing a slouch hat pulled down over his eyes, was following him. Garner quickened his steps, and the next time he looked around could see nothing of the man.

Near the Missouri Parker's Benton station is a large tree which casts a dense shadow across the road. As Garner reached this tree the man in a slouch hat stepped out and commanded him to hold up his hands. When Garner's went up, one of them held a large and jagged rock, and as the footpad got within arm's length, Garner brought this down on his right temple. The man dropped like a log, and Garner ran all the way to Maplewood.

Garner is not well acquainted with the neighborhood of his mother's present home, and asked the street car conductor to put him off at the nearest point to Russell avenue and Lawrence street. The conductor put him off at Chouteau avenue and

CITIZENS MUST REGISTER TO-DAY.

Final Opportunity to Be Enrolled Before the Election in November.

With returns from seventeen precincts still out, Friday's registration was 25,395. Last Tuesday's figures were 48,945, and the total number of names enrolled in the main office in the City Hall is estimated at about 8,000, although some of the assistants in the office of the Board of Election Commissioners place the office registration as high as 10,000. Accepting the estimate of 48,900 and adding it to the returns from the precincts, the enrollment up to date is 117,351.

To-day is the last day of the precinct registration. The polling places will be open from 8 o'clock in the morning until 9 o'clock. Every person who has not registered since June 8, either in the City Hall or in his precinct, must register to-day or lose his right to vote next month. The law makes it compulsory for every citizen to have his name entered on the pollbooks every four years. Omission from this duty constitutes a voluntary renunciation of the privilege of voting. Therefore the person who has not yet registered must accept the opportunity to enroll to-day, as there will be no other chance to do so.

In order to vote a citizen, presuming that he is of age or has made his first declaration, must have resided one year in the State sixty days in the city and twenty days in the precinct on November 6. If a person will have come of age on election day, or made his declaration of citizenship, if an alien, not less than one year nor more than five years before November 6 next, he may register to-day by qualifying in the usual way.

It WAS NOT LOOTING. War Department Officials So Regard Chadce's Seizure. REPUBLIC SPECIAL. Washington, Oct. 15.—The mystery with which the administration has surrounded all facts connected with looting by the American troops at Tien-Tsin was dispelled this morning, when a high official of the War Department admitted that he had valued at nearly $500,000 the property of General Chadce, which he had seized in the hands of the Chinese. The value of this official loot was worth $250,000, instead of $25,000, as had heretofore been rumored. It was reported by General Chadce in a Chinese book, and certificates of indebtedness were forwarded here to the War Department, which credited them with his account in the Treasury.

Government officials do not know, nor do they seem particularly desirous of knowing, who were the owners of the loot before the American troops took it as loot. There is an impression that it was a part of the Chinese Government's reserve, and it would accordingly be impossible to take steps to recover it, but the officials think that the seizure under such circumstances was "not exactly looting."
